F.B.I. congratulates captain H Munch

Personal congratulations by village manager Kenneth M. McDonald and police chief Gerhard Hein were expressed to captain Munch not only on his election as pres of the Illinois Chapter of the F.B.I. National Academy Associates, but also that as of July 1, 1974, captain Harry Munch has completed 25 years of dedicated police service to the citizens of Oak Lawn. Pictured (l to r) are Kenneth McDonald, captains George E. Kummer and Harry E. Munch and Gerhard Hein.

In professional police dept annals, the ultimate in recognition is to be honored by the F.B.I. The Oak Lawn Police Dept is exceptionally proud of Captain Harry A. Munch because of his recent election as pres of the Illinois Chapter of the F.B.I. National Academy Associates.

The F.B.I. National Academy was formed in July, 1935. An officer must excel in his professional police work to even qualify for enrollment in this prestigious org. Nationally, there are 7800 graduates in the academy's 39 year history. The Illinois chapter has a membership roster of 250 police officers.

The OLPD has the unique distinction of having two officers on the academy's membership roster. Captain Munch was the first officer from the OL dept to meet all the rigid requirements for

F.B.I. Academy enrollment and received graduation honors in June, 1963. In Dec, 1972, the dept again pointed with justifiable pride to Captain George E. Kummer as the second officer to meet the essential standards for academy enrollment and graduation.

Both Clarence M. Kelley, dir, F.B.I. headquarters in Washington, D.C. and Richard G. Held, special agent in charge, F.B.I. headquarters in Chicago, Ill, have written and expressed congratulations to Capt Munch for the high honor bestowed by his colleagues at the academy's recent 1974 retraining session. On July 28, 1974, Capt Harry Munch will attend another week-long retraining session, together with the 105 members of the 1963 graduation class, in the new academy headquarters now located in Quantico, Virginia.

Bicycle Parade Aug 4

village pres to proclaim the week of July 29 thru Aug 4 as "Bicycle Safety Week." Pres Dumke so proclaimed.

Permission to hold a bicycle parade for all Oak Lawn citizens was also granted. The date is Sunday, Aug 4 at 1 pm. The route will be from OL Community HS parking lot, proceeding east on 95th st, south along Central on the like route to 103rd st.

Stenbom wanted to thank the OL police dept for their cooperation in this endeavor and said this whole idea was started at the last two C.O.G. meetings. They are trying to bring it to a conclusion on this particular day making not only the children, but the adults aware of bicycle safety.

Mother and son named to Who's Who

Mrs Sandy Dorgan, who recently made Who's Who of American Women, congratulates son, Jim Dorgan, on making Who's Who of American High School Students. Jim will be a senior in September at St Laurence High School in Burbank. He is vice pres of the student council, associate editor for the yearbook and a member of the track team. He is an honor student and commends the St Laurence HS as being first in athletics and first in academics. Jim has received in the past a Junior Citizens

Award, Outstanding Day Camp Counselor Award, and trophies and ribbons in track, baseball, swimming and bowling. Jim Dorgan has his own rock group of which he is the drummer. He also works part time for the Chicago park district. Jim's hobbies are snow skiing and golfing. His intentions are to be degreed in radio and television communications or as a corporate lawyer.

Mrs Sandy Dorgan, better known to the community as the past community relations officer of the Ford City Bank and now community relations officer and public relations director for the First National Bank of OL is a subject of biographical record in Who's Who of American Women, 8th edition, 1974-1975 inclusion in which is limited to those individuals who have

No parking plan for 95th

Lawrence Lux, engineer and planner for the village of Oak Lawn introduced a proposal that would ban parking entirely on 95th street and allow only 2 hour parking in other areas.

The report, which consumed over 18 months of deliberation and was based on a private study done in 1970 and another done by the State Transp Dept, was in response to the numerous angle collisions on 95th st.

Although it would seem the business houses may be affected by the restriction, Kenneth McDonald said that the loss could be taken up by an increase in the use of the parking areas away from 95th which are not in full use now.

Trustee Herb Huskey reminded the board of a promise made to the businessmen in Oak Lawn when they lost their angle parking due to the widening of the streets. Huskey said it would be a "death knell" to the business community.

McDonald said he would welcome any ideas or thoughts on the subject.

William Sullivan, Nick Churin, Anderson, DeYoung and Waksmundski.

PARK BOARD PASSES TIGHT BUDGET

Two weeks ago the OL Park District had a meeting to discuss the budget, no one attended. On Monday, July 22 the board met to vote on the budget and no one attended. If no one wants to know anything about it, we won't breathe it to a soul.

Village and firefighters sign pact

Propose fines for minors

Several weeks ago trustee Carl Venkus proposed an ordinance in the Village of Oak Lawn for underage possession of alcoholic beverages, similar to State Chapter 43 in the Illinois State Statutes. The main purpose of this ordinance would be to keep offenders under the jurisdiction of the village rather than sending them to Juvenile Court where it may involve spending some time in the Audy Home. Dr Venkus said that at the present time, minors who get arrested for possession of alcohol (from Oak Lawn) have to be prosecuted under State Violation and this constitutes a jail sentence rather than another form of penalty or a fine. After being seconded by trustee Harold Bacon, under discussion it was determined that the states attorney's office would have to be consulted in this matter.

On Tuesday, July 23, village attorney Ralph Rehnquist offered a proposal to the board that was recommended by both the states attorney's office and the OL police dept and could be enacted under the new Home Rule.

The new ordinance would provide for penalties, including fines, for underage possession, and would not be

An agreement reached between the village of Oak Lawn and the Professional Firefighters Assn, granting them a raise in pay and a shorter work week was signed into effect this past month. The pay increase will be determined at a later date and equal that which is allowed the OL patrolmen.

Beginning Jan 1, 1975 the firefighters will work 50.4 hours a week rather than the 53 hours they worked in the past.

The demand for pay parity with the village patrolmen has been set aside until after 1975 although discussion on same may take place during the year.

The written agreement also has a clause stating that in the future informal meetings will be held between the village manager, Kenneth McDonald and reps of the Firefighters Assn. The meetings will be held in the manager's office.

It has been further agreed that when discussions have reached an impasse, either party must notify the other in writing and a 60 day cooling off period must expire before any statements are released to the public.

as harsh as the present state statute but would give the police dept better tools for enforcement. Rehnquist said that now when juveniles are found with liquor, the police either give them a pass, especially for a first offender, Pres Fred Dumke (seated) is shown signing an agreement along with (l to r) Kenneth McDonald, village clerk Ernie Kolb, and pres of the Professional Firefighters Assn, Edward Finnegan. Assn's secy Robert Philbin, who also signed the pact was not present.

ONE AWAY BETWEEN POLICE & VILLAGE

In the three areas of disagreement between the village and the Combined Counties Police Assn, one point has been settled. McDonald said that the 3 day compassion leave for police personnel has been allowed in the event of death in the family.

With regards to the two or, they go to the Audy Home.

Under the new code a first time offender could be fined and perhaps given a suspended sentence. Repeaters could be charged with the state statute if necessary and run the risk of spending a few days at the Audy Home.

It was recommended that the atty draw a draft of how the new ordinance would read and present it to the board for further consideration.

remaining items, the amount of the cost of living raise and that the village deduct CCPA membership dues from police paychecks, it was deemed necessary for the Village of OL and the CCPA to request that the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service appoint a mediator to assist the parties in reaching an agreement.

According to McDonald the village has offered a 6% raise to the police for this year and does not intend to go higher because of the severe financial strain it would put on the village. He said that 5% is already in effect with 2% for the police chief. Therefore the 5% being asked by the CCPA would put the request at 10%.

The proposal

A Public Hearing was held on Monday, July 15, before the OL Planning & Development Commission, the subject was the rezoning of residential property (R-1) to commercial (C-3) to make way for a $16.5 million shopping complex. Part of the property facing 95th street and a portion facing Crawford is now C-3 and presently contains Jack Thompson Oldsmobile which would require relocation. The remainder of the 37 acres needed for the overall plan faces Keeler, 93rd street and Crawford.

As shown on the architects drawing, Sears, Roebuck & Company (Class A store - full line including automotive center) would be located in the building on the right, on the left would be a Jewel-Osco, and in the center a tri-level covered mall. The mall area is large enough to contain approximately 50 shops according to the representatives that made the presentation for George Wiegel and Wescor Inc., developers of the property. The traffic area will be carpeted, have benches and appropriate decorations.

A 25 foot wide hill-type buffer with dense foliage is planned for both Keeler avenue and 93rd street. The buffer is meant to beautify and conceal the parking area from the outside and beautify the parking area from the inside. The type foliage to be planted will be open to suggestions and approval from the P&DC and the residents of the area.

The drawings show a controlled street entrance between Komensky and Crawford with an exit east to Crawford only. The same type entrance will be located at approximately 94th and Keeler with a left turn exit to 95th street only. On the west side of Keeler, behind the restaurant and bowling alley and south of Gaddis School located at 93rd and Keeler, there will be a parking lot for the center's employees.

Traffic signals are proposed for 95th and Keeler to control the traffic in the area and allow safer car and pedestrian crossing to and from the Venture Store now under construction on the south side of 95th street.

Contingent upon the approval of the above requests, the developers are also asking for a rezoning from multifamily to C-2 the area from 91st and Crawford to the north side of Trinity Evangelical Church, 9230 Crawford, for the relocation of Jack Thompson Old's.

According to the developers, the shopping center would add many dollars in additional revenue to the village, increase the assessed valuation of School Districts 123 and 229, and add to the park district's share from tax dollars.

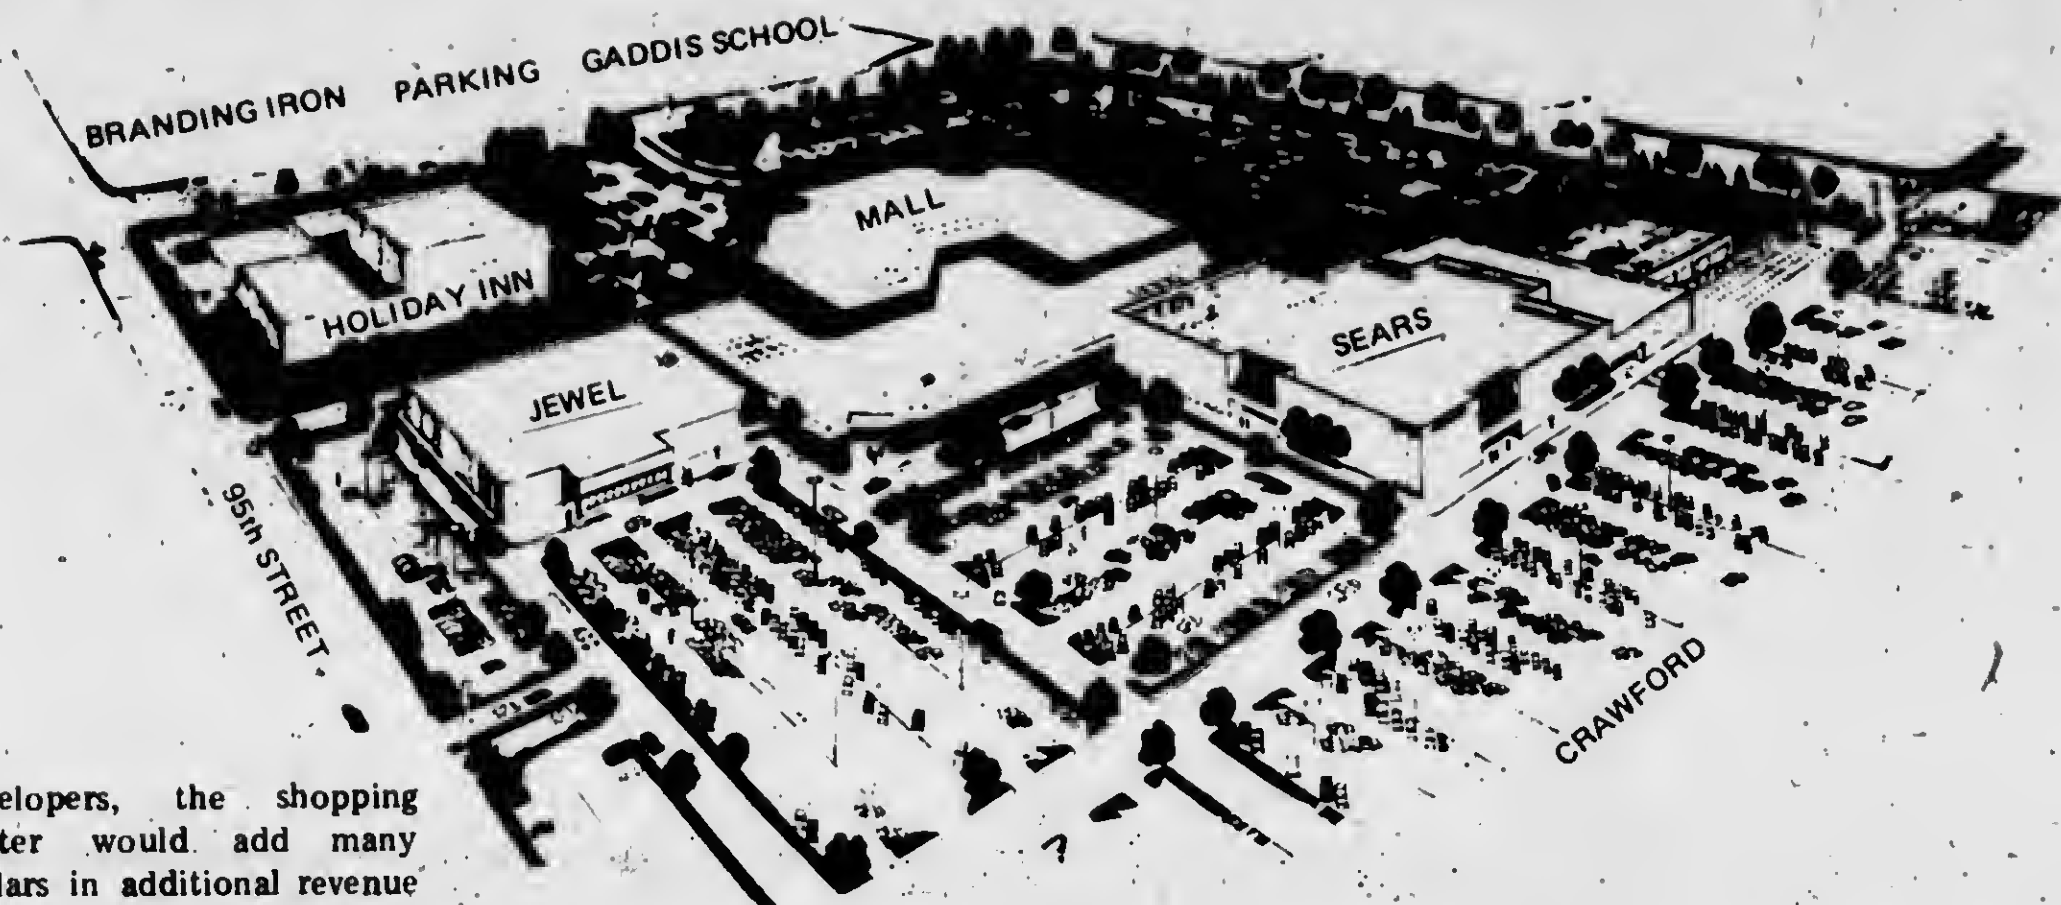

In a later interview with Village View, Davis Boyd who represents George Wiegel, answered many questions that were left unanswered during the uncontrolled pressures of the hearing.

It had been intimated that there had been no concrete evidence that a Sears store was actually going on the site. Boyd said that when they were planning the presentation, it had not occurred to them that there would be a doubt of George Wiegel's integrity or he could have had someone from Sears there, or a letter, and that this will be presented at the meeting on August 5.

About the shops, Boyd said that they had many inquiries already from prestigious business owners and many were from the area or well known to the people of Oak Lawn.

Boyd asked what, if anything, was planned for the corner of 95th and Crawford. It seemed obvious that this expensive corner was not to be meant for parking only. He said, "This is true, something will go in there. We figured first things first. We have tried for so many years to get a commitment from Sears that when it finally came thru, we figured the residents would be so delighted we wanted to hurry and get the proposal to the people, and there are no definite plans for the corner as yet. In the original plan," Boyd continued, "Sears had shown a gas station on the corner but we had it eliminated."

Pressing for more information from Boyd, he said that a bank had crossed their minds, but was ruled out in deference to the many banks and savings & loans in the area, unless it was an extension of one of those already located in Oak Lawn.

Shown above is the layout for the proposed shopping complex at 95th & Crawford. The drawing was done by North Architectonics, Inc., Chicago.

and already zoned commercial. He said that Sears was not interested in a free standing store and would accept no other plan than the one proposed.

Boyd said that "no such promises were ever made" in answer to questions about the promises made to the people when they purchased their property in Crawford Gardens that this area would remain residential.

Before closing our interview we told Davis Boyd that we felt many of the derogatory questions and statements made by the residents at the hearing came about because they had been fed down the "garden path" so many times they didn't know what to believe anymore.

Boyd said that they (Wiegel & Wescor) would put in writing any items that were questionable.

He said a Boar's Head Restaurant was also mentioned but again there was nothing definite. (The Boar's Head was an approved type of restaurant for Oak Lawn but they were denied the opportunity to build in the Green Oak Shopping Center because of insufficient parking.)

We asked Boyd if he agreed that the zoning request in the area to house Thompsons Old's was poorly presented. He agreed that it was as they hadn't seen it as such a major item before the hearing and meant nothing if the first two items were not approved. He also agreed that it was left wide open to doubts and criticism and that it would be presented in what was hoped to be a more favorable light at the next meeting of the P&DC.

We asked about the property facing Komensky from 91st to 93rd and would they be back for another rezoning later to afford Thompson with additional property. Boyd answered, "Definitely not, it will stay zoned as R-1."

Boyd was also questioned as to why Sears couldn't build on just the area facing 95th

"MEN AT WORK" will be the historical feature for the month of August at the Oak Lawn Public Library. This 1946 photo shows Charles Dow, of Chicago, switchman; Dave Trimble, OL, engineer and Archie Nelson of Englewood, firemen posing in front of a road engine being used to hump freight in the Clearing Yards of the Belt Railway System. The library is trying to amass pictures and other material to be used for a Bicentennial Exhibit and to build a history of Oak Lawn. Anyone interested in donating pictures or other memorabilia is asked to contact Mrs. Katherine Trimble, historian, at 422-4990 or 422-0115.

The opposers

The Crawford Gardens Homeowners West called a special meeting on Friday, July 12 and met at the Colonial Savings & Loan at 8 pm. Over 200 people were present to decide what action should be taken if they were to prevent the rezoning of the residential area near 95th & Crawford to make way for a huge 37½ acre shopping center.

Many prominent people were in the group, community leaders, doctors, lawyers, businessmen, residents of Evergreen Park, and all were against the rezoning.

Norbert Kalemba, performing as spokesman, explained in detail what the rezoning would entail, how they (the residents) would be affected by it and what steps must be taken immediately.

Unlike the stormy meeting that took place the following Monday at the hearing before the Planning & Development Commission (P&DC) the people were there to listen and they heard Kalemba say they would take their case to the supreme court if necessary. He said that many times in the past a fight such as this died for the lack of fund. Kalemba told the people that they had figured it would cost the Crawford Garden Homeowners $300 each and he thought it was little enough compared to the drop in value to their homes should the center go thru. Kalemba said their first step should be hiring an atty so that he would be knowledgeable of the proceedings from the start. He suggested the firm of Peterson & Haupt who he said had done work for Lou Ancel and had 20 years experience in zoning laws.

Andy Trilla was the first to lay 3, 100 dollar bills on the table and then the rush was on. Checks were being written, cash exchanged for receipts and pledge cards being signed as fast as they were received.

A motion was properly made to hire an atty and also appoint Norbert Kalemba chmn of "the fight".

PUBLIC HEARING MONDAY, JULY 15

Every seat was filled, people stood in the aisles, against the walls and overflowed into the corridor of the village hall to hear atty Lendol Snow make the presentation for the new shopping center proposed for 95th & Crawford.

P&DC chmn, Lou Kole, opened the meeting by requesting the board members move into executive session. Upon their return, Kole asked that all cameras and tape recorders be removed from the room, he further requested that the meeting be held in an orderly fashion so everyone could be heard. Several times during the meeting Kole reprimanded the audience and said that if they continued in the same manner he would have the hearing held in private. He told them every person there with something pertinent to the hearing would be heard that evening.

During the presentation, Kenneth Gumdinier, atty for the Crawford Gardens assn, broke into the presentation in an attempt to speak. He was also reminded by Kole that this was a hearing before a commission and not a court and that he would also have his opportunity to speak at the proper time.

After the presentation many questions were asked by the board with reference to parking, the entrances, the buffer proposed, the name of the store, the operation hours, a proposed cinema, also, what would be built on the northwest corner (of 95th & Crawford), and what plans had been made for green space. To many of these questions the board was told that the plans at this time were not that definite, the Sears and the Jewel Osco were positive but nothing further than that. Commissioner Wm Fairman was apparently not satisfied with many of the answers and asked, "What is firm and what is not firm?"

The meeting lasted for 4½ hours and the objections raised were many, the increased flow of traffic into the area, increased danger to the children of Gaddis School, a lessening of potential parishioners to the Trinity Lutheran Church, the change in the tranquility of the residential area and loss of dollar value to their homes. The homeowners said they were not against any commercial building in the area already zoned as such but wanted the residential portion to remain the same to provide a buffer to the area.

When the meeting finally came to a close and everyone had spoken, Kole told the people present that no decision would be made that evening. He explained that this was the general procedure and after discussion between board members it was brought back at the next meeting which will be Monday, Aug 5. He added, in a hearing such as this it will probably be several weeks before any decision is made.

Shown above is (1) Norbert Kalemba waving both currency and checks as the money came rolling in at the Crawford Gardens Homeowners meeting. Although several officials were called to attend the meeting, Jane Barnes (2) elected candidate for state representative (R-8) talking to Mitzi Kalemba on the right, is the only one that showed. Trustee John Hardek (3) and Lou Mirabelli listen attentively to one of the objectors. The Rev Wm Siemers (4) who said he did not speak for Christ Community Hosp but as a resident, was also against the shopping center. In the center, Ed Siries (5) talks to Kalemba on his left very outspoken and at one point said that he did not want to live in Crawford Gardens with "riff-raff".

Phillip Forgen (not shown) chmn for the Trinity Evangelical Covenant Church, said they were adamantly against the proposal and did not want to be sandwiched between Jack Thompson and a Sears Shopping Center. Dean Klamon representing School District 123 and particularly Gaddis School talked of the dangers to the children because of the traffic. At the P&DC meeting the following Monday, the pastor of Our Lady of Loretto in Hometown, Rev James O'Connor spoke against it and followed it with a letter to the friends and parishioners of the parish.

Ancel opinion on redistricting

In an opinion received from Lou Ancel with regards to dividing Oak Lawn into six districts he said that six trustees would have to run for office next year.

Dave Morris questioned this at a regular board meeting. He said that Mrs Ihrig, John Hardek and himself had been elected by the people for a four year term, and he would like to get another opinion. Mrs Ihrig said there had never been a precedent on this.

Pres Fred Dumke asked village atty Ralph Rehnquist if he had any knowledge or recommendations on the subject. Rehnquist said that a citizen could file suit and in that way get an opinion from the court.

Trustee Morris then made a motion to direct the atty to get whatever information he could on this matter and bring it back to the board. All trustees voted "yes."

New buses for Oak Lawn

Village manager, Kenneth McDonald has announced that Oak Lawn has received approval from the State of Illinois of a $194,000 grant and a federal grant in the amount of $956,720 to purchase 20 air conditioned buses which the village will lease to the Suburban Transit for $1 a year.

Pres Fred Dumke commended commissioner Karl Kaitz for his 2 years of diligent work on this project. In addition he cited former manager Robert Oldland and former Governor Richard Ogilvie for their help.

Dumke said that this project started over two years ago with a request to Ogilvie for help on this grant. He said he would write a letter to the former governor, thanking him for his help.

Who..... would steal a book

This past month Mrs Alice Ihrig asked the board of trustees to consider the adoption of an ordinance penalizing those who deliberately take books from the library shelves with no intention of returning them. Mrs Ihrig said that some of these people are not stealing the books but are trying to keep others from reading them.

It would seem that only a person with a twisted mind would be guilty of an act such as this. While he or she are not only setting themselves up as censors for the unsuspecting patrons of the library they are guilty of theft and should be punished as such.

No one has the right to decide what may be good or bad reading for another, that is why we have courts. If there is an objection to a book, it should be taken up with the library officials and handled thru the proper channels.

If Oak Lawn has no ordinance to punish book thieves it would be wise to make it good and stiff. A $% book taken one by one would only be termed petty theft but, when the shelves start to fill up it becomes a criminal offense.

SWIMMING HAZARDS

Drownings are now the third leading cause of accidental death in the United States, exceeded only by motor vehicle accidents and falls. As for injuries, it is estimated that 100,000 people suffer injuries associated with swimming pools in the nation each year. This includes inground, aboveground and wading pools. The age group most often injured is seen to be teenagers and children, particularly between 10 and 14 years of age. The main causes of drownings and accidents each year continue to be lack of qualified adult supervision; absence of or inadequate environmental protection; and inability of victims to swim.

With these three causes of drownings and swimming pool accidents in mind, these safety precautions are offered:

- 1 Never allow children in the swimming pool without adult supervision. Children love to play and unsupervised play, even temporary, invites slips and falls into the water which could be very dangerous. Children playing with boats and plastic or rubber objects in the water can be dangerous as well as children not in the pool trying to retrieve objects in the pool. They can very easily topple into the water. Children on tricycles, wagons, or other wheeled vehicles can easily roll over the pool edge into the water.

- 2 When any person, even an adult, is swimming in or working about the pool, another adult should be present. Even an expert swimmer can suffer injury, fatigue, cramps, etc, leading to drowning.

- 3 All home swimming pools should be fenced in and the fence or wall should be at least 6 feet high. Do not leave lawn furniture or other objects near the outside of the fence as they may be used by children to climb over the fence. All gates to the swimming pool should be locked as an unlocked gate is a temptation to children and is related to many drownings.

- 4 Have depth markings on the pool deck showing safe jumping areas, particularly where there is a diving board. Many times all members of the family might know the various depths of the pool, but when friends who are not familiar with the pool are invited for a swim, it could spell disaster for anyone jumping or diving into shallow water.

- 5 Learn how and when to swim. Parents have an obligation to see that their children learn to swim at the earliest possible age. The American Red Cross Chapter in your area can advise you when and where swimming instructions are available. Never swim immediately after eating. It is recommended that you wait two hours after a heavy meal and about one hour after a light meal before taking your swim.

From The Congressman

CAPTURED SEAMAN DECLARED AN AMERICAN CITIZEN

Congressman Bob Hanrahan announced recently that captured Lithuanian-American seaman Simas Kudirka has just been declared an American citizen by the U.S. State Dept.

Kudirka was tried for treason in the Soviet Union when he attempted to seek asylum in the United States in 1970, and is currently serving a 10-year prison term at hard labor in the Soviet Union. In his attempt to reach the U.S., he jumped from his Soviet trawler to the deck of a U.S. Coast Guard cutter. Through an incredible error in judgment, he was returned to the Soviet trawler.

It has since been established that Kudirka's mother was born in the U.S. and is an American citizen. Kudirka derives his right to American citizenship from her.

"I am delighted that the State Dept has finally made a ruling on the matter of the injustice done to this American citizen," Hanrahan said. "It is particularly ironic that this ruling should come during the 15th anniversary of Captive Nations Week."

Hanrahan added that the State Dept and the American Embassy in Moscow are now currently consulting on the best way to proceed in order to protect the rights of both Simas Kudirka and his mother, Mrs Marja Kudirka Sulskiene, who is also attempting to leave the Soviet Union.

Paper Drive

Students from the senior class of Oak Lawn Community HS are collecting newspapers for an environmental and money making project. All profits will be used to finance senior class activities. Students will be waiting to help you.

The paper drive was held the last Saturday of July and will be repeated Saturday, Aug 31 from 9:30 am to noon.

Papers can be dropped off at the high school parking lot adjacent to the 93rd and 95th street intersection (south end of the school) or at the rear entrance of Kulzer Jewelers, 4104 Southwest hwy.

County reforms, good and bad

The Cook County Home Rule Commission has recommended a reform that we have been urging for two years now: That members of the Cook County Board be elected from single-member districts in the same manner as aldermen, state senators, and congressmen.

The recommendation comes as a surprise, because the commission members were appointed by the Daley machine-dominated County Board and the machine has long been opposed to single-member county districts. The author of the recommendation, Circuit Judge Daniel Coman, is a machine loyalist.

We welcome the proposal, and wish it had been made [and adopted] in time for the fall county elections. The system of electing 10 board members from the city and five [now six] from the suburbs has been largely responsible for the stupor, waste, and mismanagement that have come to characterize county government.

Not only have the 10 Chicago members always been Democrats, they have nearly always been the same Democrats—their election assured once the machine slated them. Similarly, suburban members have always been those slated by the Republican township bosses. In the March primary, Evanston Ald. John Kneafsey challenged the township bosses from a strong base on the North Shore, but could not cope with the countywide weight of the regular G. O. P. organization and so lost.

Single-member districts would make County Board members responsible to their local communities, rather than to the city or suburbs at large—which, in effect, means no one.

According to the state constitution, County Board action is all that is required to adopt the recommendation. We hope the commission report is a sign of Democratic support and urge the Republican minority to back it as well.

The Home Rule Commission also has made or is considering a number of other recommendations—some good and some bad. The good include increasing the executive powers of the County Board president, consolidating departments and offices that duplicate each other's work, and removing the Circuit Court from the budget-making process.

The bad include proposals to make the county assessor an appointed [by the County Board president] rather than elected position and to abolish the state's attorney's civil division and turn its work over to an attorney appointed by the County Board president.

Ideally, county administrative posts should be appointive rather than elective. But with the Democrats expected to dominate the County Board for years to come, all this change would do is perpetuate their hold on the assessor's office. Similarly, depriving Republican State's Atty. Bernard Carey of his civil division seems like nothing more than partisan harassment.

They arrived at the party in a 1920 era vintage automobile and were warmly received by some 200 guests. Mr. Swanson indicated that there were four times as many people at the 50th anniversary than there were at the wedding, and his haircut before the wedding was fifty cents and now it costs $4.00, and he has less hair to cut.

They received congratulations from the White House and a telegram from Mayor Daley, and a host of congratulatory messages from all parts of the country and from overseas.

Trustee Dave Morris suggested that the Kilbourne Plant be renamed to Charles J. Reich Pumping Station in honor of CHARLEY REICH who, after 25 years of service to the village, is retiring in Sept.

The DONALD LARSONS' just barely returned from a vacation in California, Disneyland and the works, when they were off again to the wilds of Canada. That's sure spreading it out.

Is there anyone who hasn't heard about LOU MIRABELLI winning top prize of $8000 in a local golf tourney? Must be true, heard it from Elvie herself.

The biggest surprise at the Chamber of Commerce annual outing was seeing NORM BACON, OL engineering dept, dressed in an all white western outfit and later found out that it wasn't really a costume as such but that he and his wife were regular square dancers.

MARY ANN QUINN who moved from OL recently was also present to spend an evening of fun with her friends. She said, "Don't believe all you hear about the cold weather in Minnesota, 'tis just not true".

So many trips and vacations it's hard to keep up with them: the DAVE BERANS just returned yesterday and now have to get down to serious business of moving all the way to Georgia Lane.

MR & MRS LARRY COLLINGS and MR & MRS BOB KROLAK left on different days for Colorado but ended up in the same vacation spot.

DR CARL VENKUS and the family just returned from Gaylord Michigan where they were guests of a fellow dentist who he had met while in the service.

JIM CISMOSKI who was traveling that way while on business stopped at Gaylord and spent an evening with them.

Students who need money for their education after high school may obtain applications for federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grants for the 1974-75 academic year at the library.

Under the Basic Grant Program, students in financial need may obtain funds to help pay their educational expenses at any approved college, university, vocational school, technical institute, or hospital school of nursing. The amount for which a student is eligible is based on a formula annually developed by the U.S. Office of Education.

Within a month after filing an Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility, the student is notified of the amount available in his eligibility index. He then submits this notification to the school of his choice which calculates the amount of the Basic Grant to which he is entitled.

Other forms of federal student assistance such as Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student Loans and Guaranteed Student Loans may be available in addition to basic grants.

For further info on Basic Grants and other financial aid programs, students should contact their high school counselor or the financial aid officer at the school at which they are enrolled or expect to enroll.

FOURTH GRADE FIELD TRIP

The two fourth grade classes at Oak View School, Dist 126 had an extremely fine field trip. They first visited the Robert Crown Center for Health Education in Hinsdale. From there they picnicked along Salk Creek and then toured the historic Old Graue Mill Museum where they were instructed in the milling process of grinding corn and visited the upper floors which had a valuable collection of historical objects from the 1800's in several early American rooms. Many children bought sacks of corn meal so their mothers could give them a sample of Johnny Bread or corn muffins.

Miss Smyk and Mrs Bystrom, the fourth grade teachers, were fortunate to have the help of four mothers, Mrs D. Blouin, Mrs W. Cwirla, Mrs R. Hurry and Mrs A. Neuhardt who were chaperones for the day.

Youth Conference Set for August

Youth NARC members from across the U. S. will meet at the nation's largest youth conference on mental retardation at Carthage College in Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 7-11. An anticipated 1,200 youths, plus advisors and adults who wish to attend, will make this the largest conference in the history of Youth NARC.

Many national leaders in mental retardation have been asked to participate in his eighth annual youth conference, covering nearly every specialty field in mental retardation.

It won't be all work for the Youth ARC members and the adults who attend the conference. There will be a multicultural night, introducing samples of Wisconsin's rich ethnic background. There also will be log-rolling, cow-milking, watermelon seed spitting contests and a corn roast on the beach in typical Wisconsin style.

SUMMARY OF MVCC BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEETING

A plan to offer apprentice programs leading to an associates in applied science degrees (AAS) was presented to the board of trustees at their last regular meeting.

Robert Van Raes, MVCC dir. of industrial technology programs, explained that the college serves an area that has concentrations of manufacturing and construction industries. He added that both have high use of apprentices but there has been no organized effort to satisfy their needs. Van Raes told the trustees, "In essence, the proposal would acknowledge the acquiring of journeyman status as the technical requirements for the AAS degree. The college would supply the related instructions to complete the degree."

The governing board approved the concept and encouraged the college administration to pursue the development with appropriate state agencies.

In regular business, the board approved payment of $484,015.91 from the ed fund; $45,998.65 from the bldg and maint fund; $14,304.69 from the restricted purposes fund; and $12,726.14 from the activity fund.

The meetings are open to the public.

Jo Thorsen, pres of the alumni assn, presented the first annual Senior Citizen award to 76 year old MVCC student Tom Elder in the office of MVCC counselor Dave Downs, coord of the college's senior citizens programs. "My goal is to become a writer," Elder said; "I plan to attend a senior institution as soon as I finish my 62 credit hours and receive my AA degree at Moraine." Elder has completed 41 credit hours. His hobbies are ballroom dancing, roller skating and swimming.

Oak Lawn Comm High School Jazz Band will be one of the participants in the 16th Annual Oak Lawn Jazz Festival (OLJF) sponsored jointly by OLCHS, OL Band Parents Assn and Lyon-Healy Music Co. This year's festival will be

OLCHS Band to partake in Jazz Festival

The OLJF has become one of the major high school jazz festivals in the United States because of the number of bands performing and the quality of the music; 108 entries representing 79 schools will be competing in 7 categories.

The festival is sanctioned by the Illinois High School Assn, and any Illinois high school jazz band within 200 miles of Oak Lawn may apply to participate.

One of the highlights of the day's activities will be a concert by the Northwestern Jazz Ensemble, directed by Clifford Colnot. The afternoon performance, featuring guest soloist Roger Pemberton, will be presented in the Spartan gym for all jazz festival participants.

Roger Pemberton who is appearing as the guest artist in addition to conducting at clinic has had a remarkably successful career in teaching and demonstrating concert and stage band techniques. In his clinics Roger explores the complexities of the woodwind player who must "double" on saxophone, clarinet, flute, and piccolo—a problem that often bewilders young students. As a performing musician Roger has played saxophone with many nationally known bands including Woody Herman, Ralph Marterie, Buddy Morrow, Ray Anthony and Maynard Ferguson.

Nine bands will be selected to play on the evening program beginning at 7:30 pm in the Spartan gym. Tickets for the evening program are available from the high school music dept (424-5200) and any Lyon-Healy Music Store. Student tickets are $1.25 and adults $1.75.

This event promises to be an exciting and educational jazz experience for participants and all who attend.

Up-dated ordinances presented to trustees

The updated comprehensive zoning ordinances and the proposed new zoning map were ready for presentation to the board of trustees on Jan 15. Pres Fred Dumke, Dave Morris and Alice Ihrig were the only board members present. Mrs Ihrig, who was chmn of the zoning committee prior to being a trustee, made the presentation.

There were very few changes on the zoning map with most of them being for clarity. Many of the changes were in labeling PL (Public Lands) in such a manner that there would be no question of ownership. The underlying zoning on these pieces of property is R1 which would require the owner to have to appear before the board for any change in zoning.

Property labeled "PPL" (Proposed Public Lands) means that it is a piece of property the village would like to acquire. This property would require the owner to notify the proposed Planning Dept of any intent to utilize the property. The planners must then notify all taxing bodies who have first priorities to purchase the lands, and the owner shall then have to produce letters from each of the taxing bodies stating that they are not interested in the land before any development procedure can take place. Land labeled "PPL" would ren Schlieske said he did not approve this move as the village would be up against the same problem as they have now with the parking afraid the change might open the way to government run, low cost housing.

Pres Dumke said the village is going to have to go into this area anyway and solve the draining problem and this in turn would make the area more valuable. "This," he said, "would make it very impracticable for a developer to go in and develop this area." He said that he was also trying to avoid agency development.

The balance of the discussion concerned the written words of the zoning ordinances and clarification of same. It also covered updated standards for parking lots; a major one being two stalls for every home.

Pres Dumke expressed his fear that the new wording may reduce the power of the village board. Mrs Ihrig kept shaking her head "no" and both she and building dir Karl Faltz claimed that the wording was just clearer. Mrs Ihrig said that the proposed planning board would be more or less a thinking tank with no authority. She said that the development board, similar to the P&DC, will deal with ordinances, development of the master plan and very much the same as what they are doing now. Pres Dumke disapproved the formula for the proposed "development board."

At the close of the session Dumke said, "This could be one of the very best things for the village. Utopia is wonderful but whether we can attain it or not is another thing."

P&DC VOICES DISAPPOINTMENT

Members of the P&DC voiced their disappointment upon hearing that the village board was by-passing them for their consideration on the new comprehensive zoning plan.

Commissioner Bill Fairman said that although he had attended the public hearings and had several questions he wanted to ask, he had refrained from doing so as he thought it would come back to them first.

Building and zoning director Karl Faltz looked ready to collapse when comm Glens said that he felt there were several changes he would like to see in the proposal and that he also thought it would be brought before the P&DC.

Faltz, along with the zoning committee, had worked 2½ years on the new format and seemed to believe that for a few minor changes, and approval by the board of trustees, it would be ready for the printer.

Faltz then suggested that the commissioners put in writing suggestions or recommendations and submit them to the village board for consideration.

automatically become "PL" if purchased by a public body. (Revised map can be seen at the village hall.)

Mr Dumke voiced his regret that a section from Austin to Cicero, from 87th to 87th Place, was not zoned to plan for future development of that area.

Commission member War-on 95th. He said they would be faced with non-conforming uses and there would be no telling what could happen over there. "We do not slop over from one zoning to another," he said.

Commissioner Geo Wiegel said he thought along the same lines as Dumke but was

Kevin receives reward

Kevin Duggan won the praise of Janet Swanson, commissioner of the OL Park District, when he found $800 cash in an envelope and returned the money to its worried owner. Who was the worried owner - Janet Swanson!

After 11 year old Kevin found the envelope near 104th & Kildare, in the vicinity of the Swanson residence, he took the money home and then found her name inside. After that, it was not hard to find the Swanson living in that area.

Mrs Swanson gave Kevin a $25 reward and said that she wished it could be more. She then called the local newspapers to relate the incident commenting, "I want everyone to know about this young man. We are quick to want to talk about our youths when they do something wrong but are lax about commending them when they have done the right thing."

RTA'S Pitkarsky visits Oak Lawn

Milton Pitkarsky visited Oak Lawn on Monday, Jan 13 to meet with all of the mayors and many of the officials from the south suburbs. Although they had received very short notice, most of them were present, including Fred Dumke.

Pitkarsky, in what was probably eagerness to get RTA off the ground as soon as he goes into office on Feb 1, gave some conflicting statements in what seemed to be a rather unprepared talk.

However, the gist of the matter was to reassure the audience that a parking tax or the 5% sales tax on gasoline are still thoughts for the future, and that no such taxes will be imposed until there has been thorough understanding thru communication with the people and also public hearings on the subject.

Pitkarsky said that he was not familiar with the suburban areas. He said that he is going to propose a special unit to serve as a sub-committee to the RTA board to handle suburban problems.

He spoke of an immediate 5 year plan that was to go into effect with approx $500 million of federal funds expected to be available. This plan is not necessarily related to the long range plan for inter-suburban transit lines which extends until 1995 and will definitely need funding by other means.

Pitkarsky went on to say that the $500 million in funds available at this time is going to be used basically to preserve and stabilize existing services and restore where it would be deemed feasible. Also, on the high priority list will be the development of a universal transfer system, with equalized fees within the realm of reality and at their lowest possible level, within the 6 county area.

Pitkarsky said that he must have in-put with regards to the needs of the suburban area as it would be almost physically impossible for the board to realize all the needs. He said that when the facts are made known to the RTA board, the proposal will be evaluated and placed in the proper perspective on the priority list.

Pres Fred Dumke asked if there was any plan for the expansion of commuter service on the Norfolk & Western RR that runs through Oak Lawn.

Pitkarsky answered that although it may be possible within 3 years or so, this is what would be considered a low priority by the RTA board.

Pitkarsky said that this was the first of many talks planned for the future and that he wanted to assure all of those in attendance that there will be plenty of time to answer all questions before finalization of any plans take place.

BUS CONTRACT SIGNED

The signing of the contract for 20 buses to be purchased from the G.M.C. Truck & Coach Division was one of the highlights of the Jan 21 meeting of the OL board of trustees. Prior to this event, the village had agreed to request a federal grant for the buses and lease them to the Suburban Transit Systems, Inc, located in Oak Lawn. When the approval was received the cost of the buses had gone up due to spiraling production costs.

The board, acting hastily, immediately put in a request to the RTA and was granted additional funds raising the amount to $76,762 in emergency funding. According to Suburban Transit pres James Betinis, the grant will cover the cost of buses, help meet operating expenses and maintain existing bus service. Betinis said they were grateful to pres Fred Dumke and the village officials for their help.

Dumke commended bldg and zoning dir Karl Faitz who he said had been on top of this for over 2½ years and helped make the bus purchase possible.

Transportation

Trustee Alice Ihrig has presented the pres and board of trustees with a proposal for a transportation program for Oak Lawn.

In her introduction Mrs Ihrig said that Oak Lawn and its neighboring communities have limited mass transportation facilities. An emerging shortage of fuel, restrictions on use of cars and excessive costs of operating individual private cars combine to create a problem which the village should be tackling. With the advent of RTA, the mechanism for solutions may become available, and it is important that Oak Lawn take a leadership role in obtaining for this area convenient, useful, economical and stable transportation facilities.

Mrs Ihrig's proposal discussed the problem in Oak Lawn. "As RTA becomes a viable agency, it will be subject to many pressures for service. Oak Lawn and the area, with a poor history of mass transport, will need to be aggressive and factual in asking for its share of the planning and financial support which will be needed. At present, Oak Lawn does not have a data base from which to project its needs." Mrs Ihrig commented that any facts on hand from either CATS or NPSI are outdated. "In order to determine routes, volume, costs and use," Mrs Ihrig went on, "it is necessary to know that use will be made of mass transportation." She listed the many facts needed to have a complete data base.

"Armed with facts about the transportation needs of Oak Lawn residents," Mrs Ihrig continued, "the village can work out and present to RTA plans for providing service. Oak Lawn can also extend its work with Suburban Transit to plan for local and area routes. Planning is required in order to take advantage of federal level grants."

Mrs Ihrig then proposed to the board that they give authority to the manager to utilize village employees, perhaps those employed with federal manpower funds, to conduct a comprehensive survey of Oak Lawn. (Mrs Ihrig was referring to the $84,000 that was Oak Lawn's share of the federal funds made available by the Emergency Jobs and Assistance Act, to offset rising unemployment.) She said that volunteers might well be used in a door-to-door contact program which would ask questions of the type she listed. "Once collected," she said, "the data can be utilized in the planning of services for Oak Lawners."

Mrs Ihrig concluded by saying, "I suggest assigning the project to the supervision of the heads of the engineering dept and the bldg dept. I suggest that a deadline be established so that presentation of the first elements of a plan can be made in time to influence RTA. I suggest that Oak Lawn encourage other communities to follow the same attack plan and conduct surveys using the same questions so that intra-suburb movements can be determined more accurately." No immediate action followed Mrs Ihrig's presentation.

A WHOLE NEW BALL GAME

Because of the many inquiries with regards to the districting in Oak Lawn, it has become apparent that many of the new residents do not quite understand what action has transpired and the voting procedure that now follows.

In the mayoral election of 1973, the voters elected the president of the board of trustees, three trustees to serve a four (4) year term and the village clerk. Included with the election at that time was a second ballot asking for a "yes" or "no" vote on dividing the village into six (6) districts. Each district would then elect their own trustee to represent them in village matters. Prior to this, all trustees were elected from any given area and were more or less trustees at large representing all areas.

The majority voted for the six districts. It was then determined by law that the districting must take place before the next local election which is April 15, 1975.

The districting map shown below was drawn up by the village clerk, Ernie Kolb and was subsequently approved by the board of trustees. By law, the division is made according to population and the totals for each district must be within a 10% variation. The variation allows the use of streets as separations and ultimately makes for strong and distinct boundary lines.

Three (3) of the trustees, Harold Bacon, Herb Huskey and Dr Carl Venkus were voted into office in April of 1971 and their four (4) year term expires on April 15, 1975. John Hardek, Alice Ihrig and Dave Morris were voted into office in April, 1973 to serve four (4) year terms, two (2) of those four years have expired. The question then arose as to whether or not these latter three (3) trustees could finish their term serving in a district other than their own if necessary. A friendly suit followed and on January 10, 1975 the court ruled that all six seats are open and will be filled by election contest on Tuesday, April 15, 1975.

The six (6) trustees who are now in office are the incumbent (should they all run again) and can be challenged by any person living in the same area who feels they are qualified and follows the procedure for all candidates.

The election for the voter has been reduced to a very simple procedure, but it's simplicity should not overshadow it's importance. On the map you can find your district. Should it so happen that you reside on a boundary street, the side of the street you live on determines your district.

Within the boundaries of your district are the names of the candidates who are running for the office of trustee in that district. Now forget all other districts and concentrate on yours alone.

In this election Ernie Kolb, with board approval, has arranged that you will vote by machine and avoid the confusion that followed the election of '73. On your machine will be the names of the persons running for office in your district. You will vote for ONE (1) to serve as your representative. . . it's as simple as that.

The deadline for presenting petitions will not expire until Feb 10, 1975 at 5 pm. Should any new candidates file for the office of trustee, their names will be included in the March issue of Village View.

All names above are in alphabetical order and not necessarily the position they will have on the ballot, Tuesday, April 15.

Harold Bacon, John Hardek, Alice Ihrig, Dave Morris and Carl Venkus are all the incumbents.

There has been much said and written with regards to the Liquor Commissioner's raise. . . Unfortunately, although they had been properly notified, no one from the news media was present on that Saturday morning, Dec 21. The resulting stories have become so garbled that it is hard to distinguish between truth and fantasy.

We firmly believe that trustee John Hardek had a right to open comment on the meeting that he was unable to attend and also his right to be heard. (Mr Hardek was with his wife at the Mayo Clinic where she had undergone surgery.)

We also believe that those that were present had the right to think for themselves when the vote was cast. Although Mrs Ihrig "passed" she was well aware that her vote went with the majority making it a 5 "yes" vote. At a later meeting she acknowledged recognizing this fact.

Printed below is a copy of the minutes of the Saturday, Dec 21 meeting. If there is any question with regards to the legality of what transpired it should be settled in a court of law and not out in the street.

PRESIDENT & BOARD OF TRUSTEES Saturday, December 21, 1974 SPECIAL MEETING MINUTES No. 74-38

Pres Dumke wanted to explain to the board why this item was placed on the agenda publicly. There has been a question as far as he and the board are concerned as to action that had taken place in the spring and summer of 1973. The board, in Dec 1972, approved certain increases for the board and the mayor. Now there is a question as to whether it was done within the right time period and the legality of it. Dumke stated if this board will go along with the dollars that were budgeted in 1973 and 1974 and he would assume this would continue thru 1977, in the amount of $3,960 that the other $4,040 which was an increase in the mayor's salary will be dropped and will leave that for whomever is going to be mayor from 1977 to 1981.

If this board would agree to authorize the atty to read the previous ordinance, amend it and pass it, Dumke stated he could get his money and the board could forget about an issue that was creating problems for him both personally, insofar as finances are concerned, and insofar as his pension is concerned. Dumke explained that it was a very important issue to him because at the end of this term, he would have enough years for a pension. He couldn't count the previous years because he didn't earn enough dollars to be a part of the retirement program. In order to be eligible for the pension, he must have a full 8 years, which is this term. Dumke stated he was asking the board to bring his salary up to where it should be and he didn't feel this was an unreasonable request.

Trustee Bacon stated ever since he has been on the board, he has been subjected to some very sharp political movements. He stated he was not talking about anyone sitting here today. Trustee Bacon further stated he would agree to this increase; however, questioned the absence of one of the trustees who was ill today. Bacon stated he would like as many trustees present as possible before he would act on the Liquor Commissioner's Salary.

9:55 am, Dumke called for a recess and asked the clerk to see if he could get in touch with Mr Huskey to see if he could be present because he was in town.

Trustee Huskey arrived at 10:15 am - The meeting was resumed. Dumke again explained his reasons why he would like the Liquor Comm's salary raised to the figure that was budgeted in 1973 and in 1974, in the form of a contingency fund, and in 1975.

Trustee Ihrig questioned how much time the Liquor Comm's job requires. Dumke explained some days it doesn't take any time; however, other weeks it takes a great deal of time. The problems involved sometimes require hearings; however, he further explained that we have always been able to keep any bad publicity to a minimum in OL. Dumke stated it is a nebulous thing; however, the responsibilities and the powers of the Liquor Comm are great. He felt it was important that one understands the law and doesn't create lawsuits for the village.

District 126 Building Bond Report

At a recent Dist 126 school board meeting William Smith, supt, reported on the status of the outstanding bonds that paid for the construction of the 5 Alsip, Hazelgreen and Oak Lawn Elem Schools and their 7 additions. $2,252,000 of the building bonds are still outstanding. These bonds were approved by Dist 126 voters in 6 referendums going all the way back to 1952.

The six bond issues were: First National Bank of Blue Island; $16,406 to Mt 1952, $140,000 with 267 years and 147 no; 1958, $300,000 - 187 to 47; 1961, $357,000 - 436 to 166; 1964, $890,000 - 532 to 176; 1966, $335,000 - 199 to 139 and 1968 - $2.2 million with 694 yes and 426 no.

In the past year Dist 126 bond and interest payments, totaling $357,000 were made as follows: $28,744 to Harris Trust; $38,481 to Greenwood Bank; $22,165 to American National Bank; $10,885 to First National Bank of Chicago; $10,580 to Exchange Bank; $25,030 to National Bank of Albany Park; $15,229 to Beverly Bank; $52,094 to First Natl Bank of EP; $77,724 to Bank of Ravenswood and $54,375 to Michigan Ave National Bank.

DISTRICT 126 ADOPTS REVISED BUDGET

At the January board meeting, the Dist 126 school board adopted a revised budget for the 1974-75 school year. The need for a revision was caused by the reduction of the education funds by $102,000 due to the lowering of the tax multiplier by Governor Walker last fall.

The education fund expenditures were reduced $11,000, or 5%. The biggest change was the transfer of $40,000 of maintenance salaries to the bldg fund. Fewer staff positions

RESIDENT CRITICIZES TRUSTEE PERFORMANCE

On Tuesday, Jan 14, I attended the meeting of the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees. Under discussion was the increase in the salary of the Liquor Commissioner that had been passed on Dec 21, 1974. John Hardek, who had been absent, was making every effort to question the board of the legality of the raise.

I believe that I, along with many others, witnessed what was probably the lowest blow ever inflicted on one man in public office. While the discussion was going on, trustee Herb Huskey broke into the conversation saying, "If you were so concerned about it why weren't you here."

Everyone on the board, including Huskey, knew that Mr Hardek was with his seriously ill wife at the Mayo Clinic and never left her side for over two weeks. Gentleman that he is, John Hardek let it pass.

This is not a first for Mr Huskey. Had he been able to place first priorities in their proper place in the past, he may still be State Representative in the 8th District.

DERWINSKI COMMENDED

The following letter was sent to Congressman Ed Derwinski (R-4) from the executive vice president of the National Newspaper Association located in Washington D.C.

Dear Congressman Derwinski:

On behalf of the President, officers, directors and 6,000 members of the National Newspaper Association, I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for voting to override the veto on H.R. 12471, the bill amending the 1966 Freedom of Information Act.

We have fully reported your commitment to openness in government to all of our members through our 50 affiliated national, regional and state newspaper associations. In turn we are sure that these associations will be informing our mutual members--your constituent publishers--so that you will receive full credit and commendation for your action.

We realize that many strong influences were exerted in an effort to sustain the President's veto during consideration of this issue. This makes your action in voting to override even more courageous and realizing this, we are doubly appreciative of your willingness to stand openly for freer access to government-held data.

Thank you again for your action and for taking the time to give full consideration to the views of all sides on this important issue.

Please feel free to call upon us at any time you believe the National Newspaper Association could be of assistance to you or your office.

Theodore A. Serrill
Executive Vice President

that Dumke has over the past years, so the village can continue on. Morris asked for a legal opinion as to whether or not a time limit could be specified on the provisions for the Liquor Comm's salary.

Ordinance was read. Trustee Venkus moved, seconded by Trustee Huskey to adopt the ordinance as read, noting the Liquor Comm shall receive as compensation for the proper performance of the duties vested in him, an annual salary of $3960. On the vote: Trustees Venkus, yes, Bacon yes, Huskey yes, Ihrig passed, and Morris yes. The motion carried.

The resultant Dist 126 tax rate will be reduced from the $2.70 rate of 1974 to $2.65 in 1975. The revised budget totalling $2.8 million was unanimously approved by the Alsip, Hazelgreen and OL school board, according to Thomas Smith, board secy.

How much will the funeral cost? Too often, in times of emotional turmoil, financial considerations are ignored, or brushed aside as unimportant. The temptation to overspend, in a last final tribute to one who was dear, can be almost overwhelming. Yet it is unwise, and at Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, certainly unnecessary.

During the last forty-five years, M.J. Lamb, Jr., and his sons, Matt and Dick, and their staff have been giving this financial counseling to the bereaved families of this entire area. Evidence of appreciation for this straight forward advice is seen by the many personal letters of thanks. It is with pride that the fine services of Blake-Lamb are available to all families regardless of what they may decide to spend.

Months of careful planning has culminated in another gala Garnet Ball for the aux of Little Company of Mary Hospital. This annual social event was held recently at Beverly Country Club and was well attended by a host of prominent socialites, professional and business men and their beautifully gowned wives.

The cocktail hour, which preceeded the dinner dance, featured a magnificent hor d'oeuvres table laden with shrimp, egg roll, ribs, cheese, meat balls, etc, done in the usual Beverly Country Club style. When the doors of the main dining room opened, guests filed through the receiving line into a room filled with the fragrance of fresh flowers and the glow of soft candlelight. A delightful dinner was followed by an evening of dancing to the music of Leo Henning and his orchestra.

Mrs Frank Schaffer and Mrs Thomas Evans were co-chmen of the ball. Aux members on their committee were: Mrs John Brosnan, Mrs William Claussen, Mrs Norman Lindh, Mrs Dino Maurizi, Mrs James McGetrick, Mrs Louis Scaramella, Mrs Otto Scheiner, Mrs Russell Streff, Mrs Dominic Tesaro and Mrs Harold Zwiit.

LOCAL BRIEFS

via vinda...

CAPT ROBERT JELLEY of the OL Police Dept retired last month after almost 30 years of service on the force. A retirement party was held for him and was attended by over 250 persons including friends, village officials and members of the force. He received plaques and gifts including a watch from his co-workers and a ring from officials of the administration.

Missed the Jan 9 birthday of SANDY DORGAN, who keeps insisting her rising sign is Leo. Don't know about that.

JOE VOGRICH had a birthday on Jan 26 and the only sign he's interested in right now are those used in a campaign.

Don't want to forget belated wishes to MRS SARAH METZ who just became 90 years young.

Getting back to campaigners, HAROLD & RUTH BACON just returned from a vacation in Florida. Harold must believe in getting in condition before rather than fall apart after.

Then there's JOHN HARDEK. There doesn't seem to be much of a campaign going on in the 4th District so he took on pr chmn for St Germaine's SHOWBOAT '75.

By the way, John's wife, MARYANNE HARDEK made a beautiful recovery after the two of them spent some very traumatic days thru the holiday season at the Mayo Clinic in Minn.

JOE CACHEY JR was named secy of the South Side Builders Assn at their recent installation dinner held at the Beverly Country Club.

GODFREY KLEIN, former commissioner of the OL Park District, was installed as one of the dirs of the assn.

DR TOM POWELL was invited to talk over closed circuit TV at Marist High School recently. A panel of journalistic students asked questions and the series was recorded on tapes for referrals. Doc said he enjoyed every minute of it and hopes for a return engagement.

DR BILL SMITH will teach a graduate level course in school law at St Xavier starting this month, February.

A recent announcement advised us that LYNN CURRAN is now associated with Percy W. Cump & Co, Realtors. Best of everything to a great gal.

ERNIE WULFF and NEDRA BABB were both appointed to the senior citizen commission. This is the second time around for Ernie.

BEVERLY WALSH, has been named editor of "Batter Up", the newsletter for OLBB. Her husband Pat is pres of the org.

MIKE WINS CHRISTMAS STOCKING

Twelve year old Mike Minarik was the winner of the giant Christmas stocking awarded by the Children's Dept of the OL Library.

More than 750 children entered the drawing according to Rita Bert, children's librarian.

The stocking, over 7 feet tall, was filled with games, toys, puzzles and prizes.

Selection of the winning ticket was made by Edward Meier, pres of the library board of trustees.

GREEK NITE AT ST LINUS

"Greek Nite" presented by the St Linus Ladies Guild was a total success. Greek food, Greek wine, Greek dancing and music were also provided to make it a fun filled evening. All of the women serving on the committee and their husbands were dressed in Greek outfits to compliment the affair.

Top right (l to r) Darlene Beran; Mary Rita Gruca, in charge of decorations and whose committee transformed the St Linus gym; Vogrich and his wife Kathy;

Trustees vote "no on Sears"

The OL board of trustees denied the appeal of petitioner George Wiegel to rezone the corner of 95th & Crawford to house the proposed "Sears Shopping Center."

Prior to this, the Planning & Development board (P&DC) had denied the petition on two separate occasions.

That the petitioner had failed to convince either boards that the rezoning was necessary to gain fair and equitable profit from the land, was the basis for turning it down.

John Hardek made the motion to deny and was seconded by Dr Carl Venkus. On roll call to deny were all six trustees: Harold Bacon, John Hardek, Herb Huskey, Alice Ihrig, Dave Morris and Carl Venkus.

Norb Kalemha, spokesman and chmn of the Crawford Garden Homeowners was hugged and kissed by all the residents of the area.

The Blue Book explains the history, functions and traditions of Illinois government and documents the accomplishments of state government through the 78th biennium (1973-74). "We are pleased to report that despite increased materials and production costs during the last two years, the new Blue Book was published at a cost price of 14 cents less a copy than the 1971-72 edition," said Michael Howlett, secretary of state. "This was done by limiting and reducing 200 pages through elimination of many photographs and condensation of descriptions of state offices and agencies," Howlett explained. "The Handbook, scheduled for publication early in 1975, is an excellent educational booklet for our school children," Howlett said. "It contains information on all legislators, elected officials, history of Illinois, and both the Illinois and United States constitutions in addition to considerable other information about our state." The new handbooks will be printed for less than 22 cents a copy.

Waste disposal meeting March 1st

The plans for a community of nine members, each member shared waste disposal plant is coming closer to being a reality than it was almost three years ago, according to Harold Bacon, Oak Lawn on the South Suburban Waste Disposal Committee. The committee consists of nine members, each member represents one of the nine participating communities: Bridgeview, Burbank, Chicago Ridge, Evergreen Park, Homewood, Oak Lawn, Palos Hills and Worth.

Harold Bacon said that eight of the communities have donated $500 each and together they have hired atty Stewart Diamond to represent them. Diamond is with Lou Ancel's legal firm. "Diamond has already researched the legality of forming a nine community participation corporation," Bacon said, "and he feels that this would be acceptable to insure financing the project. This," he continued, "will be discussed further on March 1, 10:30 am in the OL village hall.

Harold Bacon

"The first thought the committee had," Bacon said, "was the installation of an incinerator."

Bacon went on to say that as technology progressed the process of preparing the garbage for burning, a new light was shed on an economy process.

Commonwealth Edison Co. will buy the refuse after it is properly separated and delivered to them, Bacon said, they have the burning equipment to make energy to supply electric.

"After years of research we know that we now have a program where a processing plant can be built in one year for $4,000,000 and can turn out a finished product that is saleable." Bacon went on, "After one year of operation, the participating villages will share in a dividend return to their village."

Bacon said that a process presented by Union Carbide is a superior system but still in its infancy and needs more time for development. Its estimated cost is about $16,000,000, he said, and at this time we could not finance such a program.

"I am now recommending that the participating communities enter into a contract with Commonwealth Edison Co., to purchase our product, arrange for the financing in a manner subscribed by our atty," Bacon said, "and contract to build the waste processing plant."

In conclusion Bacon said, "Remember the next meeting, March 1, 10:30 am in the Village Hall, 5252 James st, Oak Lawn."

Trustees turn back on $3,000,000

On Tuesday evening, Feb 25, the board of trustees unanimously overrode the recommendations of a Community Development Advisory committee to apply for the assisted housing portion of a $3,000,000 grant under the Housing and Community Development plan before March 1, 1975. The final motion was to extend any further decision for one year, until March 1, 1976.

This decision is allowable and will provide the necessary time to complete a thorough investigation of all facts involved and greater input from all factions of the village of Oak Lawn.

Storm sewer proposed for southwest section of Oak Lawn

The Oak Lawn board of trustees voted unanimously to put in a proposal which would allow them to share in the Federal-Aid Urban Highway System fund. Citing that several safety and operational needs exist along Southwest Highway, from 95th to Ridgeland Avenue, create an immediate need for improvement, and was the basis for receiving approval of the applications.

The Summary and evaluation report was prepared by, M&E/Alsta, March & Guillou, Inc; and listed as major needs:

1. The need to increase safety and improve the arterial function of Southwest hwy, thru the reduction of vehicular conflicts and traffic friction along the route.

2. The need to provide a safe and protected school crossing of Southwest hwy.

3. The need to provide adequate storm water drainage facilities for the southwestern portion of the village.

The proposal would encompass a wide variety of improvements which will include the widening of the street with median area provided to allow separation of turning traffic; light signal at 97th & Southwest hwy (school area), complete with pedestrian actuation and walk indications; light signal at 99th & Southwest hwy; the closing off of several streets and the creation of cul-de-sacs for those streets; improved street lighting by means of sodium vapor lights within the project limits. The major improvement will be the construction of a storm sewer within the right-of-way of Southwest hwy.

Mr George March, rep of the firm preparing the report, was present and advised the trustees that he was quite sure the plan would be approved. He said that if the contracts can be let by June, 1975, construction could begin by July 1, 1975 and completed within one year.

The improvement program will cost $1,210,000; the federal agency will provide $847,000; the state, $181,500 and the village portion, $181,500. Pres Fred Dumke stated that the state portion has already been approved.

Powell fighting for a principal now

Pres Fred Dumke was declared the winner of the 1973 mayoral race on Tuesday, Feb 4 at an unscheduled appearance before the board of trustees by his atty Will Gierach.

He told pres Dumke that the final ballot, showing Dumke a five-vote winner over challenger Dr Thomas V. Powell after a recount, was affirmed that morning by the Illinois Appellate Court. Powell, an orthodontist, had been declared the winner by four votes before the recount. When the recount found Dumke the winner, Powell appealed on the grounds that not all the precincts had been recounted. The Appellate Court ruled that the law was clear in allowing recounts in specific precincts where irregularities were suspected.

Pres Fred Dumke thanked Mr Gierach for bringing the news and said, "Now the village can settle down and take care of the business at hand, that of running the administration." In a later comment he said that the decision was that of the three judges of the Appellate Court.

Ihrig returns from Alaska

Oak Lawn village trustee Alice B. Ihrig is just back from a week in Juneau, Alaska, where she conducted a workshop on legislation for library leaders in the state and members of the legislature. Several sessions covered plans for implementing the Alaska state plan for library development. Mrs Ihrig participated in preliminary phases of that planning at meetings in Anchorage several years ago.

While in Juneau, Mrs Ihrig was interviewed for the Public Broadcasting radio network, and portions of the workshop were videotaped for the satellite project, which uses a NASA satellite to send programs of public interest into remote communities.

Dr Thomas Powell said that he was not disappointed in the recent decision of the Appellate Court. He said that his advisors had already warned him what to expect. "In fact," Powell said, "My wife Rosemary and I were on a vacation in Mexico and we did not hear of the decision until we came home."

"We were really pleased to find they had acted so quickly because now we can go forward with our appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court, where hopefully it will be accepted, and we will get a fairer shake."

Powell went on to say that he is fully aware that there are only 18 months of the mayor's term left and that it is the principal he is fighting for now rather than getting the office back. He said there has never been a case where a man was taken from office on a partial recount or a partially recounted precinct. He said, "A precedent has been set and should it remain uncontested a person could be put out of office on a partial recount of just one precinct."

"I do not want future candidates to be hurt by this ruling as it neither constitutional or correct," Dr Powell said. "That is why I am taking it to the Supreme Court."

Dr Powell was asked if there were any plans should the case be turned down by the Supreme Court.

"In the event that it is turned down," Powell said, "my attys, Burt Odelson and Leroy Sanquist, will prepare a civil suit and go on to the Federal Court."

Rug pulled from under McDonald

The trustees disagreed on village mgr Kenneth McDonald's recommendation that more than a half million dollars in payments to contractors and engineers be withheld because of a dispute over $22,000.

McDonald told the board that they had lost the amount in revenue from the Oak Forest-Tinley Park water extension program, when the water was not turned on the date promised. The turn on date was Dec 16.

Mayor Fred Dumke noted that Oak Lawn has a good financial reputation, and as a result, is able to obtain financing at lower interest rates than other municipalities.

"I can't see holding up $545,000 for $22,000," he said, adding, "It's unfair to penalize them." Dumke suggested the board authorize $500,000 and negotiate the $22,000, from the remaining balance of $45,000.

Trustee Herb Huskey moved to approve payment of $500,000.

McDonald repeated his objections to release of any of the funds. His request that the entire amount be held up was based on the loss to Oak Lawn as calculated by him. He also said that part of the $45,000 remaining is being held up pending final clean-up work in the spring and is part of the original contract.

John Hardek opposed the payment of $500,000 saying that it was taking all the bargaining power away from the manager. Alice Ihrig also opposed it saying, "We're pulling the rug from under Ken McDonald."

Trustee Alice Ihrig moved to table action to the next meeting. Her motion failed to pass.

On Huskey's motion, Mrs

Senior Citizens ask for independence

The OL Senior Citizen Council presented a resolution to the board of trustees last week asking to be independent of the Family Counseling Service (FCS).

Pres Fred Dumke told them that their problem has been under review by the village atty and he asked Ralph Rehnquist to report his findings at the regular meeting of March 11.

Ihrig and Trustee John Hardek voted no. Dumke joined the others with an affirmative vote. Huskey's motion passed. Trustee Carl Venkus was absent.

Trustee John Hardek asked for permission to question the senior citizens saying he was not aware of any problem.

Mrs Doris Klein, the spokeswoman for the group, said that they had been working under village mgr Kenneth McDonald and everything was going fine until he turned the commission over to the FCS. "We are not mental," she said, and added that the senior citizens did not believe that they should be subordinate to other bodies in the adm, but should be on an equal status with them.

Mrs Klein went on to say that no reflection was intended on the good office, but that Mr Richard O'Neill (FCS) is just too busy and they (the senior citizens) are just unable to reach him.

He has his own business, she said, and has a commitment to Hometown and is just not available.

Mr Hardek thanked the spokeswoman for her information.

HOME SALE SOLICITATION

The Village of Oak Lawn has received complaints from local residents about real estate firms calling homes in the Village soliciting the sale of homes. We have investigated the law on the subject and have determined that it is not unlawful for a real estate firm to call a homeowner to find out if they are going to sell their home and to solicit listing the home with their firm. However, if the real estate firm representative offers a prize or a cash refund, it is illegal.

We have contacted the Illinois Dept of Registration and Education, Real Estate Division, and have been informed that the investigative section of that agency has teams of investigators who will investigate any complaints of this nature received from the public. They specifically want the complaints to be registered directly with them, as opposed to going through the Village or any other agency. Any homeowner who wishes to register a complaint about such a telephone call is encouraged to call that office at 793-3412 and report their complaint.

let's talk cost.

How much will the funeral cost? Too often, in times of emotional turmoil, financial considerations are ignored, or brushed aside as unimportant. The temptation to overspend in a last final tribute to one who was dear can be almost overwhelming. Yet it is unwise, and at Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, certainly unnecessary. Wherever possible, pre-need planning long before a tragedy happens allows a family to make arrangements with presence of mind.

During the last forty-seven years, M. J. Lamb, Jr. and his sons, Matt and Dick, and their staff have been giving this financial counseling to the bereaved families of this entire area. Evidence of appreciation for this straight forward advice is seen by the many personal letters of thanks. It is with pride that the fine services of Blake-Lamb are available to all families regardless of what they may decide to spend.

Nursing home off-then on again

Early in the month the OL Planning & Development Commission (P&DC) tabled any future plans for the 300-bed nursing home to be built on the northeast corner of 109th & Cicero. At a meeting prior to this, Shael Bellows representing developer Sam Bellows, received preliminary approval on the site plan with the condition that they also procured property on the southwest corner of 109th & Keating to supply the necessary parking.

However, when Bellows returned on Feb 3 he claimed that a "certificate of need" issued by the State of Illinois would expire on March 25. New federal regulation would not allow renewal without further public hearings thereby delaying the building for 10 months. Although he had still not met the parking requirements, he was asking for preliminary and final approval so that he could appear before the board of trustees and ultimately receive final approval before the expiration date.

Commissioner William

Connors then told the board that he had visited the Crestwood Nursing Home, owned and operated by the same people, and found rather deplorable conditions. He said that the parking was not as plentiful as the owner had stated and stressed that it was inadequate. Connors said that the stone was peeling from the exterior walls of the year old bldg. To this Mr Bellows replied that on the proposed 109th bldg they were using face brick.

Connors went on to say that the garbage area was littered with garbage. It was strewn all over and blowing around the parking area. Mr Bellows blamed this on the help and mainly high school youths. He said it was caused by moving the containers around. Connors came back with the reply that the containers did not even have lids on them. It was at this point that the subject was tabled.

Commissioner Thomas Kaar asked to take this item from the table and discuss it later in the meeting. His arguments were for the $3 million bldg and that the nursing home should not be lost to another community. He also said that the employment it would provide for Oak Lawn should also be taken into consideration.

With little notice and seemingly no previous intent, Shael Bellows said he would reduce the number of floors and reduce the bed capacity from 300 to 225,

Asked if he could put some type of roof over the garbage area, Bellows replied that it could not be done as the trucks backed in and picked up the gondolas and this operation would be hampered by a roof. The commissioners enlightened Mr Bellows of the fact that the village had a rather stiff health officer who would watch the area very closely for any infringement of the health ordinances in OL.

The board then approved the plan calling for a wall to enclose the "blowing garbage."

This item will be on the board of trustees agenda for approval on Tuesday, March 11 at 8 pm.

MVC to offer course in American government

A non-traditional course in American government will be offered by Moraine Valley college this spring.

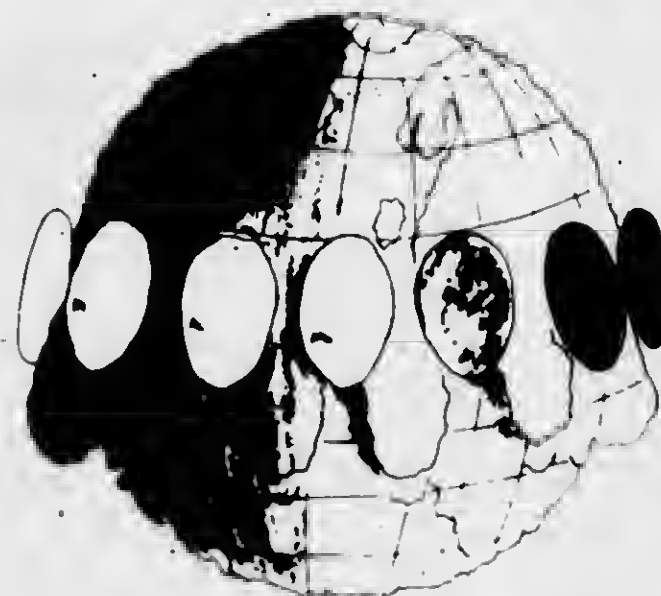

According to course instructor associate dean Henry Allan jr., course and unit objectives will be distributed to students. In addition, reading outlines with chapter assignments, bibliographies and informational material will be distributed. There will be no regularly scheduled class sessions and examinations will be based on unit objectives.

"Two or three optional seminars will be scheduled during the semester," Allan said. "Individual student conferences can be arranged for any day and several evenings each week. We hope to accommodate students who are not able to meet a regular class schedule or who prefer to study independently."

McNamara; Culprits must be caught and prosecuted

$1500 damage was done at the Menard Activity Center while a "teenage" program was in progress. The building located at 90th & Menard is now closed and under police guard.

According to park supt Bob Hope, involved in the brawl that extended out onto park property, about 90% of those involved were from fringe areas.

Due to lack of interest and poor attendance, the Oak Lawn Park District had to cancel its Teen Center Program at Southwest Park, 102nd & Major.

The Teen Center Program was offered to the residents starting last November as a pilot program. The merits of this program were to be evaluated in mid-March. It was to be determined then whether or not additional funds should be allocated to continue operation of the centers.

John McNamara, commissioner, said that the culprits must be caught and prosecuted to deter any future vandalism.

Hope said combined meetings with the youth commission and church and school leaders are planned for May in the Oak Lawn HS. Meanwhile, Hope said he will meet with the police to seek protection for the building from further damage.

Russo comes to town

At an impromptu but interesting press lunch during this past month, Congressman Martin Russo said that he had spent much time getting orientated in his new spot in Washington.

He told the press that there is plenty of oil in the country and that the oil crisis is of a political nature rather than supply and demand. Russo also said that car manufacturer's should be urged to build more of the smaller cars that get better gas mileage.

Russo said that he is serving on several committees. The major one being the Judiciary Committee and the others are sub-committees on Criminal Justice, Immigration and Regulatory Agencies, concerned with small business.

With regards to immigration, Russo spoke of the millions of aliens in the country who are either unemployed or working illegally. The employees, he said, that knowingly hire these persons will be prosecuted. What affect this situation has on the unemployment rate is still undetermined.

Congressman Martin Russo

Asked about what mail he has received from constituents, Russo said that it has been very light. He urged the people to write more often and said that all mail will be answered.

Russo said that he has purchased a home in South Holland and commutes over weekends.

He told the press that he intends to keep in touch and have many such meetings to keep the people informed first hand of what is taking place in Washington.

OL to hold contest for 1976 motif

The Village of Oak Lawn will sponsor a contest to design a Bicentennial motif for use on official vehicle stickers and other village papers during the 1976 year. The winning design must be suitable for a vehicle sticker and should be adaptable for other purposes which may arise, such as a bumper sticker or button, float identification and a flag.

Complete rules for the contest, including size specifications, may be obtained from the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission.

The contest will be open to any resident of the village. Deadline for receipt of entries will be July 15, and the winner will be recognized at a community Bicentennial kick-off scheduled for September 21. The winning entry will be used by the Bicentennial Commission and may be authorized for the use of participating orgs.

SO YOU WANT TO BE A TRUSTEE

Looking over the names of some of the candidates running for trustee in Oak Lawn, makes me wonder if they are giving something away in the village hall that I know nothing about.

The districting seems to have opened the door for every Tom, Dick & Harry, that "no way" could win in an election if they had to compete over the entire village. What's more, in over six years of covering all the board meetings, most of those running for office have never attended even one. Many have never even seen the inside of the village hall. Instead, they have probably picked up most of their experience in settling the affairs of local government in the laundromat or while mowing the front lawn.

I believe that any person of age and who is a registered voter, has the right to run for office. I firmly believe a person should be honest enough to know whether or not he is qualified to run for that office and is not just enjoying an ego trip at the expense of others.

Filling the office of trustee is not just getting a light in a lamppost, a hole in the street fixed or cinders in the alley as did the one time "Ward Healers." Nuisance problems such as these are usually handled thru the village managers office and seldom comes before the board of trustees. If the subject matter is of a serious nature, and will have direct impact on the health and welfare of the residents, then it may. The main thrust of the president and board of trustees is to set policy and see that your tax dollars are spent in such a way that they will benefit the village as a whole, and within the limits of the dollars provided in the approved budget.

One prospective hopeful asked, "What's to being a trustee? All they do is sit on a board and vote three times a month, I can vote too."

He or she, may have quite a rude awakening as it entails quite a bit more than just that. Are they aware of the numerous other meetings called at odd times of the day, any day of the week, with no extra pay? Saturday mornings seems to be a prime time to get the trustees out of bed as most of them are available then. In the past two months there were garbage disposal meetings, zoning ordinance meetings, contract signing meetings, and the most recent, how to spend a $3,000,000 federal grant. Funny thing, usually the only ones in the audience are from the news media. How then can these potential candidates presume to be knowledgeable of village affairs when everyone knows, "you can't believe everything you read?"

Then again, when something comes up that needs representation from Oak Lawn, the president may call out a name and say, "you're it." Could last a day, two months or three years. In fact, your term in office may be up before you have finished your assignment, and still no extra cash reward.

In their spare time a good trustee will ride around the village to view first hand items that are coming up on the agenda. These little extra trips enable them to discuss the proposals intelligently. Deciphering some of the motions intended to mean "yes" when they vote "no" still send me home with a headache. If they find they have goofed, they usually don't show it - but they do run home and get out their Roberts Rules of Order to enable them to straighten it out, and at the proper time.

The pressure put on the trustees really separates the men from the boys. Their vote can make several people either happy or unhappy, and just one person happy or unhappy. Either way, when the trustee lies his head on the pillow at night he truly believes that the "happys" are outnumbered by the "unhappys" (and he is usually right).

Now the trustee jumps out of bed to find something to soothe that gnawing pain that must be a threatened ulcer. He then jumps back in bed, wondering where he went wrong, and asks himself a thousand questions thru the sleepless night. The next day he knows rather quickly when he finds the one "unhappy" was his good neighbor down the street, who is no longer speaking to him.

Still want to be a trustee?

Justice for Zieler

GUEST EDITORIAL

Larry Collings

Bob Krolak

In 1965 Jim Zieler was shot while serving in the U.S. Marine Corps in Vietnam. The injury resulted in the amputation of his left foot. Jim returned home and applied for a position with the OL Police Dept knowing that, even with an artificial limb, he was capable of accepting all the responsibilities that accompanied the position. He passed, with ease, all of the written and physical requirements necessary, but was denied the job by the village officials.

Jim was forced to bring legal action against the village in order to obtain the position he had qualified for. He won the suit but still faced unfair treatment by the village's refusal to allow him to take promotional examinations and participate in some type of pension plan including Social Security.

The second lawsuit cost Jim and his family a great deal of time and money, as did the first. He won the case in the Circuit Court but lost his eight year battle when the village appealed the Circuit Court's decision and the courts reversed their decision because of a legal technicality.

Jim Zieler has no other alternative but to take legal action in the Federal Courts against the village. There is no valid reason why he cannot or should not be allowed to take a promotional examination and there is no reason why Jim, his wife, and four children should not be afforded the security of a pension. In the course of his last lawsuit, Jim was asked about his personal feelings regarding his family's lack of security. He said, "I feel my family would be more financially secure if I were killed in the line of duty rather than severely injured, for in that way, my family would benefit from my life insurance policies". That is a pitiful but factual statement.

Jim is financially unable to bear a law suit in order to obtain much delayed justice. The eight year battle that he lost in October caused a great deal of strain on Jim's family. We feel that Jim and his family should not have to continue to accept the financial burden alone. That is why we have established The Officer Jim Zieler Fund. We want to assist Jim in the way we feel we can do the most good.

YOURELL URGED SENIOR CITIZENS TO WRITE THEIR LEGISLATORS FOR TAX RELIEF

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell, was dismayed recently by the act of Governor Walker's vetoing House Bills 2715 and 2716; both received almost unanimous approval in the General Assembly and were focal points in Rep Yourell's re-election campaign bid.

The legislation Walker vetoed would have provided tax relief for some of our most deserving citizens who have contributed so much in their working years to the development of programs that we in the State of Illinois are now benefitting from.

Rep Yourell distributed throughout senior citizens groups, postcards addressed to the General Assembly and were asked to send them to Springfield to encourage legislators to vote for this most needed legislation.

Walker cannot constantly preach tax relief and keep resisting any program that is not his and believes it to be unworthy of his signature. Both Democratic and Republican tax relief programs presented in the General Assembly have either gone down in debate or have been vetoed by the governor. It is obvious to everyone by the governor's action that this is a political move and not really a genuine interest in a tax relief program for our most needy citizens.

The governor talks of a tax increase had he signed the Senior Citizen's Bill, but those who know have agreed that there will be at least a $300,000,000 surplus in the General Revenue Fund at the end of the fiscal year.

Lt Governor Hartigan is to be congratulated and commended in his leadership in providing benefits to the senior citizens of Illinois.

According to Governor Walker's inaugural speech, "the free ride is over", it appears that this does not apply to the great number of political people who are doing work for his office with huge salaries and on payrolls of other state agencies.

Rep Yourell and other interested legislators plan to introduce senior citizen legislation in the opening weeks of the 79th General Assembly in spite of the governor's objections and hope to get a veto-proof vote in both Houses.

The memory lingers on at St Germaines

St Germaine's wild spectacular, "Showboat '75" steamed to a happy landing with sellout crowds. Members of the parish performed as actresses, actors, singers, dancers, musicians, bartenders, Maitre D's, waiters and waitresses during the five days of the event. Approx 150 parishioners cooperated to make one of the parish's greatest successes with 1500 spectators in attendance.

After walking up the showboat gangplank, guests were greeted by the head Maitre D' and escorted to a table inside the showboat. The room was decorated to simulate a real vessel complete with paddlewheel.

Cocktails were served by beautiful ladies in old southern starched dresses and dinner was served by waiters in tails and tuxedos. Dinner consisted of Plantation Chicken a-la St Germaine, Virginia sugar cured ham, black-eyed peas and candied yams with spiced apples. The guests were then told to lean back, relax and get ready for the big show, and what a show it was!

"Showboat '75" opened with a dance number (see photo 1) by the St Germaine dancers Mary Ann Marsevello, Lenore Edwards, Judy Wadas and Peg Wilner.

Next the plot thickened with a middle aged seduction scene featuring Aunt Patti Cake, played by Mary Jo Finn and Dr Wilby, played by Tim O'Connor. Then "Rhett Servant" entered the picture played by Greg Eisin, that notorious riverboat gambler, and "Scarlet Fever" played by Rosemarie Skoppec. Both are involved in a love triangle, or was it a quadrangle, between Aunt Patti Cake and Melanie, the "mealy-mouth-mouse," played by Rose Carney (see Photo 2-3).

enjoyed music and dancing for the remainder of the evening.

VOGRICH

Joseph D. Vogrich, 32, former member of the OL Planning and Development Commission (P&DC) and pres of the Independent Homeowners of Oak Lawn, formally announced his candidacy for village trustee from the 5th district.

In making the announcement, Vogrich pointed out that village govt over the past few years has shifted its emphasis from the taxpayer to big business interests who have promised "gold at the end of the rainbow."

"The village has made its concessions to developers, shopping center owners, discount store people; they have fixed drainage sewers, granted re-zoning, sold water to distant towns, and performed all sorts of little tasks to build up the tax base. The only problem is that like the rainbow there is no pot of gold at the end of it -- only a bag, which the hardworking taxpayer is left holding."

Vogrich pointed out that

in the sale of water alone, to Oak Forest and Tinley Park, taxpayers who protested the plan were told that their water bills would drop because revenues from the sale would offset the high cost of the pipeline. The water bills in the last year went up by 32% for the average family.

"When the adm allowed several discount dept stores to build in Oak Lawn," said Vogrich, "they said the added tax revenues generated from the businesses would in turn lower taxes. The revenues would even cover a $750,000 drainage ditch repair bill which Oak Lawn accepted in order to get the new businesses located in the village.

"The added tax revenues have done none of these things. The only thing that the adm's waltz with big business in our area has generated is additional traffic, police and fire protection problems."

Vogrich stated that in each case the local homeowners had to carry the cost of these administrative mistakes. It is for this reason, he said, that he is seeking the post of village trustee.

"Oak Lawn is a beautiful community," declared Vogrich. "I've lived here most of my married life. I have five children in local schools and have taken a personal involvement in their development which has in turn made me active in Little League, civic orgs and local government."

"It was thru this latter activity that I have seen the effects of unsound decisions in local govt and the damage it may have caused to the future of Oak Lawn. As trustee, I intend to fight this type of waste and to concentrate on preserving our community as a peaceful village of homes where people can live and understand their neighbors. Oak Lawn must return to the situation where local business serves the community, not the community serving business."

Vogrich, who lives at 5215 Stony Creek dr, is married and the father of five children, Denise, 13, Joseph 10, Michael 8, Lisa 7 and David 5. He is an electrician and member of Local 134 of the I.B.E.W. The Vogrich's are parishioners of St Linus Church.

ANDERSON

Les Anderson, 37, a representative of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co in OL, took the first step in his decision to run for office by talking it over with his family. One united is a big asset to a successful campaign. From left: Lauri, 15, Linda, 11, his wife Marianne and Rob, 18, give Les Anderson his first and most important endorsement.

In the first district of Oak Lawn, voters are experiencing more excitement over the forthcoming election of trustees than ever before. Annexed to the village more than 8 years ago, the area has never had a trustee on the board elected from the neighborhood.

This major change comes at a time in history, when voters are expressing disenchantment with politics and politicians, far removed and out of tune with their needs.

Les Anderson, first candidate to file in the 1st district, is one of the political hopefuls working on the local scene.

"As a homeowner with a mortgage, a growing family and a concern for the community in which I work and live," said Anderson, "I am naturally interested in good local govt."

In describing the first district, he pointed out that it has the most undeveloped property of any area of Oak Lawn. According to

Anderson, there are many small older homes owned by

Dr Carl S. Venkus cites his experience on the board and familiarity with his families on fixed incomes, as well as a growing number of new homes purchased by young families.

"We do have problems here that are unique to other districts," he stated, "and the development of this area is especially important in the next few years."

Anderson also feels that his flexible work schedule, since he works in the village, is a big plus in his serving of the board, as well as contacting 4000 votes during the campaign.

He presently serves on the OL Board of Appeals and is a campaign chmn for the OL Crusade of Mercy. During his 17 years in Oak Lawn, he has been actively involved in many civic orgs in the community.

Anderson is now working on his platform by spending most of his spare time getting feedback from voters. "I want to be available to provide direct answers, rather than passing the buck to someone else," he said.

He has worked in the Homeowner's Party for the past four years, however in this election, each candidate district as his major qualifications for re-election in the April 5 local election.

Venkus, 42, of 10528 Lorel ave, has served one four-year term on the village board. He was elected in 1971 as an at-large trustee, and will seek re-election this year as trustee for Oak Lawn's 5th district.

Venkus said he plans to work for three public works projects within his district if re-elected. They are the tiling of Stony Creek from Laverne to Central ave; the construction of a railroad crossing at 108th and Central ave; and installation of effective street lighting on 103rd st.

"Tiling Stony Creek should be approached as a joint project with the Metropolitan Sanitary District," Venkus said. "Tiling would also enable the village to build a bicycle path from Long ave to Richards HS, and eliminate a rodent problem created by the open creek."

Dr Venkus said the 108th st railroad crossing should be approached through the Federal Aid Urban (FAU) highway improvement program and with the Cook County Highway Dept.

Improvements on 103rd st could be financed with Motor Fuel tax funds, at "minimal cost" to homeowners. Venkus also proposed additional traffic signals for 103rd st.

Venkus and his wife, Monica, have lived in Oak Lawn for 15 years, they have seven children.

"I have resided an equal number of years in the north and south section of (the 5th) district," Venkus said. "I am therefore more directly knowledgeable of the problems in the district."

Dr Venkus is a self employed dentist in general practice. He is a graduate of St Phillip High School, St Benedict College, Atchison, Kan., and has his BS and DDS from Illinois U.

Dr Venkus was a captain in the United States Army; a member of the former Dianne Berrang Leukemia Society, and the B.P.O. Elks, OL Lodge 2254.

He is a member of St Linus Parish, the Chicago Dental Society, the Illinois Dental Assn, the American Dental Assn and is presently a member of the OL board of trustees.

DOROTHEA HOCH of OL has been named to Congressman Marty Russo's staff and will work out of his Chicago office at 219 s Dearborn.

While on RUSSO, at a recent press luncheon, he mentioned that he had acquired some gray hair while in Washington. If he did, it certainly didn't take anything away from the handsome, 4th youngest Congressman in the U.S.

SANDY DORGAN, well known gal about town, is on our get well list after undergoing surgery at Christ Hosp.

Congrats to MR & MRS JOHN KOLLER, who celebrated an amazing 56 years of marriage, with a small party in their OL residence.

Visit the all new Senese's

Of course you have been to Senese's Kings Inn since the complete remodeling. However, if you haven't, a great surprise is in store for you.

After checking the new glamorous outside and you walk in the front door a whole new look is waiting for you. The first thing you might notice is how much more spacious it seems since opening up the rooms. The side walls are done in a dazzling sort of white stone that imparts the feeling of elegance and flatters the entire decor. Everything is remodeled and redecorated from top to toe right down to the menus.

Senese's also have what could be a first for the south suburbs, a disk jockey booth. You can hear your favorites from both tapes and records or they will pick a few of their own. Live entertainment is another attraction and they feature most of the more popular groups.

Senese's has expanded their banquet facilities and can handle up to 300 persons with ease.

They have created a new sensation all of their own, homemade barbecue pizza! Try it...you'll like it.

Senese's is open seven nights a week from 4 pm to 4 am. They are still open on Sunday from noon to 4 pm serving that delicious family dinner of all you can eat for $3.95, and includes a salad bar. Children under 10 can have all of the same for only $1.95.

Don't forget Senese's the very next time you are going out, 4600 W 103rd St, OL.

Why not try one of the restaurants on these two pages the next time you are dining out?

If fact, why not make it a practice to try a different one each week.

Just think! You will feel well fed and happy and then we'll be happy too...tell them we sent you.

New jurisdiction for Derwinski committee

Recent realignment of the committee system by Congress will give additional jurisdiction to two committees on which U.S. Rep. Edward Derwinski (R-4th) serves, the congressman has announced.

Rep. Derwinski is the leading Republican member of the House Post Office and Civil Service committee and the second-ranking member on the Foreign Affairs committee.

"The House Foreign Affairs committee will receive additional jurisdiction over export controls which includes a review of modifications pertaining to export licenses covered under the Export Administration act," Derwinski said.

"The Post Office and Civil Service committee will gain jurisdiction over three basic problems in the manpower area: the interchange of federal, state and local employees on a temporary basis; training programs; and personnel management," he said.

Derwinski pointed out that the Post Office committee also acquired jurisdiction over the Hatch act, which defines the restrictions on political activity of federal officers and employees.

It also protects by law federal employees who are part of the civil service from efforts to force them to render political service or tribute.

In addition, the committee gains jurisdiction over population and demography and holidays and celebrations, while retaining jurisdiction over postal matters, federal employees in general, including retirement, pay and fringe benefits and the franking laws of congress.

"I welcome the added responsibility which my committee assignments give me," Derwinski said. "I expect an especially controversial but not necessarily productive Congress in 1975-76, since the political imbalance which has developed may produce more demagoguery than constructive legislation."

will be basically drawing all his support from voters in his own district.

Raising funds for a campaign during a time of inflation and unemployment is a big challenge too but Anderson's supporters hope to keep their budget below $600.

"We plan to get more people involved, who will know the candidate personally, rather than seeing his picture on an expensive piece of literature," a spokesman said.

For their big fund raiser, there will be beer, rather than champagne, and donations are expected to turn up in small denominations.

But both Jim O'Brien and Bill Anicich, co-campaign managers, agree that their corps of hard working supporters are far more important than a big budget.

"We can be completely honest about our candidate," said Kay Siemeck, who will handle his publicity, "since most of us have worked with him on neighborhood projects."

"Oak Lawn will be the winner in this election with a six member board knowledgeable in the specifics of neighborhoods, as well as the entire community," Anderson concluded.

No, Wrong

Is the only purpose of shock absorbers to keep the car from bouncing?

No. Shock absorbers are intended to keep the wheel in contact with the road under all driving conditions, so this becomes a safety consideration. Firm shock absorbers will prevent loss of control when steering or braking in an emergency under rough road conditions. Also, shock absorbers help to reduce suspension and tire wear due to excessive wheel hop.

Joe Vogrich is a homeowner and family man who works hard to live in Oak Lawn. But the last few years his taxes have gone out of sight...and so have his village services!

If you're like Joe, increased taxes with little or nothing to show for them, is enough to make your blood boil. . .especially with five children to feed, clothe, and send to school. That's just one reason Joe Vogrich is running for Oak Lawn Village Trustee, there are many more.

For example, Joe knows that a "functional" village board can get more for the tax dollar by working with federal and state governments to obtain and utilize the many available grants, along with the new highway repair fund, without raising our taxes.

He also knows that "proper" allocation of village funds can improve street lighting, traffic signals, road repairs, and public services for the residents. Also, that working with area young people now, through an expanded and financially sound youth commission, can help solve drug and vandalism problems before they get out of hand.

These are some of the reasons that Joe Vogrich electrician, former member of the Oak Lawn Planning & Development Commission, Little League organizer, and father, wants to be elected Oak Lawn Village Trustee. He has the commitment and the experience to do a good job, all he needs is your help.

Elect and support....

Joseph D.

Oak Lawn prepares for Bicentennial

FIRST NATIONAL OF EVERGREEN FEATURES EASTER EGG ART

Collection of Easter Egg Folk Art by Sister Rosanne, S.S.C. of the Maria High School Art Dept, is currently exhibited at the First National Bank of Evergreen Park, 3101 w 95th st, where finance and culture mix.

The first recorded mention of painted eggs appears in the 13th century. Religious themes and symbols of the Catholic Church predominated and folk-art egg painting was born.

Basically, there are two methods used in folk art egg decorating, was resist and scratch. It is the design that usually indicates the country of origin. The daisy and the Fleur de Lis are the favorites of France, icon painting probably indicates Russian origin; the tulip is popular with Lithuanians, Pennsylvania Dutch and Hungarians. The rooster and paper decoration will be found in Poland.

The Ukrainians prefer abstract patterns and Christian symbols and decorate their eggs to give as gifts to friends and so stronger dyes are used, whereas the Lithuanians break eggs with friends and eat them, so natural dyes are used. A favorite is a rich brown made by boiling eggs in onion skins.

The Easter egg exhibit will continue at First National thru April 5.

BICENTENNIAL MEETING NOTICE

The Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission will meet at 7:30 pm March 31 at the village hall. New commission members Ray Vogel and Bill Sullivan, will be welcomed to the commission, which is charged with planning for the observance of 1976 in Oak Lawn.

The public is invited to attend meetings of the commission, which is currently working on details of the community kick-off dinner on September 21.

Rules available for '76 bicentennial motif

Rules for the contest to design a Bicentennial motif for Oak Lawn are now available at the Oak Lawn village hall, the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission has announced.

All residents of Oak Lawn, of any age, are eligible to compete, except those related to members of the commission or the judges of competition.

The contest is to design an insignia which can be used as a vehicle sticker in 1976 and is also adaptable for a special flag and for other items such as buttons and bumper stickers.

Deadline for submission of designs is July 15, 1975. The winner will be recognized at a community Bicentennial kick-off scheduled for September 21.

In a letter from the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission being mailed to all groups in Oak Lawn, orgs are asked to select an activity they would like to sponsor in 1976, or volunteer to aid other groups or propose an idea of their own - all to be combined into a busy 1976 under the slogan, "Let's all Mix in '76!"

Mrs Dorothy Olsen, chmn of the commission, said the Bicentennial planning group will sponsor several events on its own, but will need the help and ideas of others in the community to plan for a full year of enjoying history, looking at the future and getting to know Oak Lawn thru mixing from area to area. "For example," she said, "we hope every church will sponsor a dinner open to the public so that we can get to know each other and enjoy the ethnic foods and entertainment so well represented in Oak Lawn."

Orgs are asked to make a preliminary selection of activity by April 30, so that dates can be correlated and gaps filled. Any orgs which do not receive a letter are asked to call the village hall for a copy of the list and the registration blank.

The Bicentennial Commission hopes that each group in town will want to do at least one activity - from the list or from its own planning.

(To arouse further interest in those that may think they have nothing to offer, Village View has printed the selection of activities suggested by the OL Bicentennial Commission.)

Ihrig attends conference in Washington

Mrs Alice B. Ihrig, village trustee, was one of only 300 state and local officials invited to attend the Natl Conference on American Federalism in Action held in Washington, D.C. Feb 20-22. The conference was sponsored by the advisory commission on Intergovernmental Relations; the International City Mgmt Assn; the Natl Assn of Counties; the Governor's Conference; the League of Cities; the Conference of State Legislatures; the Science Foundation; the Office of Mgmt and Budget; the General Services Adm and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

The conference was part of ACIR's mandate to "Bring together reps of the federal, state and local govts for consideration of common problems that are likely to require intergovernmental cooperation."

Among those attending from Illinois were Eric Freund, prof of Urban Planning at Illinois U; Sam Gove, dir of the Inst of Govt at Illinois U; Harold Hovey, Bureau of the Budget; Frank A. Kirk, Illinois Dept of Local Govt Affairs; Philip Elfstrom, chmn of the Kane County Board; former governor Richard Ogilvie; Joan Anderson, trustee of MSD, and William Day, publisher of Illinois Issues. Robert Merriam of Chicago is chmn of ACIR.

Topics at the conference included revenue sharing and community development; state, county and city modernization; urban trans, strengthening state and local fiscal systems, the property tax of tomorrow, growth policy and management and building equity into the federal system.

Among the principle speakers were Daniel Moynihan; Robert Hawkins Jr, chmn of a California task force on local govt reform; Wisc sen Robert Knowles; John Boland, chmn of the Minneapolis-St Paul Metropolitan Council; James Falk, assoc dir, the Domestic Council; Wash gov Dan Evans; Richard Lugar, mayor of Indianapolis; St Louis mayor John H. Poelker; cong L. H. Fountain of N.C.; sen Edmund Muskie of Maine; gov Robert Ray of Iowa; Minn gov Wendell Anderson and Edgar Fiedler, asst secy, Economic Policy, U.S. Dept of Treasury.

Mrs Ihrig reported that the meeting was designed to encourage discussion of local-state-federal problems, including prospects for renewal of revenue sharing.

"Mayors and governors alike," she said, "spoke to the need for continued substantial revenue sharing with no more restrictions that now exist. All cities, even the many smaller ones represented, spoke of the problems of inflation and the local property tax, indicating that they would have to seriously cut services without revenue sharing."

Scholarships for '75 graduates

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) once again will offer three $500 scholarships to graduating 1975 high school seniors who write the best essay on a labor related topic. The theme of the 1975-essay is, "How has the economic gains created by union negotiations and congressional support been eroded by special interest groups?"

This contest is open to all Illinois graduating high school seniors, class of 1975. There is no need for the senior to file a financial disclosure to qualify for this contest. Even if the senior has already won another scholarship, this does not disqualify him or her.

All essays must be typewritten - double spaced, a minimum of 1000 words -

Mrs Ihrig also noted that the work of ACIR in researching alternatives to the property tax received much comment. "The general feeling," she said, "is that the property tax has now become regressive and cannot be increased substantially unless other taxes are removed. The trend is to look for more equitable taxes, which is why the 'refund' of income tax through revenue sharing is so popular."

Mrs Ihrig has available extensive notes on the speeches and discussion which she is willing to share with anyone interested in this updating of federal-local relationships.

"Federalism," she said, "is certainly going to undergo further changes as we approach 1976 and an evaluation of how our unique federal system is working."

a maximum of 1500 words. For source materials they suggest "Who Runs Congress" by Green, Fallows and Zwick or "The Almanac of American Politics" by Barone, Ujifusa and Matthews.

All essays must be submitted on or before May 1, 1975 to: Scholarship Fund Committee of Illinois State Conference - IBEW, P.O. Box 4612, Chicago, Illinois 60680.

OLCHS seniors wanting info should call Joe Zajac, director of pupil personnel services, 424-5200.

Dumke wants action on waste disposal

Pres Fred Dumke pulled no punches while discussing the proposal for a garbage disposal at a meeting on Saturday, March 22, at the Oak Lawn Village Hall.

The Southwest Suburban Solid Waste committee, made up of reps from nine local communities, Alsip, Chicago Ridge, Burbank, Bridgeview, Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn, Hometown and Palos Hills, have been meeting for over two years. What appeared to be the most feasible proposal was one by Controlled Waste who could obtain financing for the almost $4 million plant at no expense to the villages, but would need a firm commitment from the communities that their garbage would be delivered to the disposal to insure it being a profitable undertaking for the firm.

At the meeting of March

1, OL trustee, Harold Bacon said that they have spent too much time on the subject and were getting no place unless some constructive action was taken. He asked that the mayors present the proposal (on garbage delivery), to their boards and return with either a "yes" or "no" by March 22.

Toby Anderson, mayor of Hometown, was present and questioned how he could go to his board and ask them to vote on a contract they knew nothing about. Bacon explained that it was not a contract, but only an assurance that Hometown's garbage would be delivered to the site. Anderson then asked, even if the board agreed how could they be sure their private scavenger would also agree. Bacon said that Anderson would then have to discuss it with the hauling company and receive assurance from them.

By board action a meeting was then set for March 22, 10 am at the village hall in OL.

In the interim, an item appeared in a newspaper, and said in so many words that Harold Bacon of Oak Lawn was moving too hastily on such a vast undertaking and doing so without sufficient research on the project.

"I am quite sure it was a mistake," pres Dumke said, "A great deal of research was done and a great deal of time was spent with Union Carbide. It would not only cost $16 million, but it would also take four or five years to build and we can't wait five years for other companies to come up with another program. I was not too happy with the comment, but nothing can be done about it now," he said, "Some of the statements were not untrue but they were not complete."

Dumke said that an ordinance had been prepared and was being sent to the involved communities, asking that their board members vote on the same and be returned within two weeks. The ordinance was then read into the record with the sum and substance of it being, whether or not they would commit their garbage to Controlled Waste, Inc.

The discussion of dollars it would cost per ton for the various hauling companies was then brought up. The question was as to how the boards could convince the scavenger services to dump at the new plant if they didn't know the costs in comparison with what it costs them presently to dump in the pits or landfills.

Pres Dumke then suggested that a meeting be held with the committee, the refuse collectors and William Lawlor of Controlled Waste, and resolve the dollars and cents "which is most important to make it work," he said.

Pres Dumke then told those present that he was going to stick his neck out. "The way Bacon has presented it is the way we're going to go, subject of course to a compromise on price with the haulers. The time for research is passed," he said, "and those that don't want to participate can drop out."

We could put this all together in 30 days," Dumke said, "or drop the whole thing and go another route."

The next meeting was set for 8 pm, Friday, April 25.

OL man seeks to set program for juveniles

Mr Wilhelm Moess of Oak Lawn area is interested in setting up solid vocational programs for young juvenile offenders. Trade training and programs of all types will be offered. Mr Moess believes that there are many people in every community interested in solving some of the problems. Programs such as he envisages would help to bring an end to crime, decrease the drugs and narcotics traffic and make our communities safer places to live.

So far Mr Moess has sponsored a small tailor shop with 5 old donated Singer sewing machines. A pressing machine and more modern equipment is needed. Also a dry cleaning machine, additional equipment to establish an electronic shop, automotive, TV repair, and tool and die shops, etc are needed. Many other trade training programs could be offered if funding is available.

According to Moess the many problems to our free society cannot be solved only by incarceration. In the vocational training programs the juveniles should choose what they would like to do. Students should stay in one of these programs for a minimum of 1½ or 2 years. They should take a test following training and if successful in passing it could receive a diploma.

After apprenticeship they could work on a trade job making union wages. Mr Moess is asking for help in establishing solid vocational programs for juveniles. The goal is to help prepare them for society. Equipment is needed to make these programs possible. Expanded programs could be offered in time as the needs of the youth and those of the community are discovered.

Mr Moess of OL said that by your interest and ties and the whole country will benefit. All contributions will be acknowledged and recognized. It is the hope and prayer of Mr Moess that many will respond, donating what each can, toward this worthy cause. Please send your contributions to "Youth In Action," Account No 159675-8 Joliet Federal Savings & Loan Assn, 120 Scott st, Joliet, Illinois 60431.

Progress with Integrity

HAROLD BACON

"Progress With Integrity," this and other areas, that's the campaign slogan adopted by Harold W. Bacon, incumbent trustee for Oak Lawn's District 2, in his bid for re-election, "Our town," according to Bacon, "is one of the three largest communities within the United States having a village form of government. Oak Lawn's growth and progress has been phenomenal during the past two decades with population rising to more than 60,000 during that period."

"District 2 includes 9500 people," continued Bacon, "in an area composed largely of single family homes in the north and northeast section of Oak Lawn. There is still much to be done in especially when we review the recent quadrennial valuation notices distributed by the Cook County assessor. Real estate assessment figures have jumped as much as 50% without an apparent increase in county services. A concerted effort must be made to keep taxes from engulfing us. Oak Lawn's share of the total tax dollar is only 16.6¢ and from this we must provide public safety, roads, lighting, recreational facilities, and other services of major importance, excluding education. This is a mammoth responsibility and should only be entrusted to competent citizens with business

MC CASTLAND FIRE STATION CEREMONY

It was a great day in the Village of Oak Lawn, Sunday, March 16, when hundreds of visitors gathered inside of the new John P. McCastland fire station at 103rd & Kostner. The Rev William Siemiers of Christ Hosp gave the invocation and blessing; chief Earl Vogelsanger and pres Fred Dumke both gave short talks on how the beautiful new station was built with no cost to the taxpayers.

experience and proven integrity."

While representing the second district, Bacon's efforts have also been felt in other Oak Lawn district projects: the recovery of $249,000 of the taxpayer's money from J.C. Penney Co; the new fire house at 103rd st and Kostner; an improved refuse collection system; initiation of the Southwes hwy improvement project (95th st to Ridgeland ave) with stop lights and sewers; storm drainage and streets (Phase 1 and 2) for the northwest area, and his dedicated resistance to federally-funded HUD low cost housing projects. His business, Bacon Tank and Manufacturing Co, was started in the early 'forties' in Worth. In 1945 he built a metals fabricating plant

Letters

Trustees are born-not made

Selecting a trustee to represent you in the village administration is no easy task, but you will be called on Tuesday, April 15, to do just that!

To sit idly by and say, "your vote doesn't mean anything," is really just the slackers way out. It is usually concerned intelligent persons that do get out and vote because they know it is the only way to go. At times your past selections haven't turned out right, but you must realize that the very people that "right" the "wrongs" are usually men of integrity that your vote also put in office.

No voter has to be politically astute to make the right choice, just use simple arithmetic and you will come up with the right answer.

Regardless of who is running there will be three (3) new trustees after this next election; one in the 1st District, the 3rd and 6th District, no incumbents reside in these areas.

If you live in an area where there is both an incumbent and a new candidate for office, you should be aware of the incumbent's record in office, if not, it is easy to find out by merely asking questions. As a trustee he has either proved himself or he hasn't, it's as simple as that.

If a new candidate tells you how he is going to straighten out the administration all by himself, cross him off your list immediately, as he will have to convince 5 other trustees that he is the brightest of them all - impossible!

John Jones down the block really cooks a good barbecue and he has asked you to give him your vote. Ask him, "What's cookin' in the village hall?" if he can't answer, just cross him off.

That nice fellow that plays with all the kids and tells you what he is going to do for them is way off first base, that's park business and good park commissioners (that are also seeking your vote) will handle that. The trustees only vote to supply funds, provided by you, to worthy committees to explore the ways and means of handling youth problems and not to build baseball diamonds. Cross him off your list.

If that slick looking fellow in your area promises that he will do right by you after he is elected -- immediately cross

"white elephant"

Just two or three short years ago the Worth Township Adm Bldg was referred to as a "white elephant" and hardly ever used for much of anything. The building was empty most of the time and performed very few services to the villages in the township.

When revenue sharing appeared on the scene, many of the reps of the libraries and the parks, including the Oak Lawn Park District, approached the Townboard auditors requesting a share of the revenue. The provision of funds for these special districts and many other orgs were included on the priority list.

However, the board did not recognize these requests and decided that to give funds in these areas would not conform to the rules as they were written, "that the funds shall be spent in a manner that would best service all of the residents of Worth Township."

They then added some services within the township bldg and bought a $5000 bus for the senior citizens. This enabled them to use up some of the space and ultimately made the building a little more productive.

Now it appears it is again revenue sharing time and many of the parks, libraries, Family Health Services, Ridge Khoury League, Bridgeview senior citizens, etc, have again asked to share in the funds. It would seem to be widespread enough that one could say that all of the people would be sharing a little.

But no, the township wants to use the funds to add on to the building to again have a "bigger white elephant" on our hands.

There is approx $630,000 in revenue sharing still unspent and the estimates on the building construction may run around $580,000. Cook County has not as yet approved finalization of the building.

It would seem at this time that there will be but one person that will profit from the Worth Township revenue sharing and that is the building firm that will be awarded the contract. What do you think?

lilm off. There are no "clout" jobs in the village as there are in Cook County. On page 18 of Village View the total number of jobs in the village are shown and most of them are civil service. There are a few part time jobs and they are mostly filled by qualified people for special services.

When you are selecting a trustee just remember that the village administration is big business and that friendship just does not fit in the scene. You may have had fun at the campaign parties but did you ask any questions? What experience does the candidate have? Has he examined the budget and what are his opinions? How many meetings has he attended and what meetings were they? Ask him to name the different committees and boards and what purpose do they serve? Ask the names of all the officials there are at this moment, you may be in for a surprise.

Ask him the names of all the candidates in the six districts, he may be sitting with five of them and he should know. Check the background of the candidate - he may have been a wonderful scout leader but if that is his only qualification for running for office he won't find any boy scouts on the board of trustees. Most of all remember that you are placing your tax dollars (and they are high) in the hands of the man you are voting for - be prudent and wise.

Ernie Kolb, our well respected village clerk, has brought machines to the voters of Oak Lawn to insure the residents a good and honest election. When you close the curtain, only you and the machine will really know for whom you voted. You can come out and safely smile at that nice candidate from down the block. Raise your two fingers in a "V" for victory and he will never know that you voted for yourself.

Our readers would do well to read the article "Taxation Without Representation" in the Letters column, this page. The writer is well versed, attends most of the meetings, serves on a committee and signed the letter. This person asked that the name be withheld in the interest of the committee he serves.

News FROM
REP. HARRY "BUS" YOURELL
PHONE 422-9300

YOURELL WOULD ELIMINATE OUTSIDE EARNINGS LIMITATIONS

State Rep Harry (Bus) Yourell, of the 8th Legislative District, recently presented over 1800 signatures from interested citizens in the 3rd Congressional District, asking Congress to do away with the outside earnings limitations for Social Security recipients. Congressman Martin Russo indicated that he was very happy to receive these from Yourell and promised to present them to the proper people in Washington, and do what he could to see that the wishes of the people of the district are met.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION

Recently the Village of Oak Lawn appointed a committee of six citizens to study the recent federal law that would have forced the village to present a community development plan. Along with this plan was a public assistance housing plan for low income families. Two public hearings and a planning session were held. Although all were publicized by the press, only about 200 citizens bothered to attend these meetings. This issue affects every homeowner and individual living in Oak Lawn, a village of approx 62,000 people.

Where were the concerned citizens? Where were our elected officials that were to have the final say? Why did the planning committee disregard the opinions of the residents in attendance? The committee shared their information with us but when the vote was taken, four out of six voted the complete opposite of the almost unanimous opinion of those citizens in attendance. We were told that this committee was chosen to represent the people in the Village of Oak Lawn.

I guess I am trying to say "wake up" people of Oak Lawn. Force the elected officials to be accountable to the electors. I urge you to attend some of the meetings held where your tax dollars are being spent and where decisions that will affect your lives are made.

I would also urge you to ask the candidate of your choice, in this coming trustee election, if he or she attended these public hearings to hear the opinion of the people. It is sad, but a fact, that only two trustees attended these hearings, yet they were to have the final vote for all of us.

Did someone say these trustees represent the people? I for one don't believe it.

A VERY CONCERNED CITIZEN

TAKES EXCEPTION TO PLATFORM

In referring to a local paper article of Sunday, Feb 23, 1975, concerning Mr William E. Connor's platform for trustee in Oak Lawn district 5, I take exception to his two faced platform plank quote:

"Formost will be an effort to the return of respect for the peoples' rights and property."

What people and what property is Mr Connors referring to? Certainly not the children that attend the Gaddis Elementary School at 93rd & Keeler. Mr Connors, a present member of the OL Planning and Development Board, was the only one of nine that voted to change residential land adjacent to the school to a 450 car parking lot. He also voted for massive rezoning of residential land to commercial to allow for a 50 store shopping center. This would obviously be detrimental to residential property owners in the area and throughout Oak Lawn.

It seems to me he is referring to people who control large developments, not the property rights of residential homeowners.

With a protector like this, God help District 5 and Oak Lawn.

PARK LAWN STUDENTS GUESTS OF OL ELKS AT CIRCUS

Trapeze performers, lion tamers and clowns held the children of Park Lawn School, 10833 LaPorte, OL, spellbound on their recent visit to the Medinah Temple Shrine Circus. As guests of the Oak Lawn Elks, the youngsters enjoyed the thrills and treats of the circus, but probably not more than the Elk members who arranged for and accompanied them on the special outing.

Chmn and coord of the event was Jack Taylor, OL. Other members of Oak Lawn Elks who accompanied the youngsters on the trip were Jim O'Hare, Bob Lakehart and Frank Strunka.

Oak Lawn Elks have, for many years, been supporters of the Park Lawn programs for the mentally retarded.

Vogrich to push for aid to renters

Joe Vogrich is a crusader whose best friend is the little guy. His latest program is directed to aid the Oak Lawn renter -- the young married couple or elderly people living on retirement and Social Security checks -- who is losing 4% interest each year on their apartment security deposit.

Said Vogrich, a former member of the Oak Lawn Planning Commission, "It was thought that recent state legislation would insure renters a minimum return on their security deposits."

"However," said Vogrich, "the law specifically limited the 4% return on security deposits to renters living in buildings of 25 or more apartment units. People living in smaller complexes were not covered. . . and, for all intents and purposes, were left out in the cold."

"This is not fair, and I propose to help correct the situation locally by helping introduce a village ordinance to the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees to reduce the 25 unit limitation to 10 units. This will bring the protection of the law down to another 5000 renters located in Oak Lawn."

Vogrich, a candidate for Oak Lawn Trustee himself, pointed out that at present there are many large real estate management firms who own several apartments in Oak Lawn who are excluded from the state requirements because they operate buildings of 18 to 20 units. They collect one month's rent as a security deposit, which in most cases exceeds $200 to $300 per unit. or $4000 to $6000 per building -- INTEREST FREE. Many of these absentee landlords own and operate 10 to 20 buildings in this category, putting the "interest free" deposit figure into the $80,000 to $120,000 range.

"While I'm not against the security deposit system," said Vogrich, "I do feel that at a time of tightening economics, of high living costs, the advantage of dollars should be placed back in the hands of those people whose money it is. . . that means in the hands of the renter. There should be no reason why a minimum 4% interest should not be paid back to the renter. It is his money in the first place, given to the management corporation only as a token of his good faith."

"But, I believe that good faith is a two way street and a 4% interest figure is a good place for the management corporations' good faith to start."

Vogrich pointed out that between now and the formal

Mrs Mary Seahill (l) and Mrs Ethel Finnegan (c) both retired residents of the Cloister Apts at 109th & Central, have recently discussed with Joe Vogrich the unfairness of holding rent deposits with no interest return. Vogrich, who is running for trustee in the 5th District, has advised them of his intention on their behalf, when he is elected.

introduction of the ordinance, he would meet with several of the larger real estate management groups to work out the details of his proposed plan.

"I don't want the real estate people to be surprised by my suggestions," concluded Vogrich, "but at the same time, I am interested in developing a good law which will show the people of Oak Lawn -- especially the renters who often feel left out of local government -- that this village is also theirs."

DISTRICT ONE

Lester Anderson, 6713 w 89th place has released a MAJOR 3 POINT platform as a candidate for trustee in the 1st District. His platform is as follows:

1. For careful study and planning in developing the vacant land in the 1st District and speedy completion of streets and storm sewers to bring the area up to the standards of the rest of the community.

by encouraging quality businesses to locate in the area, rather than more fast food and discount houses.

by supporting the development of the area to meet the standards of the residents without involvement of the federal government.

by following up on the rapid completion of streets and storm sewers, utilizing the motor fuel tax and demanding more competitive bidding to keep the cost as low as possible.

2. For establishing direct and effective communication between the elected trustee and voters in the 1st District.

Lester Anderson

by polling voters on major issues affecting the 1st district before voting on the issue.

by informing residents of any and all important issues affecting the community by telephone and or the distribution of hand bills.

by furnishing accurate and timely information on all areas of community development to individuals and groups to encourage participation in the betterment of Oak Lawn.

Ronald J. Kehoe (36), is a candidate for trustee in the 1st District. Kehoe has lived at 6411 w 87th pl for the past 11 years with his wife Shirley and their 3 children: Mark 13, Scott 10, both students at St Louis de Montfort, and Kelly 5.

Kehoe cites his three major campaign issues:

1. Improvements and Future Development: Dist 1 is almost totally undeveloped; therefore, most of the decisions regarding streets, lights, sewers, and other improvements will involve our area directly. It is a must that we elect a trustee who owes the debt of his election to the people of our area, not to partisan politics nor to any professional political group. A debt to the people only would allow the trustee to make decisions based on the needs of the people affected. This is the only way in which we would be guaranteed a voice to agree with or oppose improvements.

2. Appointments: I feel that the people of Oak Lawn made their desires known very well when they passed the question of districting with a large majority. All of the people want equal representation. I feel that this equal representation should not stop at the trustee level, but should be incorporated into all of the appointed positions as well. The requirements for an appointee should be, first and only, his or her ability to do the job in the area they represent, not their political affiliations.

3. Communication: There is a lack of communication between the village and the people, especially regarding Alice B. Ihrig, candidate for trustee of the Village of Oak Lawn from the 2nd district, has announced Emmett Egan, 5225 Oak st., will serve as her volunteer campaign chairman.

"Emmett and I are neighbors in the same precinct," Mrs. Ihrig said, "and I have been impressed with his ability to organize, to answer questions and to inform the people about issues. He is knowledgeable about village government and deeply interested in the progress of Oak Lawn."

The planning committee working on Mrs. Ihrig's door-to-door campaign in the 2nd district includes: Joseph and Ruth D'Amico, Roy and Ruth Blomquist, Sue Cullen, Ross and Rose Shelton, Ethel Austin, Peter and Virginia Cromble, Dorothy Fitzgibbon, Elgin and Janet Struble, Bill and Jean Keeney, Dorothy Swanson and Mary Feerich.

DISTRICT TWO

Sinclair Randall is a candidate for trustee in District 2. He and his wife Betty have lived at one address, 9009 s 48th ct, for 19 years. They have 5 children and 8 grandchildren. He served as a village trustee for 13 years.

His service was during the period our village was experiencing its largest and most rapid population growth. He is proud of his record of maintaining this growth in an orderly manner and providing a high quality of village services to keep abreast of the growth.

He stated that all his actions and decisions, as a village trustee, were made only after giving honest thought and careful consideration to each problem.

Randall said that he believes a sound fiscal policy is essential for good government and he pledges to work for such a policy. He said that a balanced budget may be difficult to accomplish in our present day period of inflated prizes and shrinking revenues, but he will diligently work toward economies in our government consistent with the services our citizens expect and deserve.

Randall said that he also has a plan for upgrading Oak Lawn's business community which will substantially increase sales tax revenue.

"A resumption of the program of installing public improvements is a 'must,'" Randall said, "These improvements of sanitary sewers, storm sewers, paved streets, and street lights are essential to the upgrading

DISTRICT TWO

Mr &amp; Mrs Dave Morris

Dave Morris, 5183 w Otto pl, has served as Oak Lawn village trustee for the past two years and is seeking re-election from District 2 in the April 15th election.

Morris has resided in Oak Lawn with his wife, Grace, son Michael 19 and daughter Kathleen, 15, for the past 15 years. He is a commercial sales manager for Von Sydow-Allied Van Lines. Active in the Cicero-Clearing Traffic Conference, he is a former pres and chmn of the board. He is also a member of the Oak Lawn Lions.

A former Boy Scout leader, Webelos leader, PTA school education chmn, District 123 school caucus member, he is presently a member of the Oak Lawn League of Women Voters, the Oak Lawn Community High School PTSA, and a member of the Pilgrim Faith United Church of Christ.

As trustee, Morris presented the resolution to form the Youth Commission and the resolution to form the Civic Center Commission. He has continued to work with both commissions as well as the Senior Citizens Commission. He testified before the Illinois Commerce Commission for the need to keep open the train station at Wabash & Cook ave; his suggestions were accepted and the station has remained open.

Continued projects include restoration of streets and curbs and lighting as needed in the area.

DISTRICT THREE

John Cleveland is running for trustee in the 3rd District. While speaking to his many friends and associates he said there were many reasons why he decided to become a candidate.

Cleveland feels that most of the area itself is already built up leaving the portion where it borders on 95th st, one of the major concerns. "No one could have lived in the village 54 years," Cleveland said, "without realizing the business people along that strip need strong representation in the administration."

After being elected to, and serving on numerous boards, Mr Cleveland is very knowledgeable of both civic and village government. He said that he believes the "3rd" is a vulnerable spot. "It touches both the 1st & 2nd districts on the north," he explained, "the 4th district on the east, the 5th on the south and a small portion of the 6th also, on the east. It will be necessary for the winning candidate in the 3rd district to serve as a catalyst for the other 5 districts."

Cleveland told his listeners that his many years of experience in board procedure, the offices held

John Hardek, who has served as Oak Lawn village trustee for the past two years, lists five major goals he wishes to accomplish during his next term as trustee.

1. To promote Oak Lawn as a residential community, and to oppose rezoning of land for commercial and apartment use. (specifically, "Discount Stores")

2. To provide for a stop light at 95th & Keeler at no cost to the taxpayers of Oak Lawn.

3. To provide continued excellence of village services without increasing property and other village taxes.

4. To balance the Oak Lawn budget between revenues and expenditures without incurring a deficit in the budget for 1975-76-77.

5. To oppose a utility tax in Oak Lawn.

Mr Hardek has served as a OL village trustee since April of 1973. During this time he has also been a member of the board of in various organizations, his involvement and support for both Oak Lawn Police Dept and village employees, has made him quite confident of his ability to draw the elected trustees together rather than have them separated because of the new districting.

Cleveland also said that his 23 years experience in construction of roads and sewers, surveying and reading of contracts and blueprints, can be a great asset to the other trustees.

Mr Cleveland said that his interest has always been in Oak Lawn and when he is elected trustee, he will work hard to preserve the village atmosphere while coping with it's continued growth. He said he will utilize what knowledge he has gained from handling school funds to work diligently with the other elected trustees to keep taxes from rising any further. "Most of all," Cleveland said, "I intend to relate to the people of the district and have them more aware of what is taking local improvements for two terms.

During the past two years his major accomplishments were:

1. Recovery of $249,000 from Penny Co for the Village of Oak Lawn, for partial payment of the cost to refile the ditch running thru the Penny property.

2. Reduction of the garbage collections costs by $36,000 per year, and the opening of the garbage collection contract to competitive bidding in the Village of Oak Lawn.

3. The repaving of $260,000 worth of streets in the Village with motor fuel tax money at no additional cost to the taxpayers of Oak Lawn.

"Graffiti"

According to Webster, graffiti is "a rude inscription or drawing found on rocks or walls". But we're transposing that to music at Gerald's. For two weekends this April "graffiti" will come to life. It will not be merely writing on the walls but encompass the whole flavor, meaning and history of our great country... a real slice of American life, a showcase of Americana, both then and now.

The school will be completely transformed. You'll be able to visit places and times formerly found only in the pages of history.

Perhaps you'll start your journey back into time by enjoying the Bicentennial Salute in Liberty Square. You'll be whisked back to the pre-revolutionary days of Pilgrims and politicians, Red Coats and red skins, coonskin hats and pompadours.

As our population moved inland from the sea so does the show and next you'll find yourself drifting down the Mississippi on the elegantly appointed River Queen. When your party goes ashore they'll revel in the night life of the Louisiana bayou topped by a Mardi Gras celebration - as it was then.

From there you'll travel still farther westward, where survival meant carrying a six-gun and the law was usually non-existent. Watch our pioneers who could fight off Apaches with one hand while twanging on a guitar.

Soon nostalgia gives way to things more topical and what could be more appropriate than to stroll down our International Avenue stopping at our ethnic inns -- Polish, Italian and Irish. The foods, the songs, the dances, even the atmosphere is rich with the heritage they have given us.

End your travels at the fabulous Palace of Entertainment. It's truly a grand finale for the 200 years of America that you've shared in tonight. It's America as it was in yesteryear, America as it is today, America as you know and love it and America as you wish it to be.

It's "GERALD'S GRAFFITI". And it's yours for two weekends this April, on April 11, 12, 18 & 19. The price for 4 big shows and 9 mini-revues is merely $5. There are two restaurants, a pizza parlor, half price tickets for senior citizens, VIP night and even beautiful girls to greet you at the door. The only way to get the real feel of "GRAFFITI" is to experience it for yourself.

Over 500 little people put all their efforts into "GRAFFITI", and it shows. When the curtain goes up on opening night, you'll see the polish and sparkle that makes the shows professional.

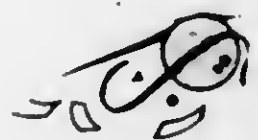

There are the leaders, too. Doris and Art Gregory, gen chmn, not only perform, but are the guiding hands of the entire production.

They are backed by the Org Committee composed of Gerry Jonkman, Nancy Schwab, Don Durkin, Jerry Giebelhausen and Father White, who do the million and one little things that no one else will touch and of course they take part in setting policy and making all major decisions. They are just a few of the many people involved, too many to mention here.

Tickets for "GERALD'S GRAFFITI" are on sale and may be obtained by calling the Brannigans at 425-7265 or the Wellers at 425-8088. Do yourself a favor and experience "GRAFFITI".

Time!

1. Joe Carson, master of ceremonies of The Chandelier Room, shown perfecting his comedy routine. Joe has been brought back for the 4th year by popular demand.

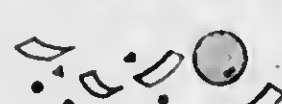

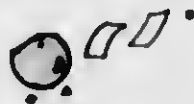

2. Mari Lee Guca helped Michelle Harker with her costume as the girls prepare to board the River Queen for their ride down the Mississippi.

3. Standing up for her rights, Laverne Udell, argues with (l to r) Joe Carson, who also serves as Master of Ceremonies, and Ralph Arnold, well known local vocalist, that "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better". They are appearing in the Chandelier Room.

4. A swooning Joan Cronin is serenaded by husband Dan, in a segment from "The Grand Ole Opry".

5. Cowgirls Kathy Cronin and Beth Ann Thiess adding a feminine touch to the Old West in a number from "The Grand Ole Opry".

6. Ernie Kolinski, MC, takes time out from his narrative to threaten Kathy McQuinn and Dave Chopik, during rehearsal of "The Grand Ole Opry".

LOCAL BRIEFS

via vinda...

Sunday, March 16, KEN SCHNEIDER, a student at Garden School, made his mother and father so happy as they listened to him sing a solo rendition of "Poor Boy" by Eddie Arnold. He sang at the Ford City Sertoma Special Center. The occasion was a dedication in memory of John Haberkorn, whose sons Joseph and Edward, work hard to keep this recreational center for the handicapped in operation.

This past month JERRY & SUE CISMOSKI became the proud parents of a baby girl whom they named Lisa. She was welcomed home by Amy and Jeff.

MITZI & NORB KALEMBA enjoyed a trip to the Caribbean recently and took their daughter Ruth along to enjoy the lovely holiday.

Speaking of holidays does everyone know that TRAVEL UNLIMITED has moved to 5411 W 95th Street? A little birdie (Bud Cole) has told us so.

LOU MIRABELLI played golf this past month in a tournament in Puerto Rico, he scored rather well heard.

MARILYN & JIM CISMOSKI took a vacation away from the babies this past month. They enjoyed a second honeymoon in the Bahamas.

So happy to hear that ED KASPER has returned to work. He recently underwent open heart surgery but doesn't look like he had a sick day in his life.

Lots of our friends on the sick and getting well list. MARGE HUSKEY is reported doing exceptionally well at St Lukes. According to Herb, she's up and walking around.

ERNIE WULFF is also making a good recovery after major surgery at Christ Hospital.

MARTHA DUMKE, wife of the pres, is home after surgery, and on the way to a speedy recovery.

SAL CRIVILONE was also on the sick list but didn't have too many details, hope he's feeling well now.

JOE EASTMAN is also home from Christ Hospital where she underwent surgery. Best of everything to her.

JOHN & MICKEY BROUWER received the 1st place award in Fort Worth, Texas for being first in sales, efficiency, and over all service of all Steamatic franchises in the country.

Think the people of Oak Lawn should know that MARTY RUSSO called from Washington to check on the 3rd District. He asked if there was anything we wanted to relate or wanted him to check. If you have any problems that he can help you with write to him, our congressmen like to receive a letter from home.

Don't know for sure whether it was a second honeymoon or not, but DAVE & DARLENE BERAN just returned from the Bahamas also.

LES ANDERSON is having a birthday April 2, and everyone knows what he wants.

His wife, MARIANNE is celebrating her's on April 4. Happy birthday candles to the two of them.

For the friends of MARY AL & JOHN MC KENNA from 52nd st. John will undergo surgery at St Jukes Hosp in Fullerton, Calif, the day after Easter.

There's only one way we can finally get everything OUR WAY....VOTE....TUESDAY, APRIL 15.....

The numbered statement is then filed with the village office involved, with copies being sent to the village manager and to the trustee who represents the area affected by the complaint or concern. This would guarantee a response from the village.

We watch our purchasing dollar with great care, and we demand and get a day's work for a day's pay. That's the way I've looked at projects before the Board of Trustees. My experience in engineering, finance, business administration, purchasing and labor relations has been beneficial to the board over the past 4 years. I have had a reasonably free and continuous availability to work on municipal projects of interest and importance."

"There are priorities in village govt too," he continued. "I believe that property taxes have risen beyond all reason. We need to exercise extreme care in making our next village tax levy if we are to keep taxes within reasonable levels. We have to manage programs so they provide maximum service for the tax dollar. We require improved methods for controlling expenditures within limitations of our stated budget; better assistance for senior citizens and youth programs, proper municipal financing, a concerted effort to develop and improve annexed areas and to live up to promises we made to them. all board members on priorities and spending."

"We can't spend more than we take in. That's folly," Bacon emphasized. "For example: There's discussion afoot that we require a new public works maintenance bldg. I say that if this facility enables us to keep equipment longer and in better repair, improve the quality of our work, reduce absenteeism or provide better records management and storage then it may pay for itself through improved service and we should consider it in terms of other affordable needs. If we build it, the contractor's bids should be submitted in sealed envelopes and opened at a public meeting."

"We don't need problems incurred by low cost housing projects," he continued, "that indiscriminately move inner city residents into suburban towns. Oak Lawn will be best served if it remains as a well-balanced, single family residential type of community. We are able to adequately handle our growing pains at this time, but we will not be able to cope with a sudden influx of apartment or housing project dwellers to compound our school, civic and municipal problems. I cannot support this program. We need more progress with improved services, but without the misuse of the public trust, and that's my continued intentions when I am re-elected."

Bacon is quick to display his statement of 1971 campaign pledges and to emphasize that he has worked consistently to achieve them during the past four years without compromising his principles for no-nonsense service on the board. His meeting attendance record indicates an above average dedication to the problems of the community and he is the only trustee that attended all of the meetings finalizing terms and conditions of the water extension program to surrounding villages.

The Bacons have one daughter, Ruth, a student at Chicago Christian High School, and three sons: Robert, Ross and Bradley. Robert is employed by Bacon Tank, and Ross and Brad are juniors in the Divinity School at Moody Bible Institute.

"Our local government deserves the same care that the average Oak Lawn resident expends in his own family and financial planning," Bacon concluded. "When re-elected I will continue to devote my abilities to serve all of the people in Oak Lawn in achieving the best possible value for our hard-earned tax dollars."

Joe Vogrich is a homeowner and family man who works hard to live in Oak Lawn. But the last few years his taxes have gone out of sight... and so have his village services!

If you're like Joe, increased taxes with little or nothing to show for them, is enough to make your blood boil. . . especially with five children to feed, clothe, and send to school. That's just one reason Joe Vogrich is running for Oak Lawn Village Trustee, there are many more.

For example, Joe knows that a "functional" village board can get more for the tax dollar by working with federal and state governments to obtain and utilize the many available grants, along with the new highway repair fund, without raising our taxes.

He also knows that "proper" allocation of village funds can improve street lighting, traffic signals, road repairs, and public services for the residents. Also, that working with area young people now, through an expanded and financially sound youth commission, can help solve drug and vandalism problems before they get out of hand.

These are some of the reasons that Joe Vogrich, electrician, former member of the Oak Lawn Planning & Development Commission, Little League organizer, and father, wants to be elected Oak Lawn Village Trustee. He has the commitment and the experience to do a good job, all he needs is your help.

Elect and support....

Joseph D.

New trustees sworn into office

Rehnquist resigns

The six new trustees were sworn into office on Tuesday, April 22 at the regular meeting of the board. A lottery was held to determine who would hold the three (3) four year seats and those that would occupy the three (3) two year seats. Burt Odelson, atty for the trustees, asked the three reps of the press to draw the first three capsules which were for the four year seats. The first capsule drawn was District 3, John Cleveland; the second was District 1, Lester Anderson; and the third was District 5, Joseph Vogrich.

Harold Bacon, John Hardek, and Mildred O'Connell, drew the two (2) year spots.

The outgoing trustees, Alice Ihrig, David Morris, Dr Carl Venkus, and Herb Huskey, made farewell speeches and wished all of the new trustees the very best in all of their future endeavors.

Pres Fred Dumke said that he enjoyed the 21 months he had worked with the outgoing trustees. He said that they did not always agree, but he learned to respect their positions and to learn and understand fiscal problems, the most serious phase of government today.

A lengthy agenda was handled rather speedily and with ease.

The trustees were faced with one stormy session when Ray Langen of 106th and Keeler demanded to know what immediate plans they had for the flooding problem in his area. The section is a rather low area and has been a problem for many years. Langen blamed the problem on the Oak Lawn engineers.

Pres Dumke explained that they are 27 feet below Crawford grade level in that spot and water cannot run uphill. He also said that at the time the sewers were put in, a subdivider was responsible and not the village.

Norman Bacon, village engineer, said that he believed that there were two blockages in the sewer and by further study he could report back to the board by May 13 on the cost to televise those spots. He was directed by the board to go ahead with this action.

Dumke said that they have not forgotten or neglected the area and that they would probably have to go with either a deep sewer or install a lift station. In either case he estimated that the cost would be in the area of $100,000 and it would be up to the new board to find the funds.

In other meaningful action, Harold Bacon presented an ordinance under "home rule" to place the hiring of the village atty under the jurisdiction of the board of trustees rather than under the village mgr, Kenneth McDonald. Motion was passed, 6-0.

Bicentennial committee recruiting volunteers

The Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission has set plans for a "recruitment of volunteers" meeting at 2 pm Saturday, May 17 at the village hall. Individuals who would like to participate in committees arrangements, exhibits, exhibition dancing or program. The dinner will be open to all and will feature a "cocktail" hour of Colonial drinks, and ticket sales, decorations, house a band playing music of the Colonial period and a dance band. Costumes are desirable but not required, and the commission will be publishing instructions on how to make authentic costumes and where to find such accessories as wigs for those desiring complete outfits.

Residents are also welcome to volunteer to assist in planning other events announced by the commission. An immediate need is for volunteer photographers to record the Bicentennial year and public relations volunteers to work with Oak Lawn orgs and the commission to be sure that news of all events reaches the total community.

Oak Lawn orgs which have not received a mailing from the Bicentennial Commission are asked to call the village hall at 636-4400 to request forms and details for registering to participate in 1976 festivities in the community.

The commission has developed a list of events and activities from which orgs may choose those they wish to sponsor.

Among the events looking for a sponsor are an art show, a community Colonial Christmas, town hall meetings on current and future issues, craft exhibits, demonstrations of handicrafts, musical events, sports events and a film festival.

"The commission would like to have one org undertake each of the suggested events. We would then help to recruit volunteers who would like to help," said Mrs Dorothy Olsen, commission chmn.

Planned for 1976 are a series of Oak Lawn birthday balls in May; a joint parade with Evergreen Park on July 3; all-church Sunday on July 4; and a Labor Day "corn dance" or neighborhood gathering.

Community bike hike

Sunday, May 4

Sunday, May 4, 1975, will be the date of the Oak Lawn Park District Family Community Bike Hike, from 1-4 pm starting and finishing at Lake Shore Park 96th & East Lake Shore Drive.

In case of inclement weather the alternate date will be Sunday, May 11th. The Community Bike Hike will be a family affair that will be fun and invigorating for the whole family. The trip will be routed with the idea of seeing and familiarizing everyone with all of the Oak Lawn beautiful Parks, and the most scenic route possible will be chosen. At two parks there will be a rest and refreshment stop and cold drinks will be provided. The trip will cover approx 15 miles and take about 3 hours to complete. Oak Lawn Park District patches will be given to all those who complete the trip. We hope and expect to see a great number of families for this event on Sunday, the 4th.

"Come out for the fun and exercise." Remember meet at Lake Shore Park at 1 pm on the 4th.

Honorable mention for OL

Kenneth McDonald has announced that the Village of Oak Lawn has been informed that the Illinois Section of the American Water Works Assn, continue through 1975 and the (AWWA) at its 66th Annual Conference in Peoria on March 11-13, 1975, selected the entree from the village for Honorable Mention in their Community Relations Contest for Class B village officials for their joint plants (5,000-25,000 services.)

The AWWA complimented the OL Water Dept personnel and village officials for their joint interest in relating to our citizens the importance of a clean, safe, public water supply. Lawn's entree was very well

Transportation survey underway

The Village of Oak Lawn has begun to interview the residents regarding their traveling habits and will take 6 months to complete. The information gained from this survey will better enable Oak Lawn to plan for the transportation needs of the village. A planned 10% sampling of families was chosen at random and they will be asked questions regarding their travel patterns.

Many people are falling victim to inflation and the energy crunch. Village officials are well aware of these problems and hope to alleviate the burden of purchasing and insuring a second or third automobile by providing a convenient and low cost mass transit system within Oak Lawn.

Other questions included in the Survey are: number of rooms in household unit, how many people live in unit, how many autos used by household, number of people licensed to drive, and additional inquiries necessary to establish statistical data upon which a comprehensive trans plan can be developed.

Surveyors will display badges, to identify themselves, letters of introduction from the village manager, Kenneth McDonald, and have notebooks bearing the Oak Lawn Seal. Residents who have been chosen to be interviewed have received a letter from pres Fred M. Dumke, informing them of the survey. All information will be treated confidentially and be used for statistical purposes only.

Residents are advised to check the survey aide's identification and, if necessary call the village hall to verify the interviewer's authenticity. Survey aides are conducting these interviews between 9 am and 9 pm.

Any questions regarding the Transportation Survey and/or verification of interviews can be directed to Harriet Lenz, survey coord, OL Village Hall, 636-4400, ext 229.

SHORT TERM MASS TRANSPORTATION RECOMMENDATIONS

On Thursday, April 17, 1975, the pres and board of trustees of the Village of Oak Lawn adopted the admin's recommended short term mass transportation needs for the Southwest area of Cook County, Illinois. It was further moved that the approved recommendations be forwarded to the Chicago Area Transportation Study Southwest Council of Mayors who met on April 30, for their review for recommendation to the Regional Trans Authority.

STROKE CLUB TO MEET

Christ Hospital will host an organizational meeting for a Stroke Club on Wednesday, May 7 from 7 to 9 pm. The first meeting, planned for April 2, was postponed due to the unseasonable weather.

The initial program will feature a panel discussion on stroke and rehabilitation presented by a team of hospital rehabilitation personnel.

Stroke patients and their families who might benefit from the educational and social program are asked to call Christ Hospital, 425-8000, ext 391, to make reservations. For those who had made reservations for the first meeting, there is no need to re-register.

BICENTENNIAL MEETING MAY 5

The commission will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 pm May 5th, in the second floor conference room at the Cook Avenue Building, 9526 Cook.

The public is invited to attend all meetings of the commission, which is currently involved in planning for the community's Bicentennial kick-off on Sept 21.

Mrs Dorothy Olsen, chmn, urges organizations which have not yet indicated what events they wish to sponsor to return the previously mailed registration form to her at the village hall. Additional registration forms are available at the village hall.

RETIRING BOARD EASES SENIOR CITIZENS

One of the final acts of the retiring board of trustees was to remove the OL senior citizens from under the authority of dir Richard O'Neill of Family Services and reinstate them under the village manager Kenneth McDonald according to their wishes.

Minor items, that would take valuable time from McDonald, will be handled thru Ed Kasper, liaison officer for the village of OL.

In other action the board authorized Norman Bacon of the eng dept to take whatever steps were necessary for traffic control at 95th & Keeler. It has been found that cars leaving the Venture Store at the Keeler exit have been making "U" turns to go in a southerly direction when it is for north bound traffic only.

New business to activate Ranch Manor

Ridgeland Auto Parts, owned by Herb Huskey and an Irish pub "Reilly's Daughter" should brighten the outlook for the Ranch Manor shopping center at 111th & Crawford.

Huskey's plan is for a branch of his successful auto parts business to take over the former location of the Green Oaks Drugs; James O'Brien and John Mau, co-owners of the pub will move into what was formerly the candle and card shop.

The granting of a liquor license for the pub has not been finalized as yet and is expected to be one of the first items on the agenda for the new board of trustees.

The license had been issued to one address in the shopping area and when those plans fell thru, trustee John Hardek raised a doubt as to the validity of the transfer from one address to another.

Pres Fred Dumke said that state law does not allow the license to be issued to an address and could have no affect on approval. (A license is issued in the name of a person). He then suggested the decision be held over for the new board.

Three new restaurants planned for Oak Lawn

The J. C. Penney Co won their case in court which will allow them to build two new restaurants on the Treasury site at 111th & Cicero. The board of trustees had turned down the request several months ago.

The P&DC this past month looked kindly at a proposal by the Red Lobster Inn, whose home base is Orlando, Fla., to build on the southwest corner of 95th & Southwest hwy. Commissioner Maury Glens showed excitement over the plan saying that he liked the idea as we have nothing like this in Oak Lawn.

Comm William Connors commented that he was not too happy with the present layout as the back of the restaurant would face toward Southwest hwy. He said that they have been trying to upgrade that street and did not think that the rear of a restaurant was adding to the surroundings.

The representative said that he would bring the plan back to their eng dept and he was sure they could work out something that would satisfy the board. They are scheduled to reappear at the next regular meeting of the P&DC.

Named to special Task Force

Congressman Ed Derwinski (R-4) has been named as a member of a special Republican Task Force charged with the responsibility of developing a House Republican Legislative Program and was announced by House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes (R-Ariz).

The decision to create a Congressional legislative program is virtually unprecedented for a party that is in control of the White House. Minority Leader Rhodes explained the bold move as "a necessary attempt on the part of Republicans to show the American people precisely what a Republican Congress would do."

Rhodes said that the program "would not in any way be a substitute for the President's program" but would "complement Administration policies and perhaps go beyond the program already established by the President."

Rhodes described Derwinski as a "well-respected and extremely effective Member of Congress who will add much to the calibre and potential of the Task Force which will do most of the work on this program. We have a lot of talent on the Republican side of the aisle and Ed is one of the prime examples."

Derwinski said that his service on this Task Force will be motivated by the need to "set the wheels in motion" towards development of a House GOP program and "a desire to call to the forefront of the public's attention the lackluster record of the Democrats and to show people that there is an alternative." Derwinski noted that Democrats have controlled Congress for 41 out of the last 45 years, "yet the polls show that the people are not satisfied with the performance of Congress. A chance in party control is needed on Capitol Hill."

SERVE WITH HONOR AND DIGNITY

It is now "old news" that the endorsed candidates of the Independent Homeowners of Oak Lawn, whose pres is Burt Odelson, claimed all six seats on the board of trustees. In District 1, Lester Anderson; District 2, incumbent and now senior trustee, Harold Bacon; District 3, John Cleveland; District 4, incumbent John Hardek; District 5, Joseph Vogrich; District 6, Mildred O'Connell.

All of the newly elected trustees went into office with one thing in mind, good government. The very fact that they went into office under the Independent Homeowner banner, with all of the same principals and ideals, should make for a cohesiveness between the districts that would have been very difficult otherwise.

During past elections there have been many frustrations, splitting of boards and loss of friends. Defeats are followed by anger, name calling and vendettas and in the final analysis progress halts and the great Village of Oak Lawn, and it's residents, are the ones that suffer the most.

Pres Fred Dumke now stands alone with six trustees not of his choosing, a miserable spot for sure and wanted by none. What happens now is strictly in the hands of the six new trustees, or, if you like, the Independent Homeowners. Their actions can raise Oak Lawn to greater heights or cause the whole administration to come tumbling down around all of us.

Unwarranted pressures on the village manager, Kenneth McDonald, could cause the loss of a man who is doing a good job for the village. He appears to have remained his own man through all of the political hassle and for this alone he deserves a medal. He was chosen for office by the former trustees, all intelligent people, with two of those, Harold Bacon and John Hardek having been re-elected to the board. It would be stupid and senseless at this time to interfere with him or any of the civil service employees under him.

Our village clerk, Ernie Kolb, was elected into office by the people. He received the greatest vote by any one man running for office in Oak Lawn. There were many misunderstandings in the pre-election days which again were caused by misconception, twisted notions, and much story carrying by born trouble makers. For one man to handle an election in a village the size of Oak Lawn, insist on voting machines for the people, keep peace on election day, and stay hours after the polls close until the ballots were safely tucked away, has to be an astronomical chore envied by none. Also, a week prior to the election, Mr Kolb spent several days in court defending himself in a case brought about by one of the candidates in the 6th District who objected to the system used for name placement on the ballot. It was the same system that had been used in Oak Lawn in all past elections, first come first served. The outcome of the case, which Mr Kolb won, benefitted all of the candidates who had their name on the top of the ballot. The experience cost the taxpayers a good deal of money, and could have been much more. Had he lost, the ballots would have had to be reprinted and could not have been done in time for the election. Mr Kolb deserved a word of praise for the excellent job he did up to and thru Tuesday, April 15.

Harold Bacon is now senior trustee and the only trustee on the board with three elections behind him. It would be wise for the new trustees to seek and except the leadership he can offer until they get their feet on the ground. Bacon also has the quality of patience, and make haste slowly, that younger people seem to lack.

This election has been a trying one, but with each new one the skin grows a little thicker. It has been a great asset to be able to stand aside, listen objectively, and sort out the true from the false. If it was possible to have a big talk session, with all of the involved parties just speaking out, there would probably be more laughs and less hate when it was all over. It can be safely said that it is mostly eager campaign workers stretching the truth, that causes the discension and makes those elected want to draw blood. If calmness prevails and the reminder that "haste makes waste" can be instilled into the new board members, they will gain respect and grow in stature in the eyes of the voters that saw the candidates of their choice defeated on election day.

There is no need for hasty decisions with a six man board of the same party. What can be done now can still be done six months from now when tempers have cooled and everyone is relaxed. Vendettas are for children and carrying grudges creates hate. When a man's mind is ruled by either he has already lost most of his common sense and can no longer be effective as a good "anything." We have all seen it happen and it accomplishes nothing but destruction and alarms the people.

It is well to remember that it is nice to make headlines but what is said in the headlines reflects the atmosphere of the whole community. We have a powerful village. Let us strive to keep our problems within our boundaries with honor and dignity.

Look—up in the sky! It's a Humble Dan!

And now, just because it's Thursday, let's take another shot at our beloved governor, Humble Dan Walker, man-of-the "peepool."

For this shot, we had best employ something like a World War II one-pounder automatic antiaircraft machine cannon—otherwise known as the pom-pom gun—just the thing to shoot down a $900,000 airplane.

We all recall the proletarian spectacle that was the 1972 campaign, when Humble Dan disguised himself in hiking boots, work shirt, and red bandana, and went tromping around the Illinois boonies, proclaiming to the yahoos that he was one of them.

We recall him railing at then-Gov. Richard Ogilvie for lavishing the "peepool's" tax money on sentry boxes for the governor's mansion. We recall that, on becoming governor, Humble Dan junked all the gubernatorial limousines and went driving about among the "peepool" in Dodge Polaras, Chevrolet Caprices, and other symbols of the common man.

This all seemed quite remarkable, for those were prosperous times. Now, times are tough, and governors all over the country are becoming men of the "peepool." Wisconsin's Gov. Patrick Lucey has closed down his executive mansion and moved back into his house. California's Gov. Jerry Brown is residing in a $250-a-month apartment, furnished, some say, with only a mattress and incense burner.

Oklahoma's Gov. David Boren is dispensing with his office's most luxurious frill—his state airplane.

One would expect that such a practiced man of the "pcepool" as Humble Dan would be trying to do these fellows one better—perhaps by walking about the Capitol barefoot or lunclung at a nearby breadline.

No. He has not closed down the Illinois governor's mansion, which costs the taxpayers $142,800 a year to maintain. He has not torn down Ogilvie's sentry boxes or fired any of his horde of maids and butlers. [Doubtless he would argue that it would cost the taxpayers money to tear down the sentry boxes and that keeping maids and butlers employed is part of his recession-fighting jobs program.]

But he has made one concession to the hard times. He is going to get rid of one of his state airplanes.

He now has five at his disposal—two big Beechcraft KingAir executive specials, a Beechcraft Duke, a Beechcraft Baron, and a worn-out Cessna 320 named Queenie, which is worth some $40,000.

Humble Dan is going to get rid of Queenie.

But wait—and here is where the pom-pom gun comes in. Humble Dan is going to trade Queenie in on yet a third KingAir—a brand new $900,000 Super-King Air Executive 260 luxury special! Recession or no, Humble Dan is going to blow nearly a million big ones on a new plane! How can one resist blazing away?

One might suggest other things he could do with that segment of taxpayers' money, which would come to about $860,000 after the trade-in.

He could buy 43 new limousines, one for every limousine liberal in his administration. Or, considering that an election year is coming up, he could use it to outfit every employe in the executive department with hiking boots, work shirt, and red bandana.

He could make do with one of the KingAirs he already has, and use the $860,000 to outfit every welfare recipient in the state with a red bandana.

He could do as State Controller George Lindberg likes to do, and use a small airplane that costs only 30 cents a mile instead of 70 cents like the King-Air. He could do as Secretary of State Michael Howlett, Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, and State Treasurer Alan Dixon frequently do, and fly commercial. Ozark Air Lines or Air Illinois charge only about $30—or 15 cents a mile—to fly from Springfield to Chicago.

But then, Humble Dan would have to ride with all the "peepool."

Chicago Tribune, April 1975)

THANKS FROM KEHOE

Thank you for the fine coverage that I was given during my campaign for Oak Lawn Village Trustee in District #1. I greatly appreciated the opportunity to run for Trustee and developed a high regard for the residents of this district. Both my opponents, Les Anderson and John Opitz, ran fine campaigns and I congratulate Les on his victory.

Since only one candidate can win and the people have made their choice, I pledge my support to our government on all issues for the betterment of the 1st District and Oak Lawn. The West Side has won in getting representation it so greatly needed.

A special thanks must go to my supporters who worked day and night for the ideal of independence. They will always have my gratitude.

The issues have been raised-the campaign is over-it's time for building a better Oak Lawn.

/s/ Ronald J. Kehoe

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 3RD DISTRICT

I want to publicly thank all of those who gave me their support in the recent election and especially for the encouragement received from the 115th Precinct. It is a happy feeling to have won in one's home base.

Mr John Cleveland is now the rep for the 3rd District. Should there be any reason a homeowner or resident feels they can use area help, it is now his responsibility to be accessible to the people.

The election in our area was won clearly and fairly. If anyone was hurt I offer this quote made by another person, "in politics, you lose an old friend for each two new ones you have gained."

Thanks again for your votes.

Hanrahan appointed to new post

Former congressman Robert P. Hanrahan (R-3) has been appointed deputy asst. secy for education with the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C.

Hanrahan brings several years of experience as an educator to his new job. From 1966 to 1971 he was school superintendent in suburban Cook County, running a school system of 25,000 teachers and more than a half-million students. From 1971 to 1972 he was HEW's Education Commissioner for the six-state Midwest region.

Taking office at age 32, Hanrahan was the youngest school superintendent ever elected in Cook County.

Cong Robert P. Hanrahan has donated official papers and correspondence from his 2 year term in the House of Reps to the Northwest Ohio Great Lakes Research Center at Bowling Green State U.

Hanrahan, who was elected from Illinois' heavily Democratic third district in 1972, lost a bid for re-election last year. He earned his masters degree at Bowling Green and in 1971 was awarded an honorary doctorate from his alma mater.

Dr Richard Wright, dir of the center, said the 10,000 Hanrahan papers were of great academic interest. According to Dr Wright, the documents are significant because they reveal the attitudes of Rep Hanrahan's constituents.

"The two years that Mr Hanrahan was in Congress represented a dramatic period in the history of this country. He corresponded frequently with constituents whose letters indicate what a middle-class urban segment of our society thought about such things as the economy, Watergate and Vietnam. The papers are quite revealing and therefore of value to a researcher," Dr Wright said.

Included in the documents is all the correspondence concerning the case of a Lithuanian sailor who attempted to flee a Russian ship in American waters. The incident made international headlines and Rep Hanrahan played a leading role in securing the sailor's release from a Russian prison and subsequent immigration to the United States.

Russo asks action on Rock Island

Congressman Martin A. Russo (D-3) announced the results of his opinion poll on the Rock Island Railroad. Russo stated that at the time of the Rock Island crisis, it was his desire to see how the people who actually use the Rock Island and were most affected by it, felt about the various solutions being proposed in that matter. "At that time, I decided that the best way of going about it was to have a questionnaire prepared and have it handed out to the various commuters on the Rock Island Railroad. The results of this survey have now been compiled and I intend to act upon the suggestions.

"As I have stated before," Russo said, "I am doing all that is possible in Washington to see that effective action is taken at the federal level to avert financial disaster for this vital trans system. Including the introduction, along with Congressman Glenn English, of HB4899, providing for an immediate loan of $100 million for the Rock Island Railroad to keep their operation intact. In connection with this, I have also written a letter to Harley Staggers, chmn of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, asking him that HB4898 be considered immediately. Your letters would also help this. Please address them to Chairman Harley Staggers, Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, Washington, D.C. 20515."

The results of the poll that was taken indicate this: That an overwhelming majority of the Rock Island commuters feel that Congress should grant a subsidy to keep the Rock Island operating, and also an overwhelming majority feel that commuter railroads in general should be subsidized by the federal government.

"I feel that these facts can serve as an effective basis upon which Congressional legislation dealing with the Rock Island can be based," Russo said. "With this in view, I have forwarded to Mr Staggers, the results of the poll that was taken and I hope that he will consider them in formulating policy regarding the Rock Island and other commuter railroads throughout the country."

News FROM REP. HARRY "BUS" YOURELL

PHONE 422-9300

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell has again introduced legislation in the 79th General Assembly to allow Cook County the option of not collecting a 15¢ per square foot tax on mobile homes. This same bill was introduced in the last session of the General Assembly and passed it out of the House, only to have it held in committee in the Senate.

The officials of Cook County who have the responsibility to levy this tax have indicated to Rep Yourell that it would not bring that much revenue in to make it worthwhile to levy the tax and collect it.

Rep Yourell still believes that because of the large number of senior citizens who are living in mobile homes in the 8th District that his legislation is most important to them because of their fixed income situation and the inability to supplement their incomes in any fashion to meet the demands of additional taxes. He believes that the senior citizens have already fulfilled their duties and responsibilities to their community and should not now be asked to assume additional burdens.

Rep Yourell was recently appointed by William A. Redmond, speaker of the house, to the commission to study county problems. The appointment to this important commission fits in with Rep Yourell's responsibilities as chmn of the Counties & Townships Committee.

The commission to study county problems is a very active and will be holding hearings throughout the state during the next 12 months in an effort to improve county govt as it relates to citizens and taxpayers in the state.

MARCH OF DIMES

'Kick-off'

Students at Park Lawn School in Oak Lawn, had a hamburger lunch on Tues, April 15, to kick-off the Oak Lawn-Evergreen Park March of Dimes Walkathon. Marvin Schufeldt and Stanford Hernreich, owners of the McDonald's Restaurant at 91st & Cicero, offered refreshments for all on that occasion.

The Oak Lawn-Evergreen Park March of Dimes Walkathon is scheduled to start Saturday, May 17, at the Park Lawn School. The marchers will start at 9 am. Checkpoints with water and restroom facilities are planned along the route, starting with Colonial Savings at 95th & Cicero. All marchers completing the route will receive free refreshments and will also be eligible to win one of two ten speed bicycles to be awarded to the marchers sending in the greatest amount in pledges.

Prior to the event, marchers will find sponsors who can pledge anywhere from 5¢ to $5 or more for each mile walked. The money collected is used for research into the causes, prevention and treatment of birth defects.

The parent members of the Park Lawn Assn are marking the occasion beginning this month and for the remainder of the year, by saying "thank you" to their many friends who have done so much in support of the center for mentally retarded youngsters over the past 20 years.

A special effort is being made by the members and staff, to reach out to those families still needing services for their retarded sons and daughters.

Staff members are standing by, prepared to assist those families who may call the school for such assistance. "It is our way of saying 'thank you' to those who have helped Park Lawn over the years," stated a spokesman for the school.

As part of the celebration and as a means of reaching such individuals, members of the Park Lawn Ambassador's Club, are offering a special slide program to service organizations, churches, PTA groups and others wishing to hear the story of Park Lawn.

The story in itself is unique, because of the tremendous effort put forth by parent members of the association, friends in the community and dedicated staff people. It has been a partnership from the onset, twenty years ago.

The real joys of the program, however, and all of the rewards are in the children and young adults who attend Park Lawn. A world has been built for them at the center and each youngster is given an opportunity to succeed in his endeavors, according to his own pace.

Emphasis of the program is on self-help skills, speech and language development, perceptual training, arts, crafts, music, practical arts and work opportunities on the upper age level.

In addition, there are many social and recreational opportunities for the retarded in after school and evening programs.

Park Lawn serves families in the Oak Lawn area, as well as all other southwest suburban communities as far south as Tinley Park and Summit on the north.

For assistance in special needs for retarded children or adults, or for information about recreational or social programs for retarded teenagers or adults, call Park Lawn School and Activity Center at 425-3344.

LOCAL BRIEFS

via vinda...

So happy to hear that one of our favorite reporters, ROSE SHELTON, is out of the hospital after major surgery and a long siege of complications. She's home and on the mend.

We've all heard the expression, "Sometimes it's not worth getting up in the morning." Well JOHN KAMUDA did with a pain in his arm and after two weeks of doctors ended up in a neck collar for day and traction at night. Nerve damage they said.

RUTH & HAROLD BACON had two celebrations this past month. On April 21 they had a "happy anniversary" and on April 22 he was sworn into office as a trustee.

For antique buffs... have you roamed around AUNT NELLIE'S ATTIC, 8550 s Cicero. It's a fun shop and want to pass it on. Open less than a month, it's loaded with antiques, collectables and features a trade deal too.

DAVID VENKUS, son of Dr and Mrs Carl Venkus, placed first in the Chicago Archdiocese - Regional Math Contest, (7th Grade). David represented St Linus School which was one of 35 entries. Carolyn Trebucki, also from St Linus, placed second.

LAURA VENKUS, daughter of Monica and Carl Venkus, made National Honor Society at Mother McAuley. No easy trick.

Let's all boast a little... my granddaughter MAGGIE MC GUIRE graduated from Kiddie Kapers in Hometown on April 29.

MARGE HUSKEY is finally out of the hospital after heart surgery and doing very well. Her many friends wish her the best.

JOHN BRODERICK was presented with a plaque by the park commissioners for his many years of dedicated service. John was one of those credited with cleaning up the scandal ridden Oak Lawn Park Board 4 years ago.

Does everyone know that our other favorite reporter, ED KOZIARSKY, is going to be a proud pappy in a couple of months? Well, you do now.

Where in the world was MARY ANN QUINN the night of the election? She was probably the only person I didn't see.

Betty & Tony Gallo surprised her parents MR & MRS JOHN WILLIAMS with a party attended by their many friends and relatives. The occasion was to celebrate 50 years of togetherness.

Village View offers the deepest sympathy to the family of ELMER LYSON. Mr Lyson, editor of the Oak Lawn Independent, passed away a week ago after a 6 month illness.

Last minute unhappy news MRS HAROLD (RUTH) BACON'S father Ross Brehman, passed away with a sudden heart attack this past Sunday in Streator, Ill. Her mother, Mabel Brehman who was in the hospital after suffering a heart attack, passed away this past Sunday. Funeral services for Mrs Bacon's parents were held Tuesday, April 29.

Get involved... join the fun plans for the '76 Bicentennial.

EDUCATORS AND LEGISLATORS TO MEET

The second Legislative Coffee of the year will be held Saturday, May 3, 10 am at Gaddis School, 93rd & Keeler Avenue. The 16 state legislators from the 8th, 9th, 27th and 28th Districts have been invited to the Coffee.

Hosts for the Coffee will be the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers Dist 34, local area adms and school board members. Each legislator will briefly report on current educational legislation in Springfield. Most of the meeting will be devoted to questions from the audience.

Ernie Kolb commented on the voting machines used during the election. He publicly thanked the Cook County Board, whose pres is George Dunne, for the wonderful assistance with the voting machines. Kolb said the cooperation he received was so terrific that the operation in Oak Lawn went as smooth as clock work. He also said that later reports from the county showed Oak Lawn was one of those that had the least complaints on election day.

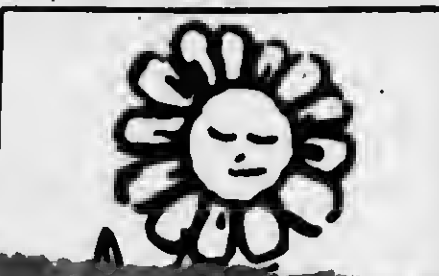

On Tuesday, April 29, the board of trustees reconvened. The ordinance with relation to the village atty was introduced and subsequently passed, 6-0.

According to Rehnquist, the pres must sign the ordinance within 5 days, or should he disapprove, he must give his reasons in writing and submit it to the board at the next regular board meeting on May 13.

Pres Dumke said that he had also received previous legal advice and if he determined to veto the ord under no condition would he have to take other action before May 13. He then told the board, "I would advise you

Village mgr McDonald then announced that he had received a letter of resignation from atty Ralph Rehnquist. He also said that Rehnquist had agreed to continue on until May 13. It is expected at that time that the name of the new atty will be announced.

BILL INTRODUCED BY DERWINSKI TO AID RETIREES

Cong Ed Derwinski (R-4) has cosponsored legislation to provide a $5000 tax exemption on retirement income.

"My bill will provide much needed tax relief for pensioners who are having an increasingly difficult time making ends meet on fixed incomes," said Derwinski. "These people worked hard, paid high taxes and retired with the expectation of enjoying the fruits of their labor with dignity. Instead, their annu-

Derwinski said his proposal was designed to provide the nation's senior citizens with a guaranteed non-taxable income which would contribute substantially to their security and dignity. He said a great number of older Americans receive income at or below the

Oak Lawn "Liberty Ball" Sept 21st

Richard Blake
Abraham Lincoln

Oak Lawners will have a night to remember September 21st when the community's Liberty Ball is held at the Oak Lawn Sheraton. The hotel will be decked in bunting for the occasion, and every ground-floor space will be needed to accommodate the ball-goers. There will be a Colonial bar with bartenders garbed in costumes dispensing authentic punches-of-the-period in souvenir tin cups carrying Oak Lawn's new Bicentennial symbol. Included in the drinks will be a "Stonewall" guaranteed to eat thru the tin. Costumed chamberlains will announce the names of guests as they are ushered to their seats. There will be no speeches, no politics and no head table. Dining will be at intimate tables for eight with tables done in an explosion of red, white and blue. The menu is country fare, from a French potage "of the forest" soup through prime rib and Indian pudding.

Music will be by a regimental band which has been recreated for the Bicentennial events. The band will also play the original national anthem, and the audience will offer the patriot's pledge of allegiance.

Richard Blake will appear as Lincoln, a role he played on a one-man show on national TV. In the words and mannerisms of the martyred president, Blake creates the Lincoln character so accurately that audiences report they are "spell-bound" by the performance. He has been featured on national TV and as a part of tours of the Old State Capitol in Springfield.

Small band concerts will be given in the various public rooms of the hotel, and the program will be followed by dancing to the music of Andy Powell.

Tickets are $12.50 each and may be ordered through Ed Kasper at the Village Hall or through any member of the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission. Early orders are advised, particularly for groups wanting to be seated together. While costumes are not mandatory, members of the commission are urging residents to come in Colonial outfits if they wish.

Village seeks cooperation

The Village of Oak Lawn is requesting the cooperation of its citizenry in an all out effort to eliminate the discarding of grass clippings in parkways or vacant lots. Grass clippings, properly placed in garbage containers or heavy duty plastic bags, are collected by S.C.A. Service under their contract with the village, from each homeowner on their regularly scheduled refuse pick up day. With this type of service, there should be no reason for the unsightly condition which prevails throughout our community.

Residents are reminded that large quantities of grass clippings dumped into parkways and vacant lots are not only unsightly, but leave off a tremendous odor, produce a haven for field mice, plus creating a fire hazard. The village urges residents who witness their neighbors dumping grass clippings in parkways or vacant lots to inform those neighbors that they are adding to everyone's tax bill and could easily avoid doing so by placing them into their refuse containers.

Village ordinance provides for a fine of up to $200 for any person or persons apprehended depositing grass clippings, lumber, leaves or other refuse on any property other than their own. With the cooperation of all residents, we can keep Oak Lawn beautiful. Please do your part.

CMCG moving ahead-opening official office

On Wednesday, Aug 13, the newly formed group, Columbus Manor Community Group (CMCG), met at Swan Drive-In, 9740 Southwest Hwy, to discuss the meeting that was held with village manager Ken McDonald regarding changes in the Southwest Highway Improvement Program.

John McVay, member of the board of director's, was the spokesman and he advised those present that the 7 changes that were proposed by CMCG and were accepted by the village and reps' of the state. "The agreement was reached," he said, "and they (CMCH committee members) retracted the request for a public hearing."

McVay went on to discuss their future plans to build a strong org to protect the rights of both the businessmen and the residents of Columbus Manor. He said they have lived in the neglected side of Oak Lawn and they must unite and pull together for their own benefit. He said there are many things important to them, that they can fight for as a group, to better their living conditions. "The important things," he said, "is to keep having regular meetings and lay out our programs."

The CMCG has recently issued a Newsletter thanking all of those involved in helping them with their publicity, printings, meeting space, the OL Chamber of Commerce, the pres Merrill Stenbom, members of the chamber, the OL village adm for their courtesy, and last but

499-3616-7Dumke vetoes - board overrides

An ordinance prepared by the village attorney Ralph Rehnquist to abolish the post of village attorney as of Jan. 1, 1976 and passed by the board of trustees was vetoed by pres. Fred Dumke on Tuesday, Aug. 25. His veto message was then read in to the minutes.

Harsh words were passed back and forth between trustee John Hardek and Dumke for several minutes with trustee Harold Bacon adding his opinion to the argument. Many harsher statements on the whole proceedings could be heard in the background from the audience.

Hardek then made a motion to override the veto which was passed by a 6-0 vote.

This new ordinance is intended to make it possible for the trustees to hire Burton Odelson as a private contractor to handle the legal work for the village.

A previous ordinance creating a corporate counsel to replace the position of village attorney, and would also have eliminated Ralph Rehnquist, was vetoed by pres. Fred Dumke and included in his suit challenging this, and one other ordinance.

The suit, which was to be heard before Judge Dunne on August 21, has been continued until Oct. 1. The continuance was granted to allow the trustees time to find a new attorney as Odelson has also been enjoined from representing the trustees in any village business until the case has been settled.

According to law, as Fred Dumke's suit is against the trustees and he has hired his own counsel, Ralph Rehnquist as village attorney, can defend the trustees. In defending them, should he win, he will be ultimately causing the loss of his own position.

Odelson asked judge Dunne, "if this is not a conflict of interest," Dunne thought it was not.

As an alternative, Ralph Rehnquist can appoint an attorney to handle the case. Odelson, who is acting as advisor to the board at no cost, said that the trustees will proffer three names of other attorneys to Rehnquist and ask that he select one of those presented. This decision is entirely at his discretion.

The trustees can hire outside counsel but will then have to pay the fee themselves.

Any new action to override the vote of the trustees will have to come from Fred Dumke.

Before any of the above proceedings took place, Ralph Rehnquist offered to resign his position as village attorney but was forced to stay on thru a ruling of Judge Dunne.

Referendum petition going out on $1,500,000 program

Plans for a major capital improvements program was approved by the board of trustees at their regular meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 26.

The board will avail themselves of Home Rule Powers to authorize the financing of the project thru a $1.5 million general obligation bond issue without a referendum.

Approx. $350,000 is to be spent on a street resurfacing program, $55,000 will be spent on a sidewalk, curb and gutter program at no additional cost to the village. Approx. $200,000 for a senior citizen center, a new public works building at 98th & Central, and additional maintenance equipment, drainage sewers, traffic signals and a new rifle range for the OLPD.

Mrs. Joanne Phillips, a resident in the audience, said that she is opposed to the $200,000 being spent for the senior citizen center and stated that it should be a community center and as such would be more flexible. "If we're going to spend this money in an austerity period," Mrs. Phillips said, "I hope it will be for all of the people in the community and not just the senior citizens." Mrs. Phillips is a member of the Youth Commission who have been requesting a youth center for many years.

Included in the street program is the completion of the south half of 109th, between Lavergne & Lawler, resurfacing the north half and a small amount of curb repairs.

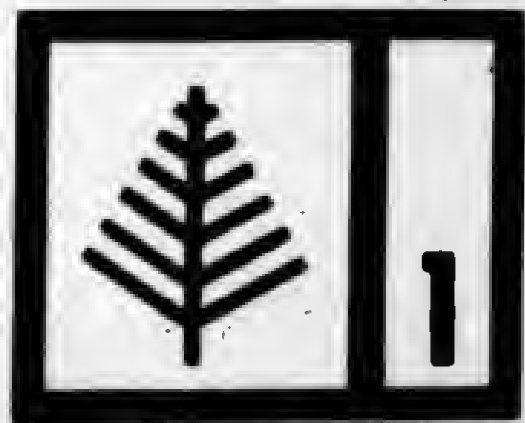

This same street was before a previous board and met with controversy because the owners of the vacant property would

George Vest, pres of the Chicago District Council of the Carpenters' Union was the host at a luncheon in Oak Lawn on August 14, for the purpose of making a presentation to both Park Lawn School and Garden School for the Handicapped.

Among the honored guests were cong Martin A. Russo (D-3), mayor Fred Dumke of Oak Lawn, and Mrs Ceil Dumke. Mrs Dumke has devoted many years as a tireless volunteer and dedicated fund-raiser for these schools for exceptional children.

Mr Vest presented checks to be divided equally between the schools; the checks made possible as a result of the proceeds of a testimonial dinner held in his honor on May 16.

Liquor license request may create new type

Anthony Vallo's request for a 10 or 11 pm liquor license may stimulate the creation of a new classification. Trustee Lester Anderson made this suggestion at a board meeting this past month.

Vallo's restaurant, Tonys II at 10730 S. Cicero, is open 24 hours, but has no bar and Vallo only wishes to serve customers liquor during the dinner hour. The trustees who believe OL has more than enough, have been against creating any more 4 pm liquor licenses. The motion was tabled for further study.

Vogrich has worked diligently to obtain relief for tenants paying security deposits on their apartments and receiving no interest while being retained by the property owner. There is a state statute to this affect, but only governs apartments with 25 or more units which are not predominant in Oak Lawn. The new ordinance, instituted under Home Rule power, will be on apartment bldgs with 10 or more units and are prevalent in the village.

On Aug 19 the board of trustees approved Joe Vogrich's "Tenants Ordinance" as it was presented by atty Burton Odelson and instructed that it be turned over to village atty Ralph Rehnquist so that he may take the steps necessary to draw up the ordinance.

Westside ball field in 'limbo'

A plan to build a little league baseball field and parking for 255 cars at Simmons Park was tabled by the OL Park District commissioners when area residents complained about candy wrappers, pop cans, and numerous other types of litter strewn throughout the 4 other fields on the park site, and that which also found its way to their property. They also complained about the drainage problem when water running from the fields drains into New England Ave.

Tom Harker, pres of Westside Baseball, presented the $13,000 plan at the last regular board meeting. Harker said the league is willing to absorb $10,000 of the cost. He also told the board that he is aware of the problem and that this year they have hired boys to clean the area after the games and there has been some improvement.

Pres John McNamara said that these problems were brought up at a recent hearing on the Simmons Development program and they were seeking solutions. McNamara said that the littering isn't caused by the boys as they are on the field playing ball. "It is the parents and visitors causing the problems," he said, "for which the boys get the blame."

Harker was against the tabling until the board meets again on Sept 8, he said they have to begin construction now before the weather gets bad. He said that the ground is too wet in the spring. "These people are complaining about problems we want to solve," he said, "let's get started now!"

Harker said that the plan called for proper drainage of all the fields and is expected to stop the back-up of rain water on the west side of New England and the ice build-up in the winter months.

Comm Marty Larson, who had asked that the vote on the plan be delayed until the drawings could be reviewed, said that they must be sure that proper drainage is provided and parking requirements are met.

Supt Bob Hope also reminded the board that a house on the ball park site is to be razed but may not take place for another two or three weeks. Tenants, who are still living in the home, have purchased a new home that is not ready for occupancy. Hope said that when such a short period of time is involved, "we can hardly ask them to move."

Tom Harker still pleaded his case saying that they had met with residents, league

Rebel practice begins

The Oak Lawn Rebels Football Club started their practice for the coming fall season on July 28.

Coaches, Chuck Chilvers and Wayne Jadas are returning this season and are doing a fine job as usual. After several practices, Coaches Chilvers and Jadas were still reluctant to talk about the team and the forthcoming season.

The Oak Lawn Rebels (formerly known as the Lake Shore Rebels) surprised everyone last year with a compiled record of 6 wins, 4 losses, and 1 tie in the Cook County Football League. They took "first place" in their division and "third place" in the league, which is an excellent beginning for a first year team.

Manager Chuck Laidlaw said that almost all players from last years team are returning to play again this year. He also stated that he hopes they can have more community and fan support for the club this coming season. With inflated prices which we have today, where else can you go and get to see a good football game for a dollar? Laidlaw also said there would be only 5 games played at W. O. Kneipp Field at OLCHS this season. The remaining 5 games will be played away from home.

The OL Rebels Football Club is run entirely by the members of the club. These young men play football for the love of the game, and after watching a couple of the practices they sure give it the old high school try.

State rep Harry "Bus" Yourell was at the first practice session to purchase a book of tickets for all home games and all the members gave him their thanks. They hope a good number of people follow in his footsteps by buying these tickets so that the club can meet their expenses.

Manager Laidlaw said that anyone 18 years and older and out of high school can join the club. They practice at Beverly Lawn Park, 99th & Kostner, on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:30 pm.

At a recent board meeting trustee HAROLD BACON said that he had previously stated that he did not wish to accept the $25 a month given to the trustees for expenses. He said that now he has changed his mind and as he has four months due him he would like to collect this money to donate to the Oak Lawn Baseball for Boys who are soliciting for funds.

Pres Merrill Stenbom thanked Sandy Dorgan, Joe McCarthy and their committee for a job well done on the Chamber Golf Outing. This affair was one of their most successful and netted the chamber over $1800. He also thanked Dottie Olsen whose help is always there when it is needed.

David Boyd suggested that the chamber consult with "our neighbors to the east" (Evergreen Park), about having a huge combined golf outing with the EP Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the '76 Bicentennial Year.

Stenbom informed the members that a legislative committee meeting has been arranged with the new trustees for Sept 16. ## how do you explain it to children?

This is one of the hundreds of questions that arises at the death of a loved one. Concern and experience have taught Dick Lamb how to answer these questions sensibly. Certainly, every situation is different. Psychological studies have shown that children in general should also be allowed to express their grief at a wake or funeral. Denial may result in adjustment problems later. There's a library of professionally written books at every Blake-Lamb Funeral Home. They may help you answer difficult questions about death and sorrow. Ask about their use - it's free and there's no obligation.

XAVIER HOLDS SUMMER GRADUATION

Thirty-seven men and women received bachelor's and master's degrees at summer commencement activities held August 2 at Saint Xavier College. Conferring of hoods was done by David Aune, assoc prof of theology, and Suzanne Major, asst prof of education. Evangeline G. Bollinger academic dean, presented the candidates to college pres, Sister M. Irenaeus Chekouras, who conferred the degrees.

David Appel, assoc prof of history, delivered the commencement speech and Rosemary Grant addressed the guests as rep of the graduates. Among them were Claudette Gibson who received the Bachelor of Arts degree (Biology). She has been accepted at Loyola U School of Dentistry and will be one of fourteen women enrolled in the freshmen class of 135. Ms Gibson is a 1971 graduate of OLCHS. At Saint Xavier she was pres of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Michael Hunt Huebeck who received the Master of Arts degree in Theology with honor. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree (International Affairs) from George Washington U. Huebeck belongs to Saint Linus Parish.

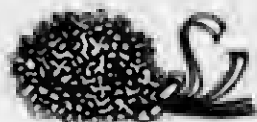

"Mathematical Genius," the title of her story.

Michele, who was in 4th grade at the time, proceeded to take her written story to the OL Public Library to obtain first hand knowledge of binding. Rita Bert, librarian, not only taught Michele how to bind the book but also helped with the printing.

The story evolves around a boy who was outstanding in math beginning with the elem grades. Most amusing, for the adult reader, is the vivid imagination Michele uses to bring the story to an end when the boys adult life begins and is beyond the realm of her reality.

Michele, who is a member of Girl Scout Troop 450, did win her badge. She is the daughter of Mr & Mrs Richard Dixon and is now entering the 5th grade at St Gerald's School.

Rita Bert should be commended for the time and patience spent with Michele. It is nice to know that this is what the OL Public Library is all about.

The 13-week readiness seminars which prepare persons for the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) will be held Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

"The Other Generation Gap," a seven-week course for children of aging parents, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Fridays, starting Sept. 19.

Class sessions will include information on how to communicate with an older person, understanding physical changes, availability of community services, senility, choosing housing and health problems of senior years.

A series of four workshops for teacher aides has been scheduled by MVCC. The sessions are open to teacher aides, parents, volunteer aides and workers from elementary and secondary schools, both private and public.

Each of the four workshops is comprised of two Saturday sessions which will be held from 8 a.m. to noon. The topics for Workshop I, Sept. 27 and Oct. 4, are reading and the role of the teacher aide. Workshop II, Nov. 1 and Nov. 8, will deal with behavior management. The subject of Workshop III, Jan. 10 and Jan. 17, is the special student. Final decision on this portion will be held in abeyance but remain in the program temporarily to get the project in motion. Village mgr Ken McDonald is expecting to have a bid opening on Sept 9.

When the meeting had adjourned Mrs. Phillips, in a statement to the news media, said that petitions are ready and will be circulated calling for a referendum on the capital improvement program.

Mrs. Phillips said she is not against the entire program but is against the senior center portion. She asked that anyone who may be interested in circulating a petition, please contact her.

benefit from the paving of that portion of the street at no cost. Joe Vogrich, 5th district trustee, told the board the street was very dangerous for drivers, homeowners and children on bikes. He said it is a heavily trafficked street. "There comes a time," Vogrich said, "that what will benefit others has to be overlooked when the safety of the residents are in jeopardy."

parents, the supt and everyone that the commissioners had suggested last month and, "now we want to get started on our field," he said.

McNamara told him that a one month delay would give them the opportunity to go over the ball park plans thoroughly and co-ordinate those with the other plans for the future development of Simmons Park.

In other matters brought before the board, a resident in the area of the Menard Activity Center was heard. He complained that he did not feel that the center was serving the area needs. He said that neither he nor other residents in the area knew what programs were going on there. He commented that the mural painting on the outside of the building only satisfied the needs of a few and suggested a weight lifting program that could be enjoyed by many. (Always a problem spot, the mural had been suggested by another resident in the hope that the youths would respect the building more if the painting was done by their peers.)

Larson explained the vandalism problems and the cost. "We just can't keep spending the taxpayers money to buy equipment that is going to be ruined," he said, "and neither can we keep hauling it back here every night."

Hope said that it had housed a pool table that was completely demolished, card tables had the legs torn off and were used for back stops, table tennis equipment and any other items that were brought in were completely destroyed.

Although a weight lifting program is scheduled for the Menard building, when McNamara suggested that the programs be posted on the door, Larson argued that no future programs could be scheduled until security against vandals was provided.

This site has cost the park board several thousand dollars in damage to the equipment, the building proper and repairs. "We need to develop a positive attitude for this area," McNamara said and he then directed supt Hope to see what other programs could be instituted for the center.

In further business the board approved the fall, winter and spring programs. The booklet listing the programs are at the printers and will be ready for mailing by Sept 1.

The next regular park board meeting will be held at 94th & Menard, Monday, Sept 8 at 8 pm.

BASKETBALL REGISTRATION

The park district's Boys Basketball reg will begin Sept 2 and end Sept 22. For those wishing additional info about this popular fall program, the basketball boards will be present to explain and answer questions about the program, the first two weekends of Sept, the 6, 7, 13, 14. ## Bill Hayden "Bridge Builder"

Speaker Bill Hayden, through the efforts of Mary Lotz, OL Chamber board member, is coming to Oak Lawn during the month of November. Hayden will conduct a short course in a personal growth program for employees and everyone is invited to attend.

Bill Hayden is aptly named a "Bridge Builder." He builds bridges between salesmen and prospects; between executives and employees; between parents and teenagers; teachers and students; young and old.

Bill Hayden's goal as a speaker is to have each member of each audience feel they have learned some practical ways to make a better tomorrow for themselves and others.

Bill does not simply deliver some "Platitudes on Attitudes for the Multitudes." He shares ideas, methods and systems for living a more successful life; for communicating more effectively; for improving relationships with other people; and/or for motivating ourselves and others. The audience becomes involved in Bill's sharing and the members discover that the ideas he is presenting can work for them.

Bill Hayden does not walk on water (except near shore in zero weather). He can and does bridge the gaps and gulfs between people.

How did Bill Hayden come to be a "Bridge Builder"? While earning a degree in accounting he worked as a salesman. Bill so enjoyed selling and people that he launched into a career in sales in place of accounting.

In 1964 he joined the Gabriel Richard Institute as an instructor of its Leadership Course. He quickly became Director of Instruction and finally the Lay Director of the Chicago Center and a member of the National Board of Directors of the Institute. During this period he began an extensive study of what makes people tick - how

Krolak raising funds for hockey team

Robert Krolak, pres of the International Youth Foundation, recently chaired a golf outing and dinner at the Palos Country Club.

Krolak said that the purpose of the dinner was to raise funds for the foundation to sponsor a trip for the Saints Midget hockey team (boys 15-16 years old) to Stockholm, Sweden and possibly Moscow or Leningrad, Soviet Union. While there they will participate in an international ice hockey tournament during the Christmas Holiday.

Later, Krolak appeared before a board meeting of the OL Chamber of Commerce where he asked for approval of the action he was contemplating.

The chamber not only approved, but asked for a vote of confidence from the board members, which was readily given, and commended Krolak on this giant undertaking.

Krolak also said that should he accomplish his purpose he is going to make every effort while there to bring a Russian team back to be housed in Oak Lawn, but any play would have to take place in a larger facility, possibly Chicago.

OAK LAWN MEN'S BASKETBALL STILL OPEN

Board approves Ridgeland Ave widening and paving for '76

On Tuesday, Oct 14 the village board gave approval to the $4.6 million Ridgeland ave widening plan.

The project involves the widening and improving of Ridgeland from 87th st to 111th st and includes storm sewer installation, street lighting, and traffic signals. Bids are expected to be let on the project in early 1976.

The project is a joint venture between the villages of Oak Lawn, Worth and Chicago Ridge, with 70% of the funding coming from the Federal Aid Urban Highway Program.

The remaining 30% will be split between the participating villages, the state, and the county, paying a total of $128,000 among them.

George March, consulting eng on the project, was present and explained that due to the efforts of pres Dumke, OL's portion has been reduced from $108,000 to $54,000.

John McVay, representing Columbus Community Group was present and asked that his group be more informed on this particular project than they were on the Southwest Highway. "However," he said, "we are still willing to cooperate."

March stated he would

Hardek gives answers at IHOL meeting

Village manager Kenneth McDonald was called out of town and was unable to attend the last meeting of the Independent Homeowners.

Trustee John Hardek was the speaker filling McDonald's shoes and gave an explanation of the board's recent decision to finance the recent capital improvement program thru $1.5 million bond issue.

The IHOL voted to amend their by-laws, establishing a new procedure for selection of their officers.

McVay said that they would prefer that all the public hearings be held early, rather than late like the Southwest Highway. March said this was due to the fact that the Southwest Highway was an extremely rush program and there will be more time on this particular project.

primarily against his running.

Five other candidates were present seeking the endorsement of the GOP. They are Glenn Allred of Calumet City, a Thornton twp auditor; Ronald Buikema, a So Holland atty; Oak Lawn atty Carl Klein, a former state rep and assistant U.S. secy of the Interior; Robert Gorman, a Homewood real estate broker; and State Rep Robert Dunne (R-28th) of Chicago.

duration for selection of their officers.

The party's board of directors will consist of three members from each of Oak Lawn's six districts under the new by-laws. Party officers will be selected from the list of 18 directors.

OLCHS COMMENDS HERITAGE BANK

The Business Education Dept of OLCHS is grateful to the Heritage Bank of Oak Lawn for their generous contribution to the Consumer Education Program for the current school year.

Consumer Education is a course required by the State of Illinois for high school graduation and is a one semester course for sophs at OLCHS. The guidelines for the course are set up by the State Dept of Education. One of the units of study is Money and Banking. The workbook type booklet, contributed by the Heritage Bank at a total cost of $320 covers the areas of budgeting, banking and using credit. The booklet is published by the American Banking Assn.

Through the cooperative efforts of John Sinicki, Consumer Ed teacher at OLCHS, and Mrs. Ilona Schulz, Heritage Bank, arrangements were made for the instructional material. David Shepard, vice pres of Heritage Bank, is the chmn of the Business Education Dept (BED) Advisory Committee for the current school year.

Mrs. Mary Ellanson serves as the BED chairperson.

the village trustees be demanded to issue them a liquor license to operate Reilly's Pub in Ranch Manor.

The suit was filed when the board rescinded a license, which had been presumably created for Reilly's Pub, when the trustees denied food and bldg permits be issued for the plan.

However, according to David Sosin of Sosin & Odelson, Judge Dunne ordered pres Dumke, who is the liquor commission, to issue and process a proper application to Mau and O'Brien, which shall include fingerprints, fees and all pertinent facts. Upon completion of same, and normal investigations, has taken place, that the application be presented to the board. Judge Dunne also ordered the board to consider the application for Reilly's Daughter.

Dunne also noted that the owners of Reilly's Daughter had followed the procedure requested by the board as of Jan 21.

Sosin said that Judge Dunne stated that he will retain jurisdiction over the matter. This would seem to imply that all parties concerned will have to again appear before Judge Dunne before a final decision is made.

position on specific legislation before Congress.

He called "elected office the highest profession that man can attain". He said that serving in Congress has been a life-long ambition and if successful in the primary and general election, he promised to faithfully serve the best interests of the Third District and the nation as a whole. Buikema called the Watergate episode a great tragedy for the Republican party, and pledged to do all in his power to bring respect back to the G.O.P.

Yourell earns award

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell, D-8th, recently was a recipient of the "Legislative Service Award" by the Illinois Wildlife Federation. This award is based on sponsored legislation and support of wildlife and conservation issues, State of Illinois in the last session of the General Assembly. Rep Yourell also participated, along with Rep Ronald Griesheimer and Tony Dean, Dir of the Dept of Conservation, in a panel discussion with members of the Illinois Wildlife Federation and other related conservation groups in Illinois, relative to problems effecting hunting, fishing and conservation in Illinois.

The convention was a huge success with over 500 members of the federation in attendance at the annual convention and presentation of awards.

Rep Yourell was delighted and, of course, gratified to receive this outstanding award and would like to convey his thanks to all the members of the Illinois Wildlife Federation who reside in the 8th District for their participation in the selection of Rep Yourell for the award.

Rep Yourell's award was based primarily on his successful fight in the Illinois House in the passage of the bill to return to the State of Illinois, 200 acres of Lake Michigan land, previously granted to U.S. Steel for purposes of expansion. This grant of land, by the State of Illinois to U.S. Steel has now been declared unconstitutional by the Circuit Court of Cook County and thus, Rep Yourell's bill is most important in determining the legislative and judicial intent of public lands in Illinois.

THOUGHTS FOR THANKSGIVING

GUEST EDITORIAL

(The Guest Editorial below was written by a gentleman, who after a devastating mental illness, began to find himself only after he placed his own values and worth in the right perspective. His, is a Thanksgiving Message to all of the dreamers of the world, in that they too may except themselves for what they are and make the best possible use of the tools with which they have to work.—ED.)

OCTOBER 24, 1970—September 19, 1973

Feel like biggest failure that ever existed. Everything I've ever done seems to be a waste. I feel like God gave me untold talents and insights. The talents I have not properly developed and the insights I have ignored. Whereas all my life, I had a competitive spirit and driving ambition—now, I feel passive, submissive, and apprehensive about the future. I feel very insecure and lacking in intelligence. I want to do everything perfect yet I realize that there are so many things I am doubtful about and therefore, fearful to act. I am constantly mindful of my obligation to others and concerned about their impression and reaction to my services, yet, when confronted with tasks which require thought and concentration -- I push them aside. I ask God for help and guidance, yet I don't seem to be able to get myself to work for myself.

I love my family, yet I feel detached and unable to truly express my love and I feel I am losing my feeling of concern and thoughtful consideration. I always felt I would know what was right and what was needed regarding family life and love, yet something seems to pull me away from doing what is proper. My mind is becoming loaded with guilt and fear. I envy the "poor" working class yet I know I could never exist in their shoes.

Almost everything I do lately I know I could have done better or differently. I always was the one with promise and a bright sparkling future and now I feel I have achieved nothing to date and have little hope for the future. I didn't plant a seed -- I wanted to see the fruit a minute after I decided I wanted one. I wasn't foresighted to thoughtfully plan for the future and now the future is here. I knew better so many times but didn't follow my inner feelings. Why—I don't know.

God help me to help myself! Don't make it be too late! Give me strength in these times when I have proven myself to be weak.

Instill in me an ability to think, decide and act -- let me face my actions and not run away. Give me common sense, intelligence and responsibilities:

Show me the way to teach my children by example. Renew in me that sense of awareness that life is more than what's up front. It's not too late to plant!

The harder I worked before, the luckier I was and the greater the sense of achievement when a task was completed. I was lazy when I did well before but at times I worked hard also.

Admit it! What I am doing now it's not world shaking but I really am not qualified to do much else.

Start thinking! Start doing! Start planning! Start something! You are what you are and don't try to become something else. When you take the easy way out the road back in becomes tougher.

BE CONCERNED - GENUINELY ABOUT EVERYTHING!

Don't be afraid of anything!

Don't fret about the past!

Do plan for the future!

Don't envy those with more than you!

Do be aware of those with less!

Do pray for God's help and guidance!

Don't think prayer alone is enough!

God gives us the tools and we must use them to build.

We and I must have a Blueprint to start from and many times we have to make alterations and modifications as times change -- but never stop growing and building.

NEVER GIVE UP!!

News FROM

REP. HARRY "BUS" YOURELL

PHONE 422-9300

SUBJECT: EPA

In response to a commentary that appeared recently in a local newspaper, the following information is to clarify the situation as it existed previously and presently relative to legislation passed out of both houses of the General Assembly by Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell, D-8th.

In the 1973 session of the General Assembly Rep Yourell prepared legislation that would amend the laws as they relate to the EPA so that ALL local officials be notified when an application for a sanitary landfill was applied for through the Environmental Protection Agency, (EPA).

This amendment to the statute was introduced by Rep Yourell, in order that all those concerned would have the opportunity to take advantage of the provisions of the EPA Act that provides for a public hearing within a 21 day period after the application for a sanitary landfill permit was received by the EPA. This legislation was passed by both Houses of the General Assembly and signed into law by the Governor.

Subsequent action by some members of the General Assembly in a series of bills designed to amend the EPA Act inadvertently or on purpose, deleted the Yourell language to the EPA Act.

During the same session, Rep Yourell introduced legislation that would allow local units of government to decide whether a sanitary landfill should be permitted to be operated within their jurisdiction and in their corporate boundaries. This bill failed in the House of Representatives after having received a substantial vote in committee. There are strong elements working in the General Assembly to prevent any deletion of power from the EPA.

Rep Yourell believes sincerely, as does the commentary previously mentioned, that local units of govt have better control and better knowledge of the area to be designated and designed for sanitary landfill than some agency located 200 miles away from the 8th district. The EPA has notified Yourell that their inaction is caused by lack of personnel to adequately police and determine the necessity for sanitary landfills from one end of the state to the other.

Rep Yourell believes if that is the case, then local govts are well equipped, well staffed to handle this most important problem as it relates to the people and their property values in the different units of local govt effected.

He intends to re-introduce the legislation deleted by previous action so that once again local units of govt and public officials will have notice of any permit being

As the Representative of Illinois' 3rd District, I have a responsibility to keep you informed of my work here in Congress. Once a month in "Russo Reports" I will list some of the recent legislative actions in the House and my votes on those measures.

Prior to the recent recess and during September, the House completed action on a long-term energy program and reaffirmed its strong stand against relinquishing any U.S. rights in the Panama Canal. Such is the variety of issues with which Congress deals.

We also sent to the President, legislation that would expand federal efforts to help the mentally retarded and others suffering from health problems known as development disabilities (including cerebral palsy and epilepsy). As I am writing this column, debate continues on consumer protection and postal service reorganization.

In addition, the House took action on the following bills:

Energy Conservation and Oil Policy (H.R. 7014) -- to increase domestic energy supplies and availability; to restrain energy demand and to prepare for energy emergencies. The bill included an amendment to encourage energy conservation by prohibiting the busing of students other than to the public school nearest their home. A mandatory gasoline allocation savings program and a requirement for a 1985 auto efficiency standard are part of the measure. RUSSO VOTE--YES

Congressional and Federal Employee Pay Increase (H.R. 653) -- to increase the salaries of High level Federal Employees, Judges and Congressmen. Russo Vote--No

Override of Presidential Veto of Education Appropriations Bill - RUSSO VOTE--YES

Foreign Aid Authorization (H.R. 9005) -- to provide new program initiatives in economic assistance. Russo Vote--No applied for, for a sanitary landfill anywhere in the State of Illinois. This legislation is already in the Reference Bureau and will be available for action by the House when it convenes in January, 1976.

Also, legislation provides control to units of local govt previously introduced by Rep Yourell, will be re-introduced in January, 1976.

YOURELL NAMED TO COUNTY PROBLEMS COMMISSION

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell, D-8th, was recently named by Speaker Redmond, House of Reps, to serve on the Important County Problems Commission. This appointment emphasizes the importance of the problems facing the counties in the State of Illinois as Rep Yourell is serving as chmn of the Counties & Townships Committee in the House in this session of the General Assembly. Rep Yourell's extensive knowledge of county govt and problems effecting our 102 counties was the reason stated for the appointment by Speaker Redmond.

Rep Yourell is the ranking Democratic member of the commission and is expected to be named as chmn of the commission at the organizational meeting in November. He plans to hold public hearings and meetings within the next 12 months in the state to formulate and present legislation that will hopefully speak to the needs of city government.

State rep Harry "Bus" Yourell is presently serving his 5th term in the House and is 22nd in seniority in the Democratic membership of the House.

Renters interest effective Nov 1st

Trustee Joseph Vogrich (District 5), has stated that tenants should be aware that effective, November 1, 1975, they will receive interest payable at 5% on their security deposits. This new ordinance passed recently in the Village of Oak Lawn covers all tenants living in apartment buildings with ten (10) or more units.

Vogrich, who introduced the motion for this ordinance, said, "Homeowners over the entire village are always looking for something and it is about time that the apartment dwellers are treated as residents also. Most people think renters live tax free but it is their rent that is paying the taxes on the building in which they live."

Vogrich, in explaining the ordinance, said that the lessor shall pay interest due at the end of a year, or, if the lease is for a two year period (or more) the lessor shall not pay until the expiration of the lease. Should there be damage to the property at the termination of the lease, Vogrich said, and it is necessary for the lessor to use part, or all of the security deposit to repair the damage, the lessor does not have to pay interest on the deposit.

Vogrich concluded by stating that the lessor shall pay interest due within 30 days after the end of the rental period as provided in the ordinance.

Special Immunization Clinic

As part of a public awareness emphasis for Immunization Action Month, Dr John B. Hall, dir, Cook County Dept of Public Health is urging parents to make sure that all children are fully protected against childhood diseases. Ideally each child should be immunized by his family physician, but for a variety of reasons this does not always occur.

To help bridge this gap, the CC Dept is setting up a Special Immunization Clinic to be held Saturday, Nov 1 at Oak Lawn HS, 94th & Southwest Hwy, 10 am to 4 pm.

"The percentage of young children immunized against such diseases as polio, measles and rubella has declined annually, to the point where widespread epidemics are once again a serious threat," according to Dr John B. Hall.

He urged that children be immunized early in life. "Some of the vaccines, including polio, should be started when the infant is only two months old. Others are given at one year of age. People tend to delay immunization until the child approaches school age, leaving him vulnerable to disease during the first four or five years of life. It is this age group that will be hit hardest if epidemics occur."

"We hope that many parents will take advantage of the Saturday immunization clinic in their area," Dr Hall said. "To remain unimmunized is a risk that no child should face."

BICENTENNIAL COMMISSION THANKS ALL WORKERS

The Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission wishes to thank you for your assistance in telling the public about the Sept 21 Liberty Ball. We are proud that so many Oak Lawners turned out to celebrate the kick-off of our Bicentennial Year. Your generous commitment of space was most helpful.

We also wish to thank the many volunteers who worked to make the Ball enjoyable for all. A list of their names is being entered in our records and is too long for this space, but we want them to know how much their efforts were appreciated. Without volunteers, we would not have managed the interesting exhibits - not the Colonial bar - nor the colorful bunting and bells - nor the individual escorts to the tables - not the announcement of every attendee - nor the details of the program and ticket selling and table arrangements.

We hope that many people will want to volunteer to help as we plan for events in 1976. The recognition is small, but the rewards are the fun of working with other Oak Lawners to put meaning into a local celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

We thank those who worked, and those who spread the word, and especially those who came and enjoyed.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Neighbors, all new to one another on the 99th & Menard block, got together for a "get acquainted pot luck supper," held at the home of MR & MRS PETER MIKULIC, 9905 Menard. JOEY DEE, one of the residents, and JERRY STANLEY provided the music and entertainment. Such a nice idea!!

A brand new 9 lb. baby girl gymnastic was born to proud parents MR & MRS DENNIS TAYLOR. Born on 10-3-75, the Taylor's named her Carol.

Belated greetings to MR & MRS FRANCIS DOODY who became the proud parents of a son.

MRS RITA KAWCZYNSKI (stage name Rita Kay) famed south side organist and pianist was made National Dir of Musicians for the VFW.

How about JANE KORTE and RICHARD KOPEIKIN who have chosen Valentine's Day to tie the proverbial knot!! Best of everything to them both.

FRANK HOSTICKA has been promoted to manager of the Pharmacy at the Treasury Store. Frank, who has long been involved with youth problems, is also the recipient of a citation of honor from the National Assn of Retail Druggists for his work in drug education.

Congrats to HANK LATAS who will be honored and gifted with a gold watch at dinner on Nov 5 at Carpentersville, Ill. The occasion, Latas' 25 years with Dean Milk.

LES ANDERSON is boasting his catch in the Pierre Marquette River in Ludington, Mich. It took 20 minutes in a playing bid to capture the 30 lb Chinook Salmon, but what he didn't tell was that he also fell in the river during his fight in man over beast.

Not be to out done by Anderson, DAVE BERAN said that he caught a 14" Carp in Pech Atonika River near Brown Town, Wisc. He went fishing this past weekend at Eagle River, Wisc to try once more.

And to go even one better, JERRY & BARBARA EASTMAN, MONICA & CARL VENKUS and PEG & ERNIE KOLB spent a beautiful 3 day weekend at Door County, Wisc. They stayed at the beautiful new home of RAY & JO EASTMAN. Jerry caught a 5 lb Brown Trout, but Carl hauled in, by net, a huge 40 lb carp. Guess Ernie is just no fisherman.

How about Pat Hayden who is back in Mundelein taking extra courses to get ready for law school. How about that!

While we're on the Venkus family, DAVID VENKUS was elected pres of the 8th grade class at St Linus. A bit unusual about the tight race was that he beat out his twin sister DIANE.

You remember the traveling CISMOSKI'S -- well they won't be doing too much cavorting in the coming months. A baby brother or sister to JAMIE & MATHEW, expected in April, has slowed them down.

Congrats to JAMES BANSER who has been reappointed to the OL Civic Service Commission.

THE MEXICAN "TOURIST CARD" QUESTION

Although customs and entry requirements for visitors to Mexico are quite simple and easy to understand, we find that questions continue to arise concerning the documents needed and the articles that may be brought in and taken out of the country.

Jim Buschbach

A tourist card is required of everyone 15 years of age or older, staying more than 72 hours in Mexico. Children under 15 can be included on a parent's Single Entry card, but if there is any possibility of their returning without their parents, a separate card should be obtained. Tourists in Mexico are required to carry their cards at all times and to turn in the card when they leave. The cards are good for 180 days and are free. U.S. citizens need only to present proof of citizenship.

Up to 110 pounds of personal belongings are permitted for each tourist. Upon your return to the United States, there is a $100 duty-free exemption, providing you have been away 48 hours or more. The $100 is based on the retail value of the articles. One quart of liquor and up to 100 cigars may be included in the basic exemption, no limit on cigarettes. Gifts of not more than $10 retail value may be sent tax free and duty free. We have other great ideas for a trip to Mexico than you may have planned, come in to your first stop for all trips and listen to our story. Remember, the address is 5615 W 95th Street, OL.

The Village of Oak Lawn gained honor and prestige and a new first was achieved at the 62nd Annual Illinois Municipal League (IML) Conference this past month, when Mayor Fred M. Dumke gained the distinction of being elected president of this large organization. IML enjoys a membership of over 900 villages, cities and towns in Illinois.

Oak Lawn was further honored when finance director Mrs Peg Grell was named president elect of the Municipal Finance officers assn of the State of Illinois and village clerk Ernie Kolb was elected vice president of the IML Clerks Assn.

Mayor Anthony Vacco from Oak Lawn's sister village, was also honored as he was named as a member of the executive board of directors which is made up of 36 vice presidents.

Mrs Grell has been active in the MFOA which serves a membership of 287. This assn works closely with the Dept of Local Government Affairs and is presently introducing a scholarship program to further the education and encourage young people to enter the Municipal Finance Field. Mrs Grell has been a member of the assn for the past 10 years.

Ernie Kolb stated that the Illinois Clerks Assn consists of 462 members and the assn is divided into five districts in the State of Illinois. Annual meetings are held in each district and are climaxed in the fall at the IML Conference.

The Illinois Clerks were instrumental in founding the Municipal Clerks Training Institute at Illinois U. This is a 3 year program, conducted by university faculty. This training program has met the educational requirements to certify the Municipal Clerks by IIMC.

The four day IML convention hosted many dignitaries as speakers and guests.

On Sunday afternoon Fred & Martha Dumke entertained many visitors from Oak Lawn who later attended the Presidents Reception in the Grand Ballroom of the Conrad Hilton where the Annual Banquet is served and entertainment is provided.

The close of the session takes place at a lunch, also in the Grand Ballroom, and the new president, Fred Dumke is guest of honor.

JOE ENGLISH NO 1. IN WORLD

Joe English from OL Holiday Inn was honored by being named top Innkeeper of the Holiday Inn Systems in the world.

On his return home he was met at the plane by pres Fred Dumke and a police escort. He then came directly to the motel where he was hailed by friends, associates and employees. Beautiful bouquets of roses were presented to Mrs English and with wife of George Wiegel, motel owner.

Davis Boyd, new pres of the OL Chamber is shown above (l) as he presented English with a plaque. Boyd said, "I've always said Oak Lawn is a good place to live."

Art Alaniz, preparer of fine cuisine, was in charge of a speedily set buffet for the guests to celebrate the occasion.

Dining with Nadine..

Greetings, Village View readers. Let me begin with a brief introduction before I get down to the business of this column, that is, the best places to dine for you and yours. My name is Nadine and I will be writing this column while Dianne is on an extended leave.

I will not even try to copy her style, it is her's and, besides, it doesn't fit my personality. So, please be understanding towards the changes you will notice in these pages. . . they reflect my quirks and preferences. . . and. . . I hope you will find them pleasant changes.

First, I think you might like a closer, inside view of the restaurants and lounges mentioned in my columns. I intend to try to supply you with this "personal" insight which should help you to decide which restaurant will meet your mood and budget on any given day throughout the months ahead.

I will try to sample the wine, taste the cuisine, and describe the atmosphere of all the places to be talked about in the future. Of course, you must realize that this means I will not be able to list all of the restaurants each month as Dianne did. But, give me a chance. . . let us see how things develop.

Now. . . to tell you about a "happening" set for Thursday, Nov 13 in neighboring Bridgeview that you might like to join. The Bridgeview Chamber of Commerce and Industry will hold their first Evening At The Races at 7:30 pm at MAMA LUIGI'S. Tickets will be available at the door for $1 or you can contact any member business merchant for tickets. Cocktails and refreshments will be available.

In case you are not familiar with the Races, it consists of 16 millimeter films of actual horse races scheduled throughout the country. It is similar to local fund raising Las Vegas nights, complete with door prizes, etc. If you want more information, the Chamber people said you should give them a call at their office.

Remember, all profits from this event will go towards Bridgeview community affairs. So, come on over and join in the fun! On the 13th, YOU should be at MAMA LUIGI'S!

(P.S. The Chamber holds their regular bimonthly meetings at LUIGI'S on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month.)

LUIGI'S owners, brothers Bill and Bob Talerico want to remind you that they are a family type business and will be closed on Thanksgiving Day to permit their fine staff of employees to enjoy the holiday with their families. But, they will be looking forward to seeing you and serving you on any other day or evening.

Guitar-vocalist Red Surrey will entertain you at LUIGI'S in the evenings as you sip a drink after a fine Italian dinner and their delicious coffee. (And you know how difficult it is to find a good cup of coffee outside of your own kitchen!)

If you are one of those early-bird Christmas shoppers, stop in at PALERMO'S LITTLE VILLA, 4849 W. 95th, for lunch between stores. They are another example of Oak Lawn's small family run places. Especially nice for that "homemade" good flavor that seeps through their spicy sauces and sausages. Their homemade, thin crust pizzas are a treat with heaps of cheese, sauce and their own sausage after spending a day on your feet chasing bargains and battling traffic. PALERMO'S pizza is an excellent way to may your teenager's birthday party a social success also. Try it. My son's friends raved about his party for a whole week. . . and for seventh graders, that is the ultimate in glory!

They are offering you special rates for parties, in case you are in the midst of planning one for the holidays. But, you must get your orders in early to avoid any problems. Then, after the plans are complete and the kids are off to bed: Call PALERMO'S and have (top of next page)

Have you dropped by EDMUND'S lately?

I stopped by to hear the Ronald Brothers' style of music-comedy and discovered that they (EDMUND'S) have a fantastic brunch! This is one thing I am going to enjoy reporting to you about next time. It sounds delightful. . . and only $3.95. How can you beat that price?

EDMUND'S also has "Inflation-Fighter Dinners" for $3.95. Everything from London Broil with Bordelaise sauce to Veal ala Holstein with tomato sauce, fried egg, lemon, beets and coffee. These budget savers are served seven nights a week from 4 pm to 10 pm. Hurry over to EDMUND'S and save! You do not pay extra for the salad bar, rolls or beverage with these special dinners.

If you want to try a new place, try GRECO'S, 3020 W. 95th, Evergreen Park. It is a charming little restaurant that has an air of the European 'sidewalk cafe' you've seen in all of the French movies. . . Well, maybe its not exactly French, but it is definitely different.

GRECO'S has dinner ala carte until 1 am complete with house wines. Some of their homemade fair include lasagna $4.50, Fettucine Alfredo $4.95, Gnocchi $3.95, and Manicotta $4.50. They have spicy and mild Italian specialties also.

If its late, don't fret! GRECO'S has late hour snacks and sandwiches sure to please your tastebuds. . . sausage, meatball, salami, breaded veal cutlet sandwich (my favorite), and tenderloin steak sandwich. . . between $1.50 and $3.25. . . all late snacks eats are served with fries too!

*****

Seeing that our country will be observing Thanksgiving Day soon, I think its only right to bring this column to a colonial type ending.

The COLONIAL RESTAURANT, 6702 W. 11th St in Worth, is now open. They provide you with American food mainly, and you can save ala Ben Franklin's credo on Monday's by having Mostaccioli and Italian sausage for $1.95. On Tuesday, you can continue to save money while still eating by ordering their broiled skirt steak with mushrooms and french fries . . . again for $1.95!

COLONIAL is a savings jackpot with another $1.95 meal on Wednesday. Try their Chopped sirloin, then. All savings specials include the salad bar (Monday thru Wednesday).

Of course, you don't have to dine at COLONIAL just to save money. Their food is good, service is fast and with a smile. They are having a speciality this month. . . prime rib for $3.95. . . in case you want to remember the rich flavor of tender beef. COLONIAL opens at 6 am, so you can grab a quick breakfast if you're in a hurry. Or a satisfyng lunch, and they are open 24 hours on Friday and Saturdays. Otherwise, they close at midnight.

Fund raiser for Buikema

A fund-raising dinner in honor of Ron Buikema, Republican candidate for Congress in the 3rd Congressional district, has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 18.

The dinner, to be held at the Martinique restaurant, will bring together the individuals who have endorsed Buikema's candidacy. In addition, the dinner will serve as the major fund-raiser for the Buikema for Congress committee.

Dr. Eugene Prystalski, chairman of the dinner, said that he expected the event to be a sellout, and urged everyone to make their reservations early. He said the evening will feature a dinner and an address by a well-known Congressman.

Numerous elected officials will be in attendance at the dinner, including State Representatives Don Arnell, Jane Barnes, Phil Collins, Bill Mahar, Tom Miller, and Romie Palmer. Also Mayors Harold Gouwens of South Holland, Jack McNary of Lansing, Jim Haines of Harvey, Richard Withers of Blue Island, Norm MacKay of Dolton, Tony Vacco of EP and Bob Piotrowski of Glenwood. Other township officials and municipal trustees will also be present.

Tickets for the Buikema dinner are $35 per person and can be obtained by calling 596-4780.

NOVEMBER

November winds whip up a scud,
Spurring it across the threatening sky;
They ruthlessly drive the fallen leaves
In swirls as they go hustling by.

November skies are full of stars,
The frosty nights grow long and chill,
From astral heights the Pleiades glow
Their timeless destinies fulfill.

November sees gay Autumn wane,
The gaudy landscapes are dimming fast,
An ominous calm pervades the scene
Awaiting Winter's imminent blast.

New Bulldogs tough

Strange, new, and exciting things have been happening to the Bulldogs from Richards. They are winning football games.

season but they weren't a respectable dual-meet record of 7 wins and 5 losses. They placed third in their SICA West Conference, and seventh in the District race held at Conkee Woods. The Spartans failed to qualify anyone for the Sectional race.

The Spartans started this season off well, with a fine second place showing at the Reavis Invitational. But since, became a fairly inconsistent team. "We were unsteady and had some injuries to key runners," LaRochque.

Spartans 2nd in Districts

The girls tennis team from Oak Lawn proved that there is another fall sport besides football.

Finishing the season undefeated in conference matches and losing only once overall the Spartans opened some eyes.

The Spartan girls placed second in the SICA West Conference match, and second in Districts play. Judy Vilchuck, playing second singles has an outstanding record of 18-1 for two years. Judy placed third in conference but was ill and didn't participate in districts.

Sandy and Sherry Burgess make up the first doubles team and they were nothing short of spectacular. Displaying a 10-0 record in regular season play, they took first place in Districts, and continued all the way

Richards girl among best

Along with many other high school girls, Nancy Parus of Richards saw her dream of becoming the best girl tennis player in the state slip away.

Nancy, sporting a 10-2 record going into the District's match was beaten in the semi-final round by Buffy Burns of Downers Grove who continued into the final round.

The start of this season brought a whole new outlook for Nancy. Ms Thompson, the Richards coach moved Nancy from the first doubles spot to first singles which has proved to be a very good move.

This summer her face was a common sight at many tennis courts in the area, and she was an ever-present figure at most public tournaments.

The south suburbs are full of many fine tennis players and Nancy still remains among them. Richards, Ms Thompson, and her teammates are all very proud of Nancy, and she has given them good reason to be.

The Richards overall record is 8-4 and they are respectable in conference play winning four and dropping only two matches.

Other top prospects on the Richards team include: Sue Campbell, Darcel Coco, Mary Gilmore, Sandy Mantas, Sue Reddel, Rose Rocha, Nancy Skender and Sharon Swan.

Reilly, and junior quarterback Joe Serio.

Tough team defense has been a major factor in every contest.

The Spartans share leadership for the SICA West Conference Championship with Reavis and Sandburg.

Spartan surprise opponents

The Oak Lawn Spartan Gridder are full of surprises to say the least.

The Spartans have an outstanding, but surprising record of 6-2. Their only conference loss was handed to them from the Sandburg Eagles.

The Spartans came from behind in five of eight games to defeat some very tough teams. Among the Spartans' victims are Reavis and Thornridge.

Leading the unpredictable offense is ex-quarterback turned tailback Steve Holcer, split-end John to the quarterfinals in the state tournament where they were eliminated.

Also undefeated in the season was the second doubles team of Gail Shaw and Debbie Schmeltzer.

JUDGE CRANE MEETS SENATOR HUMPHREY

Associate Judge Ronald J. Crane, candidate for Cook County Circuit Court Judge in the March 16th, 1976 Democratic Primary, is shown at a recent dinner with Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, as yet an unannounced Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

Shown with Sen Humphrey and Judge Crane is his wife, Julia, the Vice President of the Homewood-Flossmoor Park District.

Judge Crane is a candidate whose opposition is a Republican Ward Committeeman from Chicago's north side and is running in the Democratic Primary.

On March 9, the pres and now in effect with other towns, board of trustees approved a with one major difference. contract to furnish Matteson Matteson will handle all of with water. Village mgr Ken the funding for the lines and McDonald only hit on the connection with no financing by highlights of the agreement as he the village. When the entire said it was very lengthy but indebtedness is paid, the complete project will be turned open to any questions. He said over to Oak Lawn who will it was similar to the contracts then have full control.

$3,000,000 improvements for Grandview

The Board of Local Improvements has approved a $3 million paving and draining program for the Grandview Park area. The decision was greeted with approval by the residents at a public hearing on March 4.

The project will encompass a 16 square block area bounded by Central, Austin, 87th and 91st Streets. Central and 87th Street are not included in the project but Austin and 91st Street are included.

From Motor Fuel Tax funds, the village will pay $2,137,000 or 70%, and the remaining 30% or a balance of $931,000, will be financed thru special assessments to be paid by the residents.

Commercial property facing 87th will not be assessed as it has already been included in the separate project of the widening of 87th Street.

Final approval of the project rests with the board of trustees who will be reviewing the ordinance in the very near future.

STICKER DEADLINE ANNOUNCED

Ernest F. Kolb, village clerk collector advises the deadline for vehicle stickers has expired and the new charge for vehicle stickers for all automobiles will be $17. This rate will be in effect thru March 31. On April 1, the rate will be raised to $19.

License fees for trucks are now as follows: "A" - $22.50; "B" $27.50; "CDE" - $37.50; "FGH" - $67.50 and all others are $107.50. Rates will also increase on trucks an additional $4 after March 21.

All citizens in the Village of Oak Lawn are urged to purchase their vehicle stickers for all classes of motor vehicles immediately and avoid being ticketed for failure to do so.

The cost of water with Matteson will be on a pro-rata basis due to their large investment.

In two other surprise motions by the board of trustees, the controversial Reilly's Daughter, a pub type tavern and restaurant will be opening in Ranch Manor, 111th & Crawford. According to the atty representing the owners, they have met all the building and zoning requirements and are in the process of purchasing a Grandview is an area annexed transfer liquor license for $3000.

Trustee Mildred O'Connell voted to approve but voiced her objection. She said that she still had a petition with 250 names of those residents who were against the tavern, "but I guess the people don't count any more," Mrs O'Connell said.

A restaurant was also approved for the southwest corner at 87th & Southwest Highway. The restaurant, which will be built by the owners of Edmunds, has been turned down before. The biggest objector was Les Anderson who maintains it will have a detrimental effect on the flow of traffic. He voted against the project with the other four trustees voting for approval.

Trustee Joe Vogrich was absent. The ordinance for the new re-organization plan was read for adoption by the board but was (Continued on Page 14)

Laurel, are a very popular couple in their community.

Both young executives are highly qualified in banking operation procedures. Their expertise adds greatly to the continued growth of the First National Bank of Evergreen Park.

Board approves lights for Crawford

The board of trustees has authorized a resolution to enter into a lighting program with Evergreen Park. The project will provide street lights for Crawford, which is the dividing street between the two villages, from 91st to 99th.

According to mayor Anthony Vacco, the cost will run approx $200,000. The Federal Aid Urban System (FAUS), a federally funded improvement program, will pay 70% of the proposed program with the remainder being divided between Oak Lawn and Evergreen Park. Oak Lawn's portion would be paid by Motor Fuel Tax. Mayor Fred Dumke suggested that the board consider a larger improvement within the village limits and stretching to 111th Street. Even though this may have to wait until the widening of Crawford Ave is completed, the funds for the lighting will not be financed until 1977 FAUS funds are available.

5 year sentence for crime with handguns

Bob Bily, Democratic candidate for state representative, 8th District, today called for establishing a mandatory 5 year jail sentence for anyone convicted of a crime in which a firearm was used.

Bily stated that "the deterrent to crime has been taken away during the last decade with the elimination of the death penalty, lax sentencing of repeat offenders and the slowness of the court system." "Criminals are back on the streets nowadays before their victims get out of the hospital," exclaimed Bily.

"I've been out talking to the voters in this district and not one is opposed to this proposal," explained Bily who also said that, "the people simply want some action taken on crime and their rights protected too."

Bily says his proposal will serve a twofold purpose:

(1) The person who plans to commit a crime will know that if he uses a gun and is caught, he will serve 5 years for the use of that gun besides whatever he receives for the crime itself. There will be no trading for a lesser charge.

"Too many people, especially policemen whose job it is, to protect us, have been hurt. Gun control laws have not stemmed the tide of violent crimes, so we must raise the price tag one has to pay. The law would be uniform for everyone with no exceptions," said Bily.

(2) The mandatory sentence would stop the abuses of plea bargaining where reduced charges are given in exchange for information and easy going judges who fail to impose stiff sentences.

Bily said that "plea bargaining has many good points and speeds the system, but wholesale abuses of it are negating any benefits or intent of the law. Most criminals today know that they can beat the system with plea bargaining, lax judges and continuances. It seems as if they can commit armed robbery one day and be let go the next day with only a speeding ticket."

We are speaking here of providing a deterrent, equally administered, which I believe one in effect with a few sentences handed down, will force criminals to think twice.

Bily plans to introduce such legislation and will work for its passage. "People are tired of the constant debate on crime by professional politicians whose sole purpose is to milk the system for a living. They want action and that's what I'll give them while I'm in Springfield. We are elected to serve and that is what I do," said Bily.

Yourell legislation would ease obtaining information

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell (D-8) has recently drafted legislation to be presented in this session of the General Assembly to make it easier for an individual interested in any legislator's Statement of Economic Interest, or Campaign Contribution information by simply writing to the State Election Board and requesting a copy of either or both disclosure statements to be mailed to their residence or place of business, anywhere in the State of Illinois. Presently one would have to journey to Springfield and make application to secure that information.

The amendment being proposed by Rep Yourell, would enable one to use the same application which would be changed only slightly into containing a section for notarization of the individual's reason for obtaining the information and identity. They then would be able to have the information sent directly to them.

This amendment would

Klein: energy problem needs constant attention

CARL L. KLEIN, Republican candidate for congress in the 3rd dist told the Hometown GOP on Feb 18 that the energy problem was exceedingly complex and would require constant attention, research and development in order to meet the future energy needs of the United States.

"As the present time, the United States cannot produce enough oil and coal to complement nuclear generating power to meet all our needs. The new oil from the Alyeska Pipe Line together with new off-shore fields will help, as will development of both the Eastern and Western coal fields," Klein said.

"However gasification of coal is about 10 years away and such use of coal is not the most efficient use. We must learn to burn coal in its native state more efficiently than we do now."

"More important, an all-out effort must be made now to develop nuclear fusion - the process of extracting almost limitless power from water. This process is just beginning to be developed - it is safe, it should be cheap when finally achieved, and it will be more than adequate for Republican Frank M. Ozinga, incumbent candidate for state senator in the 8th dist announced recently, he will seek a supplemental appropriation for the education of handicapped children.

The money would be used to reimburse school districts for materials and services already used to develop special programs for handicapped children. Gov Walker cut $18 million from the reimbursement fund.

"We (the General Assembly) told the school districts, when we forced them to set up these programs, that we would repay them for expenses incurred in complying with our mandate," Ozinga pointed out. "We have a moral obligation to do so.

"Financially strapped school districts have spent thousands of tax dollars needed for ordinary programs under the assumption that they would be reimbursed. They need that money.

"But because Gov Walker needed a $250,000 color television studio for his public relations agency, because he refused to disband that agency and three others, because he has totally mismanaged the state's financial resources, children who need special help to become a valuable functioning part of our society will receive no help.

Walker fooled the people - Bailey

Mayor Bailey, candidate for state rep in the 8th dist, commented recently to a group of people in Palos Heights that Gov Walker fooled and confused the school districts in Illinois because he presented to the legislature in March of 1975 a budget that was allowing full funding by the state to all school districts in Illinois: which budget was eventually approved. Based on these facts, school districts throughout the entire state prepared for the new school year which started in September of 1975, by adding new programs and, in many cases, new teachers or by upgrading many of their present programs.

The governor came back to the state legislature about the beginning of August of 1975 and said, "We have a financial crisis: we must reduce all budgets by 6%". This reduction meant approximately $30,000 to District 128 in Palos Heights and it meant about the same proportionately in Oak Lawn and throughout the state.

Bailey comments, "Why didn't the governor suggest cutting various budgets by varying percentages which would have allowed the school funding budget to remain the same?" This seems like a relatively simple approach to a major problem. As we all know, the governor's veto held and many of the school districts have curtailed or cancelled programs because of no funds.

Bailey concludes by asking, how important are these school programs, and his answer is, how important are your children who are affected the most?

all our needs."

"We must move forward with the same determination to solve this problem as we did with the atom bomb in World War II and with the space program thereafter."

"I intend to do everything possible to rectify this situation."

Ozinga originated the special education concept and has been particularly interested in funding such programs. He attempted to restore the handicapped children's funds by suggesting the Senate consider that portion of an education funding bill separately.

State spending is waste says Huskey

"Real understanding of the problems people face" ranks high on the list of qualifications state legislators ought to have, according to Herbert V. Huskey, candidate for the Republican nomination as State Representative from the 8th District.

Huskey has lived many years in Oak Lawn as a homeowner, and understands the jolt that taxes can be to families already hard pressed.

"When I was starting my business, Marge and I had to budget every dime," he recalls. "An increase in my taxes, even if it didn't seem like much to the people in government, meant one more thing Marge and I had to do without."

Huskey's business, the Ridgeland Auto Parts company, has been a success and he recently opened a second store in Oak Lawn, a third one in Worth.

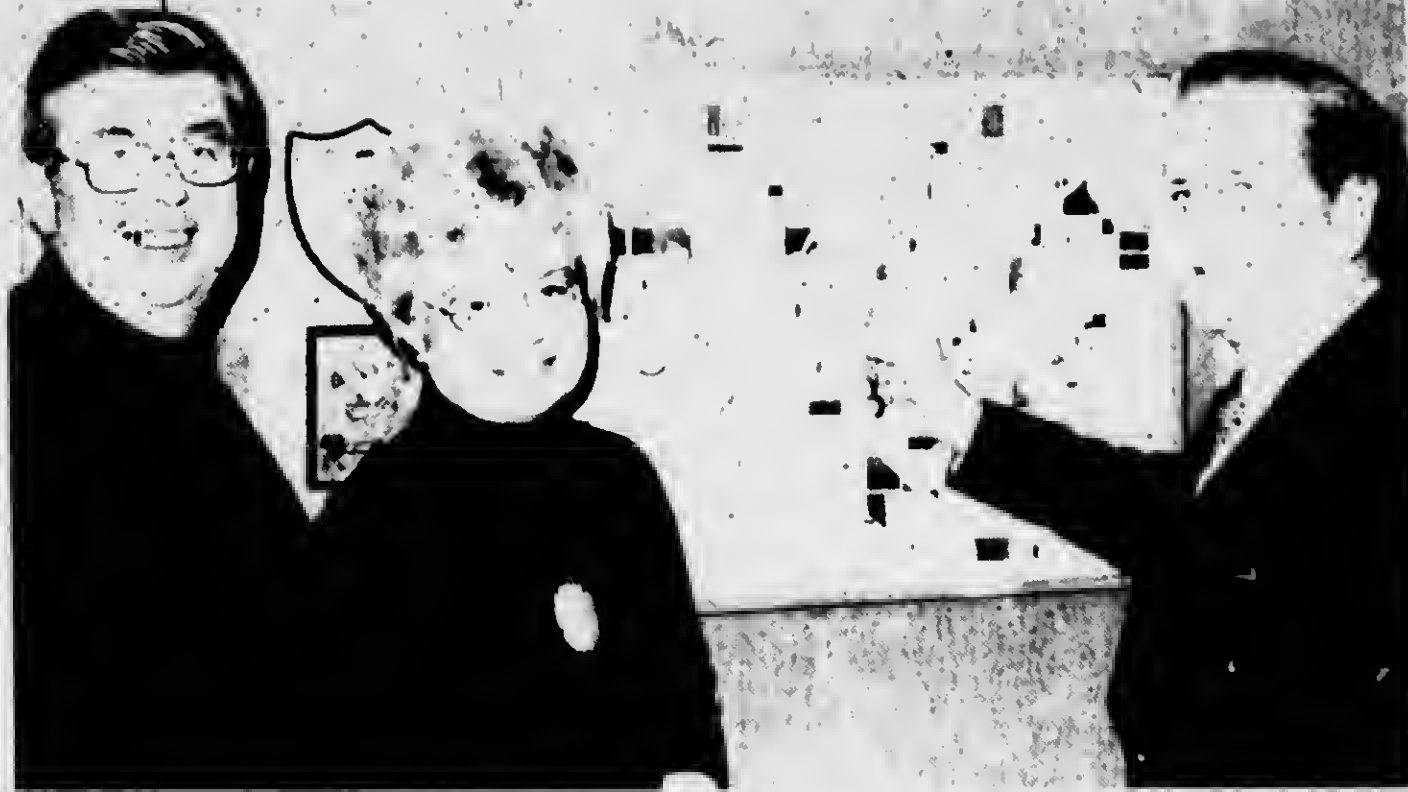

However, he remembers the early days of struggle very well.

"Ever since then, I've been very conscious of people who live from dollar to dollar, as we had to. I'm determined that I will never vote a tax increase unless it can be completely justified in terms of increased service.

"Not only that, but I have to be sure the service is something people really want. I don't believe, for instance, that the voters of the 8th district wanted the State Board of Elections to increase its budget from $300,000 to $3.8 million in less than three years.

"This increase goes to a board which decided last year that the Cook County and Chicago Democratic organizations are not political committees for purposes of reporting under the campaign disclosure law!

"Spending like this is not a service to the taxpayers of the 8th district. Spending like this is a waste of their money, and I want to go down to Springfield and say so loud and clear."

PLANS UNDERWAY FOR OAK LAWN'S GREAT PARADE

Studying the route for Oak Lawn's Bicentennial Parade September 4th are (l to r) Alvin Busch, Mrs. Marion Busch and Frank Boblak, parade committee chmn. Mr and Mrs Busch are co-chairpersons of the subcommittee on bands, and they are promising music in every block for the gala event.

The Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission's Parade Committee is using the shut-in days of February and March to plan Oak Lawn's largest parade for Saturday Sept. 4. Frank Boblak, member of the commission and chmn of the parade committee, reports that a volunteer committee is plotting the route, inviting prominent guests, arranging for bands of all kinds and helping organizations plan for floats to fit the parade theme, "Great American Documents".

Among members of the Parade Committee are Mr & Mrs Alvin Busch, bands; Merrill Stegbon, floats and units; Mrs. Alice Ihrig and Joseph Botton, publicity; Mrs. Darlene Losacco, parade marshalls; Davis Boyd, decorations; Milt Anderson and Joyce Hrabec, route; Pat Stancik, costumes; and Vince Vitro and Linda Gray, costume contest.

Oak Lawn residents who would like to volunteer are asked to contact Frank Boblak at 857-8550.

OL police request communications training

Oak Lawn is among the more than 20 suburban police depts that have requested communications training in a new program offered by the Cook County Sheriff's Police Dept, Sheriff Richard J. Elrod announced.

The Sheriff's Police Training Academy is providing in-service training for suburban radio operators and dispatchers in the Dept's new Communications Center in Maywood.

Sheriff Elrod said the training which started in February with a request from the Bellwood Police Department has expanded so rapidly that the Sheriff's Police Academy now has a waiting list for the program.

Sheriff Elrod noted the value of the program for a suburban agency's operator is the greater frequency and volume of radio traffic handled by the Sheriff's Police. The radio operators also have a greater opportunity to utilize and become more familiar with the computer systems and can be vital to the police officer on the street.

Buikema charges foot - dragging

"The Democratic Congress acts as though the people in this Country have no concern for election law reform," Ron. Buikema charged recently. "There is just no excuse for the continued foot-dragging by the Democrats in re-constituting the Federal Elections Commissions as required by recent Supreme Court ruling."

Buikema, running for the Republican nomination to Congress in the Third District, said that he is "disturbed by the reports coming out of Washington from the Democratic leaders indicating that they intend to use the present impasse to destroy the F.E.C., which in its short life, has tried to clean up political funding, make Congressional slush funds reportable and made a start toward equalizing incumbent political advantages over challengers."

"The Supreme Court has given the Democrats 30 days in which to properly form the F.E.C. and if they fail to act, the Commission and much of its good work will die," the South Holland attorney said.

"Where is the famous Democratic class and its pledges to reform the election system," Buikema stated, "can it be that they have become hostage to Congressman Wayne Hays, the powerful House Administration Committee Chairman who has promised to gut the F.E.C."

"It is no secret that Hays has courted the freshman with countless extra allowances, benefits to assist their re-elections," Buikema continued, "the tragedy is that the Country is the loser for the possible end of the Federal Elections Commission."

Anderson's 'Newsletter'

Trustee Lester Anderson has released a newsletter to the District One Families. He states that despite all of their problems with the village president and clerk they are making progress in many areas of concern. He speaks of the four major issues that have been in the headlines.

The Chicago Courts have ruled against us in three of the four cases which were instituted by Mr Dumke and Mr Kolb. Mr Dumke is still Liquor Commissioner (with a $0000 a year raise), we still have the same inefficient Legal Department, which does not have the confidence of the Trustees or the residents of Oak Lawn, and Mr Kolb retains his patronage job (with raises in both 1974 and 1975) -- in spite of the fact that an elected official's salary can't be raised or lowered during his term of office.) Should the Chicago controlled court system run the Village of Oak Lawn? We will appeal these cases in higher courts!!

1. THE LIQUOR COMMISSION -- We feel that we must put an end to one main control of the issuances of liquor licenses. The Village President has absolute control as to who may or may not receive a liquor license and he answers to no one. We feel this puts too much responsibility, as well as too much temptation in the hands of one man. We want to set up a commission composed of the Village President and two Trustees, who will issue licenses only after a thorough investigation by the Police and Health Departments. This commission will also revoke or suspend licenses in the event that disturbances or damages to neighboring property are caused by licensed establishments.

2. THE VILLAGE ATTORNEY -- The cost of a part-time, haphazard Legal Department has been more than $100,000 per year. We feel that a Corporate Counsel will provide a full-time Legal Department responsive to the citizens of Oak Lawn at half the cost.

3. RE-ORGANIZATION -- A reorganization of the Village Administration primarily on the management level would save the village more than $80,000 a year. Some personnel would make lateral moves, while others near retirement would do so. There would be no mass firings, nor would we abolish the Civil Service System. Any village employee who is doing his job to the satisfaction of his immediate supervisor need not worry about losing his job.

4. THE CLERK-COLLECTOR -- Ernie Kolb is a Village Clerk, elected by the people and paid $4500 per year plus $55 per month expenses for his part-time job. The position of village collector is a patronage job that costs the village $18,000 a year. Since village employees collect all monies in Oak Lawn and they are turned over to the finance director, who reports to the village manager, the collector's job is non-existent. It costs the taxpayers $18,000 a year -- only the City of Chicago pays its clerk more than Oak Lawn. Please remember that all elected officials in Oak Lawn are elected to part-time positions.

Anderson goes on to say they have held the line on taxes and if they do go up the responsible parties are the Library Board, Park District and School Boards.

He said that in his campaign he promised to bring the 1st District up to the level of the rest of the community and he is happy to announce that Grandview area will be improved soon with work scheduled for the summer of 1976.

Anderson follows this with two endorsements, one for state rep and one for Congress.

He said he is upset with the Youth Commission and their lack of action and he has taken "action." Anderson would like the schools open for sports and crafts in the evening. He would like to hear from some persons that are interested in working with him.

Anderson speaks to the parents on love and discipline and to be aware of what they are doing. He mentions School District 122 and their new policy to collect vandalism damages from the parents.

He said the trustees are now working well with the Chamber of Commerce. Anderson concluded his letter by saying that an elected official needs the continued assistance of those that put him in office. He said many of those still actively working with him will be out distributing 4000 newsletters and he wants to thank them.

Anderson's signature follows with a statement that cost and printing was paid for by Les Anderson.

Anderson's "Newsletter" was written on the Village masthead. Due to the length of it portions were cut but none of the main issues have been omitted.)

A Newsletter is ... a Newsletter is ... a

Trustee Lester Anderson's Newsletter is not necessarily the views or opinions of Village View. Anderson's letter was written on the Village of Oak Lawn's masthead and included the names of village pres, Fred M. Dumke; the six trustees; village clerk, Ernie Kolb; village mgr, Ken McDonald; village atty, Ralph Rehnquist and village treas, Kenneth Skopec.

In the Newsletter Anderson refers to "we" at all times but never reveals "who" of all the names on the masthead are in agreement with him. Would then, pres Fred Dumke, Ernie Kolb and Ralph Rehnquist "agree" with the manner in which Anderson speaks of them. A further question arises as to whether or not Anderson received approval from the five other trustees. In later events it would seem that at least one of the trustees was not aware of either the Newsletter, or, what it contained.

At a regular meeting of the pres and board of trustees, Ernie Kolb voiced his objection to the "Newsletter". He said that it was sent on village stationery with his name on top and saying derogatory things about himself; that it was political, and endorses two candidates. He said that he was vigorously opposed to it. He added that it was typed in the village hall and Anderson should pay the cost. Kolb wanted to see receipts on time, how much the person was paid and who published it. He then asked the village atty if this is legal.

Rehnquist said that he didn't believe it was as using the letterhead for political views is improper. "He is entitled as a citizen to express his views," Rehnquist said, "but not on village stationery."

Kolb further said that no one on the board has ever done this before and that the people of Oak Lawn are paying for this material.

Anderson disputed this by saying that the only cost was one letterhead (the letters were copied) and he had paid for them. It was typed during the lunch hour, he said, and as long as there was going to be trouble over it he would rather not mention the name. He said that it was a newsletter to people in his area where he is trying to let them know what is going on. He said that it all has been in the newspapers.

Kolb said that he believed Anderson stuck his neck out on this one that that he (Kolb) is fed up with the whole thing. He added that he respects the atty's opinion that it is "illegal."

Pres Dumke said that he wished he had seen it sooner, "he would have raised heck with him too."

Trustee Joseph Vogrich was also a vocal objector, not to the subject of cost, he believes if Mr Anderson said he paid for it then he was sure it was at his own expense. He said the question he raised was to the two endorsed candidates, that his name is on the stationery, and he, in fact, does not endorse the two candidates that are mentioned.

At the meeting Anderson said that there were 3500 copies printed -- in his newsletter he said there were 4000 copies printed and distributed in his area. Anderson's "Newsletter" was well distributed in many other areas of Oak Lawn and were clearly visible.

It is the opinion of Village View, that no political literature, regardless of whose stationery it is on, should carry the name of any person that has not, either given permission, or, endorsed any candidate running for office.

Spelling Bee Winners

The Bicentennial spelling bee sponsored by the sixth district of the Oak Lawn Youth Commission was attended by a SRO crowd February 20 at Oak View School. 30 contestants from six schools participated, according to Lenon Wisdom, Oak Lawn, Youth Commissioner from the sixth district. Tom Patzelt correctly spelled sanctimonious and ricochet, the 104th and 105th words, to win the contest.

Officials for the contest were caller Rochelle Hatton, judges Rev. Richard Rogers, Trinity Presbyterian Church; Rev. David Melbye, Mt. Zion Lutheran Church and Maria Kerhulas; and acting as timer Marilyn Roberts. Trophies were presented to all six winners by Commissioner Len Wisdom. # LOCAL BRIEFS

via vina...

It was quite a shock to the many friends of LOU MIRABELLI to hear of his attack on the plane when he was on the way home from golfing in the Bahamas. Lou underwent major surgery at Christ Hosp this past Saturday and is doing nicely.

Just found out that MAURY GLENS expects to be a grandfather two times, once on or about April 30 and a bicentennial baby on July 4

MRS MAUREEN DOODY was in the hospital and we're glad to hear that she is home and feeling fine

DAVE & DARLENE BERAN had a cocktail party for RON BUIKEMA with over 90 guests in appearance. It was the night of the heavy downpour but even that didn't stop the people from coming to enjoy the Beran's well known hospitality

Another fun affair, that was also caught in the rain, was the "free pizza party" given by the INDEPENDENT HOMEOWNERS OF OAK LAWN and drew a full house. The candidates from other local suburbs that attended both affairs must figure that Oak Lawn is "all wet".

LOU KOLE broke his ankle while vacationing in California. Trying to add glamour to the accident he said it happened while skiing. Actually, his wife insisted that he learn to play tennis. He stepped on a tennis ball and turned his ankle breaking a bone and tearing a ligament. Bet there was no "love" in that score

ED MEIER has two daughters getting married in the very near future. It's bad enough when dad has to crack open the piggy bank for one but he has been twice blessed

RUTH & HAROLD BACON just returned from a vacation in San Francisco. That didn't bother me but his beautiful new red cadillac did, it would make even the saints turn green with envy

Nice thing about Bacon, he drew four months car allowance that was due him and donated it to OAK LAWN BASEBALL FOR BOYS.

Happy birthday to JULIE VENKUS who has finally reached that wonderful age where she can take her driving test. Looks like Dr Carl might have to hit the bus lines soon to get to work.

Also happy birthday candles to MRS THERESE HEILMAN who just turned 39.

Nice guy: LENON WISDOM should get more than just a bouquet for the many years he has been involved with the youths in his area. When asked about it says he enjoys them - guess it's as simple as that!

Happy birthday to trustee MILDRED O'CONNELL, who will remain 29 from here on in

On April 15 Village View will be having their next BRIDAL ISSUE and would like future brides to send news and pictures of the happy occasion.

They say it will be a DEMOCRATIC election year as the REPUBLICANS won't "VOTE" as usual. What do you think? Please vote TUESDAY, MARCH 16.

SENESE'S KING'S INN, 4642 W 103rd Street, is always a busy place. In fact, just recently Congressman Marty Russo had his press lunch there when he was holding the Congressional Hearings at St Xavier. Along with him was rep William S. Cohen from Maine, he was also delighted with the food and the service.

Dick Senese was on hand to see that everything went well and was congratulated on his lovely lunch. The food was served family style and there was more than enough for everyone. (I took home one of the delectable cream puffs that always just hit the spot at dessert time.)

The lunch was served in one of Senese's banquet rooms, lovely for a wedding. They can handle from 25 to 250 persons and will also give you professional advice. Just call 423-0290 whether its a wedding, a lunch, anniversary or what ever you may be celebrating. ... you can't go wrong.

WARSAW INN welcomes you to their "Polish Style Smorgasbord."

The lunch hours Mon thru Fri are 11:30 am to 2 pm; dinner, Mon thru Thurs 4 to 9 pm and Fri & Sat from 4 to 10 pm. On Sunday 12 noon to 8 pm.

What's exceptionally nice about their "Polish Smorgasbord" is the large variety of food, the reasonable price and the special rate for children.

The dinner features a different specialty for every night of the week -- think that's nice and won't give your taste buds a chance to get bored looking at the same entrees all the time.

Warsaw Inn also features "carry outs" for those that forgot to defrost the meat or just don't want to get dressed. Why not drive to 129th & Ashland and try them, we'll be happy and they will be more than happy to serve you.

Orient View is open daily from 11:30 am to 10 pm and Fri & Sat from 11:30 am to 11 pm. Don't forget the "carry outs" for large and small families. Be nice, tell them we sent you. ...

(Continued from Page 1) he said, "the mgr has a objected to by Harold Bacon. The plan will give the village mgr full authority over appointments. Bacon wanted it to be amended adding, "the village manager shall appoint with the approval of the board of trustees." He said he would not vote for the ordinance unless these words were included. "We are elected to run the village," Bacon said. "I don't feel that the village mgr would have the inner feelings that those of us who live here have."

Pres Fred Dumke said that they could save a lot of headaches if they read the statutes. "Under the law," he said, "the mgr has a right to appoint, he is the administrative head of the village."

Atty Ralph Rehnquist concurred with this saying, "He is the head of the village government."

Rehnquist then said in so many words, the board's power lies in that, if they are not happy with the operations of the village mgr they can release him. On the vote for approval of the ordinance, Bacon voted, "no".

Because of the village hall being occupied due to the election on Tuesday, March 16, the next meeting of the board has been changed to Thurs, March 18.

Congress needs budgetary diet

Glen Allred, candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress said Monday Congress needs to be put on an austere budgetary diet.

Allred said all too often Congress tries to tease the taxpayers into believing they can have government services without paying for them.

"It's time to stop playing games with the taxpayers," Allred said. "Because the taxpayers are the ones suffering from the congressional game playing. The taxpayers of this country are calling for a halt to inflation, higher taxes and higher prices of goods and services," he said.

"There's one way to stop the rise of inflation and that is for the federal government to stop spending more money than it takes in."

"It's just like the budget of a family or business. If you don't live within your means, you're inviting financial chaos."

"The taxpayers have had enough financial chaos. The taxpayers want the country to live within its means and that means Congress has got to use restraint in its spending habits. Restraint means saying 'no' to the selfish special interests whose primary concern is

Sherman against double dipping

Jim Sherman who is running for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in the 8th Dist, has come out strongly against public officials who are double dipping and legislators who draw their salaries in advance, vote on their own pet projects rather than the taxpayers pocketbooks."

"Restraint means halting the daily feeding of the bureaucratic fat. It means putting Congress on an austere budgetary diet. It means getting tough on behalf of the taxpayers of this country," Allred said.

legislation which affects the finances or careers of themselves or their relatives and do not work full-time serving their constituents.

He has stressed in his legislative program that the public cannot possibly get its money's worth from public officials who divide their time and attention between two or more jobs. Sherman claims that many of the 5,000 bills which were introduced in the 1975 General Assembly, were not carefully reviewed before passage or rejection and is indicative of the many legislative reforms needed in Illinois.

Birds and bees, flowers and growing bulbs

"Where do I come from, daddy?" used to be one of the most difficult questions for parents to answer. Introducing children to the wonders of reproduction was a very awkward process at best.

Today, child psychiatrists have made the problem a lot easier by reporting that a youngster can learn a great deal about growth and development, simply by watching nature perform.

Now, all you have to do to explain the development cycle is to help your little one plant a bulb, and show him exactly what's going on, as it goes on. By observing and understanding the plant's growth, children will be able to get closer to what happens to them.

Acquainting children with this information, through gardening, is usually very easy, since they are already experts in digging and playing with dirt. It's also a lot more interesting for them, if they can learn first hand, by touching and investigating themselves. They can hold the flower-bulb in their own little hands, and feel it, examine it, and cut it open to see exactly what's happening. Then they can plant it themselves, and watch it grow.

To demonstrate this flower "birth," just dig a hole — drop in the bulb, and cover it with soil. Let your child do all the work, since he will appreciate even more the significance of his own actions.

Let him water the bulb immediately after planting, and during dry spells.

The next step is the easiest, just wait for spring. Keep in mind, though, that in order for the bulbs to bloom you must plant them in the fall.

Explain to your youngster that a bulb contains the new flower and stem within itself, just as the mother contains the baby. The bulb already has the food supply, just as mommy nourishes her baby. You can also define what's inside the bulb and how the "baby plant" grows.

To illustrate precisely what you mean, slice the bulb from top to bottom, and observe the insides. Examine the "baby plant" tucked snugly inside the layers of food. With a needle, lift the "baby plant" and you can check out the embryo's flower and leaves.

Plant several bulbs, so that you can explore each one in different stages of development. Your youngster will be able to see how the plant grows bigger, and how it begins to push out of the bulb and prepares to bloom.

When the bulb finally blossoms into a lovely and glorious flower, separate the different parts and explain their function.

About the best time to start explaining the cycle of reproduction and growth, claim child psychologists, is when your children ask. If you do it too soon, they won't really understand — and if you wait too long — they may be able to teach you a few things.

Sprout your own . . .

Crop budget with kitchen crops

You can have a tiny valuable farm in your own kitchen—with sprouts and seeds.

Your "crops" will require very little space and will flourish, independent of the outside weather. Produce can be harvested daily with servings costing less than one cent each, according to "12 Months Harvest," a new book from the Ortho series.

Inexpensive and very easy to grow, seeds and sprouts are as nutritious as meat and as rich in vitamin C as fresh fruit.

The overflowing vitamin content of the seed is increased even further with sprouting — Vitamin C can increase as much as 500 percent, and vitamin B2 1,300 percent. Folic acid, niacin, riboflavin and pyridox also increase dramatically, while vitamins A, E and K go up in varying degrees.

Basically, this is the way it works: Fats and starches are converted into vitamins, simple sugars, and proteins as they absorb air and water. It's really an excellent way of multiplying vitamins.

To be more specific, seeds are divided into two basic parts — the embryo and the endosperm.

When conditions are right for sprouting — warmth, moisture and air — the embryo feeds upon the endosperm until its roots sink into the soil and the little leaves open.

During sprouting, the inactive endosperm is converted into readily available nutrients. When you harvest the crop after the endosperm has been turned into vitamins, enzymes and amino acids — but before the embryo consumes the nourishment — you'll have the best nutritional food available.

How to do it

When selecting your seeds, be particularly careful to select new crop varieties. Favorites include: corn, clovers, celery, lettuce, mustard, parsley, peanuts, onions, oats, radishes, beets, and sunflower.

Choose clean, whole seeds, and keep in mind that those earmarked for outside gardens are frequently pre-treated and are unsuitable for growth in water. Seeds which are best for eating can be found in grocery, livestock feed and health food stores.

Most people find sprouting in a jar to be the best and easiest technique. To do it that way, all you need is a mason jar and a lid of stainless screening to put over the jar, to fit in the mason screw ring. Nylon mesh can also be used, but it's less effective.

Then, place two tablespoons (per quart jar) of whichever seed you choose in the mason jar. Fill it with water, and soak overnight. The seeds which float on top of the water are probably hollow and should be thrown away.

After the remaining seeds are thoroughly soaked, drain them through the screen lid, and put the jar into a dark cupboard. Repeat this process about two to three times daily until nice sprouts form.

Wheat or other grain seeds can be sprouted in a little planter of soil. Let the sprouts grow four to five inches high, then harvest with a scissors. The bottom part is usually too bitter for most tastes, but you can try it for yourself.

And, for even more nutrition, if you let sprouts sit briefly in the sun, chlorophyll will be produced in the leafy portion, to act as a kind of blood booster.

That's all there is to it. Follow these instructions, and you'll be able to enjoy a good and healthy yield.

Stage garden showplace for plants with brick platform

Don't leave your magnificent plants — which you worked so hard to raise and pot — casually lying around outside. Build them their own showplace.

Constructing an inexpensive plant showplace is a very simple task, claims the new Ortho garden book, "Garden Construction Know-How," as long as you know what you're doing.

One of the easiest backdrops to build is also one of the loveliest and most inexpensive. Its simple construction consists of mounting decorative bricks on a base, to create an exquisite platform of stone. And, of course, you can place other objects besides plants on this "stage."

This brick platform is non-stick, non-glare, non-skid and weather only improves it. In addition, it can be made in all sorts of shapes, sizes and colors. Your own imagination can be your guide, and it's a perfect job for do-it-yourselfers.

The first thing to do is to decide on what design looks best for your yard. You can do a myriad of fancy things, depending on your taste, or stick with the simple stuff, like a good old-fashioned rectangle.

The next step is to choose the bricks. The best way to select the color and type of brick is to look at the range of choices offered at local brick or supply yards. Then, order enough to complete the job, figuring about five normal-sized bricks per square foot. Common bricks are approximately 3 3/4" wide by 2 1/4" thick by 8" long.

Plan in advance exactly what you're going to do because good planning beforehand will not only create a good layout, but will also guarantee that you don't end up having to buy more bricks later. These "after thoughts" may not match your original selection.

Plan also on making a few trips to the brick yard since bricks are heavy, and you can't haul many at one time in the back of a car. When bringing them home, place them as close to the work area as possible, to avoid extra moving.

The exact pattern you're going to use can be decided by laying out the bricks in different ways to see what looks and works best. Simplicity is probably your best bet; not only are the simple patterns easier to lay, but they look neat and well organized, and don't take away from the decorative plants to be placed on them.

The next decision to make is what kind of base to use. There are three basic ones to choose from, all are very good and easy; they are sand, concrete and soil.

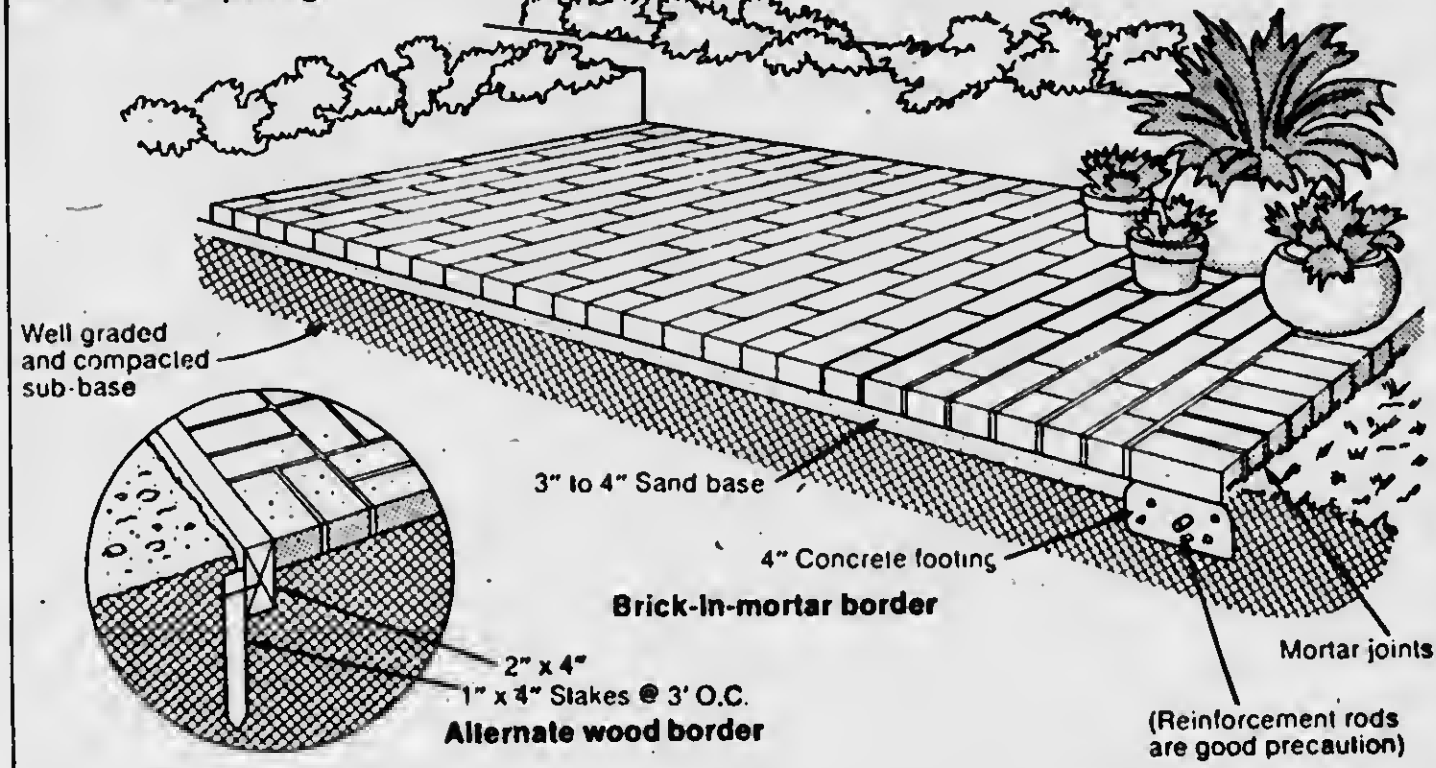

The important thing to remember when using a sand base is to make sure it's firm and level, or bricks will tilt in all directions. A concrete base is not too difficult and is easy to keep straight. And, once you get the hang of it, it's fairly simple to "squish" the bricks lightly into the setting bed and level them with a long board reaching from one edge to the other.

The soil base can be used for a casual appearance, where a little irregularity is preferred. And, if an existing lawn isn't working very well, you can lay out the stones right on the lawn.

You may also wish to consider round stones, which lend an elegant appearance to any area. No matter which kind of bricks you use, planting some grass between them can add color and quality to your display.

When you're finally done, not only will you have a lavish outside setting for your plants, but also the good feeling inside that you did it yourself.

Brick on sand paving

"PULL" FOR YOUR plants. Pulleys are an excellent way to hang plants, explains Ortho's book, "The Facts of Light." With pulleys, you can lower and raise your plants for good lighting and convenient watering. Simply, pick the location where you want your plant to hang, put a pulley in the ceiling above that spot, and place a cleat in a nearby wall.

BRICKS BRIGHTEN PLANTS. These exquisite containers of primroses are made even more elegant mounted on this easy-to-make brick platform.

Pickled presents—thoughtful, unique gifts for every taste

Need a gift idea for that relative who seems to have everything? Or, would you just like to get something that's unique, that no one else will have?

If your answer is "yes," our answer is pickles! — not the cucumber kind — you can pickle something special that the gift-receiver just loves.

Pickle your friend's favorite vegetable or fruit, and present it in the dead of winter when it's out of season, recommends the new Ortho book, "All About Pickling."

Pickle a pineapple for someone in Hawaii. Take some pickled hot peppers to a Mexican dinner. And, an invitation to a barbecue is the perfect occasion for a gift of some homemade relish or chutney.

Pickles can also be individually seasoned for individual tastes. And, they can be made without salt and with sugar substitutes, to conform to anyone's specific dietary needs.

Giving pickles not only shows that you can give something quite different, but it also bespeaks an investment in time, claims the Ortho book. Even quick-pickled products are aged for weeks at the minimum to get maximum flavor. This special gift shows that you truly thought about what you're giving, and didn't just rush to a store at the last minute.

An assortment of pickles can also be an extremely striking gift, visually — with an array of green beans opposite tomatoes, and peaches opposite blueberries — or any other color combinations you choose.

A combination of tastes is also a good idea, like a trio of fruits, vegetables and relishes. Let your imagination be your personal guide to your pickling display.

On the subject of displays, choose the container carefully, for it's an essential part of the gift. Not only does it add to the exquisitely unique display, but when the pickles are gone, the container will continue to be appreciated, since it can be used for so many other things.

As our planet shrinks, and we draw increasingly upon its limited resources to feed ourselves, foods are seen as perfect gifts. And, pickled products are ideal — they provide a sharpness of taste that is a refreshing relief from everyday foods, and they have a universal appeal.

Think of the fun when the receiver of your gift tries to guess what's inside. And, think of the pride you will have when you modestly describe how you went about making this highly personal and unique gift.

PICKLES FOR YOUR PALS. Not only are pickles a unique and interesting gift, they also make a visually striking display, as seen here. In addition, this type of gift shows special thought, since you had to make them in advance, and didn't rush out the last minute to get just anything. So, pickle that special someone's favorite food, for a house present, or a "thank-you" gift, or whatever else you can think of.

1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
2 1/2 cups finely grated carrots
Beat butter until creamy. Beat in sugar and eggs. Mix in lemon peel, cinnamon, vanilla and yogurt. Stir together the flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt and add to the creamed mixture, beating until smooth. Mix

The better to grow with . . .

Plants require right light

Plants need good "photos."

If you know Greek, you know that "photos" means light — and if you know plants, you know that they need it in order to live and grow.

"Photos" is also the prefix of three particularly important processes for plants which you should know to help your potted "pals" do their best, claims the new Ortho book, "The Facts of Light."

You've probably heard the word photosynthesis ever since your first science class, but do you remember what it means? From photos=light, and synthesis=to put together, it is the process by which plants convert water and atmospheric carbon dioxide into carbohydrates, in the presence of light. And, with these carbohydrates, the plant can produce new growth, like foliage, roots, stems and blooms.

The right light for the right plant, explained in the Ortho book, allows luxuriant leaf growth and fantastic flowering. An artificial atmosphere of proper indoor light can extend your plant's growing season throughout the year. On the other hand, when there is no light, photosynthesis stops—and so does your plant.

Seeking the light

Phototropism, from photos=light, and trope=to bend, is the plant's natural tendency to grow toward a light source. Phototropism is controlled by a growth hormone in the plant, which occurs at the stem tips and in the youngest plant leaves. This growth hormone is highly reactive to light and causes the plant to adjust itself to the light.

Positive tropism, the most common situation, is

SPOTLIGHT YOUR PLANTS. Plants really don't need that much light; the trick though, is to know how much, explains the new Ortho book, "The Facts of Light."

when a plant moves to the light source, while negative tropism occurs when a plant moves away from the source.

Indoors, natural light usually comes from a window, and the plant will bend towards that window. The best way to avoid developing permanently-misshapen plants is to rotate them frequently so they will have a uniform upright appearance; otherwise, they will always lean towards the light. Plants that grow rapidly need to be rotated more often than the slower-growing varieties.

When using artificial lighting, place the light directly above — shining on the top of an erect plant. Weeping plants, like the hanging Boston fern, can be successfully lighted from below, but the light must be of much greater intensity than an overhead source.

Night and day

Photoperiodism, simply, is that all plants are light-programmed to their own native environment and perform best in the rhythmic light/darkness cycle found there. For many plants, the length of nights and days is a determining factor in the time required to reach maturity — the stage when reproduction becomes possible.

Some plants flower best when the days are long — 14 hours or more. Naturally enough, these are called "long-day" plants. Examples of "long-day" plants are: calceolaria, tuberous begonia, cineraria, hibiscus.

Good cooks favor home-grown flavor of garlic

Tomatoes and lettuce, sure. But whoever heard of raising your own garlic?

All the good gardeners and the good cooks, that's who.

Home-growing garlic is easy and the flavor is heaven in a marvelous soup such as Soupe au Pistou. "When the Good Cook Gardens," one of the Ortho garden series, give you detailed information on planting and harvesting garlic and then tells you how to make this soup from Provence.

Place in a large soup kettle the soaked beans, potatoes, carrots and stock. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Add the green beans, zucchini and leeks, simmer 10 minutes longer. Add the peas, tomatoes and parsley, and simmer 2-3 minutes longer. Stir in Pesto Sauce* and cheese and ladle into soup bowls.

Almost every ingredient will come fresh from your garden. Then combine the soup with a platter of cold sliced meats and crusty rolls for a great country dinner for the family or an intimate dinner party.

- 1 tomato, peeled and chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 cup Pesto Sauce*
- 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese

*PESTO SAUCE

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 cup pine nuts or walnuts (optional)

Place in a blender container the basil, oil, garlic and salt, and blend until pureed. Add cheese and nuts and blend to mix in. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Drop small amounts of sauce on foil and freeze for future use in soups, on fettucini or green beans.

- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup Vinaigrette Shallot Dressing

Add mushrooms, shallots and parsley and pour over the Vinaigrette Shallot Dressing. Mix lightly, cover, and chill. When ready to serve, tuck Romaine leaves around the edges of the bowl and garnish with watercress sprigs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DESSERT:

Herbs eliminate the negative, accent the positive in gourmet cooking

Much like the old familiar tune from the forties, "You Gotta Accentuate the Positive," accomplished cooks know the value of accenting just about any edible with herbs.

An herb is a plant from which you gather leaves, seeds, fruits, flowers, buds, bark or roots for seasonings, flavorings, scents or enrichment of certain foods to make them more pleasing to the taste or smell.

The right herb will complement meat, seafood, eggs, sauces, soups, salads, vegetables, cottage and cream cheese... even fruit, candies, pastries, bread, beverages or just about anything else that might be eaten according to the following herb chart:

Anise Seed. Especially good for flavoring cookies, spitz, springerle, pfeffernusse, pastries, panettone, apple or pear crisp, spice cake, biscotti. Add to court bouillon for fish stews, crab, veal and beef stew. Sprinkle on sweet pickles, carrots and beets.

Basil. Especially good in tomato dishes such as seafood cocktails, spaghetti sauce, stewed tomatoes and tomato juice. Excellent seasoning for minestrone, fish stews, broiled white fish and beef or veal pot roast. Sprinkle on eggplant, zucchini, peas, potatoes and carrots. Blends well with omelets, stuffed or scrambled eggs.

Bay. A must in stews and spaghetti sauce. Add to soups such as split pea, minestrone, vegetable and beef shank. Season court bouillon for corned beef, pot roast, tongue, poached fish or chicken.

Borage. Can be used in salads or pickling. Candy leaves for cake garnish or float in iced drinks. Dry leaves for potpourri.

Burnett. Especially good in vegetable soups. Add to salads, cheese spreads and herb butter. Float leaves in iced drinks.

Caraway. A popular addition to rye bread and bread sticks. Add to cheese spreads, dips and waters. Good with roast pork, spareribs, beef goulash and sautéed liver. Mix into coleslaw and potato salad. Sprinkle on cabbage, green beans, turnips, beets and potatoes.

Chervil. Especially good in potato salad, scrambled eggs, omelets and souffles. Add to herb butters. Sprinkle on lamb, pork, or veal roasts. Adds flavor to vinaigrette or bearnaise sauce.

Chives. Especially good in cottage cheese. Garnish eggs, fish, broiled meats. Season cheese spreads, dips.

Coriander. Use seeds in Danish pastry, apple pie, gingerbread, butter cookies. Sprinkle crushed seeds on broiled or baked fish. Use leaves in meat balls, meat loaf, beef stew, roast pork or lamb, stuffings. Especially good in Oriental, Mexican and curry sauces. Adds flavor to lentil, pea and bean soup.

Dill. Either seed or weed is used in fish soups, chowders and sauces. Broiled lamb chops, steaks, corned meats and sweetbreads. Weed is used with smoked fish or added to cheese spreads, or blended with sour cream for pickled beets, cucumbers, potatoes. Use dill seed when pickling fish.

Fennel Seed. Especially good in fish or seafood dishes. Add to meat balls, meat loaf, macaroni or potato salad, spaghetti sauce or herb butter. Sprinkle on pork roast. Use when baking rye bread, bread sticks, baked apples or apple pie. Sprinkle on beets, cabbage and sauerkraut.

Marjoram. Excellent with any fish dish. Sprinkle on roast meats and game. Blend into sour cream or brown sauce, cottage cheese or cream cheese. Sprinkle on mushrooms, carrots, peas, spinach or zucchini.

Mints. Peppermint is especially good in fruit compote, or sprinkled over carrots or peas. Spearmint is good with coleslaw, and in sauces to serve with lamb or veal. Use both types for garnishing iced drinks.

Oregano. Especially good in tomato dishes. A popular addition to Mexican, Italian and Greek sauces. Sprinkle on roast lamb. Use in meat loaf, stews and stuffings. Use with zucchini, beans and eggplant.

Parsley. Use in bouquet garni for soups and stews. Garnish for all meat, fish and poultry dishes. Blend into salad dressings, herb butters, basting and barbecue sauces. Add to soups and stuffings.

Rosemary. Especially good for basting barbecued poultry and lamb. Add sparingly to stuffings and beef stew. Sprinkle on roast meat. Add lightly to compotes and punches. Sprinkle on baked salmon.

Sage. Especially good in stuffings for poultry and fish. Sprinkle on roast pork, veal, lamb or duck, eggplant and onions. Add to sausages, meat loaf, stew and chowders.

Savory. Especially good with green or dried beans. Sprinkle on green or vegetable salads. Use in soups and court bouillon for fish. Flavor stuffings for pork and poultry. Use on cooked vegetables such as peas, zucchini and cauliflower.

Tarragon. Especially good in bearnaise sauce and green salads. Add to green goddess dressing, chicken and seafood salads. Excellent in fish and seafood casseroles and chowders. Flavor chicken soup and chicken livers, veal and rabbit, deviled or scrambled eggs and omelets.

Thyme. Especially good in clam chowder, creole sauces and fish or seafood dishes. Use in gumbo, borscht or pea soup. Herb bouquets for poached or stewed meats. Flavor tomato aspic. Sprinkle on roast.

Versatile vegetables for dining delights

Truly good cooks, today, are concerned as much with price as palate. Unfortunately, the escalating cost of meat, sugar and their by-products have made the price of dinner entertaining, at home, skyrocket. Not to be discouraged, the clever hostess need look no further than her vegetable bin. With a taste for the deliciously distinctive, thrifty vegetables provide the basis for a full course dinner beginning with the appetizer.

APPETIZER:

Tapenade With Crudites

A nosegay of fresh garden vegetables nestle in a wicker basket, ready for dipping into a sprightly mayonnaise. For a short-cut, substitute commercial mayonnaise.

- 2 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon each salt and sugar
- 1 cup safflower oil
- 2 tablespoons chopped capers
- 1½ tablespoons each chopped parsley and chives
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 4 anchovy fillets, finely chopped (optional)
- Assorted raw vegetables: carrots, radishes, cauliflower, cucumber, sugar peas, small artichokes, asparagus, zucchini, mushrooms, red and green peppers, cherry tomatoes, green onions

Rinse a blender container out with hot water; drain. Add the egg yolks, mustard, lemon juice, vinegar, salt and sugar. Blend a few seconds. With motor running, gradually pour in the oil in a slow steady stream. Turn into a bowl. (Or substitute 1 cup bottled mayonnaise.) Stir in capers, parsley, chives, lemon peel and anchovy fillets. Chill.

Wash and trim vegetables, if necessary, and tuck them into a wicker basket making a handsome vegetable arrangement. Serve with sauce for dipping. Makes about 1½ cups sauce, or enough for 8 servings.

Stuffed Tomatoes in Lemon Sauce (Ysmistes Domates Avgolemono)

The Greeks stuff tomatoes with a savory lamb or beef and pine nut filling and present them in a smooth, tart lemon sauce.

- 10 to 12 medium-sized tomatoes
- 1 medium-sized onion finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- 1 pound ground lamb or beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons long grain rice
- 1 teaspoon dried oregano
- ¼ cup dry white wine

- 6 tablespoons pine nuts or pistachios
- 2 cups beef stock

Add garlic, parsley, meat, salt, rice, oregano and wine; cover and simmer 20 minutes, stir occasionally. Mix in pine nuts and if necessary, cook down until juices are evaporated. Spoon into hollowed-out tomatoes and arrange in the frying pan. Pour in stock, cover and simmer 3 or 4 minutes, or until tomatoes are just tender. Place stuffed tomatoes on a serving platter and keep warm; reserve stock and prepare Lemon Sauce (below). Spoon sauce around tomatoes. Serves 6.

Lemon Sauce

Measure the reserved beef stock and cook down to make 1¼ cup; heat to boiling. Beat 2 eggs until light and blend in 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Pour in the hot stock, stirring constantly; return to pan and place over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thickened.

Bicycle Rodeo in the village

Youth and elders meet on common ground

Mrs. P. Hickey, mother of one of the youths from Lawn Manor, had quite a lot to say at a scheduled meeting on Monday, April 5.

Present to discuss the charges made by residents and those of "police harassment" by the youths, were: Gary Tomaszewski, comm chmn; Harriet Lenz, project coord; members of the Youth Commission, Lenon Wisdom, JoAnn Phillips and Luke Ivers. Also present were: village trustees Mildred O'Connell and Harold Bacon; park board reps, pres John McNamara and Marjorie Joy; police dept, Chief Gerhard Hein and Lt Ammerman (juvenile officer); family service, Richard O'Neill and Burt Odelson, legal counsel for the trustees.

Forming the youth council, speaking for all of the involved youths, were: Michael Glynn, Joan McGrath, John Schmeski and Peggy Hanzle. Homeowners on 107th Place were: Mr & Mrs Wm Colson and Mr & Mrs Duggan. Parent reps were: Mr & Mrs P. Hickey, Mr McGrath and Mrs Pat Hanzie.

To get the conversation started trustee Bacon said, "Parking is not the problem, we're all here to get some answers, let's start talking." Bacon was referring to the new "no parking" ordinance for both sides of 107th Place, and the perimeter of the Lawn Manor Park.

Mrs Hickey said that some people claimed they had a problem with the youths in the area. The kids did not think they had a problem and before long they were under special surveillance by undercover policemen. On May 31, 1975, Mrs Hickey said, 25 of the youths were arrested and charged with criminal trespassing and underage drinking in the vicinity of a church near the area. She said there are about 150 youths in the area and the youths arrested were not all guilty of the charges. Later, Mrs Hickey said, 17 of them were dismissed by the judge who referred to them as "good kids." She went on to say that later they were treated like animals, told to get out of the park, to stop congregating and move their cars. She said they were continually harassed by the police.

Mrs Hickey said that trustee O'Connell, without consulting with the families, had given Capt Munch a directive on May 19, 1975, that if the youths continue to create a problem "all are to be prosecuted and that plain clothesmen be assigned to the area to whatever extent possible. "I consider that a threat," she said, "the parents of these children are doctors, lawyers, contractors, engineers and all intelligent people. They deal in business, pay taxes and send their children to good schools. We are sorry we let it snow ball for a whole year - where are we going to put them until they are married?"

The youths agreed with Mrs Hickey, Michael Glynn said, "We don't do anything, we just meet." Peggy Hanzie said, "There seems to be a gap where no one knows what is going on."

Commissioner JoAnn Phillips asked, "Are some of these charges being made by someone?"

Trustee O'Connell said that she had received numerous and continuing phone calls at all hours from the homeowners.

Peggy Hanzie said, "I can't say that we are completely guiltless. We do some things but we do not want to be responsible at all times."

Chief Hein told the group that they (the police) were on the youths side whether they knew it or not. "We can't continue with the window breakage in the school and we have to take action on the beer and wine. There is drinking," he said, "and it's a greater problem than the drugs."

Mrs Hickey then asked several more questions of Chief Hein, one of which was, "Do you have unmarked cars at the other parks?"

Hein answered, "I'm afraid that is a luxury we can't afford."

Mrs Hickey said, "I don't want us to be labeled."

Mr McGrath said, "We have been labeled already."

Mr Colson, a homeowner said, "We have no objection to the children in the park but the incidents have gone above and beyond that. We are afraid to go out and leave our children with a baby sitter when 50 or 60 children are gathering outside." He said it wasn't necessarily the children here. On the other hand Mr Duggan who also lives on 107th Place, said the children never bother him and he doesn't hear them.

Mrs Hickey asked if in general they are not just kids and Mr Colson replied, "yes."

Commissioner Phillips said that one of their biggest problems was no space and added that the schools are hesitant about opening their doors for the youths.

John McNamara, pres of the park district, reiterated his statement that the "no parking" on the perimeter requested by the park district had absolutely nothing to do with the youths but was solely for safety purposes and to keep the children from running between the parked cars.

Youth commissioner Len Wisdom asked if this was being done at all of the parks. McNamara said that a study was being done and would probably include all of the parks where ball is played. McNamara went on to say, "There is definitely

The Easter festivities will begin at Southwest Park, 102nd & Major at 9 am, at Lawn Manor Park, 108th & Kostner at 11 am, and Worthbrook Park, 89th & Ridgeland at 1 pm on April 17. There is no fee for Oak Lawn residents. For info call 424-7300.

K-MART DECISION POSTPONED

Dumke wins on tie vote

The village fathers have an opportunity to purchase a parcel of property on Southwest Hwy, with a standing bldg, or, a parcel on 95th Street in the center of town. The purchase would also determine where the senior citizens would have their Drop-In Center.

At the regular meeting this past Tuesday, the village hall was packed to the walls with senior citizens, of whom the majority did not want their center on Southwest Hwy, and residents interested in the K-Mart decision.

Trustee Harold Bacon opened the talk by saying he believed they should purchase in the center of town and keep all of the village operation together. He said also, that a centrally located drop-in was what the seniors wanted.

Dee Kopf to be honored

Delores Kopf

The OL Public Library Board of Dirs will honor Mrs Delores (Dee) Kopf at a reception and open house at the library, April 25 from 3 to 5 p.m., to mark her retirement after 30 years of service to the library.

In 1946, Mrs Kopf started as asst librarian, in a little red barn that had once been a pigeon roost. The furnishings were from the dwarf house at the 1933 World's Fair. In the fall of 1946, the library moved into somewhat larger quarters in an old home that the library board purchased.

By 1955 the first section of the present building was finished and an assembly line of Boy Scouts helped Mrs Kopf move into the new library through a side window.

Mrs Kopf became head librarian in 1952 and served in that capacity for 20 years. During this time the library has undergone four additions. When it is completed this year, the new million dollar facility will be the largest library in Southwestern Cook County.

"It is hard to imagine the library without the presence of Dee Kopf," said Beth Baird, board pres. "She has been the unifying force through the years that has kept the library functioning, during the time of tremendous growth of the village."

"The up-to-date, sophisticated, big-town library which is taking shape in Oak Lawn will always be a tribute to her perseverance and hard work," Mrs Baird continued. "The library board of dirs wishes her great happiness and contentment in her years of retirement," she added.

Chamber and trustees meet to discuss future development in OL

The quarterly meeting between the OL Chamber of Commerce and the pres and board of trustees proved fruitful and covered both the problems and advantages of being either a resident or in business in Oak Lawn.

John Pieler from the chamber opened the meeting by saying these planned meetings were to discuss a positive aspect for the betterment of the community.

Pieler said that they had met with the businessmen in the 87th & Ridgeland area at Les Brothers Rest. The talks centered around working together to iron out and problems that may develop during the construction of Ridgeland Ave.

With regards to the Southwest Hwy project he said that now all is going smooth between chamber, village and the business people. Pieler told of the "field office" opened at 9920 Southwest Hwy and of the meetings that are being held every Thursday morning at 10 am.

Pieler said that he feels the opening of the new chamber office has relieved the village hall of many phone calls. He said they have received requests for maps, brochures, a prospectus and those desiring office space to locate in Oak Lawn. He also said that he receives many complaints about the trains on Central Ave.

Pres Fred Dumke said that an approach had been made to raise the tracks and found that the county plans to improve Central and nothing can be done until that project goes thru.

Dumke suggested that a project the chamber could help with is to assist the OL Post Office in finding a spot.

Davis Boyd, pres of the chamber, said they had met with all of the auto dealers in Oak Lawn and that the majority would like to close on Sundays. He commented that everyone knows they are the backbone of the tax base in the village. He further commented on the unheralded charitable work being done by these people.

Boyd said, that because of the money market, projects can't get off the ground. He told the board of trustees, "If you want to get property developed, the quality-builders find it too much of a hassle going thru the boards, and the 2 for 1 parking ratio is making the property cost too much."

Harold Miller, OL architect, agreed with Boyd and said that when it is unique then it should require study but ordinary 3, 4, 5, or 6 flats should not be held up until too late in the summer. "If a builder starts with his plans now," he said, "they can't build until August." He went on to say that in cases like this many of the rules can be waived and some of these odd lots owned by the builders can be developed. Dumke asked that when a bldg is of the same concept and basic design, and has been accepted by both boards, why it can't just go thru.

Trustee Joseph Vogrich, who had also been a member of the P&DC, said he believed this could be worked out but that the "final" should come before the board.

Boyd again brought up the 2 for 1 parking, and said that where condominiums are involved it is alright but in areas where there is transportation the builders could get by for less. He said that a new study should be made on this.

Vogrich said that this was the work of many years, and also while he was on the P&DC, and it was never brought up.

Boyd said that at the time only two members of the commission were for the 2 to 1 but had managed to get it passed.

"There are always extenuating circumstances" Vogrich said, "and allowances could have been made at that time."

Dumke suggested a complete review of this and get a breakdown. He said that this would be a good project for the planning board to work on.

Later in the talks, trustee Harold Bacon said, "We should develop the property we have purchased," and this created a new topic.

Pres Dumke said that what they should be thinking about is the effect that it will have on the center of town if buses right right thru and out. "That's what this chamber is all about, and what the chamber and the board should be thinking about. You must concentrate on maintaining a small healthy community. If you don't do this," he said, "and the center of town goes to hell, the blight will spread in each direction. Make parking lots in back and fill up commercial with business."

Boyd said, "That just happens to be something I was going to talk about," and then he asked about the possibility of making a mall behind the property where Pier I had been, when that corner is rebuilt. This suggestion met with the approval of everyone present.

Before closing, Boyd said, "A meeting like this one tonight has to be healthy for everyone."

John Pieler announced that the next meeting will be held in June.

Banking part of our daily lives

Sandy Dorgan (l) community relations officer of the First National Bank of OL invited by Sister Cora, (r), senior counselor at Mother McAuley HS, addressed the senior class as a bank rep on banking in general. In addition to Mother McAuley, Ms Dorgan spoke to classes at Reavis and Queen of Peace.

Banks are so much a part of our daily lives that an understanding of their services to consumers and their role in the economy becomes an essential objective of high school curriculum. Bankers have a genuine interest in cooperating with teachers in their program of economic education. Students are their customers and bank customers who know how to use a bank intelligently, who have learned the rewards of thrift, who can handle a checking account correctly, and who can borrow money wisely - are among the most valuable "hidden" assets a bank can have. Students are also citizens who will one day send reps to Springfield and Washington to determine governmental policy affecting our banking and credit system. An educated electorate should be informed about governmental powers and limitations in regulating our supply of money. High schools are providing students with this information. The material is organized so it can be used in whole or in part in various subject areas - business education, social studies, home economics, general mathematics - or common learning core programs. It can be employed as the basic text in a unit or as an enrichment supplement. The banker's role is not that of a teacher. Instead of a lecture or formal talk, the representative of the bank comes prepared with a few antidotes and illustrations from his experiences and a becomes one of five Democrats, along with two Republicans, serving on the House's main crime control committee.

The chair of the Judiciary Committee, Cong Peter Rodino (D-N.J.) made the announcement appointment and said, "It is a singular honor for a Judiciary Committee Member, especially a freshman, to be asked to serve on a third subcommittee." Russo is already serving on the Immigration Subcommittee and the Criminal Justice Subcommittee.

Russo said in Washington that he is "pleased and honored" to have gained the appointment. A former assistant state's attorney for Cook County, he cites the problem of crime as one of his major concerns as a legislator and a significant reason for his running for the U.S. Congress.

DUMKE WINS "ONE" ON TIE VOTE

on 95th Street was priced $25,000 over what it was worth.

Pres Fred Dumke passed his gavel to Mrs O'Connell saying, he would like to speak as a trustee.

He said he was "unequivocally" and "without reservations" opposed to the moving of any part of the administration bldgs out of the center of town. He spoke of the property the village has been buying up in the center of town and the proposed civic center and reconstruction of the area. He said this could all be a "possibility" or "a plea in the sky." He said he believed his was "sound reasoning" and that he spoke from 23 years experience and that he was "more often right than wrong."

He said that they have acquired the property on 95th to maintain a viable, healthy, business area. Dumke also said that there were many senior citizens living in the center of town and these people have shopped in the area for years and have been an asset to the businesses.

On the vote, trustees Joe Vogrich, Bacon and John Cleveland voted "no" to the Southwest Hwy purchase, trustees John Hardek, Mildred O'Connell and Les Anderson voted "for" making it a tie. Fred Dumke broke the tie by voting "no".

Further discussion on the K-Mart decision has been postponed by the board of trustees until June 8.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Recently I was contacted by the commissioner of Social Security, Mr James B. Cardwell about the supplemental security income program (SSI). While this program is more than two years old, apparently there are many eligible people who are not aware of it and the news media, national and local organizations and government agencies are being asked to help publicize the program.

Supplemental security income program took the place of the former federal-state assistance program, for aged, blind and disabled people in January 1974. The basic idea is to assure these people a regular cash income each month. Those who don't have enough income from other sources, such as private pensions or social security checks-can get SSI checks as a supplement.

The SSI checks can be as much as $157.70 for an individual, or $236.00 for a couple. The actual payment amount depends on what other income there is. You do not have to be completely destitute in order to qualify for SSI, nor do you have to have worked under Social Security.

If you are 65 or older, or blind, or disabled, and you think you might be eligible, get in touch with your local social security office to apply.

UNIVERSITY

Another letter arrived at my office recently from the American U of Rome. Mr George A. Tesoro, chmn of the board of trustees, is anxious for people to know about this new university -- an institution which has been operating special programs for American colleges and universities for the past few years. Next fall a regular, four year liberal arts program will be initiated.

According to Mr Tesoro, the university "aims at utilizing as fully as possible the natural and human resources available in the Eternal City. The student is exposed to a culture which has profoundly influenced the Western World; the spectrum of this culture ranges from ancient archeology to the most modern techniques of television and cinematography."

For information, write to the University of Rome, c/o Coudert Brothers, One Farragut Square South, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Barnes against advance pay

The Executive Committee held its first meeting of the Spring Session, April 6. It's first order of business was a proposal for legislative reform, a committee bill, which will eliminate the practice of advance pay for members of the General Assembly and institutes monthly payments.

Representative Jane M. Barnes (R-Oak Lawn) believes strongly that the membership of the General Assembly is capable of reforming itself in this matter.

Representative Barnes commented:

"My hope is that we will demonstrate to the citizenry that we can take some decisive steps to help restore public confidence in the integrity of state government in general and the state legislative process in particular.

Barnes also said, "Her constituents showed great concern about this reform and her "yes" vote reflected the wishes of her constituents in the 8th District.

The committee bill now moves to the House floor for approval.

Ron Buikema, Republican candidate for Congress, recently named Michael E. Fryzel as his campaign mgr. Fryzel, who is the Thornton Township Clerk, will leave his position on the staff of the Republican leadership of the Illinois House of Reps to manage the campaign.

"I am very happy that Mike has taken this important role in our campaign," Buikema stated, "I am very aware of his abilities, and confident that he will continue to do an excellent job." Fryzel was Buikema's media chmn in the primary campaign, and served as manager for the month preceding Buikema's victory on March 16.

A resident of South Holland, Fryzel is a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals, the Jaycees, the Lions Club, the Cook County Clean Streams Committee, and serves as a dir

"The recipient of the life membership to the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers has earned the honor through many years of voluntary service to our community. He has served as a volunteer in Baseball for Boys - as a member of his church's school board - as an officer in his son's high school men's assn - and an officer in the Crusade of Mercy campaign. He has been a PTA member for more than a decade. We know him best in his role as the Dist 126 senior school board member. He has served 12 years on the Board of Ed in Dist 126.

He was first elected in 1964, re-elected in 1967, again in 1970 and again in 1973. In 1973 he received over 1000 votes. Partially through his efforts the 4 referendum campaigns of 1964, 1966, 1968 and 1973 were all successful. He has unselfishly given of his time and energy to help provide a better education for the children of the dist. "Where Children Come First" could well describe his efforts.

The PTA is proud to award a life membership in the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers to School Board Member Jerome Bergamini."

The presentation was made by Ruth Kraas, Dist 126 PTA secy.

Don't leave town on Labor Day!

Oak Lawners with even tentative plans to leave town for the Labor Day weekend are advised by the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission that they will be missing 3 days of exciting events. "Stay home and join our celebration," says the commission.

One feature of the eventful weekend will be a mammoth parade on Saturday, Sept. 4, reviving the parade tradition in Oak Lawn. Chmn. Frank J. Boblak reports great interest on the part of individuals and orgs. "They have missed having an annual parade in Oak Lawn," Boblak said, "and they want to make this one the beginning of a new series."

The parade theme is "Great American Documents," and parade committee members will be glad to suggest ideas from many sources for decorating floats and cars. For example, each one of the Bill of Rights offers an idea for an effective float. Anyone interested in entering the parade may obtain entry blanks and additional information from Boblak or from the Bicentennial Commission Office at 9526

Cook Ave, 2nd floor.

The parade will kick off a full weekend for Oak Lawners who will be celebrating a "corn dance," a re-creation of the Colonial harvest festival at which settlers gathered to trade produce and handicrafts and to enjoy a social event before the long winter.

An authentic Colonial encampment will give visitors an opportunity to see frontier life, to watch Colonial games and sports, and to enjoy the smell of food cooked over open fires. The families who make up the encampment come from Middle Western states and are volunteers in helping others to relive early days.

There will be a major family picnic on 95th St, with entertainment and booths for sale and display of foods and crafts.

Two exhibits from the Smithsonian Institution will be in Oak Lawn during August and September, and mobile exhibits are also planned.

A contest for home-sewn costumes of the period 1776 to 1876 will be judged on August 1st, with winners to ride in the great parade. Entry blanks and rules for this activity are available at the Bicentennial Commission Office, 2nd floor at 9526 Cook.

The entire game belonged to a strong offensive and defensive Oak Lawn team. Co-captains Tina Barajaz and Karen Gallagher and the strong defensive work of Debbie Petzel, Vicki Schaar and Mary Lou Specha.

The half saw the Spartans ahead 28-16. The third quarters were still Spartan dominated. Debbie Schmeltzer, Jeanne Sobol, Roxanne Fox, Gail Shaw and Karen Sestak contributed to the score column. Nancy Wiatr, Anita Givens and Eileen Wiegel held Lincolnway but defensively. Debbie Jennings scored just as the final buzzer sounded to give Oak Lawn at 47-34 victory and the Conference Championship.

Lead scorers were co-captains Karen Gallagher 17 points and Tina Barajaz 9. Congratulations varsity on an exciting season and conference championship. 9-1 conference wins; 13-2 season wins.

OLCHS captures bowling championship

Oak Lawn HS recently captured the Southwest Suburban Bowling Conference Championship as they swept 5 out of 6 games from Carl Sandhurg.

The victories over Sandhurg secured the top spot for the Spartans, after clutching on to a one game lead over second place Richards. Oak Lawn won the title through strong performances all year by scratch bowlers Tom Hammersmark, Bob Dodge and Ken Libert. Hammersmark has been a dominant figure in the Southwest Conference for the last 4 years, averaging well over 190. Dodge and Libert both averaged in the high 170's.

Other conference bowlers for Oak Lawn included Dave Hendzel, Vince Taccola, Ray Lanham and Dan Boubel.

The bowling program at OLCHS has been growing and improving steadily for a few years now. This year's championship marks the second time in 3 years that Oak Lawn has captured the crown, and they hope to be strong next year as well.

Are little leagues for the boys or men?

One problem which lies in the minds of many parents is the way local Little League Baseball programs are operated. Having played in a Little League program for ten years, I have come to realize that they should change the name to Big League Baseball. I'm not trying to attack any individuals, I just want to convey my message to those who are taking the program away from the kids.

Basically, most programs are very fine, they offer great opportunities for boys of all ages to compete with competition of great caliber. The programs have very fine facilities which I feel are not used to their utmost potential. Many parents wonder whatever happened to fun at the old ball park. In recent years Little League games have been marked by managers and parents fighting amongst themselves and the umpires. What most parents fail to realize is that Minor league, Farm league and Little League umpires render their services voluntarily.

So much emphasis has been placed on winning that much of the fun and enjoyment of the game itself has vanished. This attitude, adopted by managers and coaches has contributed to such problems as a player being cheated out of required innings or quitting because he never plays.

I'm not trying to criticize the many men and women who have worked countless hours for the betterment of the program. The point I am trying to get across is that many parents are forgetting what Little League Baseball is all about. It's for the kids. Obviously, the program cannot function without the hard work and support of concerned parents, but a lot of people involved with the programs view Little League Baseball a different way. They see it as a chance to be a big deal of a man in charge. This is the wrong attitude, if people cooperated, the programs would improve drastically. If parents can re-evaluate themselves and their local programs they will find that there are many improvements which can be made quite easily. People can make or break Little League Baseball, hopefully it will get into the fine cause it began as.

Bulldogs defeat Hillcrest 4-2

The Richards Varsity baseball team got back on the winning track by defeating the Hillcrest Hawks 4-2. Richards' Mike May turned in a fine mound performance, going the distance and allowing only two runs and five hits.

The Bulldogs got in trouble early as Hillcrest placed runners on second and third with one out in the top of the first inning. But a big strikeout and a harmless ground ball ended the threat. Richards struck first in their half of the second inning when Matt Tisher walked, was sacrificed to second by a Steve Beatty bunt and went to third and scored on two wild pitches. The slim lead held up until the fourth inning when two walks and a single gave Hillcrest a 2-1 edge. The Bulldogs bounced back in their half of the inning striking for two more runs. Jeff Wozcek tripled and a pitch later scored on a wild pick-off attempt. One out later Matt Tisher tripled and scored on a Steve Beatty fly ball. The sixth inning started off as a breeze for May as he fanned the first two batters, but two infield errors gave Hillcrest the break they were waiting for. With a two ball and no strike count on the batter Richards' catcher Tony Cosentino made the play of the game when he picked off the runner on first base ending the rally. Richards added another run in the bottom of the sixth to put the game out of reach.

OL frosh-soph girls undefeated

Oak Lawn Frosh-Soph Girls' Basketball Team defeated Lincolnway 37-18 at Lincolnway Thursday to end their season.

Captain Lydia Kuyawa, Mary Haubenreiser, Sue Katsenes, Missy Wierzgac and Mary Ann Radzienda began the game for Oak Lawn. They matched the Knights point for point to end the first quarter 8-8. The second quarter was one filled with constant turnovers and jump balls with the Spartans only scoring 2 points to retire at the half 10-8. Dawn Wesselhoff, Conni Treantafeles, Allison Warner went in the second half to work with Sue Katsenes and Mary Haubenreiser. Third and fourth quarters belong exclusively to the Spartans as they outscored the Knights 27-10. Mary Haubenreiser, comfortable again in her guard position, hit for 10 points in the last 2 quarters. With minutes left in the final game, the rest of Oak Lawn's first place frosh-soph team, Sherri Barattia, Diane Marek, Nancy Dowd, Shelly Wantiez, Kelli Comise, Dee Schultz and Judy Moore substituted in and held Lincolnway to contribute to Oak Lawn's undefeated conference season.

High Scorer and high rebounder for the game was Mary Haubenreiser with 14 points and 11 rebounds. Dawn Wesselhoff and Conni Treantafeles scored 7 points and 6 points respectively.

Congratulations to the frosh-soph team on a tremendous season. 10-0 conference games and 11-0 season.

"HINTS ON CAR CARE"

by Herb Huskey

DON'T BLAME YOUR CARBURETOR

The carburetor is often blamed for troubles that start elsewhere. If the engine doesn't start with the first few turns of the starter, prolonged cranking and pumping the accelerator may cause the carburetor to flood. You'll notice a strong smell of gasoline. Don't keep grinding away on the gasoline. Turn off the ignition and wait a few minutes. Then try again. Usually, the flooded carburetor can be cleared by holding the accelerator all the way down while the starter turns. If the engine still won't start, check the ignition.

Vapor lock is a problem that sometimes occurs in hot weather when you attempt to restart an engine that has been shut down briefly. Vapor lock develops when fuel in the line boils, forming bubbles that block the flow of gasoline. This situation can be relieved temporarily by soaking rags in cold water, then holding them against the fuel line and fuel pump. If vapor lock persists, check to be sure the fuel line isn't resting against a hot part of the engine. Have your serviceman test the pressure of the pump. If carburetor replacement is necessary, we stock Rochester, Carter, Motor-Craft, and Hobbey Carburetors (new and used). ALL PARTS SOLD AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

YOUTH AND ELDERS MEET ON COMMON GROUND

going to solve something let's not beat around the bush, parking is not the problem, it's the 5% that spoil it for everyone. Let's get to the rest of the problem."

Len Wisdom asked if a portion of the property on the north end, and owned by the village, couldn't be converted to parking area for those visiting the park.

MATH GRADES FROM DIST 218

First semester reports from the Adm Center of Dist 218 are extremely encouraging concerning the freshman class from Prairie Jr High in Dist 126 in the mathematics area. Of the 185 students from Prairie, 27, or 14%, were placed in accelerated algebra and 21 of these pupils received either an A or B. Fifty-five were scheduled for algebra with 33 receiving either A or B. The remaining 103 students are either in general or consumer math. This means that over 44% of Prairie's 1975 graduates attending public schools were placed in advanced math courses. Mr Hansen, princ of Prairie Jr High, stated that this is a tribute both to the students' diligence and the teachers' concentrated efforts.

(There were also adult objectors to the parking ban because of bringing their children to park games.) McNamara did not agree with this and said that it seems like the youths were saying, "You do something for us and we'll clean up the act. That's a threat as far as I can see. We haven't even tried it yet," he continued, "let's try the ordinance for 3 months and then evaluate it."

Park comm Marjorie Joy agreed with McNamara and said, "We must get them involved in living, to recognize and look at the tax problem. We have had more than our share of the beer drinking," she said, "it takes cooperation from everyone to make things work."

Chief Hein was asked how they solved the problem at Lake Shore Park. He replied that it was constant surveillance and was not considered trouble free as yet.

McNamara said that most of the credit in that area should go to Lou Novinson. He said that Novinson worked hard with those kids night and day. He helped them form football teams, boxing matches and baseball teams." Chief Hein said that many of those in that group are grown men now, living and working in the area.

Trustee Bacon suggested putting up a 4 ft fence around the park and believed that would solve Mc-

Namara's problem. "Now let's get on to another," he said.

Trustee O'Connell said that St Catherines had a similar parking problem. "They just can't say there is no problem," she said, "I have had women calling me shaking."

Mrs Phillips said, "the beer drinking is illegal, the kids have rights as do the homeowners. Let them police the area themselves and we'll meet once a month. To the youths she said, "We can't go to bat for you and you allow the other kids to come in with the beer. The youths and parents had both said that many youths gather at the park, who live in other areas.

Mr Colson said there has been a marked change in the area since this was all aired. He also had no objection to the youths being in the park and agreed with McNamara to try the "no parking." Michael Glynn, youth rep said, "Let's try the "no parking."

JoAnn Phillips asked if they all agreed on this would they call another meeting in 90 days. She also asked, could they meet earlier if a serious problem arose. All agreed.

Trustee Bacon made a motion to accept the ordinance and it was seconded by trustee O'Connell who had initiated the ban.

Mrs Hickey asked if they (the youths) would be allowed to meet in the park and all agreed.

On the vote by the committee there were 7 against passage and 9 for. Bacon voiced his surprise to this newspaper saying that he didn't think there were so many opposed. "We'll have to watch it closely," he said.

Len Wisdom then asked McNamara if the park curfew could be changed from 10 to 11 pm. McNamara said he will take it up with the board and try to bring it in line with the village ordinance.

Mr Colson said, "That concept should be given thought. All these children out until 12 o'clock!" (The village ordinance is 11 pm but on Friday and Saturday it is 12 pm.)

"We can't hide them under a rug until they are 22," Mrs Phillips said, "wouldn't it give them an alternative rather than have them go some place else and breaking the law?"

After further comments with regards to police pressure, chief Hein told the youths he was in the station 8 hours a day and if they felt like they had a problem to call him.

All of those persons involved agreed that they had made great strides with this open meeting. It has been established at this point that the "no parking" ordinance will go into affect with a review in 90 days; the youth's can meet in the park area but not congregate on the street near the homes; that the drinking of beer or liquor is illegal on park property. The youths are to police themselves with a watchful eye on their conduct by chief Hein.

That wonderful special day for your special love...

Bicentennial love story... the American wedding day

Every year is a special one for brides, but this year has a significance all its own — it's America's Bicentennial. A look back into our history to see what brides and weddings were like in Revolutionary times provides some fascinating information.

The American colonists brought most of their social customs with them from England, of course, and generally what was fashionable in England was here too.

The Puritan tradition of any kind — as (beginning with Cromwell a result, a small, quiet in the mid-1600's) had marriage at home was the frowned on big wedding rule.

celebrations, and on mer- In fact, in America, home weddings remained the fashion until 1850 or so. However, they were not necessarily small and quiet. In any but the strictest homes there was dancing after a wedding, sometimes far into the night, just as there is today. In rural areas, a wedding was an occasion for several days' worth of partying.

The typical wedding ceremony was fairly simple, in the Protestant tradition (most Americans being Protestant) — there were prayers, a short sermon, the marriage vows, and some hymns. The guests would then drink the "posset," a kind of hot punch — as a signal that the wedding was over and the party could begin.

In early New England the couple's attendants would scramble not for the bride's bouquet, but for her garter — the winner, like the modern bridesmaid who catches the bouquet, was supposed to be the next to marry.

Sometimes the wedding guests would put the bride and groom to bed on their wedding night, drinking toasts and offering prayers in the bridal chamber. Then the new couple would be left alone — if they were lucky!

City brides and grooms kept open house the day after the wedding, receiving visits from friends. Rural couples made visits to neighboring towns or plantations. But the honeymoon as we know it didn't develop until well into the 19th century.

A particularly colorful custom in Revolutionary times was known as "Coming Out Bride" — when bride, groom, and guests would put on all their bridal finery and parade into church on the Sunday, or sometimes for four Sundays, after the wedding.

Early churches were segregated, with men seated on one side and women on the other — but wedding groups would all sit together, "like a pride of peacocks," as one historian put it. At a certain point in the services the newlyweds would rise and turn slowly around, displaying their fine clothes for the congregation!

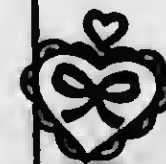

And of course, men's fashions in the 1700's were as splendid as women's — men, too, wore silks, satins, damasks and velvets.

Though times have changed since America was born, the wedding day remains the same in spirit — a very special celebration, shared in by bride and groom and those who love them. So whether your wedding will be old-fashioned or newfangled, you're part of a long and wonderful tradition.

Reflect your personality in choosing your wedding music

You may not want 76 trombones played at your wedding and 110 cornets may overflow your hall. But why not consider three trombones and perhaps one cornet?

If you like the sound of brass, go ahead and include it in your wedding plans. Young couples today have a much greater latitude in planning not only where they'll have the wedding but all the elements which help make it "the perfect day."

And, if you have friends who play musical instruments, include them.

The American Music Conference says that many about-to-be-marrieds are making their weddings much more reflective of their own personalities than was true even five years ago.

While you'll still find Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" among the ceremonial selections, a great many brides and grooms are more likely to say their vows to the theme from "Elvira Madigan" or even a jazz version of

"Yellow Submarine."

If you have a friend or relative who plays guitar, think about having him (or her) play at the wedding as a solo or with piano or organ. Another good combination is violin and flute or piano and electric bass.

If you prefer classical music, Mozart on trumpet and cornet would add a distinctive, lyrical note to the festivities.

Perhaps you want to involve your attendants more fully in the proceedings. Why not ask each of them to choose a musical selection. The result will be a surprising blend — from Chopin to country, jazz to Joplin.

By involving your friends and family more fully in the ceremony, you'll be following an age-old tradition of amateur music-making.

Whether it's baroque, brass or bells, let the music set the tone and reflect your individuality. It's your day — make it even more extra special with music.

Baubles, bangles wedding bands

Before you and your fiancée set out to buy your wedding rings there are some timely tips that will save you lots of leg work, and help you to make a wise choice.

It is important to go to a jeweler you can trust, who will show you a selection of name brand wedding rings in white and yellow gold.

Fine quality and expert craftsmanship will last a lifetime, the precious gleam mellowing with time and loving wear. There is no significant difference in your choice of color of gold... it is a matter of taste. Both offer strength, hardness and resistance to wear, both are equally precious.

Wedding rings should be ordered four to six weeks before the happy event, insuring plenty of time for accurate sizing.

A narrow band will be about half a size smaller than a wide one, since it will slip over the knuckle with more ease.

The design should appear in a continuous flow, showing no break; finishes must be clean and smooth to your touch.

Sterling qualities of silver craftsmanship of real worth valued by today's bride-to-be

The 1976 bride isn't so different, it seems, from her predecessors — the ones who married before women's lib swept the country.

According to a recent survey, more than 60 per cent of today's brides-to-be register their tableware choices at the bridal gift registry — and still want the beautiful things that brides have always cherished.

However changed the concept of women's place in the home may be, the love of fine tableware seems as steadfast as ever. And one of the highlights of the pre-wedding period for any engaged girl is opening the lovely china, crystal and silver gifts which she receives.

Cherished gift

There's a particularly happy reception awaiting any gift of sterling. For solid silver's not only a lovely possession to be enjoyed for its rich, lustrous gleam and fine craftsmanship, but a treasure to be valued for its very real worth.

Sterling's a precious metal with intrinsic value, and this value — high now — gives every indication of becoming higher in the future.

Future heirloom

For the young couple, this means that owning sterling is quite a bit like having your cake and eating it, too. For while it's used and enjoyed, it's also an investment for the future, and will some day become a cherished heirloom to be passed on to the children.

Most brides, however, look at sterling with an eye toward the immediate, rather than the distant, future — entertaining friends and relatives, for instance, at those first dinner parties. And nothing else conveys quite so well the special occasion atmosphere they want. That's why every gift of sterling, large or small, is so appreciated at this time.

Convenient gifting

The bridal gift registry offers an especially convenient way for gift-givers to select a sterling gift for the bride. All that's necessary is a phone call or visit to the bridal gift consultant at the store where the bride-to-be made her tableware choices.

She can supply all the information you need — the name of the engaged girl's pattern, the place and serving pieces she wants most, and those which she has yet to receive.

Options available

There are so many options available, too, in sterling gifts. It can be as bountiful and magnificent as an entire set, or it can be one single, shining piece.

The bride knows the value of sterling today, and you can be sure that even one teaspoon or salad fork in solid silver will be a welcome and cherished addition to her set.

Wedding receptions with punch Elegant wedding gifts ...settings for beautiful memories they'll really treasure

Fine imported Sauterne, a sweet and fragrant white wine from Bordeaux, is becoming a staple of wedding punches (much like imported champagne) because of its elegant flavor and status quality.

It mixes excellently with various fruits and allows you to cut down on the amount of expensive champagne that goes into your punch bowl.

Price selections

Some Sauternes are too expensive to use in a punch; some are lesser wines and do not have the delicacy of a very good Sauterne. A good but reasonably priced French Sauterne — Chateau Voigny, for example — is what you want. In fact, try chilled Chateau Voigny all by itself for a surprise dessert one night, accompanied by ripe pears and a creamy-type French cheese. A heavenly end to a dinner!

If champagne and Sauterne are not your guests' cup of punch, there are two stronger suggestions guaranteed to please the most "macho" of men in your party; a Mint Julep punch made with 101-proof Kentucky Bourbon, and a Gin-Orange punch.

Serving suggestions

Use the traditional punch bowl, but it is also appropriate and convenient to use large pitchers and carafes. Chill your mixture in the refrigerator and add the ice at the last minute to control dilution. Use punch cups, plastic old-fashioned glasses or even big wine glasses.

BRIDE AND GROOM PUNCH

Combine 1 cup sugar, 2 cups water, rind of 2 oranges and 2 lemons cut in strips, and several sprigs of fresh mint or 1 tbsp. mint sauce in a saucepan.

Stir until sugar is dissolved, bring to boil, simmer 5 minutes, remove from heat, cool and strain.

Combine this syrup with 2 24-oz. bottles of Chateau Voigny (imported French Sauterne), 2 6-oz. cans frozen orange juice concentrate, ½ cup lemon over ice in punch bowl or juice. Refrigerate; when pitchers, slowly add 2 28-oz. bottles of lemon-lime ready add ice, pour in 1 oz. bottle champagne, garnish with orange slices. Serves 22 cups.

MINT JULEP PUNCH

Combine 1 10-oz. jar mint jelly and 2 cups water in saucepan; stir over low heat to melt jelly. Cool. Add a fifth of Wild Turkey Bourbon, 6 cups unsweetened pineapple juice, 2 cups water, ½ cup lime juice. Chill. To serve pour over ice in large glasses with a mint leaf float. Serves 6.

ORANGE BLOSSOM PUNCH

Combine in a pitcher juice of 12 oranges, ½ cup gin, juice of 2 limes, ½ cup Campari, ½ cup Grand Marnier, chill until very cold. Add ice cubes, stir, serve over ice in large glasses with a mint leaf float. Serves 6.

Don't just wish your favorite bride and groom "live happily ever after." Help them along with a wedding gift that brings beauty, elegance and graciousness to their first home, the Jewelry Industry Council suggests.

A treasured gift

A gift of silver, china or crystal for the table is sure to be treasured by the latest generation of wedding marchers with their well-developed tastes for fine things of quality. And you'll be treasured for helping them get started on the kind of lifestyle they want to share in the years ahead.

Today's bride really values silver and the "something special" glow it brings to her table. A piece of flatware that helps complete a place setting makes an important silver gift. Serving pieces and extras, especially teaspoons, are always appreciated by a new bride.

Silver and china

Consider a gift of multipurpose silver holloware that lets the new bride give her table, or her first home, an imaginative touch. Because today's bride won't reserve her silver just for guests. She'll put its beauty and practical usefulness to work every day.

There are luxury and elegance apparent in the richly decorated china and crystal finding favor with today's bride and groom. But young marrieds demand practicality and modern convenience in china as well. This means oven, freezer and dishwasher properties, serving accessories with unlimited possibilities, even patterns with mix or match potential. All are helpful guidelines to remember when selecting a wedding gift of china for your favorite bride and groom.

Crystal stemware

A smart crystal gift the entertaining newlyweds will appreciate is special purpose stemware... liqueurs, brandy snifters, fluted champagnes.

Decorative china or crystal items to start the bride collecting for her first home should have color and practical uses to make the successful wedding gift list.

Bridal registry

And don't forget to consult the Bridal Registry of the bride's jeweler, the Council further advises. It's a gold mine of gift ideas with its up-to-date record of the bride's pattern choices in silver, china and crystal, the bride's preferences, and the items she has already received.

You can't go wrong with a gift the bride herself has chosen!

Dates for dates

If your rehearsal dinner is to be a big splashy cocktail and dinner affair, it is perfectly proper for your attendants to bring their dates. In that case make sure that invitations are sent out to all your guests, including their dates.

In any case, whether you're having a dinner or a barbecue, the final decision on bringing dates will be up to the host of the evening.

'Nectar of the gods'

Ageless catalyst for sparkling evenings

"Something old, something new; something borrowed, something blue," is an American bridal tradition that has been handed down through the years and remains as popular today, as in the past. In spite of our fast-paced, contemporary lifestyle, traditions have long influenced the various marriage ceremonies throughout the world.

In Japan, a golden rice wine known as Sake and often referred to as the nectar of the gods, is an essential part of the wedding ceremony. The bride and groom each take three sips from three cups of Sake signifying fidelity, happiness and harmony.

According to an ancient Japanese saying, Sake should be served warm... and by a warm-hearted woman, for it is meant to be a person-to-person drink.

Among lovers, an exchange of Sake cups holds a deeper meaning than a kiss; among friends, an exchange of Sake cups indicates the deep regard for each other; among a roomful of strangers, it is meant to make close friends.

Sake, one of the oldest drinks in the world, has been improved and refined from special strains of rice for over 2,000 years to bring out the not too dry, not too sweet, delicate nut-like flavor.

Traditionally Sake is served slightly warmer than body temperature, about 100 to 105°F, for heating releases its heady bouquet. Today, though, many enjoy it chilled, poured over ice or right out of the bottle.

If serving it warm, it adds to the enjoyment to follow the Japanese custom: Decant the warm Sake into a small ceramic flask called tokkuri which is brought to the table and poured into tiny ceramic cups called sakazuki.

(Tokkuri and sakazuki may be obtained at any oriental goods store and some Sake producers enclose the set with a bottle of Sake in attractive gift packages — unusual and ideal for the newlywed host and hostess.)

Whether served in a traditional or contemporary manner, Sake is the timeless catalyst for sparkling evenings. It goes well with everything enjoyable; an adjunct to warm gracious living.

You can celebrate with Sake, relax with Sake or even cook with Sake. Sake can be used in any recipe calling for dry white wine or sherry and unlike other wines, Sake will maintain its special qualities after uncorking (refrigerate please) almost indefinitely.

Appliance advice: Brides, think twice!

Now that you're making plans to furnish a home for the first time, here's some timely advice: think about your future needs when you buy kitchen appliances, especially a refrigerator or a dishwasher.

For example, your immediate needs may call for only a moderate-size refrigerator. But you should consider the many advantages of a unit which has freezer space adequate to your future needs as your family grows.

Government studies show that most families keep their refrigeration products anywhere from 14 to 20 years, so it's apparent that you can realize savings from being able to buy bargain quantities of foods to store in your freezer section.

Moreover, buying a refrigerator with energy-saving and convenience features also can save money and increase the long-range usefulness of the appliance. Many models from Hotpoint, for example, have a "Power Saver" switch to help save electricity, and dual temperature controls so that you can set your own temperature for either section.

These refrigerators also roll-out on adjustable wheels for easy cleaning or decorating, and have door stops to prevent damage to adjacent walls and cabinets. Of course, they never need defrosting.

Another appliance for which you should keep future needs in mind is the dishwasher. Many Hotpoint models move easily on wheels, making them convenient for apartment use, or where kitchen space is at a premium. But they're also convertible, so you can build them in under the counter when you remodel your kitchen or move at some later date.

These "Whisper Clean" dishwashers are sound-insulated, and the two Dish-Potwashers have a special cycle that can scrub away, with brushless water action, stubborn soil on pots, pans and casserole dishes. But they also can wash fine china and delicate crystal.

Of special interest on the two Dish-Potwashers is a power-saver option. It lets the dishes dry without added heat after the wash cycle is complete. Hotpoint engineers point out this can mean savings in electricity to operate the dishwasher in a normal cycle.

So it can pay to think long-range and consider versatile features when you're selecting kitchen appliances.

Tempting Italian cuisine accents color and taste

Red is an exciting color, especially in food. Italians use the eye appeal of this color to give their cuisine an irresistible lure.

Consider tomatoes, the mainstay of south Italy; the thin-sliced prosciutto of the north; the sweet red peppers, the spicy red sausages; and Campari, the glowing garnet aperitif sparkling in the glass with soda, the anytime "lift" which has become a world-favorite.

Consider also the green of fresh, fragrant basil sprinkled over red-sauced pasta, the green fettucini, the spinach gnocchi, the artichoke, the pistachio gelati.

Non-Italian Americans, accustomed to plain spaghetti with a canned sauce, or ordinary macaroni and cheese, are stunned by the difference a quality homemade sauce can make in flavor and become intrigued by the marvelous varieties of pasta available everywhere.

Try hard to locate an Italian grocery for they often stock excellent homemade ravioli, green noodles and tortellini all ready to cook, and will grate fresh Parmesan cheese for you, too (store excess in jar in refrigerator). Otherwise use commercial pasta but only with your own fresh sauce.

So start with a chilled Campari aperitif, with a lemon or lime twist. Then melon and prosciutto ham, tortellini (pasta rings stuffed with meat or chicken mixture), asparagus or green salad, Italian Fontina cheese and almond cookies for dessert.

Here is a recipe for a delicious sauce which can be used over any kind of pasta:

POMMAROLA 'NCOPPA SAUCE

In a heavy saucepan brown 1 cup chopped onion and 3 fresh, chopped garlic cloves in 3 tbsps. oil, add 5 slices cut-up bacon, crisped and drained, 1 16-oz. can chopped Italian tomatoes with juice, 1 tbsps. fresh chopped parsley, 1 tbsps. dried basil, 1 tsp. oregano. Salt to taste, 1½ tps. pepper, 2 tps. sugar, 3 tbsps. tomato paste.

Mix well, bring to boil, simmer uncovered 45 minutes. Put in blender on lowest speed for 3 seconds so sauce stays thick. Return to pot, simmer 10 minutes more. Serves 4.

Note: Fresh parsley and basil are easily chopped in blender. Quick freeze in plastic bags and use for cooking when needed.

Marriage-saving money tips Using hand-me-down decorating to ensure a greener future to create 'conversation pieces'

Marriage can be mighty expensive, especially in the beginning when you're trying to stretch a budget to cover both everyday living expenses and new home furnishings.

Don't let tight money mar the foundations of your new lifetime partnership. Instead, work out a reasonable budget, figure out mutual priorities where money should be spent, and take advantage of money-saving tips whenever possible.

Here are some ways you may be able to economize without feeling the "pinch":

- Whenever possible, cook from scratch. Convenience foods generally cost more than the basic ingredients needed to cook the same meal. And your personal culinary efforts are sure to produce a better tasting meal, as well.

- If you have a choice between washing or dry cleaning a garment, do wash it — it costs less. (Check the clothing manufacturer's sewn-in permanent care label to be sure.)

Dry cleaning bills can eat away at your budget so skimp on this "luxury" whenever possible. You can easily do this on dry cleanable items too, if they are only spotted or slightly soiled.

- Plan ahead when buying furniture. Unless your first apartment or house is the one you intend to live in for several years, it may be more practical not to purchase expensive furnishings right away. Keep future plans in mind, and try to choose furniture you know you'll be able to use later on.

- Do leave room in your budget for entertaining and evenings out. After all the work of setting up a new household, both you and your new husband deserve time to play and enjoy being married.

Packing tips keep clothes fresher on honeymoon trip

After the excitement of your wedding day, you'll be off for your honeymoon. Whether it's a big trip or a small one, you'll save a lot of bother if you plan your packing carefully. Here are some hints:

- Pack shoes, hair dryers, clocks, and other heavy things at the hinge side of your suitcase — they'll be on the bottom when you carry it, so they won't crush your clothes.
- Pack firmly. Loosely-packed clothes will shift around in transit and wrinkle more easily.

- Pack in sections and not in layers — sportswear together, evening wear together, lingerie together. It's easier to get at things that way, and easier to re-pack firmly.

- Distribute weight evenly on both sides of Chances are newlyweds will not be purchasing all of their furniture before they settle in their first apartment. In fact, they'll probably be filling in with pieces borrowed from parents and relatives. If this situation applies to you, here are some handy do-it-yourself decorating hints.

Imaginative rewards

With time and imagination, decorating with such "conversation pieces" can be fun and rewarding.

To begin, use common sense and tips from experts and be sure to take advantage of the excellent products currently on the market to help save time and work.

Large bureaus or dressers can take on new life by simply refinishing or repainting them. First, sand down and clean the surface. Then apply paint, antiquing base or stain, followed by appropriate sealer. Using a kit makes the job a cinch, and the results will amaze you.

your suitcase (pack one heavy article at either end of the hinge), and it will be easier to carry.

- Fasten all buttons and zippers, then fold everything in thirds lengthwise — a lengthwise fold will come out naturally as you wear the garment.

- Pack all liquids (shampoo, cosmetics) and aerosols in a separate carry-on case.

- Take clothes that don't wrinkle easily.

- Because you'll be trying to save as much space as possible, take clothes and accessories that you can mix and match.

Wall-to-wall decor

Often, decorators will blend such a piece with the walls so it seems to disappear. This can be accomplished by painting walls with geometric lines or patterns, extending this pattern onto the dresser. Or paper the dresser with the same wallpaper you are using on the walls, then cover with varnish or a plastic sealer.

That rug you borrowed for your livingroom can be easily spruced up by using a convenient rug-cleaning product

Sew it up!

Silpcovering can be accomplished by the home sewer without much difficulty. There are a number of excellent publications on the market that give step-by-step instructions. However, if you are not that handy, colorful pillows strewn on old furniture can do wonders.

Borrowed mirrors can be modernized by refinishing or by covering borders with fabric glued over a bit of padding and stretched over to the back.

Cover-ups

And dinette sets can either be repainted or, if you prefer, covered by a pretty linen cloth that reaches the floor. (Then cover your chair cushions to match!)

Decorating with hand-me-downs is a challenge and really a convenience, too. It gives you time to determine your long-range wants and needs, and allows you to budget for those items you'll want to keep for years to come.

THE BRIDE OF 1776 might have worn this pale blue silk satin bridal gown with white French ribbon lace and silk appliques recreated by Priscilla of Boston. Hair was powdered and decorated with flowers.

A SUMMER GOWN OF WHITE EYELET for the bride of 1876 (America's centennial year) designed by Priscilla of Boston has a strong military look. The v'd-neckline, trimmed with a gathered flounce, gives the dress a formal feeling. High necklines indicated a dress for daytime.

1905

BY 1905 BRIDES IN GENERAL were imposing with their high pompadours and hourglass figures. This ivory Belgian lace gown with dolman sleeves was reconstructed from the original by Priscilla of Boston.

1948

IN 1948 THE FIRST GOWN manufactured by Priscilla of Boston was shown in the Pennsylvania Hotel and Macy's New York was the first retail store to buy it. The gown was made of ivory skinner satin with a two and a half yard train.

1976

THE MODERN BRIDE OF 1976 reflects many of the traditions of her counterpart 200 years ago, proving that elegance is ageless. Here, bouquets and blossoms of white lace pattern a wedding band neckline with a molded silhouette. By Priscilla of Boston.

1925

IN 1925 FOR THE FIRST TIME in fashion history, the dress rose to the knees. This gown designed for the liberated bride of that year is made of ivory silk organdy and rosaline lace. The chemise silhouette has a handkerchief hemline, bateau neckline and a handkerchief capelet.

Styles in women's fashion have changed drastically over the years, often reflecting the social and economic atmosphere of the times.

Bridal gowns, however, have changed less in their fundamentals than any other type of costuming. The satin, the lace veil, the bridal bouquet, the prayer book, rosary, fan or muff have been more or less constant features.

Through the eighteenth century the wedding ceremony was held in the bride's home, but by the end of the Civil War the church had become the approved setting for the fashionable wedding.

Imported customs

In the 1770s panniers (frameworks used to puff out a skirt at the hips) were becoming more exaggerated and had become the court dress in France and England — a custom which lasted in England for 75 years.

During the 1770s the pannier was so large the sacque (over dress) closed only at the waist. Consequently, the petticoat became a functional part of the dress. Hair was powdered and decorated with flowers.

During the next 80 years fashion became influenced by a Greek revival, then to a new version of the hoop. Skirts began to swell and at first were held out by numerous petticoats.

Because of the weight of wearing many petticoats, these were soon replaced by a series of whalebone hoops attached by straps over which a petticoat and then a dress were worn.

Traditional white

It was only in the nineteenth century that white bridal gowns became a tradition which continues up to today.

In the next 16 years the hoop diminished with the fullness moving to the back. When the hoop was finally ousted it was not by a rational silhouette but by the irrational bustle — one of the strangest shapes ever adopted.

1876 was also the year America was celebrating its centennial. Many fashions were designed in honor of the anniversary. The military influence was very strong and the dress had a definite tailored look.

Bustling brides

It was traditional at this time for the bride to wear her gown to the first dinner party after the wedding. The train of the skirt was laid in large organpipe pleats which gave the necessary fullness for the bustle.

By 1905 brides in general were imposing with their high pompadours, hourglass figures and forward-slanted posture of the Grecian bend. During this period, there was great emphasis on elegant undergarments, although they were never shown!

Twenty years later the history of fashion took a revolutionary turn. For the first time in the history of fashion, the dress reached the knees. This fashion trend lasted only three years, until the great depression, but it signifies the beginning of the liberated woman—a movement which changed the world.

Bride

Mr & Mrs James F. Earley, Burbank, have announced the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Kimberley Anne McDonald, to Donald A. Baikie, son of Mr & Mrs Thomas Baikie. Donald, a graduate of Luther South, is employed by Ambrosino's Italian Foods. An early spring wedding is planned.

Bride should choose her diamonds early

Modern etiquette permits asking the bride to help select her diamond gift. This should be done well in advance of the wedding day, so she may consider it in planning her bridal attire.

Pendant, pin or eareclip, her diamond jewelry can complement her gown, in design and placement.

If she chooses a gown with one of the new high necklines, and the gift is a pendant, the neck-chain should be long enough to show her diamond properly.

See professional early for portfolio of wedding photos to suit any budget

Some are grand and extraordinarily expensive. Others are simple and modestly priced.

Whatever type of wedding you are planning, it deserves to be preserved in professional photographs. A bride must decide to economize on some things, but not on photographic coverage of this all-important occasion. For it is the photographs that will keep the day's events alive in years to come.

Korak experts advise prospective brides to book a professional photographer as soon as the date is set, especially if she is getting married on a weekend during one of the more popular bridal months — June, August, or December.

Several weeks before the occasion the bride and groom-to-be should sit down with the photographer and plan the type of photos they'll want. Most ask for a formal bridal couple portrait, one

Hot idea for keeping your cool

'Hidden' colors

If you're a bride who is furnishing and equipping a new home or apartment, you've probably noticed that bright colors have also penetrated such closet-bound appliances as irons, vacuum cleaners and floor scrubbers—items that are visible only when used for housekeeping chores.

And it looks as if this latest color trend is here to stay.

So says Louis Cheskin, director of the Chicago-based Color Research Institute (CRI), a 30-year-old organization that studies the psychological, physiological, chemical and physical aspects of color in homes and in industry.

Brighter trends

Cheskin, who was recently interviewed by Eureka Home Care Institute experts about the trend toward colorful appliances and other housewares, pointed to a new development: "Color for color's sake."

"Right now there is a tremendous interest in color,"

He also related the popularity of bright colors to the changing lifestyles of the '70s: a general "letting go" of inhibitions, increased leisure time and more women entering the labor force (more than nine out of 10 new brides plan to work full or part time after marriage). All these factors point to less emphasis on housework.

Shading changes

Sam Hohulin, The Eureka Company's Chief Industrial Designer, believes the general population has become more color conscious — with new homemakers leading the way.

Hohulin recalled that the first Eureka vacuum cleaners, introduced in 1909, were black and gray. These somber shades eventually gave way to beiges and off-whites, which in turn, evolved into avocado and misty gold hues — first in the canisters, then in the no-nonsense upright cleaners.

Psychological boost

Eureka's newest Power Team vacuum cleaner models, which sport such lively colors as tangerine, pumpkin, wine, sparkling blue and "Big Bad Orange," reflect the current preoccupation with brightness, Hohulin said.

Because the impact of color usually affects the subconscious, most people are not aware that color can influence their moods and behavior, CRI's Cheskin pointed out.

Importance of color

"While most women are not going to tell you they

INITIAL ROMANCE

Inscribing your name or initials, and your wedding date on the inside of each band is traditional and romantic.

To ensure their lasting 'til your golden anniversary, plan to spend about one week's salary for each band. Since price varies with the style and amount of work involved, there is no practical buying guide to use, but the salary guide just mentioned can be a starting point.

Long live the king!

FOR EVERY BRIDAL COUPLE, the bigger the bed, the greater the comfort. The old fashioned double bed offering each sleeper the same width as a crib, is just too small. Most first homes are not generous in space. Having decided on a super size bed, the challenge is in designing it into a limited area. A king size Simmons Beautyrest Back Care II in a small bedroom is visually minimized by using one pattern everywhere in the room. Here, bright green leaves on a white background is used for wallpaper, draperies, upholstery, and bedspread. This very effective interior design device has another advantage. In this room with off-center windows a unity is achieved through the repeated motif. And the out-of-doors is truly brought inside. A grass green carpet emphasizes the effect. All year 'round this bedroom is bright yet serene. Low wall units serve as nightstands and provide additional storage space. buy something just because of the color — especially if it's a practical item like a vacuum cleaner," he said, "color does play an important part in the homemaker's buying decision."

So next time you're out shopping, and you're tempted to buy a new appliance because of its brilliant color, don't dismiss the urge as "impractical." Color not only gives a boost to your household decor, but can boost your spirits as well.

Bridal showers forecast

Looking for an unusual theme for a bridal shower? Think about a garden shower, whether or not the future bride will really have a garden out of doors. Clusters of potted plants in an apartment need lots of TLC and will bring many hours of delight.

Guests can bring seeds, flowering bulbs, unusual plants, handsome pots, plant stands, planting tools, books on growing greens and flower arranging.

Another unusual idea would be a wine shower with an assortment of wines, wine glasses, graceful carafes, pitchers and even cheese boards.

Imagine the delight of the novice cook, being feted with a recipe shower. Each guest brings her favorite recipe or two and a suitable dish in which to prepare it. The possibilities are endless.

Formal dress rules are relaxed as today's groom comes into his own

The bride has always been the fashion standout and the focal point of attention on her wedding day... and rightly so. The groom and his men traditionally dressed alike. But this spring the groom at last comes into his own.

After Six, Inc., a major influence in formal wear fashions for the man, reports a new fashion development as a direct response to brides who've been seeking to give their mates equal prominence and fashion awareness on their "together-at-last" day.

The formal wear company is introducing for the spring-summer season a distinctive new outfit for the groom, the Charleston. It's a dashing new fashion inspired by the courtly antebellum era.

The Charleston is inspired by the traditional tailcoat with squared-off tails and coat front trimmed in contrasting velvet. It's available in soft shades of candlelight, mist grey, cloud blue, and sparkling white. The company has striven for a total look of elegance and coordination with deeply ruffled shirts and a special groom's sash and butterfly tie to match the jacket trim. Trousers, of course, are perfectly matched.

The groom's men wear the same color, but the formal styling is different. The Newport II jacket features traditional one-button model styling enhanced by a deep U-shaped vest, trimmed with velvet braid. Their shirts and ties match the groom's exactly.

Robert C. Rudolfer,

President of After Six Formal, reports an overwhelming acceptance for this new look created by his company and available at formal wear rental specialists all over the country.

"Today's young couples," he stated, "want all the glamour and beauty they can pack into the most momentous day of their life. There is no longer any reason for underplaying the fashion role of the men in the wedding party."

This year, for sure, wedding bells will be striking new notes of fashion excitement and elegance.

Mr & Mrs Ronald Hickey recently announced the engagement of their daughter Kathy to Joel Kreger, son of Mr & Mrs Raymond and Jane Kreger of Elk River, Minn. Kathy is attending Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb. She will graduate this May with an elementary teaching degree. They are planning to be married August 8 at St Paul Lutheran Church, OL. A reception will follow. They will later reside in St Paul, Minn.

Any way you slice it, wedding cake implies happiness

"The bride cuts the cake... the bride cuts the cake..." As the merry guests sing this happy refrain, the bride, her hand steadied by her new husband, cuts the first slice of the tiered white wedding cake.

Did you know this time honored tradition is meant to insure their happiness?

For almost as long as there have been weddings, there have been wedding cakes surrounded by all sorts of romantic traditions. In the time of the ancient Romans, the wedding cake was broken over the head of the bride, its crumbs collected by guests as tokens of good luck.

In merry medieval England, the bride and groom tried to kiss over a pile of tiny wedding cakes brought to the ceremony by their guests, and heaped together in the middle of the table. They were supposed to kiss without disturbing the pile of goodies!

In an attempt to make this tradition less of an obstacle, an itinerant French baker put all the cakes together and leed them as one, thereby giving birth to the much admired tiered wedding cake.

A piece of this treasured confection, under the pillow of an unmarried girl, will induce dreams of her future groom.

With informal weddings growing in number, many young women now bake their own wedding cakes, lovingly made and trimmed with garlands of flowers, stars, lovebirds, and cupids, unfailingly topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Family meeting initiated by the groom's family

The first contact between the bride's and groom's families should be initiated by the groom's parents. This can be done by a simple telephone call or letter extending an invitation to dinner at home or in a restaurant.

The bride and groom may wish to attend, if only to perform the necessary introductions.

Should the groom's family not make the initial overture, it is perfectly proper for the bride's parents to do so.

In those cases where the parents live at too great a distance from each other for a convenient get-together, a congenial letter from the mother of the groom is acceptable.

MIDDLE EAST CUSTOM

Why do we throw shoes after the bride? Probably it dates from the ancient Middle East, where men would exchange their sandals to symbolize the exchange of property. So shoes signify transfer of authority from the bride's father to her husband.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS

The orange blossom has been a bridal flower since ancient times. The goddess Juno gave Jupiter a "golden apple" on their wedding day — some say the golden apple was an orange; thus its blossom became associated with happiness in marriage.

Here Comes the Bridegroom. Color Him Happy.

It's your wedding day and you're bursting with excitement.

So why wear black... It's the year of the colorful wedding, and today the groom and his men may well be the most colorful members of the wedding party. Because formals and accessories are now available in an array of shades. The styles are exciting, too. We've got it all. If you're about to be wed and you feel like celebrating, come in to your formal wear matchmakers.

Planning can make perfect breakfast for young couple and make it to the office by nine?

Now that you're married, there's another mouth to feed around the house, and husbands probably want more than mere juice to start the day. Unfortunately, cooking a big breakfast can be a challenge, especially if you're one of the 60% of all newly married women who hold a job outside the home.

If you're clever, though, you don't have to rise before dawn and slave over a hot stove for hours, to prepare a terrific breakfast. With the aid of modern conveniences, a little planning, and perhaps some help from your husband, you can whip up a sumptuous and hearty breakfast almost painlessly.

Even the tiniest task seems monumental at 7 a.m., so plan your strategy the night before. Work out your menu, mix the frozen orange juice and even set the table before you go to sleep.

Since there's no way to accomplish the after breakfast clean-up the night before, why not eliminate most of it by using throwaway paperware? If you choose Dixie's plates, bowls and cups, you'll see they are available in three different colorful designs and offer variety in table setting decor as well as eliminating clean-up.

Your menu should also vary from day-to-day, to avoid the cereal or eggs and bacon only monotony. Don't be afraid to experiment with already prepared foods. There are several varieties of frozen waffles in your grocer's freezer that can be reheated in a jiffy and dressed up with some fresh fruit, syrups or preserves. Also investigate frozen cakes and rolls that can be quickly reheated in the oven. In addition, don't forget fresh or canned fruit, cheeses, even some leftovers.

Finally, do as much of the food preparation as you can the night before. If wrestling with a slippery slab of bacon doesn't seem appealing in the morning — but bacon's great taste and aroma do — separate the bacon and lay it on a broiling pan, cool and store in the refrigerator. In the morning, just pop it into the

Remember those mornings when you used to leap out of bed, run a comb through your hair, gulp down some orange juice and cup out on the countertop. In the morning it is easy enough to measure out the fresh, cold water and the coffee.

Don't prepare the coffee the night before, unless you are willing to settle for a less than great brew. Do leave the coffeemaker, coffeecan (tightly covered) and the measuring spoon

And here's what to do on those super-hectic mornings when every second counts. Pour orange juice into a paper cup and gulp it down, as you and your husband dash out the door together.

Wedding costs: who pays what, where and when

So many details go into your wedding — and each one is important. Deciding who pays for each of them can be confusing. The following list of expenses should help. In general, unless the groom's family offers to help with the reception costs, the whole wedding ceremony is the responsibility of the bride's family.

Optional expenses include:

Bachelor dinner — may be given by the groom himself or his attendants or friends.

Rehearsal dinner — either the groom's family or the bride's family and friends give it.

Bridesmaids' luncheon — given either by the bride or by her family or friends.

Attendants' dresses — usually bought by the attendants themselves, but the bride may buy them.

Bride's bouquet — usually a gift from the groom, but the bride's family may buy it.

Corsets for mothers and grandmothers — usually provided by the groom, but the bride may want to buy them herself.

Writing thank-you notes

Every bride loves to receive her wedding gifts, and it is her duty to personally acknowledge each and every gift she receives. It is best to write your thank-you notes as each gift arrives, and avoid last-minute confusion. It is essential to keep a record of gifts and who sent them as a reminder of what you received.

Etiquette sets certain guides for your thank-you notes. Traditionally, though addressed only to the wife, the husband should be mentioned in the body of the note. Make each note sincere and grateful. Notes may be brief, but must be interesting. Include, if possible, some personal reference; specifically mention the gift and how you expect to use it. And be sure to include your bridegroom's name.

Bridal Fashions

This year's bride has her own mind, and expresses it. This year her wedding dress is going to be more individual than traditional.

The bride has her choice of anything from a val lace ruffled jumpsuit under a hooded cape to bloused sleeve tent silhouettes, long or short, coat dress types, overblouse effects and romantic little Empire sheaths.

Pale blue is a featured wedding dress color, and there are delicate pastel embroideries on many a white wedding dress. Silk organza, flower-scattered embroidered organdy, linen, lace and printed georgette are just a few of the fabrics shown.

Headdresses are a simple hair-bow, a Juliette cap floating yards of bridal illusion and regal little crowns of pearls, among other things.

THE UNVEILING

Wedding veils were unheard-of in the 1700's. Instead, hats, trimmings or flowers were used. It's said that Maria Monroe (the daughter of President James Monroe) along with her sister and mother wore ostrich plumes in their hair! Of course, stylish women in those days wore wigs or very elaborate hair-dos which would make a veil inconvenient at best.

TO AN INFANT — KATHY

Infant Eyes!

Scenes of bliss and tearful sorrow will you behold,
As life's veiling curtain parts, and years unfold.

Infant Ears!

Discord and dissonance will plague your day;
Yet dulcet sounds, too, will soothe you on Life's way.

Infant Lips!

When speech finds its spring in you, utter ne'er a word
Whose seering sound would wound a heart, if heard.

Infant Hands!

Within your grasp you hold your destiny.
Labor, strive and gain your goal — eternity.

Infant Feet!

Avoid the sinful paths on which to tread.
Follow Heaven's trail that leads you straight to God.

Frank T. Sujack

Acknowledgment of a check should preferably refer to the article you purchased or plan to purchase with the money. Notes are signed "Affectionately," "Sincerely," and "Love," as the case may be, and your signature includes your surname, unless you know the person well.

In the case of duplicate gifts, write each thank-you as though it were the only one received. And if you don't know what the item is, there are many ways to tactfully thank the sender without letting him know of your bewilderment.

Finally, remember, you'll make someone just as happy with the note you send as they made you with their gift.

Fred Dumke asks flood disaster aid

STARS ADDED FOR BICENTENNIAL YEAR

The Village of Oak Lawn is preparing for the great Bicentennial Celebration with the repainting of the entrance signs. The work is being done by Dave and Bob Krause of Krause Sign Co., OL.

Acting manager Richard O'Neill announced that there was almost one half million dollars in damage to the administration bldg by flood damage and almost $5,000,000 damage over the entire village.

He wanted the residents to be made aware that the village is seeking federal funds claiming Oak Lawn a disaster area and all pertinent information must be gathered to justify this claim. He said that through the efforts of Davis Boyd, pres of the OL Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois Dept of Insurance has set up an office in the Cook School bldg at 9526 Cook. This office will not pay claims but will clarify the loss to substantiate the village's position as to the need for aid to Oak Lawn and its business people and residents.

In a statement from Fred Dumke he said there were two areas needed to be covered, storm drainage and sanitary sewers. "With regards to storm drainage," Dumke said, "in excess of 7" of rain in three hours, plus the hail and it would be economically impossible to build storm sewers for the water that fell in that period of time." Plus, he said, "the outfall - Stoney Creek was unable to take the flow of water as rapidly as it came down."

"We have to realize," Dumke said, "that Stoney Creek is also the outfall for other villages and part of Burbank drains into it from 79th South. The areas of the village that have storm sewers installed were drained within a period of 6-8 hours with few exceptions."

Explaining the sanitary sewers Dumke said, "In many areas where power was lost the sump pumps were out of operation so that back-up water was inevitable, especially where there are gravity fed sanitary sewers instead of overhead. In addition to the problem of power loss, the MSD interceptor became over-loaded for board approval of the plan on Tuesday, June 8.

K-Mart fills village bill

The retention basin on the R-3 abutting property, and opposed by the residents, will now be located on the commercial site. The other objection was to the loading dock facing 95th & Crawford and surrounded by a 10' high wall that would be at the entrance to the village. Brian Judge, a rep of K-Mart, said they had redesigned the bldg and it would now have reflector pe windows and this would have a tendency to lower the appearance. Pre-cast panels would be used on the surrounding wall and would blend in with the bldg making the bldg and wall appear as one. A 3' rise in the landscape area and planted with trees and shrubs would then shorten the look of the wall to 7'.

Jack Siegel, atty for the developers, was quite angry when John Hardek suggested it be referred back to the Development board for a review of the proposed changes. He said they had been through all that and they were only before this board for approval of the site plan. Siegel said, "This action violates all of the elementary rules of good sportsmanship, you are seeing us back and forth and trying to wear us out." He went on, "We have literally bent over backwards to please everyone in this village."

Mayor Fred Dumke advised him that this was not the case. "Inasmuch as you feel that you have met all the legal requirements your position would be much stronger," he said.

Hardek said that he would still like to know where the retention basin was going.

Mr Judge explained to Hardek that they had agreed to put the basin on the property but now it would have to go back to their engineering dept to decide where and how. He also added that he was still positive that he was legally correct about the retention basin but that they had no desire to have to go to court and wanted to come to this board instead.

Dumke then asked them if they could wait another two weeks and let the Development board review the changes at their meeting on June 21. He said that he would ask the board of trustees to act on the plan at their regular meeting on the following night, June 22.

The motion to refer the plan back to the Development board was approved by a 5-1 vote. Trustee Joe Vogrich was the only "no" vote as he stated that he was ready to vote at that time.

met with the OL Chamber of Commerce and Norm Bacon, village engineer in charge of the Southwest Hwy improvement program.

Davis Boyd, pres of the chamber, welcomed those present and said that he and John Pieler, chamber dir, were there to listen to the complaints and problems and help wherever they can.

There were but 3 major problems; the dust, shoppers parking in residential areas and an owner of a produce store that had no roadway across the east side of the highway, where the excavation is taking place. With customers not being able to reach the store he has produce spoilage each day. The owner said he is suffering financially.

Norm Bacon said they could get water wagons for the dust; the parking problem was something else and all they could do was ask for cooperation from the residents. "It will be comerse when construction starts in Columbus Manor proper," Bacon said, "and they will have to depend on the businessmen to cooperate with them."

Bacon promised a cross-over road to the produce store and said it would be taken care of the next day. He admonished the businessmen and said they should not wait until conditions get out of hand. "There are a lot of things we can do," said Bacon.

"but you shouldn't let things go until they fester inside and then blow up. We're meeting constantly," Bacon went on, "and we can sit down and have a complete understanding if we are aware of the problem."

Davis Boyd reminded the group that the chamber is there to help also, "We're here for the betterment of the businessmen," Davis said.

Bacon told the CMCG group that the project is ahead of schedule and all paving should be completed by Sept 1. He then explained the schedule for curbing, lights and landscaping. Parking was discussed and Bacon said that it was mostly a "wait and see" what affect it may have on the stores. He said they learn every day and the proposed mini lots (reverse cul-de-sacs) implemented on Southwest Hwy have now been brought into the 87th Street widening project.

John McVay (CMCG) voiced his disappointment over the poor attendance of the businessmen. "We have had nine meetings," he said, "and we still don't have the turn-out we expect."

The engineering field office is located at 9920 Southwest Hwy, where meetings are held regularly.

District 126 board notes

The 8th grade achievement test results were reviewed by the Dist 126 board. The test results, graded by High School Dist 218, indicated that the average 8th grader scored above the national norm in 8 of the 9 test areas. In reading comprehension and social studies the average Dist 126 8th grader scored as an average high school freshman.

After reviewing the needs of the 7 Dist 126 special education children being served by private facilities, the school board unanimously voted to approve supporting the summer school costs for those 7 children during the 1976 summer school program offered by their respective schools.

The Capital Assistance Board of Illinois had granted a $61,985 debt service grant. Supt William Smith noted that the receipt of this grant will be totally used to abate the school tax rate by 6¢. The school board by formal resolution directed the County Clerk to reduce the levy in Dist 126 by the $61,985 and to reduce the tax rate by 6¢.

The school board met in executive session for ½ hour with board atty Terrance Barnicle to consider litigation related to the assessment of 122nd Street and Orchard in Alsip. Tabled to the June 16 meeting was the review of the School Use Policy.

Board tables Lum's restaurant request

The Development board tabled a request for approval of Lum's Restaurant to be built in the Green Oak Shopping Center.

Another restaurant proposed for the site several months ago had been turned down when it was found that the plan hadn't met with the entire approval of the existing shops now in the center. Chmn Maury Glens was aware of this and also stated that it seemed he remembered some clause in Vern's lease that nothing shall be built in the area that would eliminate or hinder any portion of his parking area.

The petitioner was questioned as to what he wanted as he was short of parking space. He had an option on either cutting down his seating capacity or asking for a variation. He replied that he would go either way.

Member Anthony Jasinski got angry at this and told Donald Levine, counselor for Lum's, that he was trying to put the board on the spot. "You are the petitioner," Jasinski said, "you tell us what you want and we will decide whether you can have it or not!"

Another member reminded the board of a parking problem they had when they approved a Rustler's Steak House in the Arena Shopping Center.

The tabling action was brought about when Glens suggested that Levine have a member of the Green Oak shopping center assn present at the next meeting to find if they are all in favor of the restaurant.

Things to wonder about

Just recently a petitioner appeared before the Development Board requesting a zoning change from "O" (office) to build a restaurant on the northwest corner of 107th & Cicero. A petition signed by 50 area residents who were opposed to the restaurant was also presented to the board. The restaurant request was turned down unanimously.

On Tuesday, May 25, the petitioner then appeared before the pres and board of trustees on an appeal.

Driving thru the area where the restaurant was proposed (5th District) it was easy to see the detrimental affect that the additional traffic would have on the residential area. Already much traveled, two of the homes located on a street curve have steel barricades in the lawn because of damage done by speeding cars. It then came as a complete surprise to hear trustee John Hardek (4th District) make an all out appeal to override the final decision of the Development Board.

Hardek's reasoning that the village no longer needed so much office space was not only unsound but in absolute contradiction to his previous convictions. This same board had previously turned down two restaurants in the Treasury Store area, another on the east side of the street, a restaurant style pub in Ranch Manor, a restaurant on 92nd and Cicero, another at 87th & Ridgeland and more. Hardek had also voted previously for approval on the updated revision of the comprehensive zoning map which preserved "all" office space in Oak Lawn.

Agreeing with Hardek's motion, and speaking in favor for the petitioner were trustees Lester Anderson and Mildred O'Connell. The vote was tied when trustees Joe Vogrich, Harold Bacon and John Cleveland voted against.

(A two-thirds majority is necessary to override the Development Board.)

After a denial such as this the only alternative left to the petitioner is for one of the trustees to change their vote at the next meeting of the board and before the minutes of the last meeting are approved.

On Tuesday, June 8, John Hardek said the petitioner for the restaurant was in the audience and he had new information he would like to present. According to Roberts Rules this is not allowable as the petitioner had already been heard and only a change in the vote is acceptable. However, Fred Dumke ruled that he should be heard and this caused angry comments from Joe Vogrich and Harold Bacon. Vogrich followed this with several calls of "point or order" and "out of order" against the proceedings. Bacon challenged Fred Dumke saying, "You must have changed your feelings since the last meeting." John Cleveland said, "Let's hear what they have to say." Dumke banged the gavel and said, "The chair rules."

The presentation was made and Hardek again asked for a motion to reconsider the vote and this was seconded by Les Anderson. Vogrich again called "out of order" as only the vote change should have been allowed and not the reconsideration. It was obvious that Vogrich was trying to stop the roll call lest someone had been persuaded to change their mind in the interim. Pres Dumke recognized Hardek's motion.

On the vote, trustees Hardek, Anderson and O'Connell voted "yes" for reconsideration, trustees Vogrich, Bacon and Cleveland voted "no". Being a tie vote it was necessary for Dumke to vote and he voted "no".

It was then apparent by Fred Dumke's "no" vote that his primary interest was to possibly elicit further information on the proceedings, or, allow the petitioner to exhaust every argument in his case.

It is in the best interest of the residents to attend more board meetings. Usually people only show up when they have their own complaint. All board action affects all of the people in Oak Lawn either directly or indirectly and usually in their pocket where it hurts the most. The meetings are the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Tuesday of the month at 8 pm in the village hall.

News FROM REP. HARRY "BUS" YOURELL

SUBCOMMITTEE

Rep Harry "Bus" Yourell, D-Oak Lawn, has been appointed chairman of a subcommittee to study the administrative rule-making processes of state agencies.

Yourell was appointed to chair the subcommittee after he presented proposals to the House Executive Committee calling for changes in the rule-making procedures.

He proposed two bills to "establish a uniform procedure for rule-making, and set up a procedure for legislative input into the rule-making process."

The first of the bills would make the Administrative Procedure Act applicable to all state agencies. The Administrative Procedure Act was passed last year to insure public input into rule-making, public notice of adopted rules, and fair hearings. Yourell charged that the provisions of the act are currently not applicable to any state agency.

Yourell's second proposal would increase the legislature's input into administrative rule-making. This bill would create a joint committee on administrative rules as an advisory group to monitor agency rule-making. The joint committee would hold public hearings when necessary and recommend any action on agency rules the legislature should take.

Legislative review is necessary, according to Yourell, because of the "increasing complexity and importance of administrative rules and regulations in state government."

After hearing Yourell's proposals, the executive committee voted to establish a subcommittee to consider changes in the administration rule-making process.

Executive committee chairman, John Matljovich (D-North Chicago), appointed Yourell to chair the subcommittee. Other members appointed to serve on the subcommittee are Richard Luft, D-Pekin; Robert M. Terzich, D-Chicago; John R. Lauer, R-Broadwell; and Ronald A. Stearney, R-Chicago.

Russo Reports from Washington

by Congressman Marty Russo

TASK FORCE FORMED ON HOUSE ACCOUNTS

Congressman Marty Russo applauded Speaker Carl Albert for his formation of a task force on house accounts of the Democratic Steering and Policy Committee. Russo expressed his opinion that this particular committee has been long overdue in formation and indicated his pleasure that the house leadership had finally taken suggestions that had been made by various legislators that there should be someone or something formed to look into this whole area.

Congressman Russo stated that the purpose of the task force would be to study ways to rationalize the accounts systems of the House of Representatives, to improve accountability and to assure both propriety and the appearance of propriety in administration of house accounts. Congressman David Obye (D-WI) was named to chair the task force. Also named as members of the task force were Congressman Lloyd Meeds (D-WA) and Norman E. D'Armours (D-NH). The task force will report to the full Democratic Steering and Policy Committee, which shall then make recommendations to the appropriate committees of the house.

"The only unfortunate part of this situation," Cong Russo indicated, "is that it had to be in response to an abuse by one of our house members of the present account procedures. Once again, it seems that the Congress of the United States has only acted in response to a crisis and in reaction to abuses, which may have existed over a long period of time. But fortunately, the committee has been formed and we will have a committee which will see to it that accounts that are placed in the public trust of elected representatives are properly used. I, for one, will be anxiously looking forward to having the house task force interview my staff members and seek from them, suggestions or details of the administration of our accounts."

"This task force will, in no way, have jurisdiction over the Wayne Hays matter," Russo stated, "however, continuing investigations are being conducted by the FBI, the Justice Department and the House Ethics Committee as to that. I am sure that upon completion of their reports, we will have additional recommendations for not only legislation, but for appropriate action to be taken against chairman Hays. Until that time, myself and my colleagues will continue to push to see to it that those of us who do seek to properly represent the public and to justify our acceptance of the public's trust are not dragged through the mud by those few legislators who either through an underdeveloped moral code or through blatant irresponsibility, seek to rob the public of its trust and of its money."

Dear Editor:

The Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission wishes to thank you for your coverage of Oak Lawn's May 16th Birthday Party. We believe that this is the kind of event Oak Lawners enjoy as a part of the 200th year, and they proved it by ignoring threatening weather and turning out on Sunday to celebrate "67 in '76."

The Commission wishes to extend special thanks to Mary Lou Harker, who served as Birthday Celebration Chairman, and to the many persons who contributed time and talent to provide an exciting program.

These persons and groups include the Burbank Clowns; Ursa Major and The Last Straw, Inc., musical groups; the Kill Kenny Kadets; the St. Gerald's Bicentennial Pageant Chorus, and the 'sing-a-long man, John Kenny, Jr. Local bakeries, Tuzik's, Wolf's and the Jewel Bake Shop, provided cakes for 1,000 people; and marshals were members of the Oak Lawn Squadron Civil Air Patrol and the Police Cadets. Greater Oak Lawn Senior Citizens prepared the cards and strings for the balloons; James J. Baner made signs for the square on 95th Street; White Castle supplied coffee; Gasteyer School lent its stage; Fireman Michael Russell recorded the event with his camera; and the Masonic Lodge shared its equipment and stood by in case of rain.

There were many other willing hands, and the Commission relays its thanks to all who pitched in to help Oak Lawners "Mix in '76."

Ozinga blasts Dems who torpedoed reform on fraudulent welfare programs

State Senator Frank M. Ozinga recently charged Democrats in the Senate with torpedoing meaningful reform of the state's fraudulent welfare program.

Ozinga made the charges after Democrats in the Senate Public Health, Welfare and Corrections Committee defeated a bill he co-sponsored to allow local units of govt to require general assistance recipients to work up to three 8 hour days per week in public service jobs.

Ozinga said the bill, SB 1923, was specifically drawn to permit the aid recipients to be put to work cleaning up such things as parks, roadways, streams and forest preserves. The workers, however, would have been prohibited under the bill from replacing regular employees of the local units of government.

"Today's action makes it clear that reform of the Illinois welfare system has become a partisan issue with Republicans in favor of reform, and Democrats opposed," Ozinga asserted. "Not a single Democrat on the committee voted in favor of this bill, yet every Republican Senator did."

Voting in favor of the measure were Republican Senators Jack Schaffer, Cary, Harris Fawell, Naperville; Don Moore, Midlothian; John Roe, Rochelle; and Ozinga.

Voting against it were Democrats Fred Smith, Dawn Netsch, Michael Brady and Richard Newhouse, all of Chicago and Don Wooten, Rock Island.

Democrats Vince DeMuzio of Carlinville and Robert Lane, South Holland voted present. A vote of "present" has the effect of a "no" vote in a committee because to pass a bill must receive a majority of affirmative votes.

"The current welfare system in Illinois is a financial monster which breeds laziness and corruption and destroys the desire of people to improve their condition," Ozinga continued. "By killing this bill the Democrats have sustained our current mess and eliminated any chance of moving toward a 'work for welfare' concept of public assistance."

He added, "Personally,

I'd rather see a welfare recipient leaning on a shovel to get his check than sitting at home watching soap operas on a color TV set bought with the taxpayers' money. I think this is the overwhelming public sentiment toward welfare today, and the Democrats have turned their back on it."

Ozinga said he believes many social problems facing the country have been produced by overbearing govt programs which destroy personal initiative. Less dependence on govt and tax-supported programs, he said, is required to stimulate further growth and development.

"The Democrats have again demonstrated their inability to provide meaningful leadership on the important issues facing Illinois," Ozinga concluded, "and I hope the voters will hold them accountable for their failures next November."

Derwinski saves area water users $6million

Cong Ed Derwinski (R-4) has added another link to a lengthening chain of legislative successes he has forged in the 94th Congress. The latest victory came on June 3rd, when his legislation designed to save Chicago area water users $6 million annually was included in house-passed changes in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. The legislation was supported by the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) of Greater Chicago.

"Without this legislation, the MSD would be forced to set up a dual billing system to provide for user charges in addition to the ad valorem taxes which the city has used for 86 years," said Derwinski. "Thus, the practical effect it has is to help all those municipalities in Cook County served by MSD, including Chicago."

He said most local governments already have worked out and established a logical method of paying the costs of sewage service. He said it consisted of an ad valorem tax based on property values and an industrial surcharge based on volume and concentration of waste water.

"That method accomplished an equitable distribution of cost between industry and domestic classes of users for the maintenance and operation of sewer treatment facilities," Derwinski said.

Derwinski's legislation was introduced as the result of a ruling by the Environmental Protection Agency, which held that ad valorem taxes did not constitute a proportionate means of sharing the costs of waste water treatment.

"At this time of inflation and expanding municipal budgets, it would have been unthinkable for Congress to add a double cost to the burden of taxpayers," said Derwinski. "Approval of this legislation by the house clearly was in the best interests of local taxpayers."

ST THOMAS, site of the capital city of Charlotte Amalie, is lively and entertaining, with nightlife that swings to a bongo beat.

ST CROIX, the largest, is more serene, with sunny and varied scenery that lures visitors back again and again. Most of the action is centered in its two Danish colonial towns of Christiansted and Frederiksted, where steel bands, calypso singers and other types of West Indies entertainment are available far into the night.

ST JOHN, the smallest of the islands, is mostly National Park land, with isolated beaches, primitive hiking trails and the only U.S. public campgrounds in the West Indies - Cinnamon Bay.

PRESBYTERIAN BICENTENNIAL NOTES

Compiled by Dr William D. Smith

"PROCLAIM LIBERTY
THROUGHOUT ALL THE LAND, UNTO ALL THE INHABITANTS THEREOF"
Leviticus

Benjamin Rush, a signer of the Declaration of Independence was a 1760 graduate of the College of New Jersey. He attended the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia.

In 1763 the Presbyterians in New York aided Peter Zonger in his trial for seditious libel. He won the case, and strengthened the right of the people and the press to criticize the colonial government.

Presbyterian churches were widespread throughout the original colonies. In 1750, just 44 years after the first Presbyterian Church was founded in America, 11 of the 13 colonies had Presbyterian churches. New Jersey and Pennsylvania had over 50 churches each, and New York had 30 churches. More than 10 churches were in Virginia and Maryland, Delaware and South Carolina.

James Otis, the early colonial patriot credited the Black Regiment with planting the early seeds of the revolution. The Black Regiment was a term Otis used to describe the black suited, dissenting clergyman who preached allegiance to God, not to any temporal ruler.

By 1776, the Presbyterians were the most numerous religious group in Pennsylvania. There were 3 Presbyterian churches in Philadelphia.

Built in 1768 as Third Presbyterian Church, Old Pine Street Church now is the only pre-Revolutionary War Presbyterian edifice in Philadelphia. Third Church was served by George Duffield, Revolutionary War and Continental Congress Chaplain. John Adams frequently worshipped at Third Church when Congress was in session. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the USA met in 1798 in the Third Church.

Twelve of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence were Presbyterians: Benjamin Rush, James Smith, George Taylor, James Wilson, Tho. M. Kean, William Floyd, Phi Livingston, Richard Stockton, John Witherspoon, John Hart, Abra Clark, Matthew Thornton.

The only clergyman to sign the Declaration of Independence was Dr John Witherspoon, Presbyterian Minister, president of New Jersey College and member of the Continental Congress.

OTHER PRESBYTERIAN SIGNERS OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

John Hart, was a Hopewell New Jersey farmer.

Abraham Clark was a farmer surveyor who had been sheriff of Essex County, New Jersey.

Thomas McKean, Presbyterian layman and lawyer, saw that the American Revolution as a Civil War. He was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Matther Thornton, Irish born physician, served as president of the New Hampshire Provincial Congress.

Presbyterian Charles Thomson, served as secretary to the Continental Congress from 1774 to 1789. The Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776 by only 2 people. John Hancock, president of the Continental Congress signed and Charles Thomson, as secretary, signed attesting to Hancock's signature.

Presbyterian Elias Boudinot, served as commissary general of prisoners during the revolutionary war.

A reduction in taxes has been announced by the school board of Ridgeland Elem Dist 122.

Board pres Walter Gesell said the abatement action taken by the school board in May should save about $13.70 on the next tax bill for the owner of an average home in the district.

(Average homes in Dist 122, which includes western Oak Lawn, the Southfield area of Bridgeview and a small part of Chicago Ridge, have an equalized assessed valuation for tax purposes of about $10,000.)

The reduction was made possible, board members explained, by a grant of $109,628.75 from the Illinois Capital Development board.

The grant is to help pay principal and interest on the

Ozinga bolts party over special ed grants

State Senator Frank M. Ozinga, R-Evergreen Park, said recently he bolted ranks with fellow Republican Senators to support legislation giving state aid for special education grants to public schools because of previous campaign commitments made to constituents in his district.

Ozinga, who was the only Republican to vote for the bill when it was brought before the Senate recently, said the measure would provide $39 million for special education grants to schools throughout Illinois.

"During my recent campaign for re-nomination, people throughout the 8th Dist repeatedly voiced their opinions in favor of more state assistance for special education programs," Ozinga stated. "As the legislator known as the 'Father of Special Education' I felt a sincere moral commitment both to myself and my constituents to vote in favor of this funding proposal."

He added while the bill did not receive enough votes for passage, he will continue to work for its passage later in the current session. The sponsor of the measure, Senator John Knuppel, D-Petersburg, moved to postpone consideration of the bill until another date.

"I am of the opinion that when the financial condition of the state becomes clearer in the coming weeks, it will get easier to gain the votes necessary to pass this bill," Ozinga said. "There isn't $2,950,000 bond issue approved by district voters Dec 14, 1973, to enlarge and remodel the district's 5 schools.

Mr & Mrs Gene Pesek, recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Sue, to Edward Glenn Fasel, son of Mr & Mrs Edward Fasel, Chicago. Miss Pesek is a graduate of Luther HS and the holder of an associate in applied science degree from MVCC. She is employed as a medical lab technician at the Palos Medical Center. Edward, also a graduate of Luther South, is employed as a grower for the family-owned nursery, Fasel Brothers of Big Rock, Ill. A spring 1977 wedding is planned.

Patterns in the Bicentennial Costume collection will still be charged out on a library card.

anyone in the General Assembly who wants to deny proper educational opportunities for the retarded and educationally handicapped children of Illinois."

The EP Republican said while he recognizes the state govt is faced with a severe financial crisis, he does not believe funding for special education is the proper place to make budget cuts.

"We have our priorities grossly distorted when we can allow as much as $400 million a year to be squandered in illegal welfare claims, and yet not provide the required money to educate our children," Ozinga noted. "I don't think making people lazy and dependent on the state should be more important than making special education children productive and income producing members of our society."

'Joy' in the parks

"The demand for active recreational sports for Oak Lawn women and girls increased by 200% since 1974," park commissioner Mrs. Marjorie A. Joy said. "And the district has successfully met that challenge." The district's three women's programs were developed over the past 2 years and are designed to meet feminine demands for more active programs.

Mrs. Joy added that over 500 girls and 360 women are expected to participate in the new league programs this spring and summer. The new programs are: girls spring volleyball, Central East and Central West girls softball and women's softball.

Mrs. Joy took an active part in promotion of women's sport and recreation programs immediately after her election to the board of commissioners last year.

"I am in contact with teenagers everyday as a teacher," Mrs. Joy explained. "I know first hand what their recreational needs and what some of their sports interests are. As a park commissioner, I am trying to promote teen programs as a means to provide our community with 'positive' activities for the healthy development of our young people."

"Approx. 100 girls between 10 and 13 are involved in our spring volleyball league," Mrs. Joy explained. "The district provides officials, necessary volleyball equipment and awards for the winning league teams at each school."

"This is a cooperative venture between Brandt, McDonald, Gasteyer and Simmons schools and the park district," she said.

The largest number of girls, 466, is expected to enroll this month for softball. The league season will begin on May 31, and end on July 30.

"The girls have their own softball field over at Simmons Park," Mrs. Joy added. "The program will provide plenty of activity for girls from 8 to 18 years old, as they will have games on Monday thru Saturday."

District officials have watched the growing interest of women in softball over the last two years and announced through Mrs. Joy that they will have two women's leagues this year.

"This program is for women 19 and over who want to join an active sport without getting hurt," Mrs. Joy said.

"We can't meet all of Oak Lawn's recreational needs right now, but we are trying to accommodate as many as money, space and personnel permit," Mrs. Joy said. "The parks have come a long way in recent years to where we are the 7th largest district in Illinois. So, we are definitely getting better."

Fred Dumke asks flood disaster aid

due to the infiltration of storm water thereby limiting the amount of sanitary sewer flowage into the Calumet Plant which is where all the filtration from this general area is processed and treated." Mayor Dumke said that as late as 11 pm Monday night the interceptor on Cicero Avenue was running full and this resulted in a back-up within the local sanitary system.

"A very conservative estimate in building damage, and not including equipment is in excess of $62,000," Dumke said, "at this point we haven't yet been informed whether the federal govt will except the southern part of Cook County, along with Will County as a disaster area, thereby making these counties eligible for district federal aid or reimbursement for the expenditure of dollars for renovation and repair."

In conclusion Dumke said, "I would like to take this opportunity to commend trustee Joe Vogrich who has been here through all of the hours helping and giving assistance where ever it was needed."

VOGRICH TELLS OF VAST DESTRUCTION

Trustee Joe Vogrich, who had an aerial view of Oak Lawn from a plane sent by the state to survey the area, said the damage was so widespread it was impossible to give a true estimate at this time. Accompanying Vogrich to take photos was Tom Zobak from the village engineering dept.

Hardest hit from a practical and operational standpoint was the village administration building said Vogrich, where waters settled over 4' high. The storm waters flooded the basement where the engineers are housed and water rose over the desk tops and coursed through filing cabinets holding official documents vital to the village. (See photos.)

Aside from the unseen dollars in the incapacitation of the village administration; the heating and air conditioning system may be beyond repair. Flood waters broke windows on the 5th District Court side of the building, damaged the roof and added additional hazards. Court records were also destroyed.

Vogrich went on to say that a value cannot be set on paper damage alone. All blue prints pertinent to construction now going on are destroyed; plans for streets, sewers, phone, gas and lighting systems are a sodden bulk. Fortunately, some of the major prints involving underground statistics for the village are duplicated and under the care of Ray Bliss of Hancock Engineering Co, consulting engineer for the village. Monday and

Tuesday almost all of the employees connected with the administration worked tirelessly, and without rest, trying to clean debris and attempting to salvage records that must be retained by law. Vogrich said that what could be salvaged will have to be dried and sifted through at a later date.

to the great strain of the day. The trailer park on Raymond, near the hall, was almost completely under water. It was the villages onus to move these people out and this was accomplished by boat. The residents were moved to the safety of motels or homes of relatives.

Magnifying the village problems was the communications system in the OL police dept that was completely knocked out. This made it almost impossible to reach police cars on the street. The system is now completely restored as is 80% of the village communications.

It is expected that the village administration will possibly receive harassment from the residents but when they have been made aware of the horrendous conditions they are trying to overcome they will be commended for their efforts. Should the assistance from the government be made available it will include the village as a whole and not be restricted to the administration building alone.

Buikema supports Cong Hyde's legislation

Ron Buikema, Republican candidate for Congress in the 3rd district, said that he supports Cong Henry J. Hyde's efforts to introduce legislation that will make baby selling a federal crime.

"I was shocked to read of the disclosures made in a Chicago metropolitan newspaper detailing the abuses that exist in adoption procedures," Buikema stated, "and I support the efforts of Cong Hyde to correct this exploitation of people by individuals interested only in their own self gain."

"It is a cruel injustice to the people attempting to adopt children, and to the children themselves, to have individuals treat the adoption procedures as if they were sale of a product or property. The laws must be strengthened to prevent these dealers of children from operating across state lines with a complex network of transactions that make local prosecution almost impossible," Buikema said.

"I urge the Congress to take swift action on this legislation," Buikema said, "and put an end to this outrageous marketing of human beings."

Buikema pointed out that the Senate has been considering federal adoption legislation for over a year without any positive action. He said he hoped the House would not take as long to consider legislation that is needed immediately.

NEW GAMMA CAMERA AT CHRIST HOSPITAL

A new $100,000 15-inch gamma camera has substantially increased the diagnostic capabilities of the Christ Hospital nuclear medicine department.

The new camera makes possible more sensitive diagnostic information for physicians on the Christ Hospital staff than had previously been possible. It has the largest field of vision currently available in gamma photography.

The gamma camera turns energy released by minute quantities of radioactive material into light beams and traces the image of bodily organs and tissues on photosensitive plastic which looks something like an x-ray film.

By using this highly sophisticated type of gamma photography, specialists in nuclear medicine, such as Eduardo Nijensohn, M.D., department director, make diagnostic consultation involving the brain, lungs, kidneys, thyroid, heart, spleen, pancreas, liver, skeleton, and functions as blood flow.

Larson working for better image for OL park district

New efforts to strengthen a "people oriented" lobby in Springfield are taking shape this month under the direction of the Illinois Assn of Park Districts according to OL Park District commissioner Martin Larson, Jr.

"The IAPD is trying to upgrade all of the Illinois park districts through this lobby," Larson said. "After all, the parks belong to the taxpayers - and they elected us to care for the parks."

Efforts to improve the conditions of parks and facilities have helped the Oak Lawn Park District in recent requests for state grants of matching funds in connection with The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and DOC. However, the Illinois Bureau of Outdoor Recreation denied Oak Lawn's request for a matching funds grant for the acquisition of land at 108th & LaVergne.

"As a commissioner," Larson said, "I am working to give the Oak Lawn parks a better image than they've had. That means getting state support in legislative and financial matters as well as planting trees and cutting the grass in our parks."

"On a local level, that means our job is to provide the means for our staff to implement the recreational programs they believe will meet the needs of the community," Larson added.

Comm Larson admitted that he would like to see more lighting in the parks, as well as in other districts. "Lighting is a key factor in reducing vandalism," Larson said. "When you provide enough lights in a park, you draw the adults in and that presents a double deterrent to young vandals. It allows young people who intend to correctly use the parks and recreational facilities easy and undisturbed access to them."

Last month, the park

board approved funds to light the 11 remaining tennis courts / basketball courts in the village.

"We, as commissioners, have the responsibility to set park priorities and find the means to make them realities," Larson said.

Larson has served on the Honors & Resolutions, and Legislative Committees for the IAPD for 2 years and has made several trips to Springfield in behalf of his community's recreational needs.

"Oak Lawn is the 12th largest park district in Illinois," Larson explained. "But we rate pretty poorly against the other districts in the state when it comes down to amount of park land per population, number of facilities available to residents, and programs available. "We need a strong association to get all of the park districts in Illinois involved and united before the legislators," Larson said. "Once we can present a united voice in Springfield, we can bring park problems and needs to the attention of the congressmen."

Larson appeared before the IAPD on April 30, to continue plans to strengthen their state lobby. He is also active in Senior Babe Ruth Baseball as a district dir. He is married and the father of 7 children.

Events that molded the country

The first professor of law in an American college was George Wythe, who was appointed to the chair of law at William and Mary College in 1779.

Wythe's public career spanned 50 years of American life, starting with the Royal Governors of Virginia.

As a teacher and lawyer, he did much to influence the ideas of Thomas Jefferson, who studied law with him.

Another of his students was John Marshall who was later to become Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

It was while tolling for the funeral of Marshall that the Philadelphia Liberty Bell cracked.

The first ten amendments to the Constitution — known as the Bill of Rights — have been in force since 1791.

However, three of the Original 13 States did not ratify them until 1939. They were Connecticut, Georgia and Massachusetts.

Library launches first summer bus program

The Oak Lawn Public Library launch its first Summer Bus Program on July 6.

The decision was reached June 22 by the Library Board of Directors following a month long study by James M. O'Brien, Head Librarian and Rita Bert, Children's Librarian.

"Because of budget cuts, local school districts are closing their libraries which also serve parochial school students during the summer months. This is the first time that this has been done," Ms. Bert explained. "In meetings with school representatives the request for the summer bus was the loudest appeal," she said.

The bus will serve the four sections of the village Tuesday through Friday making only two round-trips at 10 and 11 a.m.

"The free bus will be available for all Oak Lawn residents and will allow the patrons approximately an hour at the library before the return schedule," O'Brien explained.

On Tuesday the bus will serve the Southeast section of the village, starting at the Oak View School, 110th and Knox at 10 and 11 a.m. The bus will proceed at 10 minute intervals to the Lawn Manor school, 4300 W. 108th Pl.; to the Ranch Manor Shopping Center, 111th and Crawford; to the Kolmar Ave. school, W. 105th and Kolmar.

At 40 minutes after the hour the bus will then leave the McDonald school, 99th and Kostner, to the Coral theatre, 95th and Cicero arriving at the library at 55 minutes after the hour.

On Wednesdays, the bus will serve the Southwestern part of the village starting at the Sward school, 99th and Brandt ave. to the National Food Store, at 107th and Cicero; to St. Linus school, W. 103rd St. and Lawler; to the Clark school, 105th and Lockwood; to the Shopping Center at 103rd and Central Ave. arriving at the library at approximately 45 minutes after the hour.

Thursday's schedule serves the western part of the village starting at the Dearborn Heights school, 9620 S. Normandy; to the A and P, 95th and Ridgeland; to the Supermarket at 99th and Southwest Hwy.; to St. Gerald's school 93rd and 55th Ct., arriving at the library at approximately 45 minutes after the hour.

The Northwest portion of the village will be served on Friday's starting at the Lieb school, at 91st and Oak Park Ave.; to 89th Pl+ and Ridgeland; to the Harew school, 91st and Austin; to Gennaro's Drugs, 87th and Central; to the Brandt school, 8901 S. 52nd Ave. to the library.

Bus schedules will be available at the library and at various locations in the village.

Ozinga co-sponsoring major reform bills

Senator Frank M. Ozinga recently announced he is co-sponsoring three major reform bills in the General Assembly which could save the state as much as $50 million a year in welfare costs. All three bills, he said, are permissible within the framework of current federal requirements.

The first bill, aimed at cutting costs for medical services for welfare recipients, would eliminate payments for unnecessary hospitalization and non-essential items. Additionally, it would limit payment for hospitalization to 10 days per admission, or a total of 30 days per year, unless prior approval was granted by the dept and medical necessity was proven and a quarterly review of the case would be made to determine a need for continued care.

Commenting on the bill, Senator Ozinga stated, "Very few Illinois citizens have the luxury of having someone else, including insurance companies pay for special services. If the normal working person doesn't get these things free, I see no reason why we should be giving them away to welfare recipients." He also said, "The limitation on payments for hospital and nursing home care is simply common sense; there is no reason why the taxpayers should be paying bills for people who aren't sick or don't need the level of care they are receiving."

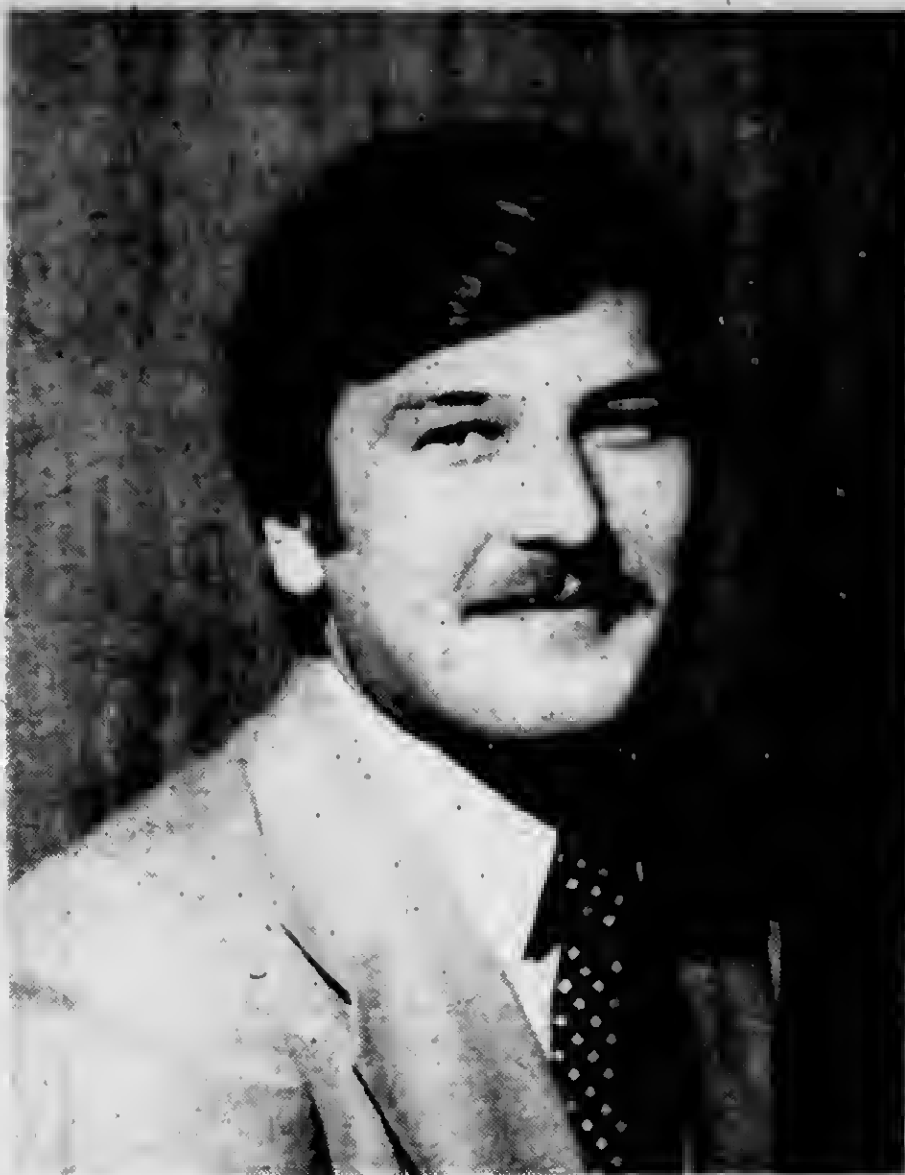

The second bill co-sponsored by Ozinga, would require the Public Aid Dept to consider the income and financial resources of a step-parent in determining claims for aid to dependent children (ADC) if the step-parent is claiming the child, or children, in question as a deduction for income tax purposes.

Since step-parents are not legally bound to financially provide for non-adoptive children, such resources and income has not been considered in determining eligibility for public aid.

"If a person claims a child as a dependent on his state or federal income tax form, he is indicating he has incurred expenses in caring for the child," Ozinga said. "It seems only reasonable

Things to wonder about

What is best for Oak Lawn, a part time lawyer or a corporation counsel employed at full time?

This may be a major issue when the decision of the supreme court will be handed down in the very near future and the residents who foot the bills should be aware of what is taking place.

In December of 1975, the ordinance passed by the sitting trustees to create a corporation counsel and legislative counsel was determined illegal and was denied. The court ruled that only the mayor, with the consent and advice of the board, can select the village attorney. At the same time, Judge Arthur Dunne who issued the ruling, said that the trustees could hire their own legislative counsel and the fees paid by the village if the taxpayers did not object. At the next board meeting the trustees hired Burton Odelson at a $300 per year retainer and there were no objections. As no previous board has had a legislative counsel, this is a first for Oak Lawn.

The board of trustees now say, through arguments made by legislative counsel Odelson, the village pays too much for legal services. He claimed that in 1975 village atty Ralph Rehnquist was paid $118,450. What he didn't say was that a good part of this comes from special assessments and although it is paid to Ralph Rehnquist it is not paid by the village.

Odelson sites the village of Skokie as one of his examples. The Skokie corporation counsel is part time and receives $21,500; a full time assistant works from within the administration and receives $21,000. There is also a second assistant who receives $7400, plus two assistants who each earn $6800. The top prosecutor earns $11,400. The combined totals come to $74,900. As in Oak Lawn, there is a 6% special assessment fee but it is turned over to the legal dept to help pay the staff. What Odelson didn't say was the amount of money earned from special assessments or what difference in the operational costs had to be paid from the village coffers.

On the other hand Rehnquist returns 2% of the special assessment fees to the village to cover any costs they may have. With the remaining 4%, Rehnquist must attend the Board of Local Improvements meetings, is board secretary, represents the village in court during assessment hearings, prepares all documents related to the subject, draws up and places legal advertisements; sets the rate and figures the cost to each taxpayer in the assessed area. This work is also done from his own office.

Rehnquist receives a $600 yearly retainer fee for attending board meetings. There are approximately 36 trustee meetings and 24 Development Board meetings per year plus special meetings. Included in the fees for which Rehnquist supplies invoices to the village, are the cost of preparing ordinances, court time defending suits against the village, related research and the cost of hiring other attorneys in connection with village business.

Rehnquist also retains his own office, pays his staff and supplies the necessary equipment, stationary, etc, down to the lowly paper clips.

I don't suggest that I am a financial wizard but for the difference being discussed here, could the village provide all of the necessary office space for several attorneys, legal secretaries and equipment necessary to function properly? Or, would it cost double or even triple, this is our concern.

Several times in this past year mayor Fred Dumke has advised Odelson that if he wishes to continue to make statements such as this at public board meetings he should be more conclusive. He said that Odelson must also supply the complete operational costs of the legal dept in Skokie or any other village he cites as examples. (Odelson has had several months to supply these figures but has not done so as yet.)

As taxpayers we would have to go along with Fred Dumke and insist that these figures are given before we can allow a change from our present village attorney system to that of a corporation counsel system.

The taxpayers should also ask if our legal fees are unduly high because of the number of ordinances the board of trustees have passed, changed and amended. Also, the number of times the village has had to be defended in court because of actions taken by the board with what appeared to be very little thought of the consequences.

There was an incident recently that failed to hit the news media. The board of trustees allowed the division of the Treasury property at 111th & Cicero and then would not allow them to build 2 restaurants on the properly zoned site. The board, more or less, used their "moratorium" on restaurants in denying the request. The Penney Company not only won their case allowing them to build the restaurants but they also found that the "moratorium" was not only illegal but in 1972 when the moratorium was voted upon the board had failed to pass an ordinance to that affect. It was also determined by the court that the village of Oak Lawn pay all the legal fees connected with the suit.

The village is in the process of drawing up the budget. With the cost of everything going up it will be a miracle if they get through another year without a raise in taxes. However, with or without a raise, we as taxpayers should know what we are paying for and what affect any changes may have on us in the years to come.

The boss depends on authority; the leader on good will.

The boss inspires fear; the leader inspires enthusiasm.

The boss fixes the blame for the break-down; the leader fixes the break-down.

The boss knows how it is done; the leader shows how.

The boss makes work a drudgery; the leader makes work a game.

To The Editor:

In Ed Berg's Basic Principles of Marketing class, a few weeks ago, we were shown a film so highly technocratic as to shock every one in the class. In order to know the trend of future customers was shown a man entirely mechanical: a perfect robot to surpass all human intelligence, even an MVCC student. Such a complete society is expected to be the consumers of the manufacturers of their time. The basic course taught us is that we must know our future consumers.

Science has developed mechanical hearts, lungs, kidneys and whatever else, so why not a complete mechanical man? According to this film this is him, the trend away from normal evolution, all happening right on our own MVCC campus. With the present construction of extended MVCC building facilities, certainly this great center of learning shall lead the world in this great social development.

This most energetic effort by the technocrats of America to create a new world society of robots to do away with our natural order of flesh and blood, MVCC student and faculty, certainly seems to be a most laudable effort towards a better society.

Considering the potential of such society for leading a peaceful and fully controlled life on MVCC campus, restrained from sin, suffering and sex, we may well imagine this earth finally becoming the paradise we mortal people could never possibly otherwise hope to attain, all having begun here on campus, fully illustrated in Ed Berg's showing of this remarkable film.

What an awful mess we naturalists have made with our system of government designed to make crooks of our politicians, charlatans of our appointments and hypocrites of our State Department. There is the shocking expense, loose budgets running wild, our national debt right into the hands of the money changers; unions fomenting human misery, creating violence, strikes, driving wages and inflation up and up; dues and assessments ever increasing and leaders manipulating memberships into many compromising situations with regard to the regular order of business, the natural order of things now completely out of order.

Come on, robots, take over, we gladly hand over our present establishment to better hands, we surrender all our responsibilities to your new society.

Why not save for sunny days too

In today's changing world and economy, you hear a lot about the uncertainties of the future and the need to put something aside for emergencies. This is nothing new—saving for a rainy day is an old tradition and is the reason why many people already save.

Perhaps then, it's time that we gave some thought to the sunny days in our lives.

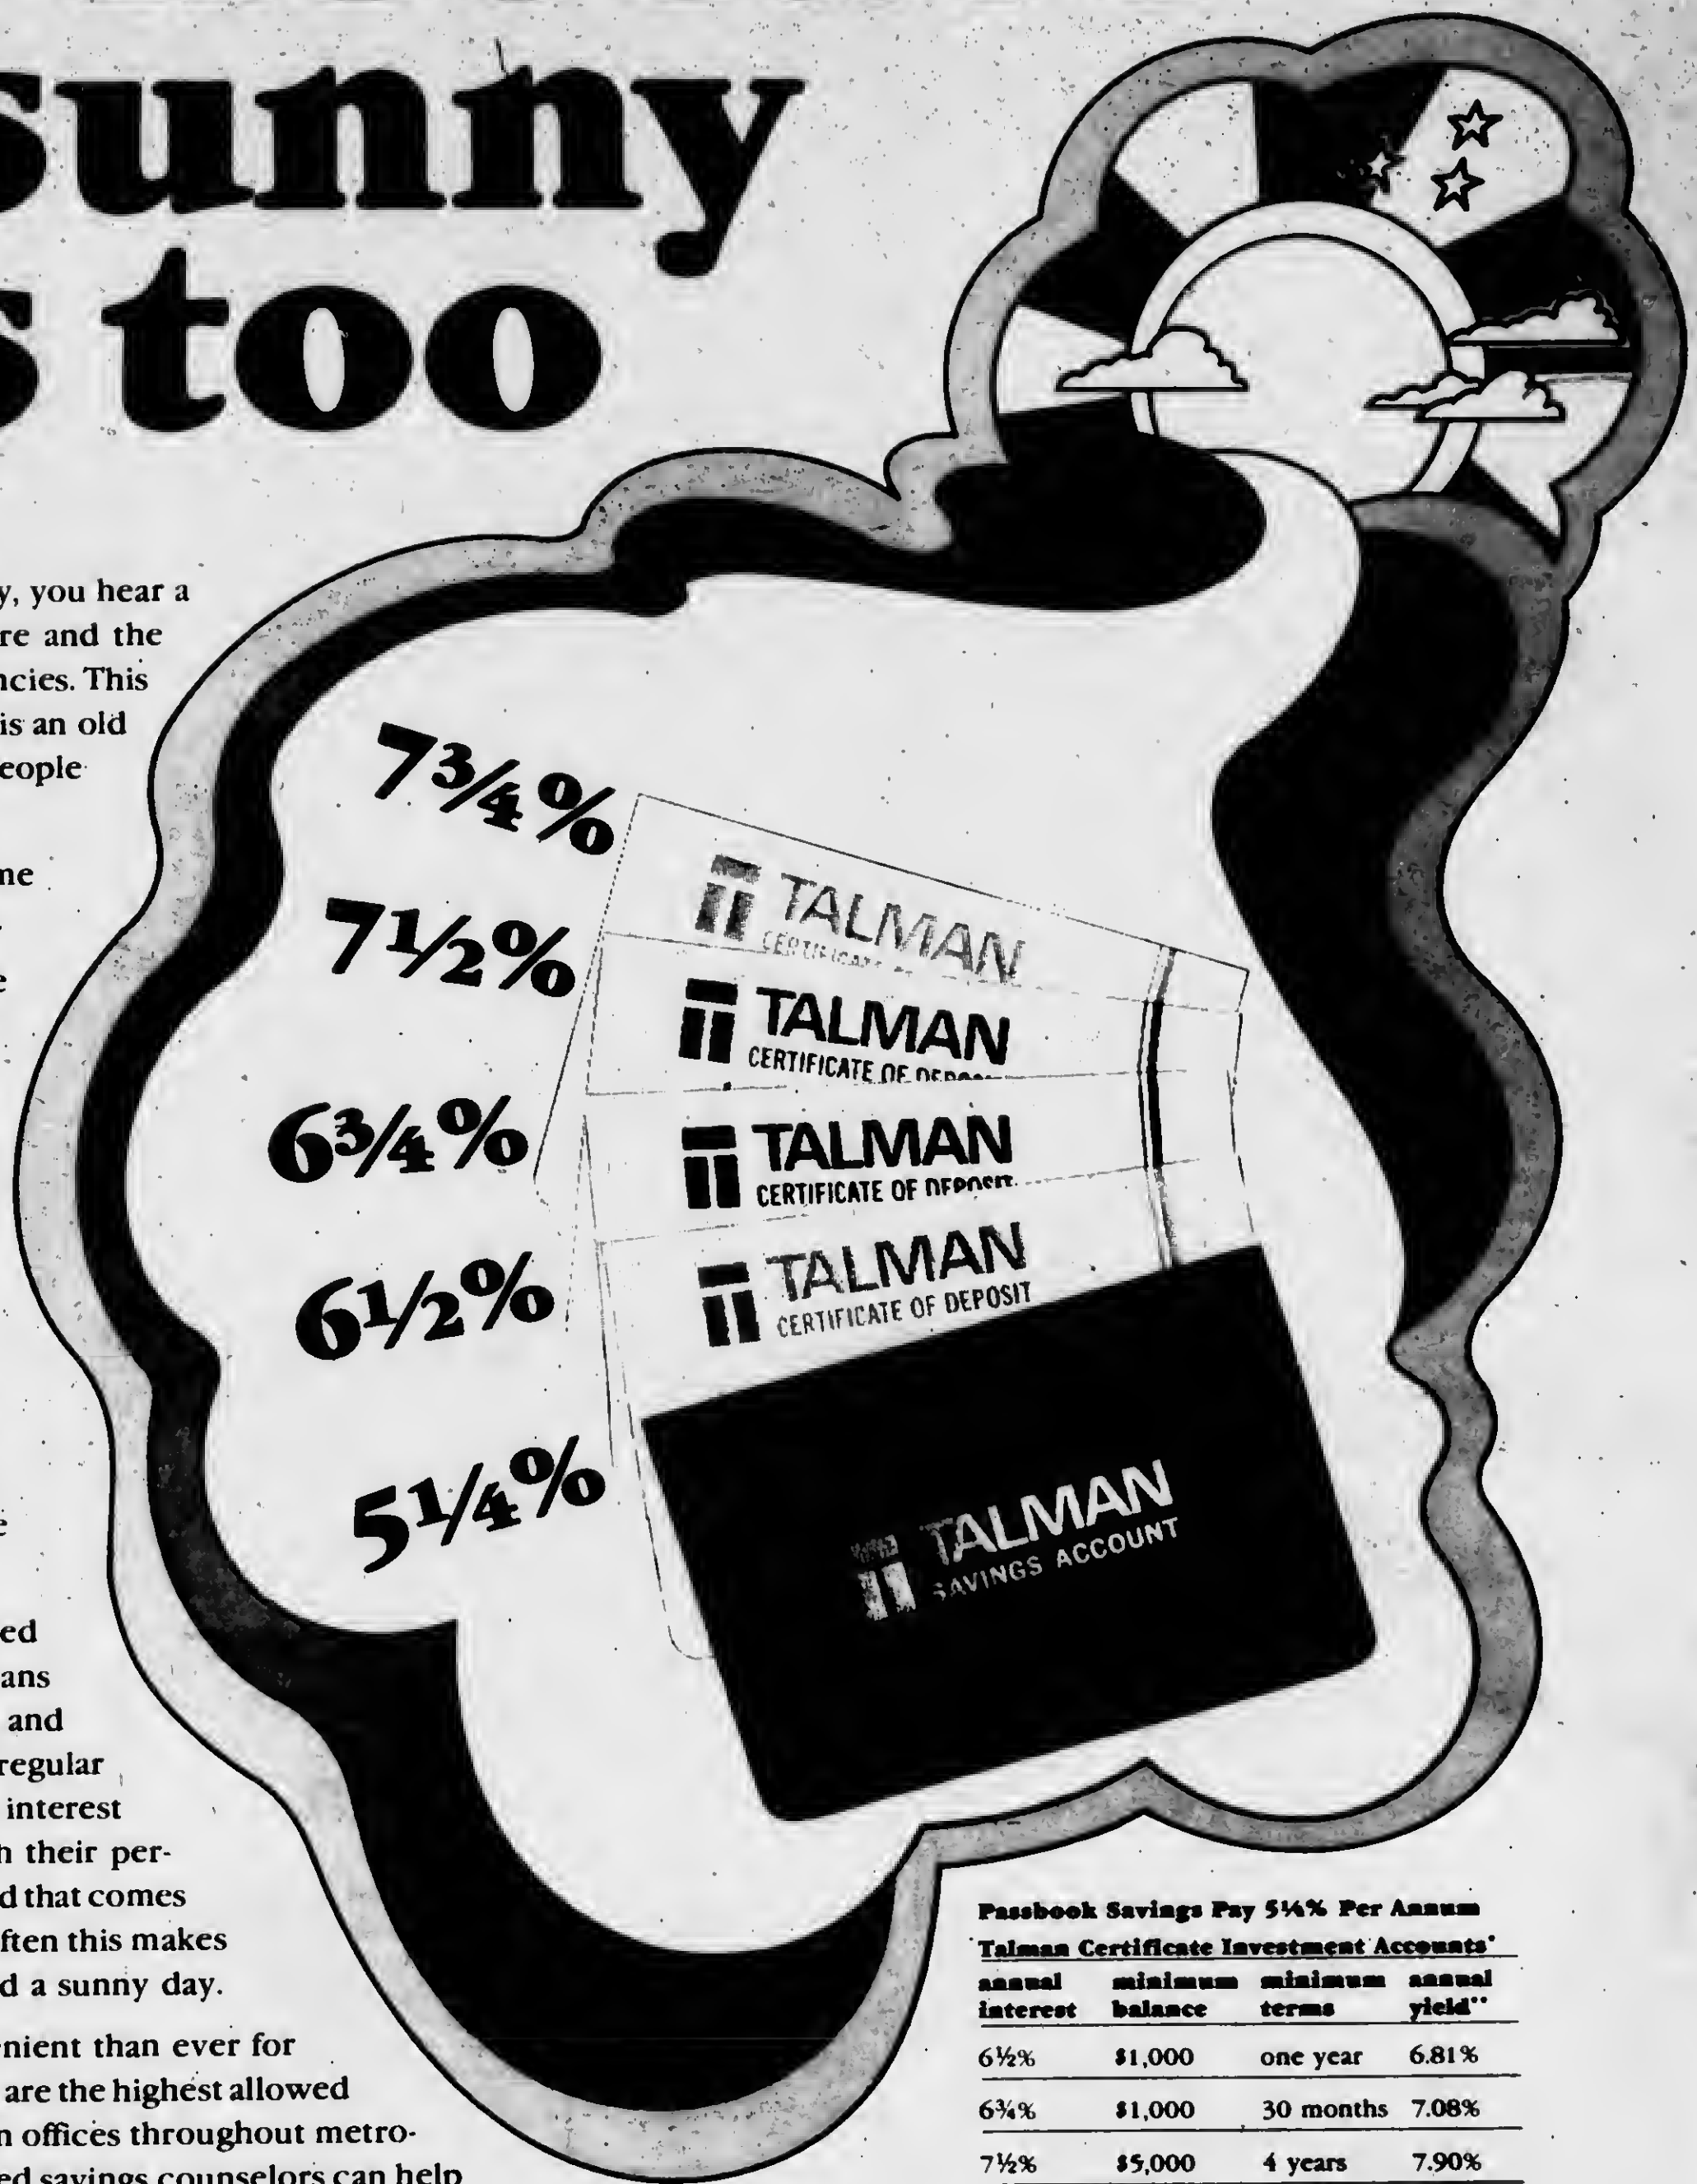

At Talman, we encourage people to save for the good days too. Most of us dream of a more enjoyable, trouble-free life. Most of us make plans for the future. Your plan might be to own your own home, to educate your children, to get ready for your retirement, or to travel or improve your standard of living through some major purchase.

Whatever your dreams, whatever your plans, in most cases savings can make them realities. And the knowledge that you are preparing for them can make life more enjoyable day by day.

For over 54 years now, Talman has helped individuals and families set up savings plans to fit their particular financial situation and future expectations. We have seen that regular saving combined with Talman's high interest rates has helped many people to reach their personal goals and achieve the peace of mind that comes with freedom from financial worries. Often this makes the difference between a rainy day and a sunny day.

Today, it is more profitable and convenient than ever for you to save at Talman. Our interest rates are the highest allowed by law. And there are now eight Talman offices throughout metropolitan Chicagoland at which our trained savings counselors can help you choose the savings plan that is best for you.

Once you start a regular savings program at Talman, it's predictable that there will be more sun than rain in your future.

Simmons students star at speaking

Simmons Junior HS students took part in and won two prizes in the recent Southwest Suburban Declamation and Spelling contest held at Orland Park Junior HS.

Debbie Dougherty, an 8th grader at the Oak Lawn school, won the first place trophy in the non-original declamation contest, competing against other junior high students from the southwest area.

Carol Witham, also an 8th grade student at Simmons, took third place in the original declamation category.

These two girls were selected to represent Simmons after winning a school-wide competition. Once chosen, they put in several weeks of daily practice with Mrs. Mary Kelly, the declamation coach. They taped and videotaped their performances, always striving for improvements.

Also in Orland Park, Simmons entered four pupils in the spelling contest: Judy Ferguson and Greg Johnson of the 8th grade and Paul Lundquist and Carl Conti of the 7th grade.

"They competed fiercely for Simmons," said Mrs. Kelly. "I think the competition proved that some things, such as the traditional spelling bee, are just too much fun to be changed by educational innovations."

via vina...

Surprise guests, all dressed up in Bicentennial costumes, that showed up at BARBARA & JERRY EASTMAN'S party on the 4th of July proved to be Jerry's grandmother and grandfather, MARIE & BILL MC LAIN. What was amazing is that they are both over 80, reside in Hometown and were on their way to another party after enjoying a few cocktails at the Eastman's.

Speaking of over 80, MRS CELIA DUMKE and MRS ANNE GWYNNE were both recently honored at a tea and given life memberships in the Community Grandmothers Club.

Congratulations are in order to MR & MRS MICHAEL MC KEAN who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 30. The McKears also live in Hometown.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to trustee JOHN HARDEK who was taken ill rather suddenly and rushed to Christ Hosp last week.

How about ALICE IHRIG who was named to represent Illinois on the newly formed National Citizens Emergency Committee to Save Our Public Libraries. They sure made a good choice, if anyone can save them Alice will.

Best of everything to DICK TWEEDIE who is still in Christ Hospital at deadline time.

In my opinion the OL CHAMBER GOLF OUTING this year was one of the best ever. Even the threat of rain during the cocktail hour to be held on the Palos CC hill didn't doubt those in charge, they had moved everything inside by the time the guests arrived. Chmn LOU MIRABELLI and his cohorts should be given a big round of applause for that one. . . Imagine a roomful of adults sitting around eating ice cream cones and fighting over balloons.

Best wishes for a happy retirement to BYFORD SWEETEN. Sweeten was employed by the Santa Fe RR.

We have the deepest sympathy that cannot be conveyed by mere words for MR & MRS KENNETH LUCAS on the untimely and tragic death of their 16 year old daughter MARY LUCAS.

The new age of leisure and its impact on society

Our modern society is entering into a new era, an era that will be unique in the history of civilization. Some call this new era the Age of Leisure.

Projections by futurists indicate that we can now expect a significantly increased life span, elective retirement in the 50's, obligatory retirement long before intellectual or physical enfeeblement and an economy that may need only two to eight percent of the population to produce food and goods.

This new Age of Leisure presents a tremendous and exciting challenge to every citizen in our society, and to our older citizens in particular. How are we going to utilize the opportunity presented in all of this new free time?

Our culture has been geared to work. We must now prepare our citizens for leisure or we will discover that people will be increasingly alienated from life, themselves, and the world about them.

The Menninger Foundation sponsors seminars on Leisure, where concerned individuals may meet and discuss better ways to utilize and understand our increasing amount of free time.

Intrinsically bound to the concept of leisure is the concept of retirement — the leisure time of the elders. The Menninger staff also sponsors seminars on retirement, urging people approaching their fiftieth year to begin to plan for all that retirement means and will involve.

The people at Menninger begin with the basic belief that the idea of retirement can be exciting! For everyone, it should mean the end of the obligations and responsibilities of work and an opportunity to begin a new and challenging phase of life devoted to self-fulfillment.

The Foundation also recognizes that this change in lifestyle dictated by retirement may often be overwhelming for those who are unprepared.

Although some changes, such as those associated with finances and living situations, are managed adequately, other equally important changes — the adjustment to extra leisure time and the acceptance of the fact that "one is growing older" — are only vaguely acknowledged, if at all.

These uniquely designed Bonds feature vignettes from the American Revolutionary period. And, all will be dated July 4, 1976. In announcing this special opportunity, Dimitry Wanda, Talman's pres said, "We are extremely pleased to be able to offer everyone in this area a chance to make the purchase of Savings Bonds a truly Bicentennial event. Those bonds bearing the July 4 date will make perfect gifts or souvenirs of our birthday celebration."

BOB BILLY'S "BILYMOBILE"

Pictured above is the "Bilymobile" which State Representative candidate Bob Billy will have traveling the 8th district his summer to do voter research and survey the voters on what issues they feel are important. Those responses will form his legislative program.

The mobile office was unveiled recently and sports a new red, white and blue design for the Bicentennial year. It also displays a big "Smiley" on the back and two on the front which have become a part of the Bob Billy campaign.

Bob hopes area resident will stop by and visit with him when the "Bilymobile" is in their neighborhoods. He plans to visit every town in the 8th district at least once during the campaign. The Bilymobile will be in Palos Heights on Fri, July 16. It will be located at 127th & Ridgeland in the Indian Trails Shopping Center from 4:30 pm to 8 pm. On Sat, July 17, it will be at 127th & Harlem at the Jewel-Osco Store from 11 am to 2:30 pm. Residents are invited to go out and express their concern.

These bonds will be available at Talman's home office at 55th and Kedzie and at all branch locations including Ranch Manor, 4046 W. 111th Street, Oak Lawn.

TV: good buy

The most challenging shopper in the world, the American consumer, has his or her own ideas about what constitutes a good buy in this age of higher prices.

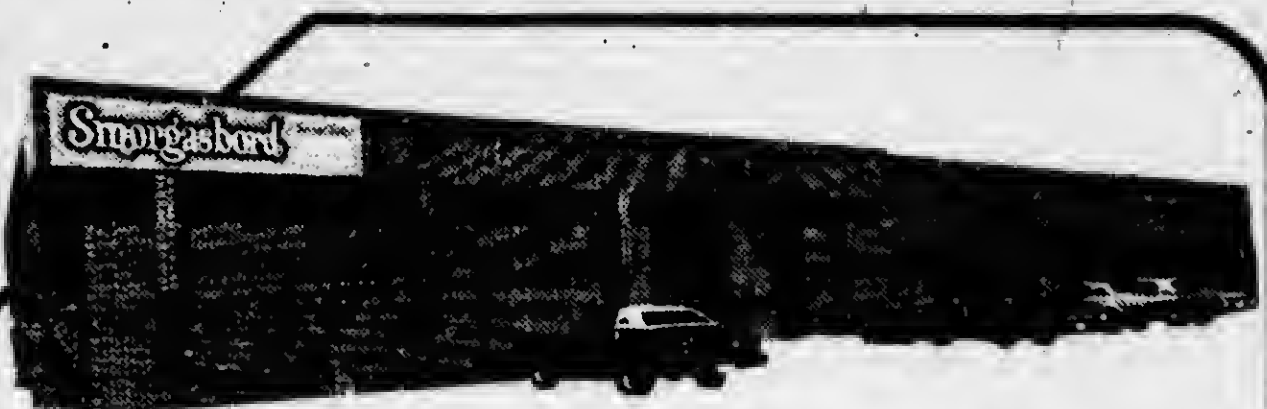

In a recent survey, where the consumer was asked to appraise the value received for the money spent, the top five best buys were listed as: poultry, black-and-white televisions, eggs, color TV and small appliances. Not surprisingly, gasoline was at the bottom of the list.

PRESBYTERIAN BICENTENNIAL NOTES

Compiled by Dr William D. Smith

"Call this war dearest friend by whatsoever name you may, but only call it not an American Rebellion. It is nothing more or less than an IRISH-SCOTCH PRESBYTERIAN REBELLION."

A letter from a Hessian Soldier

Presbyterians in Virginia thought education was essential to the existence and stability of the rising commonwealth. Therefore as the debate over American rights and independence proceeded, they made plans for a college which Presbyterians founded in 1778, named after 2 17th century English heroes John Hampden and Algernon Sydney. The incorporators of Hampden-Sidney Colleges included Patrick Henry and James Madison. Our 9th President William Harrison, the hero of Tippicanoe was a Hampden-Sydney graduate.

During the revolutionary war, 37 Presbyterian chaplains served in the militia and continental armies. They constituted 20% of the chaplains who served the revolutionary forces. Several lost their lives including James Caldwell, Phillip Fithian and John Rosburgh.

John Rosburgh, pastor of the Forks of Delaware Church, formed a volunteer company to serve as the rear guard to protect Washington's retreat in 1777 thru New Jersey. Rosburgh was captured and murdered.

James Caldwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, New Jersey, became the "Fighting Parson" during the Revolutionary War.

Miss Jane McCrea and Mrs James Caldwell were 2 Presbyterian women who became martyrs. Miss McCrea, daughter of a Presbyterian minister, was killed and scalped by Indians. Mrs Caldwell, wife of a Presbyterian minister, was shot by Hessians. The deaths of these 2 women were used in American Revolutionary propaganda to indicate how cruel it was for the British to use Indians and mercenaries in the war against non combatants.

"Here has our God erected a banner of civil and religious liberty. And prepared an asylum for the poor and oppressed from every part of the earth."

Rev George Duffield, 1783

"The American war is over, but this is far from the close of the American Revolution. On the contrary, nothing but the first act of the great drama is closed."

Benjamin Rush, Presbyterian doctor
Signer of the Declaration of Independence

Presbyterian Jacob Green was the chairman of the committee which drafted the New Jersey Constitution.

"HINTS ON CAR CARE"

by Herb Huskey

DON'T BLAME YOUR CARBURETOR

The carburetor is often blamed for troubles that start elsewhere. If the engine doesn't start with the first few turns of the starter, prolonged cranking and pumping the accelerator may cause the carburetor to flood. You'll notice a strong smell of gasoline. Don't keep grinding away on the gasoline. Turn off the ignition and wait a few minutes. Then try again. Usually, the flooded carburetor can be cleared by holding the accelerator all the way down while the starter turns. If the engine still won't start, check the ignition.

Vapor lock is a problem that sometimes occurs in hot weather when you attempt to restart an engine that has been shut down briefly. Vapor lock develops when fuel in the line boils, forming bubbles that block the flow of gasoline. This situation can be relieved temporarily by soaking rags in cold water, then holding them against the fuel line and fuel pump. If vapor lock persists, check to be sure the fuel line isn't resting against a hot part of the engine. Have your serviceman test the pressure of the pump. If carburetor replacement is necessary, we stock Rochester, Carter, Motor Craft, and Hobbey Carburetors (new and used). ALL PARTS SOLD AT WHOLESALE PRICES.

*** A calculator makes it easy

In its short lifetime, the calculator has achieved a high degree of sophistication. Descended from the basic add-subtract-multiply-divide units of 1972, new generations can do incredibly complex mathematical computations heretofore possible only with a computer.

Even simple, low-priced household units are routinely equipped with memory, constant multipliers, and dividers, square and square root and other features.

In three short years, the calculator has become a household, school and business necessity. When the United States converts to a metric system, it is believed that the home calculator will make the transition possible in a short time.

SUMMARY OF MVCC BOARD MEETING

Reps of several real estate firms interested in handling the sale of the Lownik Center for Moraine Valley College made presentations to the board of trustees at its regular meeting, June 22.

The board decision to sell the Evergreen Park off-campus facility was made earlier this year. Tentative plans are to close the Lownik Center when the second building phase of the MVCC permanent facility in Palos Hills is completed in January, 1977.

Dr. Milton Thompson, dir of the Illinois State Museum, appeared before the board to discuss possibilities for an MVCC museum. The MVCC Bicentennial Commission has proposed a college museum as a lasting tribute to the country's Bicentennial celebration.

In regular board business, the board approved payment of $620,982.81 from the educational fund; $38,022.44 from the building and maintenance fund; $17,519.58 from the auxiliary enterprise fund; $41,287.29 from the restricted purposes fund, and $16,121.17 from the student activity fund.

The board awarded the 1976-77 contract for air conditioning and heating maintenance to the low bidder, James L. Cunningham Company.

A change order for $559.80 for an additional heating system valve in Phase II was ratified.

Regular meetings of the board are held at 7 pm on the 4th Tuesday of each month in the 200 Building, 10900 S 88th Ave, Palos Hills. The public is invited.

The story of 'A Goblet'

"The Story of a Goblet"
a Smithsonian Institution traveling exhibition, is now on view at Colonial Savings and Loan, 95th & Cicero, during business hours.

"The Story of a Goblet" was conceived by the education dept of the Corning Museum of Glass and consists of photographs, prints, explanatory text and glass objects which describe the making of a goblet with an air-twist stem.

The Smithsonian Institution notes that most of the methods used in forming hand-blown glass have changed little since Roman times. The display goblet shown above, is a fine example of the survival of old techniques in the hands of skilled craftsmen working today in America.

Photographs of the glass-blowing were taken in the Steuben factory at the Corning Glass Center,
Corning, N.Y. Prints of the 18th century factory and the series showing a goblet being made then are copied from originals taken from

The display of Victorian needlework includes a fine crazy-patch throw made in 1888 from bits of silk and velvet, including political

TALMAN TALKS ABOUT

Landmarks of the Southwestern Communities

Pride in the heritage of our communities is an American tradition, and one in which we all can share.

This is why we at Talman have chosen "Landmarks of the Southwestern Communities" as the theme of a wall mural at our Oak Lawn branch office. Illustrating 24 historic area landmarks, this mural represents the respect we feel for the heritage and traditions of this area.

Traditions, you see, are important to us, because for over 50 years we have worked to build and maintain a tradition of individual attention to each customer and account. And through this office we are pleased to be able to bring this kind of personalized financial service closer to all of you who live and work nearby.

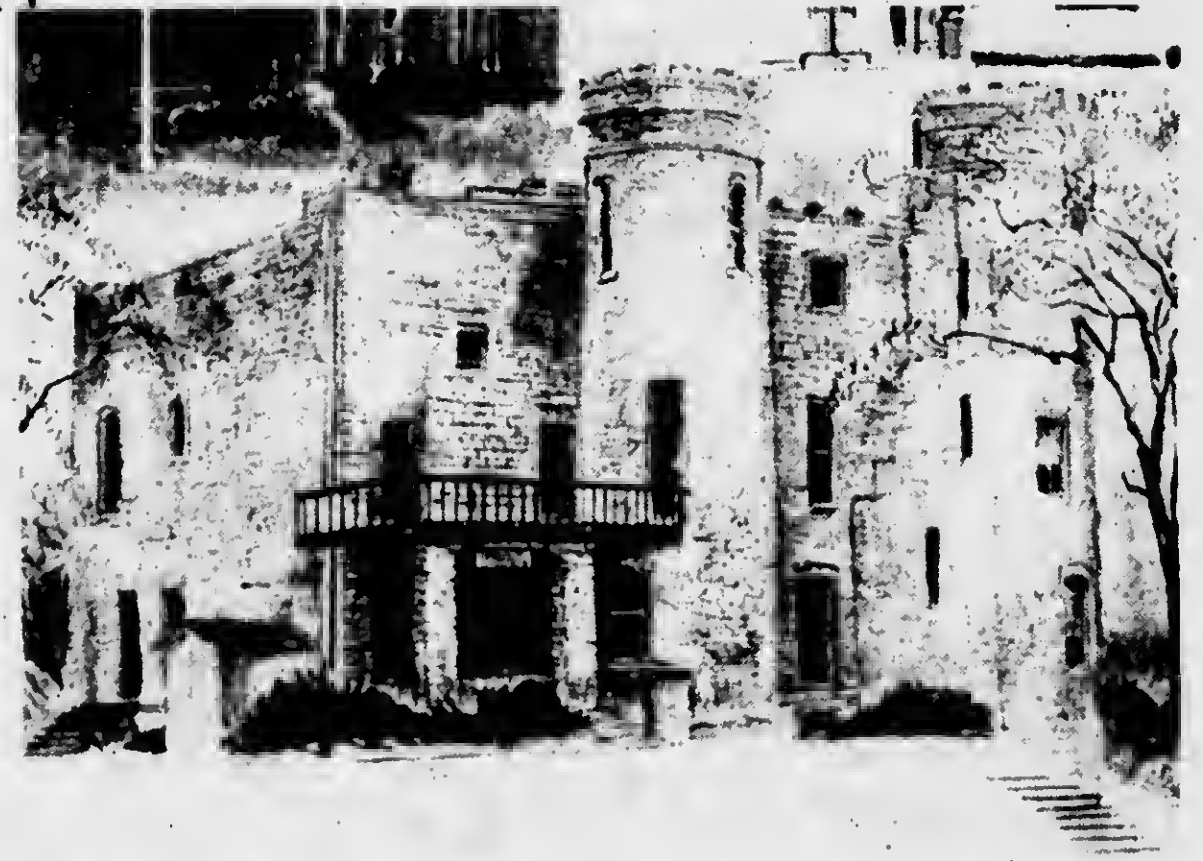

Talman in Oak Lawn is a convenient financial center at which you can start or enhance your savings program as well as make application for mortgage or home improvement financing. Among the many other family financial services offered here are tax sheltered retirement accounts, telephone transfer of funds service for businesses, and "the today way to save"—the special Talman statement savings account. Teller services include the issuance of money orders and travelers checks, utility bill payments, and the sale and redemption of U. S. savings bonds.

You are cordially invited to visit Talman at 4046 West 111th Street, in the Ranch Manor Shopping Center, Oak Lawn, from 9 to 5 on Mondays and Thursdays; 9 to 8 on Tuesdays and Fridays; and 9 to 1 on Saturdays.

Oak Lawn's 'Big Parade'

How many great American documents will you be able to identify among the 40 and more floats in the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Parade. Will you recognize the First Amendment to the Constitution, parts of the Declaration of Independence, or phases from the inaugural addresses of Presidents?

The sponsors of the floats will be out to show their colors and win a trophy too. Floats will be judged on appropriateness to the theme, originality, craftsmanship and impact by a team of judges: Kitty Feehan, an Oak Lawn artist specializing in store displays; Anna Marie Coveny, an art teacher at OL Community High School; and Rita Heidke, an art teacher at Richards HS in Oak Lawn.

Six trophies are to be awarded - first, second and third for professionally done floats and first, second and third for hand done entries.

The parade will start at 95th & Cicero, Saturday, Sept 4 at 2 pm and travel west to Southwest Hwy.

Booths sponsored by local orgs will line the route to serve the nutritional needs of those who will watch more than 40 floats.

Art & Antique Show & Sale

Shown above is Ila Nuccio (r) from Morton Grove, Ill, and the girls are her daughter, Mickey and a friend, Rita Allison. Ila is well-known throughout the midwest for her skill in spinning both wool and flax. She will appear in the parade on the Antique Show float and she will give demonstrations in dying wool and other materials on all three days of the show.

Admiring one of the trophies to be awarded to winning floats in the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Parade, Sept 4 are (l to r) Anna Marie Coveny and Kitty Feehan, both judges; Pat Stancik, OL Bicentennial Commission member and decorations chmn for the parade, and Milt Anderson, parade route chmn.

Antique dealers from all over the Midwest will be showing their wares at the Bicentennial Antique Show sponsored by the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission.

Dealers will set up exhibits at OLCHS, 95th & Southwesy Hwy, and will be open Friday, Sept 3, 5 to 9 pm; Sat, Sept 4, 9 am to 9 pm and Sun, Sept 5, 9 am to 6 pm.

A special feature for visitors will be demonstrations in the art of spinning.

Exhibitors will place emphasis on antiques dating from the early years of the United States. Many early families settling the Middle West and West brought furniture and household items with them, accounting for the great number of antiques of Colonial and Federal periods found in this area.

Mrs Pat Hayden is in charge of arrangements for the show and may be contacted at 636-2626 for further information.

Samplers on display at Colonial S & L

Two lovely exhibitions from the collections of the Smithsonian Institution are now on display at Colonial S&L, 95th & Cicero, during business hours. Victorian Needlework, circulating under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service, is a display of 70 objects reflecting the taste of that era. Miss Doris Bowman and Mrs. Grace Cooper of the Division of Textiles selected the artifacts from the Smithsonian's extensive collections.

Brought to Oak Lawn by the Bicentennial Commission, the display includes various types of needlework and the patterns and tools used in their creation. For example: "Mary, Queen of Scots, Mourning over the dying Douglas", a 4 1/2 x 3 1/2 woolwork picture copied on canvas from a hand-colored pattern which won its teenage creator a medal at the American Institute Fair in 1856; a crazy-patch throw for the parlor made in 1888 from bits of silk and velvet, including a "Cleveland for President" ribbon. Oak Lawn is the only community in Illinois to host this Smithsonian exhibit.

Prior to the Victorian era, needlework had been the domain of ladies with few domestic responsibilities. As commercial patterns became readily available in magazines, every class could produce its own needlewomen. Bicentennial chmn Dottie Olsen noted, "To many, the Victorian era signifies an excess of ornamentation and a kind of tastelessness. But you cannot help but admire the incredible patience and meticulous work which was required of the Victorian needlewoman to produce these pieces."

Visitors should enter from the north lobby doors. The first floor exhibit will be open Mondays and Fridays from 9 am to 8 pm, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 am to 4 pm and on Saturdays from 9 am to 1 pm. There is no charge for admission.

Traveling Public Information Center

The Traveling Public Information Center from the office of the Secretary of State will be in Oak Lawn during the Labor Day weekend, it was announced this week by Michael J. Howlett. Experienced driver license personnel will man the center to answer questions and distribute free copies of "Illinois Rules of the Road" and "Bicycle Rules of the Road." There will also be vision testing.

The center will be located at the Bicentennial tent east of the Holiday Inn on 95th St. Hours will be 2 to 5 pm Sat, Sept 4; noon to 10 pm Sept 5 and noon to 9 pm on Sept 6.

Old Fashioned Days

Monday, Sept 6 will be a day of ethnic entertainment in the Oak Lawn Bicentennial tent just east of the Holiday Inn on 95th St. This is one of three great days in Oak Lawn's celebration of a modern Corn Dance, the Colonial name for days of fun and feasting just before the winter. Saturday, Sept 4, will see the great parade, followed by a dinner honoring Astronaut Navy Commander Robert L. Crippen. Sunday will have continuous entertainment under the big top from 1 to 10 pm. And all three days will find local orgs vending their wares, including tasty foods from booths on the parade route and in the tent.

But Monday is the melting pot, opening at 1 pm with the Menard Whirlers Square Dancers and continuing through Stella Novark and her Polish dancers; Greek dancers from St Constantine and Helen Church; Dennis Dennehy's Irish dancers; Frank Zapolis and his Lithuanian dancers and Jerry Teresi and his Imperials with a one hour Italian review with singing, dancing and comedy.

Sunday's program will begin at 1 pm with the Southwest Chapter of the Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, followed by magician Billy Bishop; Cammie & Company; the Banana Splits (who will be on hand from 1 pm to talk with children); Mason's Rock Band, the Jim Doyle Review and Upper U.S.

Families are urged to bring picnic lunches and stay for the shows. Food booths will have a good selection of extras, and there will be tables and chairs for comfort. There is no admission charge.

SMITHSONIAN DISPLAY AT COLONIAL SAVINGS & LOAN

It's the grand opening of the two exhibits from the Smithsonian Institution, with Ernest Kolb, Oak Lawn clerk (left); William Sullivan, vice-chmn of the Oak Lawn Bicentennial Commission; Vincent Barcelona of Colonial Savings and Loan, where the exhibits may be visited, and, in Edwardian costume, Mrs Linda Gray, secy of the Bicentennial Commission. Sullivan holds a portion of the exhibit on Victorian Needlecraft, which shows the expansion of elaborate handwork based on the availability of commercial patterns. Exhibit may be viewed during business hours at Colonial and will be in Oak Lawn through Sept.

1893 WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION RELIVED AT FIRST NATIONAL OF EVERGREEN

Latest Bicentennial attraction at the First National Bank of Evergreen Park, 3101 W 95th Street is a large photo display of the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago 83 years ago. Views are from a portfolio of old lithographs belonging to the Michaels Family, 8756 S Mozart Avenue, Evergreen Park. Yellowing pictures were re-photographed, retouched and enlarged by the bank's new Audio Visual Department, to enhance and bring out all the interesting detail in enlarged form. Mrs Mabel Michaels is seen dressed in the period of 1893 as she and her daughter Lori Bell concentrate on a picture of the Ferris Wheels, which was the world's largest and the main attraction of the fair. The World's Columbian Exposition photos will remain on display, at First National, through September 17.

Visit the Encampment

From Saturday thru Monday the troops and families of the Northwest Territorial Alliance will be in residence on campgrounds north of the Holiday Inn. A complete program of events will be carried out as the families show Colonial customs. Military men and their families live in the encampment to show you how tent life worked. The men competed in games and military drills; women cooked and did the "tent-keeping," and children played games and helped with the chores.

The Encampment welcomes visitors during the day and invites them to witness the special events.

O'Neill is quoted as saying, "I am very appreciative of the opportunity offered by the mayor and board of trustees to serve my home community in the capacity of village manager. Working with department heads and staff who have shown a professional approach to municipal service is one of the most attractive features in accepting this new position. I am proud the mayor and board could look to their own department heads in making this selection. At this point, I look forward to working with the mayor, board of trustees, village employees and residents of this community."

Last days for voter registration

Village clerk Ernie Kolb wishes to remind all of the residents of voting age that the last day of registration before the November 2 election is Sept 17, 1976 to 5 pm.

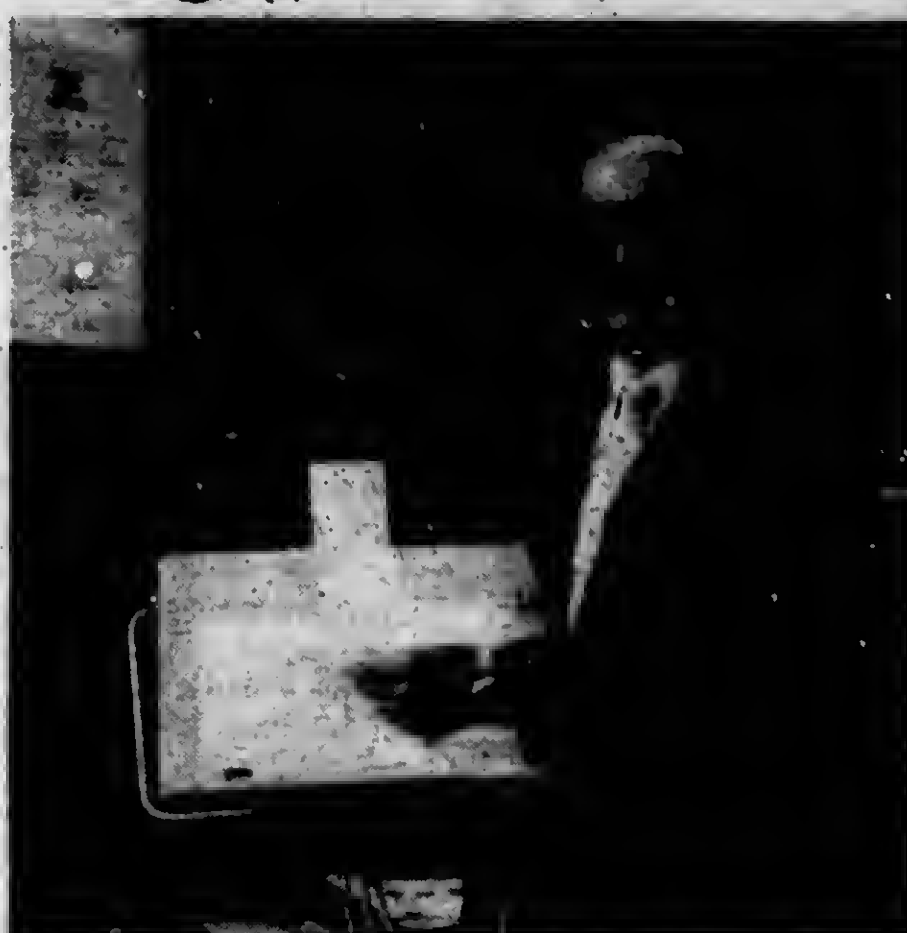

With special assistance from the League of Women Voters, there will be additional hours when the village hall will be open to service the public. The dates and hours are: Saturday, Sept 11, 9 am until noon;

Tuesday, Sept 14 from 7 to 9 pm, along with their regular hours of 8:30 am to 5 pm, Monday thru Friday.

A second notice, with regards to the voting process, has been issued by County Clerk Stanley Kusper Jr. at a recent press conference.

Suburban Cook County voters using the new punch system in the Nov 2 presidential election will get a chance to practice next month on more than 900 demonstration models.

Models of the new $5-million voting system will be set up in all Jewel, National and Dominick's supermarkets in the suburbs and in many banks, savings and loan assns, libraries, and village and twp clerks' offices including Oak Lawn.

Ernie Kolb is showing the small and compact punch card system that will be used in the Nov 2 election. On Tuesday, Stanley Kusper met with the suburban clerks in the OL Holiday Inn to explain the simplicity of the new operation. Kolb said that he is in negotiations at this time with Cook County so that Oak Lawn will have not only the punch system but will have the "mini computers" for its election in April 77.

Under the new system, each voter will receive a card and a stylus to punch out the names of the candidates for whom he is voting. After the polls close, the cards will be fed into a mini-computer and tabulated.

Kusper said he expects to have 10,400 booths about five booths in each of the 2300 polling places on election day.

The new system is faster - vote totals should be known within one hour after the polls close, he said - and more economical - the county will save $600,000 a year in storage, transportation, and printing costs.

President Gerald Ford, in a statement to the ALA Centennial Conference in Chicago, July 20, announced his intention to issue the official call for the conference, which will probably be held in late 1978 or early 1979. on the committee which is planning the Illinois pre-White House Conference.

President Ford's statement said, "It is my hope that the White House Conference... will... provide the impetus for advancing the quality of America's informational services."

Huskey offers sr. citizen directory

Herb Huskey, 8th district Republican candidate for the Illinois House, has announced the publication of a senior citizen directory for district residents.

The booklet features a multiple listing of major programs and services available to persons age 60 and over from various private, state and federally supported facilities in the local area. Employment, rehabilitation, health, education, housing, recreation and among the topics covered.

"The challenge of helping our senior citizens live with dignity is not an social opportunities are easy one," Huskey said, "but this type of information can help us reach that goal."

"This directory not only provides our seniors with expanded opportunities for their important community involvement, but also lets public officials better assess the needs and weaknesses that still require correction."

Copies of the directory are available without charge to individuals or groups on a first come, first serve basis. Requests should be sent to Huskey at 6201 W 95th St, Oak Lawn, 60453 or phone 424-5000.

Dining with Nadine..

At the risk of sounding repetitious, "It's party time in Oak Lawn!" And you're invited. Me too. It will be absolutely out of this world wonderful since we will have astronaut Navy Cmd. Robert Crippen as our Grand Marshal of the Bicentennial Labor Day parade and celebration. So... join in the fun!

Remember to stop by the lot east of the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn on 95th Street as a lot of the festivities will be held there and you don't want to miss anything. Check your newspaper (Village View, of course!) for more information on what's happening and where. This will be a community event, so count on spending the whole weekend.

You will be happy to discover that all of our local and neighboring restaurants and lounges have prepared unusually delicious or abundant menus for this very special occasion. So, experiment. Try a new restaurant, cafe or lounge. Eat, drink and be merry for ITS HOLIDAY TIME!

*****

The ROYAL PALACE has arranged a royal treat for you. In fact, you'll think it is harvest time in Merry Olde England while you are there. The Master of the Kitchens has plenty of home (or perhaps it is castle) made soup to start your meal with taste appeal. Then a fresh, crisp salad with your favorite dressing... dressing that is made from their secret recipes. You will have a difficult time deciding which main course to choose due to the vast selection of super-fine dinners. But no matter what you have, I know you will enjoy it. My husband tried their pan fried baby frog legs saute and just raved about their delicate flavor and tenderness.

*****

GREENE'S WEST is an award winning restaurant that gives you first class service at economy prices. You can order a martini or manhattan for only 75 cents after 4 p.m. and have them bring it with some hot and cold hor d'oeuvres. And on Wednesday, try their lobster special with 3 drinks for only $6.75! Or stop in on Thursday and try their prime rib for $4. And Friday is "all you can eat" night at Greene's: pan fried perch or fried shrimp for $4.95.

*****

SENESE'S wants to make September a smashing success for you! They have prepared a fantastic menu, complete down to the last bottle of wine, that is designed to please your palate and your pocket. You will be surrounded by lovely decor that favors comfort and served by a friendly, smiling staff. You will receive some complimentary wine, then pick and choose at their salad and bread bar before your dinner arrives. Now, how can you beat that?

*****

THEODORAS, that new restaurant on 95th near Western, may have a Greek name but they're All-American! They open at 5:30 am for breakfast skippers who want to break their bad habit and enjoy a good nourishing meal before putting in a full morning at the office. They have a variety of midday meals for luncheoners also. And don't forget supper! At Theodoras that is.

LOOK HERE FOR DINING

EDMUND'S is always a restful spot with a quiet carpeted atmosphere. The food is always excellent, especially the Friday lake perch. For entertainment you can listen to Mike Davis while you sip on a cool drink with dinner or sit at the very relaxing bar.

Edmunds also features banquet rooms to take care of weddings or whatever needs your group may have.

*****

If you are in the mood for a cozy, cozy place to dine try LOUIE T's. Lovely atmosphere and good food. Especially the steaks seem to have something in common with the chief because they are turned out just as you ordered them.

The mess on Southwest Hwy doesn't seem to have hurt the trade so they must be doing something right.

FOUR EAGLES has treats for every day in the week. I'm especially partial to the ribs and their full slab of Canadian Baby BBQ ribs at $6.95 is a treat. Included with the price is 2 drinks before dinner, wine with dinner and an after dinner drink. However, on Saturday and holidays, only one drink before dinner is allowed. They also have a menu for children under 12 which always helps, ribs or shrimp at a mere $2.45.

Four Eagles has professional entertainment every evening and is quite a popular night spot in the area. (Please see next page)

Plans are now being finalized for an "Oktoberfest," an authentic German Beer and Food Festival to be held Sept 17 at St Nicholas Hall, 103rd and Kolmar in Oak Lawn, from 6:30 pm to 1 am. This gala event is being sponsored by the Independent Homeowners of Oak Lawn to honor their village trustees. Co-chmn Dr Tom Powell and Matt Lamb have enlisted the services of the "Zum Frankfurter Hof," a German restaurant located in Frankfurt, Illinois, which will provide a German-style meal. Along with the dinner, there will be music and dancing in a "beer garden" atmosphere. Tickets are available at $7.50 per person and include the dinner and two drinks. For reservations, call 636-1094.

MAMA LUIGI'S has set the standard of perfection for over twenty years and they are still one of my favorite places for dinner and, on weekends, dancing. You'll find Italian cuisine in all of its old world glory, wine fit for a king, American dishes Mrs George Washington would have loved to serve in the first White House, and beautiful music to dine by on Wednesday, Friday and on Saturdays. Let's face it, Mama Luigi's is a great place to eat any day of the week!

NIKOS will be open until 4 am for the late night partiers. They have Sax Mallard and Jackie Welch entertaining thru the week and dancing to Saxie on Sunday night so you can trip the light fantastic across the dance floor. Of course, if you want to come early and have dinner, you'll discover a rich selection to choose from. Nikos is known for "excellence" especially since they started serving flaming dishes that are prepared at your table! (It certainly adds a dramatic flair to your evening!)

Nikos wants you Early Risers to share Sunday with them at their Champagne Brunch. Nikos will celebrate their third anniversary very soon and they hope you will join in the festivities.

*****
ORIENT VIEW says kick off your shoes and go "oriental"! Or, if you prefer, leave your shoes on and dine Cantonese anyway. They have meals that are so delicious you can hardly believe your taste buds. It makes eating a unique experience. Their whole way of cooking makes everything seem extraordinary, including your evening.

Orient View also has a carry-out service, in case you want to enjoy an oriental night at home and invite the neighbors over for a party.

*****
Have a taste for pizza? RIDGEWAY MANOR has it! That's right. Ridgeway decided to add pizza and sandwiches to their huge smorgasbord setting and it turned out great. Everybody likes it; the kids, Grandma, Dad. Its really worth the little inconvenience of the repair work being done on Southwest Highway.

Ridgeway has a small, intimate lounge on the side for you and a dining section for those who want less privacy or have the teenagers along. It is casual dining though, no matter where you sit.

*****
BEACON restaurant has a cocktail on hand, ready and waiting for you "back to school" shoppers who run out of steam in the middle of the afternoon. You know, if you would only stop by and have lunch at Beacon's you wouldn't get so tired during your shopping spree. So relax (slip your shoes off if you want) and order something from their luncheon or dinner menu.

*****
CONDESA DEL MAR hits the target three times with a perfect score! Their COCO'S CAFE is an easy going coffee shop that opens at 6 am and has some of the best coffee I've tasted in years. And their COCO LOCO SHOW ROOM is a wonder—a no cover charge, no minimum for dinner show, place that brings you the best entertainers "Live for Hollywood". Now that certainly hits the spot, right?

But, did you know that the Condesa Del Mar also has a fashion show every Thursday afternoon with Fashions by Colette. This is a treat you shouldn't miss! Its a great place to get together with friends over lunch and enjoy the fine display of up-to-date seasonal wear.

*****
How about REILLY'S DAUGHTER PUB, newly opened in Ranch Manor. How can you beat 99 cents for a corned beef, ham or roast beef sandwich served hot or cold with a slice of cheese, if you wish, at no extra cost. Also...with the sandwich, you can purchase a bag of potato chips for one "lone" penny. How about that!!

Reilly's Daughter opens at 11 am just in time for lunch. Almost forgot, they have great entertainment on Sunday evening too.

Hypertension testing free at Talman

A hypertension unit of the Chicago Board of Health will take blood pressure readings free of charge on Friday, Sept 3, between 9 am and 8 pm in the lobbies of Talman Federal Savings and Loan Assn, 5501 S Kedzie Ave.

"Most people with high blood pressure have no symptoms at all. The only way to find out whether or not you have high blood pressure is to have your blood pressure checked," explained Harry J. Siwkowski, manager of public relations at Talman.

It is estimated that 10% of all adult Americans have high blood pressure. In the Chicago area alone, 360,000 people suffer from hypertension. These cases have been detected and are receiving medical treatment. When undetected or ignored, however, hypertension may lead to heart disease. After hypertension has been discovered, the patient's physician determines the best course of treatment.

Talman is offering the blood pressure readings in cooperation with the board of health of the City of Chicago. The service will be available to anyone who wishes it.

"It takes only a few minutes to have a blood pressure reading taken," said Siwkowski, "and Talman hopes that many people will take advantage of this opportunity."

LOCAL BRIEFS

via vinda...

IRENE MANWARING and ANGELINE PODOLSKI, both of OL, were among the 76-77 Angeline Esposito Senior Citizen Scholarships.

MARYANNE and LES ANDERSON were happily married for 21 years this past August. That's the way he told it to me.

How about trustee JOE VOGRICH managing to get the long awaited signal lights at 103rd & Lawler. Not content with that he got 4 way "stops" at 105th & Long. Now if he could just keep the prairies cleaned up in Dist 5.

VIRGINIA SCHNEIDER just keeps moving along. She has just learned that her book, "Retarded Persons and Their Families Speak" will be published by the Nelson-Hall Publishing Co of Chicago. It will be in both hard cover and paper back and will be out in about one year.

The many, many friends of HAZEL LYNGLIP wish her a speedy recovery after undergoing surgery in Christ Hosp. The Lyngklip's, Hazel & Bob, of West Alexander Pl, have placed for the 3rd year in succession in the OL Garden Club's "Beautiful Yard Contest." There's no denying the beautiful yard, but it seems to be the opinion of most of the people that they should get the "Beautiful Neighbor Award," cause they're sure nice to live near.

DR SAMUEL LEVINS, OL podiatrist, participated in sessions at the 64th Annual Meeting of the American Podiatry Assn, at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

Speaking of Dallas, it will take DAVIS BOYD, pres of the OL Chamber of Commerce, at least a month to come down after the big dinner for Commander Robert Crippen on Saturday, Sept 4.

Now, speaking of the dinner, if you're wondering about it and still have the opportunity, by all means go! This will be truly the kind of COMMUNITY EVENT that we should have a lot more of.

Just heard that SHERRY HARDEK, daughter of John Hardek, is in the hospital. Have no further news as yet and it's press time.

Young DANNY BEKTA has been in and out and has been having a rough go of it. I hear he's coming a long now and might be home by now. Danny is the son of Mr & Mrs Gene Bekta.

Sorry about the lack of village news and items that just didn't get in the paper. But - how often do we have a 200th Birthday!! Enjoy the BIG PARADE, Saturday, on 95th at 2 pm.

"HINTS ON CAR CARE"

by Herb Hickey

INTERIOR CAR CARE

Shaggy dogs, muddy feet, wet clothes and a melting Ice Cream bar is not only an unsightly mess, but if not properly cleaned it can harm the protective finish of your car's interior.

A vacuum cleaner should be used to clean the upholstery (fabric) and pile carpeting to prevent the dirt from being ground in. To remove stains from fabric upholstery, follow the instructions for the particular type of material, as outlined in your owner's manual. Never use volatile fluids, such as gasoline, naphtha, turpentine, strong laundry soaps and bleaches or carbon tetrachloride.

Clean vinyl upholstery or trim by wiping with a damp cloth or sponge. On light-colored vinyl, a mild detergent may be used. After cleaning, go over the area with a cloth dipped in plain water and dry with an old towel.

Seat belt webbing should be cleaned with soap or mild detergent. Bleach will weaken the fibers.

Regular cleaning prevents discoloration and adds life to the materials. Interior and exterior care is a good do-it-yourself project for the whole family.

RIDGELAND AUTO PARTS has added many new car-care items to their regular stock. Stop in and talk it over.

Volunteers thanked at Coffee Klatch

Over 100 volunteer aides were thanked recently at a Coffee Klatch in the St Linus Parish Center for the time and effort each had donated during the past school year.

These volunteer women helped as teacher aides for the ICE Program, in the Learning Center and Library, as Picture Lady, as room mothers and in fund raising activities such as monthly "hot dog days".

Entertainment was provided by the Senior Band under the direction of Mr Patrick J. Henning. Sister Kathleen showed slides depicting various activities had taken place throughout the school year.

Sister Adria graciously thanked all of the ladies and presented a letter of appreciation from supt of Archdiocesan Schools, Rev H. Robert Clarke, to each of the volunteers.

Due to the cooperation and dedication of the participants in the Volunteer Program at St Linus School the students have been given an opportunity to enjoy a richer learning experience.

Students in the sixth and seventh grades baked cookies and pastries which were enjoyed with coffee.

Russo co-sponsoring 'workfare' program for welfare recipients

Congressman Marty Russo is cosponsoring legislation that establishes work requirements for some welfare recipients. The "workfare" program already has been tried in pilot programs throughout the country, and Russo points out that Thornton Township is successfully operating such a program.

"We know this approach to public assistance works," Russo commented, "and that it serves two valuable purposes: eliminates free-loaders from the welfare rolls and gives those interested in working the opportunity to do so. They can discover the dignity of work while they gain job experience; gain self-respect by being useful.

"The way welfare is presently set up, it removes the incentive for people to find jobs and as a result it removes the opportunity for people to try to better themselves. Welfare is a trap. Workfare is an opportunity."

The legislation Russo supports establishes across-the-board workfare in the federal programs for food stamps, public housing, and aid for dependent children. The bill would require unemployed able-bodied adults, 18 thru 64, not responsible for the care of infant children to work in public service jobs for the value of their welfare benefits. State governments would operate workfare with the Federal Government paying half the administrative cost. Local and State governments would receive the benefits of the work performed by welfare recipients.

"Early data from the workfare pilot projects under the food stamp program shows that savings in welfare benefit outlays would more than offset the administrative cost of workfare," Russo said. "This is good news for those of us that have long been concerned about the waste in government programs. Finally, we are spending our money to assist the needy in a way that is equitable and reasonable. There is no interest in punishing people for being poor, but we all know the welfare rolls include people who don't belong there. Well, those people disappear when you institute the work requirements."

Less taxes-more services from Worth Township

Worth Township recently announced that it had received a letter from Herman L. Penner, Chief, Public Participation/Compliance, Intergovernmental Relations, Office of Revenue Sharing. The letter in part stated, "We have reviewed the documentation and find that the government of Worth Township has fully complied with the provisions of Subpart B. We therefore conclude our monitoring actions of your government. Thank you for your cooperation."

Clerk Murphy, when contacted, stated that it should be noted that thruout this investigation, not one penny of revenue sharing money was lost to the Township. Also that in the three years that this board has been in office, approximately $840,000 has been issued to the following organizations: Family and Mental Health Services of Southwest Cook County, Blue Island Citizens for the Mentally Retarded, Park Lawn School and Activity Center, A Place in the Sun, Sertoma Job Training Center, Crisis Center for South Suburbia, South Suburban Council on Alcoholism, Reach Out in Blue Island, Illinois-Wisconsin Sertoma Center for Communicative Disorders, Oak Lawn Historical Society, PLOWS Council on Aging, public park and library districts and various charitable, volunteer, senior citizen and youth organizations within the Township.

Directly due to revenue sharing dollars, the Worth Township Clinic had been able to expand its facilities and 10,000 Worth Township residents took advantage of the Clinic in the last fiscal year. Approximately 720 young people belonged to the Worth Township Youth Commission Drop In Center and many activities, including ski trips, trips to Great America, etc have been afforded to young people of Worth Township at a very nominal cost due to revenue sharing dollars.

Clerk Murphy also stated that the complaint as to the means and method of issuing revenue sharing monies has never been received at the Township and therefore concludes it was an apparent political attack. Since their election, the Worth Township Board has increased services and not increased taxes.

The Worth Township Board has urged residents to check their real estate tax bill to see that in these years of spiralling inflation, Worth Township has not increased its levy and yet has more than quadrupled the services to the residents of the Township thru its wise use of revenue sharing money and its expertise in fiscal matters.

Five Critical Elections

Without the glare of the television lights and the huge press corps of today, yesterday's candidate had to rely on a ready wit and oratorical brilliance to build his public esteem while skewering his opponent with a well-aimed barb. At least that's what the Oak Lawn Historical Society has discovered while doing background research for their current Smithsonian exhibition FIVE CRITICAL ELECTIONS. They ask what candidate today would claim as did Calvin Coolidge to be the "defender of the righteous and a juggernaut to wrong?"

Political missiles from one's opponents were also more colorful. One of the elections included in the exhibit was particularly hard-fought in 1896. William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, the Democratic nominee, was dubbed by his supporters the "Boy Orator of the Platte". A Republican Senator said that Bryan was indeed like the Platte River, being "only six inches deep but six miles wide at the mouth."

Bryan also initiated the "whistlestop" campaign, traveling 18,000 miles by rail, making hundreds of speeches from observation car platforms. During one of these speeches, he cried out, "I wish I had the wings of a bird to fly to every village and hamlet in America to tell the people about this silver question." An obviously Republican member of the audience retorted, "You'd be shot for a goose before you've flown a mile."

FIVE CRITICAL ELECTIONS is open to the public from 1 - 5 pm, Monday thru Friday. For further information on the exhibit, call 425-3424. Membership in the Oak Lawn Historical Society is open to anyone with a sincere interest in the preservation of Oak Lawn's history. Membership information may be obtained by writing the society at 9526 South Cook Avenue, Oak

THERE'S NO WAY TO BREAK THIS TO YOU GENTLY.

We're asking the Illinois Commerce Commission for another rate increase. A substantial increase, in two installments: Half this fall, half next summer.

Obviously, we don't expect anyone to be overjoyed by the prospect. Who could be? What we'd like is understanding, once you know the reasons why.

First, there's state law. It requires us to provide an adequate supply of electricity for northern Illinois. Not just enough to get by. Enough for eight million people, the instant they need it.

Second, that's not the half of it. Since we're regulated by law, the Commerce Commission examines our costs and sets our rates. When they're no longer high enough to do the job, we have to prove it at a rate hearing.

Third, hearings aren't pushovers. They're public trials before the Commission and the Commission can go as long as 11 months before it has to take final action.

Fourth, that's 11 months of inflation.

Inflation that eats away at the increases we've gotten. It's why our operating costs have been going up faster than our revenues since 1967. More than twelve percent faster.

Now, that may not sound like much to you, but to hundreds of thousands of people who've invested in us over the years, it's been devastating. If they bought our stock in the early '70s and sold it today, they'd lose half their money.

It's not the kind of situation that's going to inspire anyone to invest more. And more is what we need. A billion three hundred million dollars' worth, this year alone.

If we don't raise it, we don't have a prayer of upgrading our existing facilities. Or providing the additional 6.6 million kilowatts northern Illinois is going to sorely need in the '80s.

We've got no choice.

Not as long as you expect your air conditioner to keep going when it's 99° in the shade, or the furnace to pump hot air at 20° below.

No law has to tell you that. It's just common sense. We can't take tomorrow for granted.

Viking Ship project receives large donation

The Viking Ship Restoration Committee this week announced the receipt of a grant of 10,000 Danish crowns, about $2000, from the Nordic Cultural Fund.

Located in Copenhagen, the fund supports cultural projects which promote understanding of the Nordic countries in the areas of the humanities and civic and social development. All five members of the Nordic Union, Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden, are participants in the fund. This is particularly fitting as all of these Nordic communities are helping with the restoration of the ship, the Viking, here in Chicago.

Obtained thru the activities of the VSRC's Finance Sub-Committee, Reidar Froland, chairman, the grant will be used to assist in the creation of a permanent viking exhibit with the ship as its focal point. Plans are now underway to restore the Viking as part of this project.

The Viking was sailed and rowed here to the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893. It is an exact replican of the thousand year old Gokstad ship found in a viking burial mound in Norway one hundred years ago. It was sailed here to prove that vikings could easily, and did, reach the shores of North America a millennium ago. The Viking therefore is the first of the world's Kon-Tiki's, historical ships which have been recreated to undertake voyages into the unknown.

Those interested in supporting the project can do so by writing to the Viking Ship Restoration Committee at 518 Davis Street, Evanston, IL 60201, or by calling 492-1829.

Mayor Kolb voices pleasure over results of tax abatement survey

In a recent article by Governor James Thompson he criticized municipalities that did not reduce their tax levy when they had been given a replacement fund to cover the outlawed property tax.

He said that a number of local taxing bodies filed for big property tax increases last year because of confusion over the abolition of the personal property tax on businesses. "These units are now overtaxing Illinois citizens when every dollar counts," Thompson said.

Thompson said the new tax, which had caused skepticism, has generated almost as much money in the first seven months of 1980 than the old tax did in 1979.

In a recent survey done by the Tribune it was found that only four out of twenty of the largest suburbs abated their taxes. With Oak Lawn being one of the four Mayor Ernie Kolb had this to say:

"In a recent statement by Governor Thompson criticizing various governmental bodies for over-taxing their districts, it was most satisfying to see the Village of Oak Lawn was one of only four villages in the entire Metropolitan area that abated their tax levy enough to show an overall reduction in the property tax levy.

"I certainly am most gratified and compliment our village board for taking the stand in keeping their word in abating personal property tax issues. The board and I were certain that once the new replacement tax program got underway that it would more than replace the personal property tax with sufficient amount of dollars. This is now proving true."

"In other words, the new program is working. The trustees and I felt we did not want to get into this over-taxing situation, particularly, at a time when the cost of living is at such a high level."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Following is a copy of a letter sent to the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce who then forwarded it to VILLAGE VIEW so all the residents of Oak Lawn could enjoy it also.

Chamber of Commerce
Oak Lawn, IL 60453
Gentlemen:

I am writing this letter to show my appreciation for the fine treatment my family received by many members of your town today (July 24). Our car stopped running on 294 at the Cicero Exit on our way to "Great America" with our two young sons. A nice man stopped and gave my husband a ride to "Auto Fixit" at 12130 S Cicero in Alsip. There a man loaned my husband some tools. As it turned out, he couldn't fix the car so the same man called Dave Paton's "66" Service Station where our car was towed for a reasonable rate. Dave spent all day working on what turned out to be a major repair problem. A man at "White Castle" referred us to a nice park on 99th Street where we spent a couple of hours waiting for the car to be repaired. A friendly woman on 97th Street offered the use of her bathroom or cold drinks to us as we walked to the park. "The First National Bank of Oak Lawn" helped refer us to Western Union where we had some money wired to pay the repair bill.

All these people helped make a disappointing day more pleasant. Please forward this letter to the appropriate newspaper as our "thank you" to so many people.

/s/ Ilene and Larry Satkoski
Michigan City, Indiana

THANKS FROM HEART ASSOCIATION

As president of the Heart Association of South Cook County, I want to express my deepest appreciation to the swimmers, sponsors and pool staffs who enthusiastically supported the fifth annual SWIM FOR HEART. Swimmers from your communities joined thousands of others at 120 pools thruout Cook, DuPage and Lake counties, making this the largest single event of its kind in the country. Numerous park districts, apartment complexes and special recreation associations have additional SWIMS scheduled during August.

Local recreation professionals, many of whom are members of the Suburban Park and Recreation Association (sponsor of the SWIM FOR HEART to benefit your local Heart Association), are to be applauded. Thanks to their efforts, the SWIM has brought residents and recreational facilities together to promote ongoing cardiovascular health activities which can help reduce one's risk of heart disease and stroke.

A special thank you is also due VILLAGE VIEW for providing news coverage of this event. Without this newspaper coverage to help educate the public about the benefits of swimming, SWIM FOR HEART would not be the success that it is.

The spirit of generosity and cooperation from all areas in the community has been most appreciated. To those who swam their hearts out and those who pledged contributions to support heart research, education and community programs, we are especially indebted.

As your local representative of the Chicago Heart Association and its volunteers, I thank each of you who have become members of the Heart Family through the SWIM FOR HEART. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to all of you who help keep our life-saving programs functioning.

/s/ Joseph Branit, M.D., President Heart Association of South Cook County

A STREET CAR NAMED ST. CHARLES

Unlike the "Street Car Named Desire", which has long been replaced by motor buses, the St. Charles streetcar line in New Orleans, has the oldest electric cars in the country - dating back to 1922. This famous line started in 1835 with horse-drawn cars, runs thru the prettiest sections of the city. On your visit to the Crescent City, this 15-cent trolley ride is an absolute "must." Starting at Canal Street, just across from the French Quarter, you will always find a car coming along.

This car ride takes its place along with such famous streetcars at the cable cars of San Francisco. Yes, this trip gives you that little extra at so little cost. So don't miss it. The streetcars are not just historical relics, but provide the city with transportation carrying thousands of riders each day. It rambles past an excellent German restaurant - Kolb's, the Sheraton Charles hotel and on past Lafayette Square. The next major site is Lee Circle. The ride continues on the 'neutral ground,' in an area known locally as the avenue of churches and oak trees. The car then enters the famed Garden District. For eleven blocks straight ahead, are located some of the most beautiful homes in the city. Many are stately antebellum mansions still occupied by descendants of the original owners.

A pause in the trolley ride and a leisurely walk thru the area is definitely in order. Back on the trolley again you will enjoy all of the lovely areas until you finish the ride thru this famous southern city.

We can steer you right along with things to do and places to see on your vacation thru the south. Come in at 5615 and let us talk with you about complete vacation plans for what ever length of time you wish to stay.

Monticello is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Our professional staff is one of the finest in the Midwest. And equally important, they care about people. The facilities are exceptional.

To Patrons of Commonwealth Edison Company.

Commonwealth Edison Company hereby gives notice to the Public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on August 8, 1980, proposed changes in its rates and charges for electric public utility service in all of the areas in which it provides retail service.

Such changes involve and would effect a general rate increase, providing for estimated increases in charges for the following classes of customers: Residential - 20.1%; Residential Space Heating Customers - 16.4%; Water Heating - 19.7%; Commercial, Industrial and Governmental - 19.9%; Governmental Pumping - 19.7%; Non-Residential Space Heating Customers - 14.9%; Transit Services - 19.7%; Street and Area Lighting - 9.8%.

The proposed charges would increase the bills of a residential customer using 300 kilowatthours in any month by $3.99 per month (19.7%) averaged over the year. If the customer used 600 kilowatthours a month, the corresponding increase would be $7.96 (20.2%) and if 1,000 kilowatthours, $13.22 (20.4%). The increases shown include light bulb service and average July, 1980 fuel adjustment and revenue taxes. The proposed increases may, therefore, vary slightly from the above amounts depending on place of residence and whether the customer has chosen bulb service.

A Message to Our Readers:

The slogan reads "The Largest News Source in the Oak Lawn Area" and that's a fact!

Many of the residents, or newcomers to the Village of Oak Lawn, want to know what's going on — where it's going on, and who is putting it on! This is all brought to you on the pages of VILLAGE VIEW, the only Oak Lawn based newspaper.

We make every effort to introduce you to the mayor, village clerk, the village manager, the board of trustees and the department heads. We tell you what your congressman and state representatives are up to.

Our reporter covers all meetings in the Oak Lawn Village Hall. We think of ourselves as the "watchdog" for the residents. When things are good we tell you and when they are bad we tell you too — softly. We try to keep you informed on the trustee in your area until you, the reader, can call him by name.

We want to tell you about our busy Oak Lawn Park District and their offerings for the youths and adults, that are many and diversified. We keep you posted.

The Oak Lawn Library is one of the finest in any village. Free movies, talks, meetings and displays in abundance. There is something for everyone. We have a special library column that stands out just to make the finding easier.

Our Senior Citizen Center, built by the village fathers, is comparable to only one other in the United States. Friendly people, beautiful building, loads of activities and lots of parking space. Look for their special column in VILLAGE VIEW.

You can read about your fire and police departments and the many community services they offer. Don't just know them when you get a traffic ticket, or have a fire, know them as they really are — all nice people.

We also have a PTA column and tell you when they meet, stories about the local schools and what the students are doing, and your own Moraine Valley Community College.

There is a "Social Scene" that keeps you up on all social events and many that you might like to attend if you knew when and where. We have a gossip little column where you may read your neighbor's name.

Probably best of all is the Editorial Page (6) where we express our thoughts and views as we see them. Mostly we feel that our reporter is very well informed and will pass the information on to you in an unbiased manner. We just try to tell it like it is and let you form your own opinion.

We welcome your homey stories that may not be right for the larger papers but are just right for VILLAGE VIEW. Tell us about your weddings (pictures accepted), anniversaries, babies, the son or daughter you are proud of, we print them all.

On the bottom of our letter we have supplied a subscription blank. VILLAGE VIEW is printed on the 1st and 15th of the month, and costs just $5.00 a year. Once you have become a subscriber the newspaper is mailed first class to your home for one year. There are no collections, no picking it up off the street, and no drying it off over the register.

Stop guessing! Be the best informed resident on all village events. Subscribe today!

P.S. Please trade with the ADVERTISERS on our pages. They alone make VILLAGE VIEW possible.

Thank you,
Kina O'Malley

CAMPING ALL YEAR ROUND BY BOB NESOFF

CAMPSITE MUSIC

According to Commissioner Lehman, New York's park commissioner, some young people have been playing their music from portable tape decks and good-sized radios, late at night and at a volume very disagreeable to other campers.

However, he notes that these incidents are still the exception rather than the rule. But they are becoming more and more commonplace around the country, and I think it shows a trend that could be very disturbing if it is permitted to continue.

These incidents have been happening more so in the public campgrounds than in the private parks. The reason is simply that in the private camps a much tighter control and security is maintained. Those who violate the general well-being are told to knock it off, very firmly. If they don't, they are ejected from the campground.

In public campgrounds, budget cuts have forced a shrinking of personnel. Being less expensive they also draw more among the younger set than the private parks which cater more heavily to the RV crowd—a crowd that tends to be older.

While it is true that these public parks belong to everybody, it is also true that people are entitled to peace and quiet. At the same time the younger set is entitled to listen to its music.

Several solutions present themselves at first glance. Neither will probably be fully acceptable to either group. However, here they are, for better or worse.

Music should be tolerated so long as it doesn't get too loud and overbearing. But it should be either lowered to a point of where it can not be heard at the next campsite by, say 9 p.m., or shut off. The second solution might be to set aside certain sections of the camp for the music crowd.

The second is fraught with inherent problems, but a segregation might ease it for all concerned.

Why don't we try once again to have some sampling of opinions from around the country. If you have something to say, pro or con, or even perhaps a suggested solution to the situation, let me know. Drop me a note care of this publication and I'll print a sampling of the mail that comes in.

Representative Herb Huskey. Authorized by the Illinois Department of Administrative Services, the sale is set for 9 a.m. Registration will be conducted from 8 to 9 a.m.

"These are late model police and agency vehicles," Huskey explained, "and they are being sold in 'as is' condition without implied or expressed warranties or guaranties."

"All vehicles are being sold individually, and all sales are final," he said.

Payment for the vehicles, Huskey says, must be made either in cash, certified check, money order or travelers checks in increments of $500 or less. All company or personal checks exceeding $1000 may be submitted if they are fully supported by a letter of credit issued by a bank having its principal place of business in Illinois. The letter must be on the bank's stationery and must designate the maximum amount of credit approved.

Two types of identification, including one with the signer's photograph, are required for other than cash sales. The state, Huskey says, reserves the right to reject the payment and identification of any bidder if it appears they might not be in the state's best interest. Buyers must take possession of all purchased vehicles at the conclusion of the auction.

The vehicles to be auctioned can be inspected on Thursday, August 21 and Friday, August 22 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on August 23 until the time of sale.

A little-known way to save big energy money

By now practically everyone knows what a storm window is and that it saves heating and cooling fuel. But the assumption that storm windows are the solution to all window energy problems simply isn't true.

A storm window provides a second layer of glass, which forms an insulating trapped air space between itself and the primary window.

This reduces by about 50% the amount of the heat that is lost (or gained, in summer) directly through the glass. But the storm window doesn't eliminate the loss (or gain) of the heated air that physically passes through cracks in and around operating parts of the primary window.

This "infiltration" loss must be stopped by the primary window. Sometimes this can be accomplished by adding weatherstripping. But when the primary window is badly deteriorated, there is probably no hope for it short of replacing it.

Up until recent years, window replacement was an expensive, messy ordeal because the homeowner simply couldn't always buy windows that would fit the opening. But not any more.

With the development of the replacement window, new windows can be quicker, easier and more inexpensive than most people realize.

A replacement window is custom made to exactly fit the opening into which it will be installed, so there's no need to modify the wall inside or out.

The fact that these custom-fit replacement windows are manufactured on modern, time-saving production-assembly lines makes them no more expensive than conventional windows. And because they install from inside the house, with no change to the wall or window opening, installation labor is reduced to less than one hour per window.

Custom-fit is the only economical way to replace old worn-out windows. And the savings in fuel will repay the cost of the new windows in surprisingly few years. Then, they'll continue to pay the homeowner these savings.

The basic facts about total window energy problems and solutions are explained in an illustrated 136-page book called "The Window Book". It's available by sending $1.00 along with your name and address to the author, Fred M. Schmidt, Season-all Industries, Inc., Indiana, PA 15701.

Nancy Dunning was the President of the Student Council and a member of the Gymnastics Team, Ecology Club and Senior Class Advisory Board. She is a recipient of a Talman Scholarship and plans to attend Western Illinois U. Nancy is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. Dunning.

Gerald Chickerillo was the Treasurer of the Senior Class, member of the Key Club, Student Council, Discipline Committee, Senior Class Advisory Board, and a Cafeteria Aide. He plans to attend Southern Illinois U. Gerald is the son of Mr and Mrs John Chickerillo.

Youths blamed for 38% of motor accidents

Thirty-eight percent of all motor vehicle accidents in which someone was killed in Illinois last year involved drivers between the ages of 16 to 24, the Illinois Insurance Information Service reported.

And 34.5 percent of all accidents resulting in an injury involved drivers in the same age bracket.

Yet this group of drivers made up only 23 percent of all the state's licensed drivers.

In 1978, 40 percent of all fatal motor vehicle accidents and 35.5 percent of all accidents resulting in an injury involved 16 to 24 year old drivers.

These figures were compiled by the Illinois Insurance Information Service from accident records of the Secretary of State and the Illinois Dept of Transportation.

Those records also disclose that 2,656 drivers age 15 or younger were involved in motor vehicle accidents last year. Twenty four of them were drivers in accidents resulting in a death; 1,098 in accidents in which there was an injury.

Although the 16 to 24 year old drivers still are proportionally involved in more fatal accidents than older drivers, their record improved slightly in 1979.

Help available for phobia patients

According to Dr Paul P. David, Psychiatrist with offices in Oak Lawn and South Holland, help is now available for phobia patients who become so nervous that they are unable to appear in public places and sometimes they become so incapacitated that they don't want to leave their home. Dr David has used the group technique in a nine-week session and is in the process of putting together another group of phobia patients. He describes the problem as

A phobic patient is afraid of the fact that she or he is going to lose control in a specific place. Therefore, there are many phobias.

Registration for park flag football teams

Registration is being taken immediately for teams enrolled last year in the Oak Lawn Park District fall flag football league. Teams enrolled last year will be allowed to pre-register with remaining teams allowed to register on September 6, if there are any openings in the league.

The league will start September 15 through November 6. There will be two, eight team leagues playing two nights a week, 7 and 8:15 at Pacetti Field. Upon registering, half the fee is due with the remaining amount due by the first game.

Agoraphobia (Agora was the market place in Greece), and claustrophobia just to name two out of 50 some odd phobias. As Dr David describes it, the irrational fear is usually learned and increased with time. One patient could become fearful in a grocery store and that later on can spread to being afraid to drive, being afraid to leave the home and then they become virtually a prisoner of their own home. The fear is characterized by heart palpitation, trembling, churning in the stomach, rubbery legs, hyperventilation, feeling faint and dizzy. Many times this panic attack leaves the victims helpless and they are afraid they can lost control. In response to these feelings, the panic often escalates creating a vicious circle that is difficult to short circuit. The patient may seek medical help or may go to the emergency room to get help and this increases their anxiety and they become unable to function any further. In the past, many people have tried to work with phobics and many medications and therapeutic intervention were successful. Dr David's nine week course is successful because he takes in the whole family system and is holistic in approach. The group consists of eight to ten persons and special information can be received by contacting Dr David's office at 596-2211.

Immunization urged for community school children

School District 218 Supt William O. Webb has urged parents of the community to have their children fully immunized against certain diseases before school begins September 3, 1980.

Dr Webb explained that state law requires all students entering school to be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles and rubella.

Also, students are required to have physical exams before entering school for the first time and at the fifth and ninth grade levels.

Students attending both public and nonpublic schools have to meet the immunization and physical exam requirements. Students who fail to meet the state health requirements will be excluded from attending school.

To prevent the occurrence of an epidemic, 90% of the children in Illinois need to be immunized in each disease category, according to state health officials.

Beginning this October, school districts which report less than 80% of their student population having the required immunization and physical exam requirements will have 10% of each state aid payment withheld.

A new state law requires those funds to be withheld until the appropriate compliance level is reached.

In the 1980 school year, that compliance level is 80%. In 1981 and thereafter, it will be 90%.

School districts are required to report their compliance level on October 15 of each year to the Illinois State Board of Education.

Oak Lawn chosen for Illinois Fire Chiefs Association conclave

Oak Lawn has been selected as the site of the 1981 annual convention of the Illinois Fire Chiefs Association, with Oak Lawn Tower Inn as convention headquarters.

SSBR offer assistance to Stagg student builders

The persuasiveness of Oak Lawn Fire Chief Elmore Harker, Jr., backed up by Mayor Ernie Kolb and the hotel's General Manager Jacques Bossaers and Sales Manager Tom Kunstler, succeeded in winning the convention for Oak Lawn over the active efforts of a number of other communities.

Some 250 fire chiefs and their spouses will gather for the 3 day conclave next May, on exact dates to be set, at the 180-room Oak Lawn Tower Inn, 9333 S Cicero.

Site selectors were impressed by the community's various attractions and by the hotel's capabilities to accommodate large and small meetings and meals, as well as its amenities such as pleasant rooms, heated enclosed swimming pool, sauna and 12th floor lounge.

Edward D. Meier, executive officer of the Southwest Suburban Board of Realtors (SSBR) is pleased to announce that they are assisting in marketing a building trades home constructed by 24 students from Carl Sandburg High School and Amos Alonzo Stagg High School in Consolidated High School District 230. The property located at 14018 Charleston in the Heritage III Subdivision or Orland Park, valued in excess of $100,000, is a four bedroom, two and one-half bath dwelling started in October 1979 under the direction of Stephen Hoerman, a former Sandburg student with a degree in building construction technology from Purdue U.

The students participated in all areas of the construction of the house after a one year preparatory course in Building Trades, I. Local contractors were hired for trades that require highly skilled professionals who helped train the students in the competencies required. The major purpose of the program is to provide students with training and practical experience in all phases of construction in preparation for occupations in this field. One of the members of the SSBR of Realtors, Rich Real Estate, is handling all necessary sales details.

The SSBR is most pleased to add their assistance in this type of program whereby students within the area are given the first-hand opportunity to participate actively in the building trades prior to graduation. The SSBR has recently established a merit scholarship program for students in the area as a further evidence of their concern with youth. Anyone interested may contact Rich Real Estate, at 448-7022.

Happiness is ... The village coffers

Suburban Cook County communities are having a banner year with traffic court revenue it was revealed in a report by Circuit Court Clerk Morgan M. Finley. The revenue primarily results from traffic fines levied by judges of the court.

Revenues for the first six months of 1980 were running 26.8% ahead of a comparable period in 1979, Finley said. Total revenue for the 126 communities and taxing bodies which funnel their cases thru the court's five suburban districts was $4,092,642 as compared to $3,226,875 for the first six months of 1979.

"This revenue is vital to local communities," Finley said, "because it comes from a source outside of taxes. At the current rate, 26 towns will receive in excess of $100,000 in court revenues by year end."

Mount Prospect continues to lead all other villages with six month revenue of $120,565, an increase of over 20% from last year. Arlington Heights was second with $107,354, no change from 1979, and Oak Lawn was third with $104,584, a jump of nearly 50%. Fourth place was held by Evanston which got $99,318 followed by LaGrange ($95,768), Schaumburg, ($94,169), Des Plaines ($85,939), Elk Grove Village ($76,679), Rolling Meadows ($74,405), and Buffalo Grove ($72,713).

Although Oak Lawn placed 3rd in all six Municipal Districts it took first place in the 5th Municipal District with the $104,584, a jump of nearly 50% for the same period last year. Out of thirty-three municipalities in the district only LaGrange with a total of $95,768, comes close to Oak Lawn. In comparison 3rd in line is Willow Springs, that was always considered a "speed trap", claimed only $59,519.60, in fines.

Last year when Oak Lawn's "boys in blue" rode the green cars, that are really harder to see in heavy traffic, the village only collected $74,794 in fines. They have really broken all records with the new white cars that would seem to be more visible to those speeding.

Better slow down, you may be next if you're riding thru Oak Lawn...

Russo withdraws offer to debate Sarsoun

Congressman Marty Russo has issued a press release withdrawing the offer to debate his opponent in this November's Congressional election.

In a statement issued by the Russo for Congress Campaign Committee, thru its Executive Director, Joseph A. Cari, Jr., it was noted that "since the Republican candidate has not filed a proper campaign finance report or a candidate financial disclosure form with the appropriate agencies, he has not fulfilled the basic legal or moral requisites for making his candidacy a serious and credible one."

Federal law requires that a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives file a detailed report on his and/or his committee's receipts and expenditures. It is also required that any such candidate file a complete disclosure of his own financial interests and sources of income.

These stringent requirements for congressional candidates are the end product of a long and difficult reform effort in which Congressman Russo has taken a leadership role. "When I came to Congress in 1975, it was clear that the American people were demanding a new standard of openness and accountability from their government. We in Congress, responded by passing a series of laws requiring the most detailed type of disclosure possible," said Congressman Russo.

These laws are intended to eliminate as far as is possible, the potential for corruption through secrecy that led to Watergate and its associate evils.

Russo stated his continuing belief in a need for complete, honest and responsible candidate reporting. "As one who has constantly practiced disclosure, even before it was required by law, it pains me to see a candidate for high public trust make a mockery of the wishes of the people of this nation."

Russo expressed his disappointment at this turn of events. "I have always believed in the concept of debates as the best means of presenting the candidates to the voters. I have always looked forward to and enjoyed my previous debates with Ron Buikema in 1976 and Bob Dunne in 1978. These men were responsible opponents with whom I disagreed on issues, but who earned my respect by their conduct and the obvious seriousness with which they approached their campaigns."

Despite the cancellation of these debates, Russo will travel extensively thruout the Third District during the campaign, discussing the issues and presenting his views to his constituents.

Dissertation with your Police Department

As a courtesy to the residents, the Oak Lawn Police Department has provided VILLAGE VIEW with answers to questions often asked about the law. This will now be an ongoing column and we welcome all questions pertinent to the subject matter. The answers will be provided by the Information Bureau of the Oak Lawn Police Department.

Q WHAT IS THE SPEED LIMIT ON RESIDENTIAL STREETS?

A Illinois State Law sets the speed limit on residential streets at 30 MPH unless otherwise posted. Oak Lawn, which has home rule powers may lower the POSTED speed limit to 25 MPH on any residential street. The only time the limit can be lowered to less than 25 MPH is in an area immediately adjacent to a school and then when school children are present.

There is also one other exception to a limit less than 25 MPH and this is in an area immediately adjacent to commercial stores and then for only a limited distance from the commercial establishment.

There are streets posted at 20 MPH that do not fit the above requirements. These streets were so posted prior to January 1, 1980 at which time the State Law was changed negating these 20 MPH streets. The Oak Lawn Police Officers have been so notified that these 20 MPH signs are no longer legal and to treat any such street as a 30 MPH limitation.

Q THE OAK LAWN POLICE DEPARTMENT ISSUED PARKING TICKETS ON PRIVATE PROPERTY. WHAT GIVES THEM THE AUTHORITY TO DO SO?

A Any apartment complex, shopping center, hospital parking area or business establishment can request to enter into a contract with the Village of Oak Lawn to enforce parking restrictions within their private properties. When so doing, they are required to post the restricted area properly with signs. The Village of Oak Lawn does not solicit these contracts, but rather leaves this to the choice of the owner of said properties.

Q WHAT IS THE LOAD LIMIT FOR TRUCKS ON CENTRAL AVENUE?

A 10 tons. Trucks are no longer required to post their empty weight on the side of the truck. An empty semi falls within the legal weight limit. If you wish to have the weight limit lowered on Central Avenue, you must petition the County of Cook as they maintain and control these restrictions.

Q WHY DON'T THE POLICE ARREST PERSONS WHO ALLOW THEIR DOGS TO DEFECATE ON OTHER PERSONS PROPERTIES?

A When we are called on this type of complaint, no one will come forward to testify in court that they actually witnessed this violation of the law. Unless the officer actually witnesses the act, he cannot testify as to who did what to whose property.

Persons sending in questions will remain anonymous, but must give their name and address when submitting same. In cases where the answer cannot be printed, but rather sent directly to the citizen, this will be done. Complaints relative to arrests or tickets issued will not be accepted as these questions must be adjudicated in a Court of Law. This does not mean that a question as to why a ticket was or was not issued cannot be answered in the column.

Everything comes up roses at Holiday Inn Oak Lawn

The warm and steamy day was soon forgotten when guests had left their cars and entered the poolside of the Holiday Inn, Oak Lawn. The event was the climax of the Annual Holiday Inn Open held at Gleneagles Country Club this past Wednesday.

The sight of the beautiful ice carvings and the slight breeze that wafted over the water as the sun was slowly setting gave the appearance of such coolness that the heat was soon forgotten.

The festive twilight affair began with hors d'oeuvres and cocktails at the pool side. The treats, all prepared in the kitchen, consisted of shrimp kept cold in a beautiful ice carved swan. Clams on the halfshell and crab legs, tucked into an ice bed; delicious pizza bread, baby barbecued ribs and small cocktail franks were among the delicacies. A huge salmon attracted the fish lovers and of course the ladies loved the bacon wrapped, water chestnuts, chicken livers, and finger sandwiches of several varieties.

General Manager Joe English and Art Alaniz, Director of Marketing can be proud of the extent of their hospitality.

English can also be proud of the dining room and the beautiful table settings. The white cloths and red napkins, the lovely white wrought iron candelabras bedecked with flowers, and the beautiful blue and white crested service plates always make special affairs at the Holiday Inn an experience.

Joe English

The dinner, masterminded by Art Alaniz, consisted of honey dew melon, followed by a fresh and crispy salad, a New York strip steak to suit one's taste, with the Inn's own recipe of baked potato with the special cheese topping and for the vegetable, french string beans almondine.

The piece de resistance was the desert concocted one day when English and Alaniz put their heads together. Vacherine of ice cream smothered in strawberry sauce. All this followed by an open bar.

Alaniz performed as MC and introduced the dignitaries and announced the

via vina...

There was no happier man than JOE ENGLISH when at the Annual Holiday Inn Open at Glen Eagles Country Club, he shot the par-four 6th hole in two strokes for an eagle. Using a 7 wood he hit the ball and being a long hole it seemed to have disappeared. Someone suggested looking in the hole and there lay the little pill . . . . .

Congratulations to MR & MRS LES ANDERSON, who chalked up 25 years of marriage on August 28 and already have a second grandson. In mid September they plan on celebrating with a vacation at Hilton Head Island in South Carolina. . . . .

MONICA & CARL VENKUS had a double celebration for their 25th. Their children LAURA, JOSEPH, JULIE, DIANA, DAVID and SARA had a surprise party for them, August 16, and their actual date was celebrated on August 20 at Ernie Kolb's golf outing . . . . .

Happy returns to ARLENE QUIRK who blew out candles in August . . . . .

Belated happy birthday candles to RHEA LUCIANA who celebrated with her family on August 14. . . . .

While on ERNIE KOLB, he never stopped smiling when he found his dinner was "sold out" at the Lexington House . . . . .

More congratulations to MR & MRS WILLIE TOTH, whose children also surprised them on their 30th anniversary with a party . . . . .

Best wishes for many more to JAYNE & JOE POWERS, who celebrated their anniversary in August and more of the same to JAYNE, whose birthday is in September. . . . .

News Information Supervisor
Commonwealth Edison Co.

We call it "beeper duty," and its impending arrival several times a year is anticipated in much the same way as a trip to the dentist - necessary but not necessarily enjoyable.

"Beeper duty" is a one-week stint each of us in Commonwealth Edison Community Relations performs on a rotating basis. It simply means that the person is on call to field questions from the media during non-business hours, roughly from 5 pm. until 8 am on weekdays and 24 hours on weekends, in addition to our regular duties.

The duty person is equipped with an electronic pager, or "beeper," which is activated by a call from an Edison switchboard operator who has been contacted by the media. duty person checks with the operator, gathers the necessary information from company sources, then responds to the questioner. Believe me, that gadget can and does go beep at the darndest times and in the darndest places.

I never win lotteries, pools or raffles. So conversely, it probably was understandable that my turn for "beeper duty" came up on July 16, when savage thunderstorms knocked out power to hundreds of thousands of customers the day after northern Illinois residents had established an all-time record for electricity use.

The records and outages generated 109 after-hours calls from the media in one week. I didn't count calls to and from other Edison employees, nor those to newsmen who had asked to be notified whenever conditions changed. If I had, that probably would have pushed the total to 200 or even 300.

My routine during "beeper" week was to arrive home from the office about 5, spread lists of phone numbers, jotting paper and other materials on the kitchen table, pour the first of many cups of coffee, switch on the "beeper" and prepare to spend a good part of the next 15 hours on the telephone. There were three "all-nighters" during the week. After each one, when the news information office had reopened, I would catch a cat nap before heading in myself.

It certainly helps to have an understanding family.

Richards sophomore and cheerleading squads take home awards

The sophomore and varsity cheerleading squads at Harold L. Richards High School have returned from summer camps with many awards, according to coach Barbara Romani.

Sophomore squad members attended the United States Cheerleader Assn. camp at St. Mary's College in Indiana where they performed four cheers for their competition. Ms. Romani said the girls won ribbons for each cheer performed. The ribbons were for 1st, 4th, 5th and 6th places.

Several dinners were haphazard, and the pager is audible thruout the house in the still of night. My wife and I marked our wedding anniversary (wouldn't you know it was number 13?) on one of the more hectic days and nights. We gambled and slipped away to a nearby restaurant for about an hour. The "beeper" went off only three times.

Despite the loss of sleep, disruption of home life and other drawbacks, there were several reasons to feel good.

First, it gives you a deep sense of responsibility to know that you are the link between the hard-working crews and anxious customers, awaiting word from the media on when power would be restored. It's a nice feeling to think that the information might make someone's burden a little easier. And even though I work for Edison, our family developed a greater appreciation for electric service, since we were among the fortunate who were not affected by the storm.

It was really a pleasure to work with the Chicagoland media. Almost to a person, the dozens of different newsmen I spoke with were professional, thorough and downright friendly - even at 3 or 4 in the morning. The camaraderie of night people.

Then there is an Edison switchboard operator named Peggy. I have never met Peggy, nor do I know her last name or anything else about her. She is a voice I have heard many times during various tours of "beeper duty," and her natural manner and perpetual cheerfulness make the job a lot more palatable. I have formed an image of Peggy, the way we used to form images of people on the radio years ago. I'm not sure I want to meet her or learn more about her. It might spoil a certain mystique.

After I had answered the last call for the week, my wife said, "You know, I think you enjoyed it."

Her remark took me by surprise, but after a few seconds thought, I had to admit she wasn't completely wrong.

The varsity squad, which attended the All-Star Cheerleader Conference Camp at Knox College in Galesburg, IL, earned the "Grand Champion" trophy for overall competition among the 30 squads in attendance.

Ms. Romani said the squad was voted "Most Spirited" and received a spirit star and plaque for the award. The squad also received a spirit star for being most spirited on a particular day of camp.

In competition with varsity level squads only, the HLR squad earned 2nd place and in the daily competitions, the varsity squad won two 1st place ribbons and a 2nd place ribbon.

Ritchey, a senior from Chicago Ridge, was awarded a spirit star for being named one of the "most talented" individuals at camp.

Varsity cheerleaders who attended camp this summer are Nancy Capatan, Lorrie Churan, Glenora Croucher, Janet Fagan, Lisa Foley, Julie Ritchey, Marla Rybowiak, Silvia Schleiter and Susan Sullivan. The sophomore squad members who attended camp are Julie Deacy, Lynette Frederick, Maria Goritz, Debbie Matthiesen, Jenny Panagiotaros, Julie Pearson, Chris Werner and Kathy Witt. Pam Katris is also a member of the squad but was unable to attend camp.

questions and answers

Q. I don't understand Medicare coverage of home health services. Both parts of Medicare cover home health care. What's the difference?

A. Medicare hospital insurance can cover home health care when it is needed for further treatment of a condition which was treated in a hospital or skilled nursing facility. Medicare medical insurance can cover home health services when a person needs part-time skilled nursing care but doesn't need to be in a hospital first. Medical insurance also can cover home health visits when you have used up the 100 visits covered under hospital insurance and need more. Certain conditions must be met, however, before either part of Medicare can pay for home health care. For detailed information, call any social security office and ask for a copy of Home health care under Medicare.

Q. Several years ago, I applied to have my earnings from the ministry exempted from social security coverage. At the time, I was told the exemption could never be withdrawn. I understand this law was recently changed. Can I revoke my exemption now?

A. The law now provides a one-time opportunity for members of the clergy to revoke their exemption from social security coverage. An application for revocation must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service before the clergyman becomes eligible for disability or retirement benefits, or by April 15, 1979, whichever comes first. If you revoke your exemption now, you cannot later file for an exemption again.

Q. I know Medicare medical insurance helps pay for services of doctors and suppliers, but I don't know who or what a supplier is. Can you tell me?

A. A supplier is a person or organization, other than a doctor or health care facility, that furnishes equipment or services covered by Medicare medical insurance. For example, ambulance firms, independent laboratories, and organizations that rent or sell medical equipment are considered suppliers.

Q. My wife and I just received a notice telling us we're not eligible for SSI payments. We disagree. Is there any way we can appeal this decision?

A. A claimant has the right to appeal any decision made about his or her eligibility for SSI payments or payment amount. There are four steps in the appeals process, and there is a time limit for requesting each one. Contact any social security office and the people there will assist you in requesting an appeal. This should be done as soon as possible after you receive the notice.

Finley announces windfall for Cook County Government

Cook County Government, always hard-pressed for income, has received over $1,000,000 it didn't expect through the county's court system.

Circuit Court Clerk Morgan M. Finley said that higher interest earnings on court investments, increased filing fees and higher bail bond costs contributed to the $1,053,241 windfall during the first eight months of 1980.

Finley's office, as unofficial administrator for the court, collects all fees and turns them over to local governments. The $16,352,659 turned over to Cook County after eight months represents approximately one-half the revenue disbursed by Finley's office.

"County estimates of court revenue for the first two-thirds of 1980 were only $15.2 million," Finley said. "The extra revenue will aid county government in balancing its books."

Projections show, Finley indicated, that total revenue for the year will exceed estimates by nearly $2 million.

Also of major importance was the adoption of the 1980-81 budget totaling $3.9 million. The resolutions providing for the 1980 tax levy were tabled until the figures for the Insurance Hospitalization premiums are verified. A report on Life Safety work was given by Otto Hartl, Chief of Maintenance.

Huskey to approach RTA with suburban needs

State Representative Herb Huskey (R-Oak Lawn) is meeting with a spokesperson from the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA) to discuss transportation needs and problems in south suburban Cook County.

Placement of an additional bus on route 835, Oak Lawn to downtown, will be one of the specific matters discussed, Huskey says.

"Suburban residents are not receiving maximum service from the RTA," Huskey stated, "and there are not any good reasons or excuses for this situation."

"Suburbanites support the RTA through the fares they pay and the tax dollars which the state gives the RTA in the form of loans and subsidies," he noted. "Riders should receive a better return on their investment through improved service."

Huskey says suburban residents with complaints or questions about the RTA should contact him at 424-5000. All inquiries, he notes, will be discussed at his meeting with RTA officials.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

YOUTHS DESERVE APPLAUSE:

It seems like just about everybody had a good time at the First Annual Oak Lawn Bed Races to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. So many people helped make it happen, in fact too many to recognize here individually. Our sincerest appreciation to you all.

However, there is a group of people who played a very important part in the bed races, but somehow went unnoticed or unrecognized. They are a group of Oak Lawn Youth who were instrumental in the planning and organizing of all Bed Race related events. The organizers were members of the Youth Advisory Council of the Oak Lawn Youth Commission and were assisted by many other youths to run this event.

For example: Youths sold tickets, made flyers, wrote press releases, collected donations, made decorations and provided entertainment (the performers were also youths) for the Pre-Bed Race Party on August 18. For the race itself, youths did more publicity, collected more donations, contacted resource people, did lots of typing and mailings, set up for the parade, acted as entry officials, directed traffic (thanks to the Police Cadets), judged bed decorations (M.D.A. poster child, Tina Craco, assisted by Youth Commission Chairman Michael Sullivan - a youth at heart) and wrote letters of appreciation after it was all over.

These youths did not do this for themselves. They did it for other youths afflicted with muscular dystrophy and for the COMMUNITY of Oak Lawn.

From where I stand, I think all of the youths involved not only deserve an applause, but a standing ovation! Here's to the future adults of Oak Lawn!

/s/ Laura Kamperman
Recreation Coordinator
Oak Lawn Youth Commission

P.S. If you want to have Bed Races next year, write to the youths of the Y.A.C. at the Youth Commission!

AN OPEN LETTER TO TRUSTEE JOHN HARDEK

This letter is my response to a variety of allegations you have made against my husband in both Rich Szczepkowiec's (Southtown Economist) and Bea Martinec's (Suburban Trib - Tribune) 8/29/80 columns regarding his promotion to sergeant over another officer.

Over and over you refer to "political favors" and accuse my husband of being "a political ally of Mayor Ernest Kolb... helping during the campaign and other political events". Such an accusation is as absurd as it is libelous and unforgivable coming from a "conscientious" trustee.

Other than voting, my husband, as a police officer must remain neutral and he has never helped during any campaign for anyone, ever! As for the rumor that I supposedly gave 30 coffees for Mayor Kolb - - - you've got to be kidding! I've never attended, or given a coffee for Mayor Kolb and I defy you or anyone else to prove otherwise!

Well, now that we've cut through the fantasy, let's get to the facts. State statutes give the Police and Fire Commission the right to choose any one of the top three officers on the list in their search for the best man for the job. You also seem unaware, or have forgotten, that this has already been done once before on this existing list. In comparing the officers records side by side the Supervisors (Sergeants, Lieutenants, Captains, Deputy Chief and Chief) unanimously selected by husband's record of 12 1/2 years service; 8 years as Field Training Officer, Associate Degree in Law Enforcement; effective, high-quality arrests, numerous Letters of Commendation, from his own Superiors as well as The Department of the Treasury, and Oak Lawn Lions Club 1979 Police Officer of the Year. It has also never been pointed out, that the difference between the 1st and 2nd candidate on the list was 0.03 of a point. Therefore, in choosing "the best man for the job", records naturally should be a consideration.

It seems to me, Mr Hardek, that since my husband's record is superior and you couldn't malign it, you chose the "political favors" accusation to smear his promotion and reputation.

Another fact that is never mentioned is that after considering records and the recommendation from Chief Haberkorn as to the best man for the job, the Police & Fire Commission approved Officer Les Miller to the position of Sergeant 5/21/80 and effective 6/1/80. Then nothing

Dissertation with your Police Department

Q. WHY IS THERE SO MUCH CRIMINAL DAMAGE TO PROPERTY COMMITTED IN OAK LAWN? WHAT IS BEING DONE ABOUT IT?

A. There has been a drastic reduction of Damage to Property in the past year. In the Park District alone, the damage has dropped about 75%. As to why a few (about 5 to 7% of our youths) get their kicks out of destroying property such as damaging lawns, etc., is difficult to figure out. They surely are in need of psychiatric help along with disciplinary measures meted out by the courts and their parents. It is very apparent that there has been a lack of parental tutorage during their developing years. We only thank God that the percentage of youths committing these acts is small. The majority of our youths are not involved and abhor these acts as much as the victim does.

As to what is being done about it, we have taken strong decisive action and as a result have arrested and charged many such offenders. The courts have also cooperated and realize the gravity of this type of offense. Stiff penalties have been inflicted by the Judges of the 5th District which has also aided in reducing this type of complaint.

Q. MY SON RECENTLY BOUGHT A BICYCLE, WHAT STEPS SHOULD I TAKE RELATIVE TO REGISTRATION AND EDUCATION?

A. If you come into the Oak Lawn Police Station at 9431 South Cook Avenue, we will be more than happy to supply you with a registration card. By having this on file, if the bike is lost or stolen, we can determine the rightful owner if it comes into our possession.

The Police Department conducts bike riding safety classes periodically during the year. If you contact Sergeant Robert Macke, he will give you the date of the next training session.

Q. ARE PARENTS LIABLE FOR THE DAMAGE COMMITTED BY THEIR CHILDREN?

A. Yes. The amount is set by law, but the decision to assess the parents rests with the courts and the States Attorney's office.

Persons sending in questions will remain anonymous, but must give their name and address when submitting same. In cases where the answer cannot be printed, but rather sent directly to the citizen, this will be done. Complaints relative to arrests or tickets issued will not be accepted as these questions must be adjudicated in a Court of Law. This does not mean that a question as to why a ticket was or was not issued cannot be answered in the column.

happened - nothing! The political pressures already being brought down by the officer, and you, intensified to force the Commission to, instead, approve the other officer. The Commission refused and finally on August 14th, 1980, my husband was sworn in as Sergeant.

My husband owes this promotion to no one but himself. He earned it with a good record and lots of hard work. He was recognized, approved and promoted by some decent, strong men tired of politics "as usual" who proved for once that its not "who you know" but "what you do" that counts.

DON'T FORGET PETS WHEN SUMMER IS OVER

With the vacation season drawing to a close, the ANIMAL WELFARE LEAGUE is asking all pet owners at resorts, summer homes and lake cottages not to leave their pets behind when they return to their city homes. Many vacationers have befriended dogs and cats that have wandered to their doors and have kept them as summer pets for their children. If these animals are left behind they

MORE ON WHAT TO WEAR

In TOYKO, sportive dress is the keynote for both daytime and evening activities. But the leading downtown hotels require a suit for the men at lunch and dinnertime, for cocktails and at some ceremonial occasions. Since the Olympics here, the blazer has become an acceptable substitute for the business suite.

HONG KONG — After six, men dress rather formally especially in exclusive restaurants and hotels. Blazers are permitted. Residents tend toward conventional business attire. Tourists can be more sportive for daytime activities, but the super-casual look is not favored.

ZURICH — dress is quite liberal, anything goes. The few exceptions would be at the most luxurious hotels or restaurants, where a blazer is the acceptable substitute.

BERMUDA — where dress during the day is casual and sportive, and of course bermuda shorts are acceptable. There is an old custom here of dressing more formally on Thursday nights (from the days when the cruise ships departed).

Sportive dress is the rule in daytime as well as for evening in AMSTERDAM. Concerts, theatre and exclusive restaurants require a suit for the men. The evenings are cool during the summer months so a light coat is suggested.

So plan your wardrobe accordingly after you have your travel plans complete. We can help you in so many ways to make these trips. Why not come in at 5615 W 95th Street, and talk about some plans now.

will soon starve or suffer untold hardships until they die. It is not fair to wish these unwanted pets onto farmers as most of them already have all the dogs and cats they can properly care for. Abandoning any animal is a violation of the Illinois humane laws and is punishable by a fine up to $500.

Any unwanted or lost dogs, cats or other pets can be brought to either of the League's shelters, located at 6224 S Wabash in Chicago, and 10101 Ridgeland in Chicago Ridge, where they will be cared for in a humane manner. Animals are received any time of the day or night.

ANIMAL WELFARE LEAGUE vehicles make pickups in Chicago and nearby communities. Call 667-0088 for information regarding pickup. Those living outside of the area serviced by the League should contact the local police, sheriff's department, or the animal control officer of their county for advice on facilities available for the care of unwanted and lost animals.

As most dogs have been constant pets of the children during vacation time, they will probably attempt to follow the children to school. League officials caution mothers not to let the family dog follow the children to school as the dog may get into trouble on the school ground, or will be picked up for running at large in violation of local ordinances.

We will greatly appreciate your help in bringing this matter to the attention of the public. Thank you.

Dining a pleasure at Greene's West

Greene's West, one of the beautiful restaurants in Hickory Hills, is going thru a remodeling process to enlarge what was already a very nice lounge.

Alex Petrakos, owner, has had to turn people away when such stars as Tony Bellus, Red Surrey, the Lennie Capp Trio and others have appeared there to entertain.

When you stop by try the Veal Parmesan, always a favorite and such a large portion you may have to ask for a "doggy bag". Another delight is the Chicken Kiev that instead of finding butter as you cut thru you will be more than surprised to find it stuffed with delicious cheese.

The specials are great, daily and Friday, Pan Fried Perch and Jumbo Gulf Shrimp; Wednesday, Lobster or Crab Legs and Thursday, Prime Rib. The price is right and comes complete with salad bar and dessert.

Alex hasn't forgotten the Monday and Tuesday diners who can enjoy B-B-Q chicken and ribs with a glass of wine for just $5.25.

Greene's West, 8624 W 95th Street, can also handle banquets to 200. For information or reservations please call 598-6680 or 598-6688.

Why the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn?

What is it that makes the Holiday Inn in Oak Lawn the great success it is? Why do they have almost complete occupancy the year round?

Taking a tour with Assistant Manager Art Alaniz was a total experience in itself.

The first relaxing surprise is the envelope at the front desk giving you a warm welcome with a pre-registered room number for each guest and the key inside. No waiting, everything has been taken care of for you.

The beautiful shiny clean rooms and the splendid colors of those that have been newly decorated have the special touch of a designer. The lamps and furniture are both solid and fitting for the obvious wear and tear they must take. On the walls are not the ordinary florals to match but instead they are selected from a variety of famous Chicago scenes that usually delight everyone. The surprise comes when Alaniz tells you that Innkeeper Joseph English picks the room designs himself.

On the table at the bedside of each guest, on the night before he or she checks out, sits a miniature one ounce cordial such as Irish Mist or Cheri-Suisse or Amaretto di Galliano. This warming spirit is set on a dainty lace doily along with a one ounce cordial glass that is yours for the keeping. With this a note from Gerry Mulloy, Front Desk Manager, saying that the Holiday Inn hopes your visit was pleasant and that they look forward to seeing you again.

In the Executive room vanity area is another delightful surprise of a small wicker basket filled with miniature colognes, shampoos, a variety of delicate soaps, including that of the Holiday Inn.

On each pillow on every bed is a happy little card wishing you "Good Night" in nine different languages. On the card lay two Astor Chocolate Mints that have been flown to the Holiday Inn from New York.

The tour ended walking thru the laundry room, the linen room and storage rooms. When you can do this without a pre-appointment this has to be a "touch of class".

For those who are traveling, and leaving in the morning, excellent breakfasts are served in the Knights Arms Restaurant. A large variety is offered at lunch, such as specials of the day, sandwiches, regular lunch menu and a Mini-Buffer.

For those staying over, the dinners are better than in your average hotel or motel, because the Holiday Inn also caters to many of the local residents who are out for an evening of good dining and expect the best.

Kerry entertains at Tower Inn

Singer-guitarist Kerry can perform just about any song that has been a hit in the last three decades as he presents his easy-listening, easy-dancing tunes in a new act at the 12th floor Top of the Tower Lounge in Oak Lawn Tower Inn, 9333 S Cicero, Oak Lawn.

Top tunes of the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s, and some folk tunes that go back much further, are included in Kerry's unusually large repertoire of 270 songs and 80 instrumentals.

His selections include a group that were made famous by Elvis Presley, and another group featured by Ricky Nelson. Still others are originals composed by Kerry himself.

Kerry creates an intimate, comfortable atmosphere in which he makes friends with the audience, often inviting them to play musical games and lingering during intermissions to chat.

He does requests, and sometimes turns this into a "stump Kerry" game, which he seldom loses but everyone wins. He also reverses the order to "stump the audience," seeing who can name the tune.

His easy way with people and his quiz-type games may have developed partly from his experience as a school teacher, before he became a full-time musician in 1975.

Huskey child support bill signed

Illinois Governor Jim Thompson (left) recently signed legislation sponsored by State Rep Herb Huskey which creates a program for collecting, monitoring and enforcing court-ordered child support.

All child support payments - including public aid cases - in Cook County will be made, directly, to, and distributed by, the clerk of the court starting January 1, 1982, according to State Rep Herb Huskey. Other counties may then also opt in the program.

The court may allow direct payments between parents not receiving public aid. However, the court may later require support thru the clerk if there are problems receiving payments. Administration fees and penalties for late payment of support are specified in the new law.

Approximately 75% of the costs for the mandatory payment program in participating counties will be financed by the federal government. The state, Huskey says, will assume all "necessary and reasonable costs" for maintaining it which are not covered by federal support, fees, penalties and other monies.

"It has taken me more than three years to realize this program," Huskey said, "and I'm delighted that children will not have to go to bed hungry or miss Christmas just because one parent chooses to forget them."

State Senator Donald A.

Moore (R-Midlothian) was the chief sponsor of H.B. 24 in the Senate. Huskey also credits the "ongoing support and efforts" of Cook County Circuit Court Clerk Morgan Finley and his staff, and Circuit Court Judge Charles Fleck, presiding judge of the domestic relations division in Cook County, for realization of the new child support law.

Huskey proposal to RTA for three new bus lines for Oak Lawn

State Representative Herb Huskey proposed three new bus routes in the Oak Lawn area during a recent meeting with officials from the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA).

According to Huskey, these are on 91st Street from Western to Harlem Avenues; 99th Street from Central Avenue to the Rock Island Railroad and the "L" train on the Dan Ryan Expressway; and 107th Street from Cicero Avenue to Pulaski Road.

Huskey is also seeking additional buses on route 835, Oak Lawn to the Loop, and a policy allowing transfers from the RTA to the CTA and vice versa.

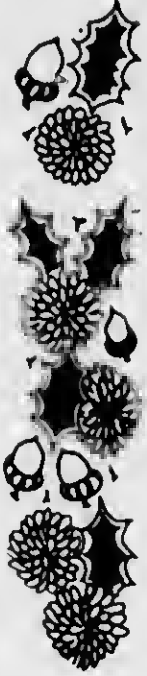

"The Chicago Transit Authority has a bus line approximately every one-half mile so riders will not be forced to walk long distances to public transportation," Huskey said. "With suburban residents paying 60% of the RTA's subsidy, there's no reason why they shouldn't receive comparable service."

"The new lines which I have proposed will help meet the need and demand for more extensive public transportation in our area," he stated. "I am confident that the RTA will respond favorably to my suggestions." Cyril Williams, manager of Suburban Transit Lines, joined Huskey at the meeting with RTA spokesperson Gerri Scott and other RTA representatives. Additional information is available from Huskey at 424-5000.

Women's group to host ecologist

How food and food allergies can impact on a person's health and well being will be discussed by Candace Ramsey, B.A. and president of the Institute for Biological Ecology, Inc., at a meeting of the Chieburbanite Chapter of American Business Women's Association to be held Thursday, October 9 at Holiday Inn, 4140 W 95th Street, Oak Lawn. Social hour will be from 6 to 7 pm, with dinner following.

Mrs Irene Hensle, program chairman, will introduce Mrs Ramsey, who trained as a biological ecologist, a person who studies man's relationship to his environment; that is, what he ingests, inhales and comes in contact with.

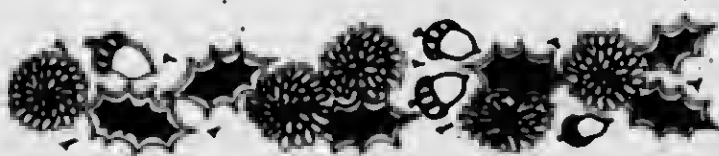

She plans to cover the effects of food sensitivities on corporate executives and employees, along with attendant effects on productivity, sick leave and morale, to name a few. Mrs Ramsey will discuss the possibility that childhood food sensitivities which are left unchecked may lead to chronic symptoms in adults.

Also stressed will be food sensitivities in children and the effects on the child's school work, motivation and resistance to infection.

Anyone interested in the subject has been invited to attend by Mrs Minnie Hensel, chapter president. Reservations for dinner and the meeting ($8) must be made by calling Mrs Irene Piccolo, reservations chairman, at 737-9732 or Mrs Frances Loving at 425-6100 (days only).

Why Viverito for Sanitary District?

It isn't often we have the opportunity of electing a man to office of the calibre of Louis S. Viverito.

Viverito is the only Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) candidate, of either party, that lives south of Cermak Road. Other prominent candidates were willing to step aside when he thru his hat in the ring. His personal popularity is apparent by the esteem shown him by his fellow party members.

Not too many years ago people knew of the MSD, knew it was provided for on their tax bills, but paid little attention to the operation. However when health and welfare enters the picture this does cause concern.

While speaking to a group of Southwest Chicago and suburban editors, Viverito, Stiekney Township Supervisor, said if elected he would hope to open an office in a centrally located part of the area or seek space in one of the county's mini-civic centers, one of which is now open in Markham and another scheduled to be erected in the near future in Bridgeview.

Louis S. Viverito

"I believe that most property owners do not have a good understanding of the Sanitary District's operations and when they receive a notice they don't understand, they don't want to go all the way to the near north side - the Sanitary District's offices are at 100 E Erie St. - for an explanation."

As an example, Viverito cited the long-standing controversy over MSD orders to divert sump pump drainage from the sanitary sewers. He said much of the discontent could have been avoided if property owners had been able to walk into a local office and get an explanation of what was going on and why.

Similar problems may exist concerning septic tanks, he said, and these may increase as the outlying areas are fully developed.

In the 7½ years he has been Stiekney Township Supervisor, Viverito has received national attention on television and in nation-wide magazines and newspapers for his direction of the area's public health program. He has been written up in Ambassador, McCall's magazine, NBC's Today, the Economist Newspaper and the Sunday Sun Times. Considered a model for the nation, it provides routine dental and medical care for township residents.

Joining Viverito at the luncheon at the Old Barn Restaurant in Burbank were Nicholas Melas, President of the Metropolitan Sanitary District and Chester Majewski, Commissioner. Both are incumbents seeking re-election with Viverito as the third member of the team, and fully support the proposal of opening an office in the south suburban area.

A veteran of the Korean War, he and his wife, Carolyn, have three children. He was a founder of the Burbank Sertoma Club and active in other civic organizations.

VILLAGE VIEW does not often endorse a candidate, but here we have the opportunity to support the election of a man that has compiled an enviable record and has the district's largest plant right in his own back yard.

A vote for Louis S. Viverito is a vote for yourself!

As much as possible to try and do my bit to conserve our energy. Recently I received a parking ticket in Chicago for having my moped on the sidewalk chained to a pole at the curb. The ticket was dismissed in court but I still had to take the time to appear though innocent.

The moped is treated by statute as a bicycle when the engine is not running and in many respects as far as equipment required when the engine is running.

It's not reasonable to try and conserve fuel when an unconscious "Protector of the People" forces a person to spend time and energy to go down and appear in court. Ignorance of the law is no excuse and it's not fair for anyone to have to pay for some law officer's ignorance!

QUESTIONS HANDLING OF "SHOW ME"

It seems to me that Rep Jane Barnes and Village Trustee John Hardek, with the help of his wife, are trying to get a lot of political mileage out of a book that hasn't been in the Oak Lawn library for over a year. In order to have a copy of "Show Me" for Mayor Kolb to review, the book had to be borrowed from the Bridgeview library.

As I see it, the library is a separate governmental unit. We elect board members to run the library. Let them do their job! If we are not happy with their performance, we will vote them out of office.

Jane Barnes was elected to serve us as a State Legislator. Her efforts should be extended to serve us as a better representative rather than trying to establish herself as a censor for the library.

John Hardek was elected as a Village Trustee. How well he serves in the capacity is a matter of opinion. However, I am sure he could find better ways to serve the village than as a censor for the library.

It appears that the issue of the book "Show Me" is much smoke and little fire.

Dissertation with your Police Department

Q WHAT ARE THE "RULES FO THE ROAD" FOR BICYCLES;

A All bicyeles must be registèred with the Village of Oak Lawn.

Must stay on the right side of the road and travel with the flow of traffic.

Must use hand signals when turning, stop for red lights and stop signs and obey all other traffic signs.

Must have a working white light in front and red light in rear when ridden from dusk to dawn.

No two on a bike unless built for two.

Q WHAT HAPPENS TO RECOVERED OR FOUND PROPERTY?

A If the owner is know, it is returned, if not after all attempts made to find the owner are futile, then the property is stored fox six months and then sold at public auction. All narcotics and weapons are destroyed upon order of the court.

Q IF I OWN A GUN MUST I REGISTER IT?

A State law states that all persons owning or possessing a fire arm must have a State Firearms Identification Card. Residents of Oak Lawn do not register individual guns although some municipalities do require this.

Q WHEN I MAKE A COMPLAINT EITHER IN PERSON, TELEPHONE, OR BY LETTER MAY I REMAIN ANONYMOUS?

A It is not required, but an officer cannot effect an arrest unless he or she actually sees the offense taking place or is able to gather enough evidence.

Q DOES THE POLICE DEPARTMENT HAVE A SPEAKERS BUREAU?

A Yes, the only requirements are a letter from the organization requesting a speaker, the date, time, approximate number of people and the name and phone number of the person making the request.

Persons sending in questions will remain anonymous, but must give their name and address when submitting same. In cases where the answer cannot be printed, but rather sent directly to the citizen, this will be done. Complaints relative to arrests or tickets issued will not be accepted as these questions must be adjudicated in a Court of Law. This does not mean that a question as to why a ticket was or was not issued cannot be answered in the column.

Russo explains no-show on Rail Act of 1980

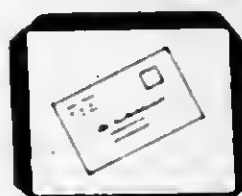

The House of Representatives recently passed the Rail Act of 1980, aimed at relieving the rail industry from some government regulation, while still providing Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) protection for those shippers who have no alternative to rail transportation.

Representative Marty Russo, a long-time supporter of legislation to help the railroads, was unable to be in Washington last week for the votes on the bill because of a serious operation which his wife, Karen, underwent on Monday of that week.

"I regret not being able to be present for these important votes and for final passage of the rail bill, but I felt that it was imperative that I be with Karen at the time of surgery. I want to take this opportunity to thank the many generous and thoughtful people who wrote or sent flowers. Karen and I both have been greatly touched by the kindnesses extended by so many people. And I am sure that the prayers of all of you have been instrumental in the successful outcome of her back surgery.

"With this legislation, we can feel hopeful about seeing some improvements in the rail system," Russo concluded. "Certainly no over-night miracles are forthcoming because our railroads are in bad shape. Also, over-regulation is not the only problem, but certainly it is a place to start."

From a childhood savings account to a retirement plan, Chesterfield Federal, a neighbor who helps in many ways.

Chesterfield has been like a member of our family ever since they opened in 1924. And now this youngest Thompson will be sharing the Chesterfield tradition as well.

Just yesterday, my Chesterfield savings counselor helped me open a passbook account for Jeffrey III. We'll put a little away for him until he starts to learn the responsibility of money.

On Chesterfield's advice, my son Jeff II has been investing in Chesterfield's high-interest certificates of deposit for years. In the stock market, some win and some lose, but my son knows he'll always come out ahead investing in Chesterfield's certificates.

Now my wife and I are enjoying the benefits of Chesterfield's Individual Retirement Account, IRA. Now that we're retired, it's providing us with a great income during our best years.

So start your own family tradition. Sit down with a helpful neighbor, Chesterfield Federal. You'll see how they can help your family generation after generation... just like they've helped mine.

Physical therapy after hospital

Proudly showing their progress in one of the Monticello physical therapy classes are (l to r) Robert Wiemer, Registered Physical Therapist heading the Physical Therapy department at Monticello; Edward Mladek and Ann Jagoda, residents at Monticello; and Anne Marie Cartalino, Physical Therapy Aide.

Upon leaving the hospital, many people who have had leg or hip fractures, strokes or other sicknesses that impair mobility, have not known where to turn for professional rehabilitation outside of the hospital. In Oak Lawn, one such place is the Monticello Convalescent Center where skilled physical therapy is a constant five-day-a-week program.

It takes skilled professional therapists, correct equipment, time and a great deal of caring to bring people back to utilization of their limbs again. Robert Wiemer, a registered physical therapist, heads this department at Monticello and with the help of the experienced physical therapy aides, has helped many hundreds of people to walk and use their arms and legs again.

Stroke is one of the sicknesses that leaves many elderly people temporarily immobile. With correct therapy most learn to walk all over again. Many persons have had illnesses which have placed them in bed or in wheelchairs for long periods of time and they develop a "fear" of walking again. The specialists at Monticello know how to cope with these psychological as well as physical problems and soon have most residents eagerly participating in therapy.

This type of treatment can rarely be accomplished as successfully at home (without expert supervision) due to the skill required. Knowing which muscles and exercises do what, for how

1980 Leaf Collection Program

The Village of Oak Lawn has announced the details of the 1980 Leaf Collection Program.

The village reminds residents that leaf burning remains illegal under all National and State air pollution control programs.

The collection of leaves under this program will commence October 20th and end on November 26, 1980. The village is requesting the cooperation of all residents in its effort to complete the entire program to the satisfaction of the residents within this time period.

On the regular scheduled refuse pick up day, Meyer Bros. Refuse Company, according to their basic contract with the Village of Oak Lawn, will collect leaves that are raked and placed in heavy duty plastic bags or in regulation garbage cans. Meyer Bros. is NOT required, and WILL NOT collect leaves that are not in proper containers. The village has a vacuum suction machine, which performs a number of duties, including the collection of loose leaves. Therefore, any leaves raked to the curb that are not properly bagged for refuse collection, must then be removed by village forces, one day following the regular scheduled refuse pick up. (Weather permitting.) This vacuum machine CANNOT handle branches and WILL NOT attempt to remove leaves left at the curb that contain branches. Residents that are unable to bag their leaves for the regular refuse pick up are instructed not to take them to the curb for vacuum pick up sooner than the day of refuse pick up, as leaves left in the gutters are often swept into storm sewers and catch basins, creating clogs that product flooding and add even more to the village maintenance costs.

Residents are again reminded that the burning of leaves is absolutely prohibited in the Village of Oak Lawn, with penalties provided under the law for violations. Residents are also reminded that the quickest and least costly removal of leaves is to bag them for refuse pick up.

In a recent study, the U.S. Fire Administration stated that the risk of dying in a home where detectors are not installed is twice the risk in homes where detectors are installed.

Remember, a smoke detector may save your life.

Lorraine Cramer has been named Chairperson of the event.

A trip to the Ice Follies is being planned for November 25. Helen McCoy will assist the Tour Chairperson, Virginia Campana.

Meloun questions Faitz decision to resign

Less than two weeks ago, Karl Faitz, Oak Lawn's Building & Zoning Director for 20 years, submitted his resignation to Village Manager Richard O'Neill.

Trustee Charles Meloun said at that time he did not understand why Faitz was asked to leave. To date Meloun does not feel that he still has been given an answer that satisfies him.

Tuesday, at the regular meeting of the president and board of trustees, the following statement was read into the minutes:

The incident that occurred the afternoon of Monday, October 6, 1980 is in my opinion a definite step backward to the future plans for the Village of Oak Lawn. I am referring to the dismissal of the Head of the Building Dept., Mr. Karl Faitz, who has devoted 20 years of dedicated service to the Village. We all know that just a short time ago, he received a plaque for this service.

Karl Faitz has proven to be a man of sincerity, honesty and devoted to making certain that any contractor under his jurisdiction does the job authorized in accordance to the Village Code and no nonsense allowed.

Just because there may be a difference of opinion pertaining to a particular program, in my judgment, this is not a just cause for dismissal. It reflects the concern that one has for the well being of this town. Karl Faitz has developed the ordinances from which this Village has expanded to what it is today. He also has the great respect of contractors who desire to do work for the Village.

No one is implying that the Village Manager has to have his way all the time, but in this particular case, the manager being a human being and all human beings make errors, my opinion is that the wrong decision was made. Therefore, I am strongly requesting that this decision be reversed and Karl Faitz be put back into his position as Director of the Building Dept. It takes a good leader to resolve differences of opinions and in this case, I believe we have two good people who are adults and should be able to solve this for the good of the Village.

Also, at this point, it is a concern to me as to the next steps to be taken in regards to other Village employees. We have been told that there would be some lateral transfers, but there is fear that more than the Youth Commission will be affected as far as reduction by termination or disbandment of entire departments will take place.

Now that this has been said, I would like the Village Manager to please reconsider his action taken with the hope that Karl Faitz be reinstated and the task of improving the village will continue with the help of the man who has the knowledge and experience.

There was no comment when Meloun finished, the board instead moved on to the next subject.

Huskey still seeking heirs

State Representative Herb Huskey is still trying to locate several persons who may be unaware that they have abandoned assets at the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions.

Huskey joined efforts with that department at the beginning of July to find current and former Eighth District residents who are believed to have unclaimed life insurance policies. According to Huskey, though, not all of these attempts have been successful.

"I sent a letter to approximately 22 persons on the department's list whose last known address was in my district," Huskey stated, "but 9 have been returned by the post office to become friends to the many people from the Village Hall, Trinity Lutheran Church, and Freshline Foods who have taken an interest in them. Chir Pau is working full time and also attends English classes at Moraine Valley College along with his wife and oldest daughter. He enjoys his work at Freshline and is appreciative of the opportunity offered him to learn the American way of super mart food distribution.

because of a lack of adequate forwarding address.

Lupus Society sponsors free lecture program

The Lupus Erythematosus Society of Illinois will sponsor a free lecture program at Northwestern Memorial Hospital, Passavant Pavillion, Offield Auditorium, 303 E. Superior Street, Chicago, Sunday, October 19 at 2 pm.

Governor Thompson, along with Mayors thruout the state have declared October 19-25, 1980, as NATIONAL LUPUS WEEK and ask that all residents of Illinois take cognizance of this fact, and support the L.E. Society in its efforts toward education on this disease. Membership in the L.E. Society is open to anyone interested in becoming more aware about Lupus and the Society. For more information, write L.E. Society of Illinois, P.O. Box 812, Chicago, IL 60642 or call 312-779-3181. The society is a chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America, Inc.

Lupus Erythematosus is a chronic inflammatory disease whose cause and cure are currently unknown. It afflicts nearly one million Americans. It is a serious and life threatening disease which can involve the skin and many different organs of the body and can be difficult to diagnose. The symptoms vary with each individual. Common symptoms are fever, fatigue, weight loss, joint pain, a butterfly rash across the bridge of the nose and sun sensitivity. Early diagnostic tests make the prognosis better today than in the past. Treatment is long term; usually requiring the expertise of a specialist. Early diagnosis makes possible the initiation of treatment before damage is done to the vital organs.

Hitler burned books!

Who put the book back on the shelf of the library and where has it been for almost two years?

When the answer to these questions are found we have the basis for the ugly controversy going on at the Oak Lawn Library over the book "Show Me" written by Dr. Helga Fleischhager — Hardt. What person so warped in intent put the book back in the children's section instead of the adult section for parents to use as part of the sex education collection? If the return of the book was an honest one it should have either been brought to the desk or put in a book-drop meant for that purpose.

Several months ago the Oak Lawn Library, the finest building in Oak Lawn, petitioned for autonomy and will be on the ballot November 4, 1980. The voters will then decide whether it shall still be under village rule or stand alone creating a separate tax district. The decision by the library came about last year when the village cut back on the library budget. The present members of the library board felt the cut caused reduced services to the patrons.

About five weeks ago the book "Show Me" seemed to be causing amusement to some children in the library. A woman, upon investigating, found the book somewhat undesirable in her opinion and took it to one of the clerks, who knew nothing about it. Instead of taking it to the proper authority, head librarian James O'Brien, she took it from the library which in itself is against the law.

The book was brought to another woman who in turn took it to one of our state representatives. They requested to be heard at a regular board meeting without any pre-warning of the book's contents. The intent was obviously to drop a bomb rather than have it settled by a sober and responsible discussion.

The group of dissenters, about 20 people, demanded that the book be taken "off" the shelf. They did not ask that it be put in the proper section — they chose instead to be censors for the entire village. They were promised an answer within two weeks.

On October 2 the board members voted 4-1 in favor of a postponement of the subject matter until after the vote on the referendum.

What is most unusual about the entire proceedings is that the book belonging to the library has mysteriously disappeared and is not in the library's possession. The book that is being shown in evidence as being pornographic, and has been reviewed by all of the trustees without much comment, is one from the Bridgeview Library. Or, if you wish, you can buy a copy from any large book store.

Charges of "politics" has flown back and forth and that the intent is to defeat the referendum. The opponents of the book deny this. However, there are those who are so politically unastute that they can be led without realizing who is doing the leading.

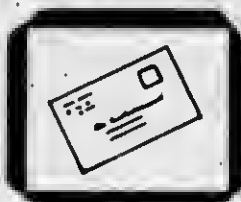

These few persons have set themselves up as a censor board and in return are violating the rights of others and freedom of the press. We, as a people, cannot dictate to others as to what methods they might use to educate their children about sex or on any other subject they may feel

This article was not written in defense of the referendum or against the referendum. To use this book "Show Me" as a reason to cast your vote against the referendum is wrong. There are people that can't stand spiders — would this give them the right to take any animal book relating to spiders from the shelves also?

Your vote should only take into consideration that by forming a new tax district your taxes can be slightly raised. If you believe the board of trustees is doing a good job of keeping the tax rate down then your vote should be in favor of the village fathers.

This is the American way...

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'MORE THAN SMOKE'

I cease to be amazed at the uninformed citizens like Mary Sullivan who criticized our Oak Lawn elected officials for standing up against the tide of pornography sweeping our nation.

What will society become if it accepts explicit sex education books intended for children depicting nude adults and children engaged in sexual activity and shows stimulated sex organs being used for masturbation.

The book, "Show Me," is more than "smoke." It's a blazing flame that guts the senses and scorches the emotions and leaves third-degree burns on the intellect.

Thank God, some elected officials still recognize what is really good and bad for our society and especially our children.

AMENDMENT AIMED AT TAX DODGERS

The proposed blue ballot amendment to reduce the redemption period after Scavenger Act tax sales deserves the support of every newspaper, every civic organization and every taxpayer in Illinois.

It will inconvenience the slumlords, who collect rents, let their properties deteriorate and ignore their taxes year after year. Everybody else will benefit by amending the current Section 8 of Article IX of the Constitution.

Section 8 now gives real estate owners a two-year right of redemption from sales for tax delinquency. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to reduce the redemption period (but not to less than 90 days) for property five years delinquent.

Distressed widows, senior citizens and handicapped trying to save their homes would not be threatened. The amendment does not apply to single-family dwellings, farms or small apartment buildings.

It applies only to commercial, industrial and vacant non-farm properties and buildings of seven or more units. It is aimed at deliberate tax dodgers.

Dissertation with your Police Department

Q WHAT DO I DO IF I LOSE A LICENSE PLATE FROM MY CAR?

A You must first make a police report the the community, in which you believe you lost the plate. (Bring your vehicle registration card when the report is made). Then you must go the the Secretary of State's Office or to a currency exchange for new plates.

A WHAT CAN I DO TO MAKE MY PROPERTY IDENTIFIABLE IN CASE IT IS STOLEN?

A Either make an identifiable marking on the items, or using an engraving pen write your social security number or driver's license number on the item.

Q IF I SELL MY CAR AND BUY A NEW ONE, DO I HAVE TO GET A NEW VEHICLE STICKER?

A Yes. Bring in the old application and apply for a new one. It will be transferred.

Q WHAT DO I NEED TO HAVE A GARAGE OR BASEMENT SALE?

A You must have a permit which can be obtained at the Oak Lawn Village Hall.

Q IF A JUVENILE COMMITS CRIMINAL DAMAGE TO ANY OF MY PROPERTY, WILL I BE RE-IMBURSED BY HIS/HER PARENTS?

A Yes, but this can only be done thru the States Attorney's office.

Persons sending in questions will remain anonymous, but must give their name and address when submitting same. In cases where the answer cannot be printed, but rather sent directly to the citizen, this will be done. Complaints relative to arrests or tickets issued will not be accepted as these questions must be adjudicated in a Court of Law.

John J. Haberkorn
Chief of Police

Oak Lawn Police Department

Mall inquiries to: Public Information, Oak Lawn Police Dept., 9431 S. Cook Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453 or - Village View, 10524 S. Lorel, Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

When real estate owners refuse to pay their share of government costs, the conscientious taxpayers are unfairly burdened. The same people who let taxes go, also let maintenance go while their properties increasingly blight the whole neighborhood.

Potential buyers need an incentive to bid at a Scavenger auction. Who would buy a rundown property and invest money to fix it up if he has to wait two years without knowing he will ever obtain title?

Three former Governors — Richard B. Ogilvie, Samuel H. Shapiro and William G. Stratton — are honorary chairmen of our committee to stop this tax abuse. The amendment is supported by a long list of public spirited citizens and groups, including the Chicago Real Estate Board, Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, League of Women Voters, Urban League, Home Builders Association and the Metropolitan Housing and Planning Council.

A YES vote on the amendment November 4 will change things for the better. This issue is too important to be lost among all the decisions the voter must make on Election Day.

Committee to End Illinois Tax Abuse

FOUR TIPS ON THAILAND

TIP ONE — Nowhere else is there such a fairy-tale atmosphere as in this enchanting country of Thailand. Nowhere else is there a city that can offer more colorful temples than Bangkok. Nowhere are people more gracious. Here you'll find an amazing mixture of the old and the new, the primitive and the sophisticated. This you will like.

Jim Buschbach

TIP TWO — Thai classical drama is a must with performances that may seem long by Western standards, but they are beautiful and fascinating. Here too, are many festivals to attend, some having been celebrated for over 700 years. Remember Thailand is a tradition to a "t".

TIP THREE — Any afternoon you can escape the noisy bustling Bangkok with a cruise to enjoy yourself. A long boat will lead an exciting trip through many canals. You will land at a typical Thai house to observe cultural village life, recreation and play. On the return trip, a rice-barge giving a touch of farm life, will cruise you along the lovely and peaceful, shady khlong in the midst of a beautiful sunset. My guess is that is why they call it the "Sunset Cruise". Be sure to ask about this special trip when planning your tour to this part of the Orient. I'll arrange to include this cruise if you wish. You'll surely delight in all of this area.

And now, TIP FOUR — Here is our State-side tip for you. Come in to World Travel Mart, 5615 W 95th Street, as the starting place for all of your vacation plans. ## Lions to hear Yourell on Bahamas happening

The Oak Lawn Lions Club will have as their guest speaker, Harry "Bus" Yourell, State Representative on Tuesday, October 21 at the Golden Age Restaurant, 4545 W 95th Street. Yourell will relate some of the facts surrounding the mysterious incident which happened in the Bahamas a short time ago.

Yourell has served our community in many ways, having been extremely active in civic affairs for over 21 years. After leaving the U.S. Marine Corps where he had enlisted during World War II, he became a participant in community and civic organizations such as Boy Scouts, Lions Club, Elks Club, Moose and others.

He was elected trustee for the Village of Oak Lawn from 1959 - 1963 and has been a delegate to several national conventions. Having been elected to the Illinois State House of Representatives, he has worked on numerous committees and commissions. Many awards, too numerous to mention, have been presented to "Bus" by the various committees on which he has served.

Yourell's eye-witness account of the "Bahama Incident" should make for an exciting evening. All Lions and guests are invited to attend. Social hour will begin at 6:30 pm with dinner being served at 7:15.

Kerry fits songs to crowd

You'll never hear the same program twice when singer-guitarist Kerry performs at the 12th floor Top of the Tower Lounge, Oak Lawn Tower Inn, 9333 Cicero Avenue, Oak Lawn.

He sizes up each night's audience to see which of three main types it is -- talkers, listeners or dancers -- and then picks the hits of the 1950s, 60s, 70s and 80s which best suit the mood of the evening.

To make sure that there's music for everyone, Kerry encourages requests. He honors request cards distributed at each table. He sometimes plays musical quizzes with the audience. And at intermissions, he doesn't disappear -- he mixes with the patrons to see what music they want.

Kerry wants his audiences to enjoy his music, but he doesn't force them to hear anything else. He takes care to keep volume at levels which let people talk to each other.

Kerry is appearing in the tower top lounge of the Oak Lawn Tower Inn Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 to 1 and Fridays and Saturdays 9:30 to 1:30.

The lounge's "Tower Power Hour", when all drinks are 99 cents, has been extended to 9 to 10 pm as well as 5 to 6:30, Monday thru Friday.

EP/OL Fire Department certified

The Oak Lawn/Evergreen Park Fire Departments have been certified by the Illinois Department of Health as a provider of emergency medical care. On September 1, 1980, a certificate of merit and a "Star of Life" decal to be used on emergency vehicles were presented to the ambulance service in recognition of their voluntary efforts to meet federal standards for emergency medical service.

The blue "Star of Life" is a symbol of quality medical care. Its use on emergency vehicles is intended to alert the public to those services that meet the nationally recognized standards. After September 30, 1980, only those providers certified by the state health department will be authorized to use the "Star of Life" insignia.

To qualify for certification, these fire departments met standards for both personnel and equipment. Their emergency vehicles have radio communication with a medical facility and are in operation 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Service is provided on a per need basis.

All ambulance and rescue services in Illinois that provide basic (EMT) or advanced (paramedic) pre-hospital emergency care, whether they transport or not, are eligible and encouraged to participate in the program.

Any Illinois provider interested in applying may do so by contacting the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Emergency Medical Services and Highway Safety. Out-of-state providers may be considered if they routinely render services in Illinois.

News Information Supervisor
Commonwealth Edison Co.

Some sage once quipped, "If you don't like the weather here, just wait a minute". Never has this been as true as this summer, when hot, sultry afternoons all too often have turned into evenings of vicious thunderstorms.

High winds, often reaching speeds of 70 miles per hour and more this summer accompanied knockout combinations of lightning bolts and torrential rains that flattened trees and power lines alike. Just as frequently, after rushing to close windows that yielded gallons of wind-driven water instead of fitful breezes, homeowners found that the television, lights and air conditioner all had stopped.

When this happens, Edison's switchboards light up like pinball machines as thousands of customers call simultaneously to report their service interruptions. At this point, Edison swings into its Emergency Restoration of Power plan, or ERP for short.

The decision to go into ERP is almost like putting out a call for "all hands on deck!" as employees from several departments pitch in to get through the crisis. When customers call in, they're asked the nature of their trouble, especially if they can see any downed wires. Customer Service Representatives (CSR's) then fill out a service ticket and hand it to a group of engineers who assemble for analysis of outage reports. Seated in front of a giant map with a plastic overlay, they mark the location of each downed wire, trying to piece together the puzzle of the affected area. As soon as they get a rough idea of the boundaries, the report is carried into the load dispatcher's office. The operating and load dispatchers send crews to troubled areas and maintain communications with them as the crews switch and repair lines to restore power.

To help us outguess Mother Nature so we can gear up for these storms, Edison subscribes to a weather forecasting service. It predicts when and where

GARAGE SALE

A Garage Sale sponsored by the Friends of the Arthritis Foundation, to benefit the Illinois Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, will be held on Saturday, October 25, 10 am to 4 pm at 8248 W 141st Street, in Orland Park. Household items and clothing will be sold.

Lawn Manor PTA plans reunion

Mrs. Jean Christianson, past president of the Lawn Manor School PTA announced plans for a reunion for former teachers and parents of the Lawn Manor School PTA. Lawn Manor School in District 125 chartered its PTA in 1960 and has been very active in school and civic affairs. According to Mrs. Christianson, "Many parents have not been in contact because of the graduation of their children and others because of relocating." Many former members have voiced an interest in getting together and therefore Mrs. Christianson has organized it. Hats off to a real civic minded person.

Name Commended Students at HLR

the storm will strike as well as the type and severity. For example, let's say we receive a report calling for a Type W2, B7R3. A W2 means heavy winds so we can expect a lot of tree contact and downed wires. The B stands for black, which indicates a storm that could have a "major" effect on our customers. The 7 means the weather service has assigned it a 70% probability. The R denotes Red or the possibility of a storm with a "significant" effect, and the 3 means a 30% probability. This report is especially helpful so that we can determine the number of crews that need to be called in or held after normal working hours.

If you think we've been having more storms than usual, this is not a figment of your imagination. So far this year, we've had 16 ERP situations and spent about $7 million in repairs. That's about $5 million over budget, and according to the oldtimers, the worst season in our history. Let's keep our fingers crossed. Maybe this means Ms. Nature has gotten the bad weather out of her system.

Ecumenical anniversary mass for hostages at St Gerald's

There will be an ecumenical anniversary mass to commemorate our hostages in Iran. This mass will be held at St. Gerald's Church, located at 93rd and Central Avenue. Since the fall of our embassy in Iran took place on November 4, 1979, and our National election day is November 4, 1980 - the mass is being celebrated on the next Saturday, November 8, at 11 am. If the hostages are released before then, the theme will be changed to a thanksgiving mass.

The Catholic War Veterans of Oak Lawn, Ryan McCormick Post 1609, are sponsoring this mass in remembrance of the year-old event. Vowing never to forget our courageous citizens, and the hardships they are enduring. All news media coverage, and a tape recording of the mass will be sent to the hostages when they return. To show them the American people did not forget them in their darkest hour.

Past Commander John Opitz appeared before the Village Board of Oak Lawn on October 21 to ask that they proclaim the week of November 2 thru November 8, "Remember Our Hostages Week." And also to request that the American flag be flown thruout the whole Village for the entire week. This is to include every home, as well as the main arterial streets - ending the week with the Anniversary Mass.

Opitz has been in contact with Mrs Kehoe in the State Department, Washington, D.C., who is in charge of all hostage family activity in the United States. Kehoe and Opitz are making arrangements for the family of a hostage (who reside in the midwest area) to attend as honored guests for this weekend event.

Invitations were sent to national, state and local dignitaries. Including President Carter, Secretary of State Muskie, local and state legislators and representatives - as well as Mayor Byrne, and the mayors of local surrounding communities.

Between 50 and 100 posts of American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Catholic War Veterans, Jewish War Veterans, and Disabled American Veterans, along with their State Commanders will attend, and display their colors.

The Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force color guards will lead the parade from the school to the church. With the Grand Knights of the Knights of Columbus bringing in the secular priest for the service.

Services will begin at 11 am, with the Reverend William White, pastor of St. Gerald's Church, as the main celebrant. Concelebrants will be: Rev. Steven Budrovich, State Chaplain for Auxiliary C.W.V. and Rev. Thomas Van Thienen, Knights of Columbus chaplain.

Also attending will be: Rev. Edmund E. Hood, Pastor, St. Raphael the Archangel Episcopalian Church; Rather Geo. C. Massouras, Pastor, St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and the Rabbi of the Chaplain Jewish War Veterans.

Past National Commander of the Catholic War Veterans, Edward McElroy will be a master commentator, along with Robert Kenny, and Representative Harry "Bus" Yourell, in the reading of the mass.

Fifty-two candles will be carried by St. Gerald altar boys, representing each of our hostages in captivity. Taps will be played for the eight boys who lost their lives in the rescue attempt, as well as the one hostage who died in the takeover of the embassy.

Soloist Kay Kulpinski will sing "God Bless America", and "America the Beautiful", and the mass, accompanied by organist Karen Opitz.

All faiths have been invited from surrounding churches in Oak Lawn to participate in the mass. And Opitz has composed a hostage prayer for the occasion, which is now being considered.

The altar will be decorated with yellow mums and yellow ribbons.

Brownies work on library referendum

Members of Brownie Troop 227 at the Hannum School in Oak Lawn paste labels on index cards as they work for the passage of the Oak Lawn Library referendum slated for November 4. Voters are being asked to approve a change in status to make the library a district library instead under the village administration as it is now. They are (l to r): Leslie Carlson, Cindy Law, Mrs Sharon Molton, Troop Leader; Amy Molton and Laverne Smith.

Judge Crane receives a 'break'

Circuit Court Judge Ronald J. Crane, Democratic Candidate for Circuit Court Judge, in the upcoming election, demonstrates innovative campaign advertising. Judge Crane is recovering at home, following surgery to repair a shattered kneecap, sustained recently in a fall in the court house in Markham, IL.

Visiting with Judge Crane, is fellow candidate Justice Seymour Simon, (c) Democratic Candidate for the Supreme Court.

The visit was of special significance, since it occurred on the 18th anniversary of the date Justice Simon, then president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, appointed Crane to the bench as City of Harvey Magistrate.

Shown with Judge Crane and Justice Simon is Edward F. McElroy, (r), Director of Special Events for WJJD Radio.

PRAYER FOR OUR HOSTAGES

*God made land between two oceans and he also made man.
Then men grew in numbers and called this land America.*

From every nation around the world came men, women, and children from every race and color of humanity to be free, to build, and to own a part of it.

*Americans were sent around the globe to show our pursuit of liberty, and preserve our human rights.
In doing so, we paid the price.*

*The price is 52 human beings.
Only God knows where they are incarcerated.
Please God if they are weak give them strength, if they are in darkness give them light, if they are sick make them well, and most of all let them know they are not forgotten.*

With this mass, with this congregation from every walk of life we pray to thee, for our hostages to be free.

John Opitz

There will be a 25 cent

Finley's bail bond project returns huge cash windfall

Cook County government will receive a $1.2 million windfall from Circuit Court Clerk Morgan M. Finley as a result of a special bail bond project conducted by Finley's office.

The funds will be turned over to county officials within 30 days, Finley said, as soon as final accounting procedures are completed. The payment brings to $2.3 million the funds collected thru the bail bond project.

The project began last year. It was intended to recapture unclaimed bail bonds posted with the court between 1970-73. The bonds had been posted in criminal and traffic cases in Chicago and Cook County suburbs but never reclaimed by those who posted them.

Letters were sent to all of the former defendants and approximately $325,000 was reclaimed during the course of the year-long program.

Recapture of these funds was made possible by legislation recommended by Finley to the Illinois General Assembly. Under prior legislation, abandoned bonds of this type had to be held for seven years and then turned over to the state. Finley's bill shortened the time period to three years and provided that Cook County was to receive the abandoned bonds.

He indicated that since the funds had been deposited and managed by local government, they also should be turned over to local government.

"The cost of local government is high enough for the real estate taxpayer," Finley said. "We intend to find every revenue source possible to see to it that the load on real estate taxes is kept to the lowest level possible."

In 1981, Finley's office will begin the process of recapturing unclaimed bonds from 1974-1977, the last time period from which abandoned bonds can be cleared.

Incumbent Melas seeks voter approval

Nicholas J. Melas is a graduate of the University of Chicago with a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry and a M.B.A. in Labor and Industrial Relations. He is now completing his third term at the Sanitary District.

During his last election in 1974, he was endorsed by three Chicago newspapers; the Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Sun-Times, and the Chicago Tribune.

As President of the Board of Commissioners, and previously as Chairman of Finance, he has pressed for advances in fiscal policies. These changes have enabled the District to maintain a strong financial posture and save millions of tax dollars. This excellence in fiscal management has Nicholas J. Melas has been recognized nationally by an award by the Municipal Finance Officers Association.

Another superb accomplishment by President Nick Melas was the wide ranging program to keep a close watch on Lake Michigan, Chicago's most precious natural asset. Again Melas has scooped the Federal Agencies by this plan to keep tabs on lake pollution conditions from the Indiana border on the south to the Lake-Cook County line on the north.

Utmost in Melas' direction is that he wants the Sanitary District and its officials to involve private boaters, lake-preservation groups, environmentalists, fishing enthusiasts, and others in the plan.

Nick Melas is known to many as the "little financial wizard" of governmental agencies.

Melas is an army combat veteran of World War II.

filing of September 15, 1980. Sarsoun also pointed out that there are no criminal sanctions involved for not filing. "Even if I had not filed, I could not have been charged with any criminal act, since non-filing carries only a civil penalty."

Tuesday, November 4 voters guide

Russo selected for fourth term ★★★★★★★★★★

VILLAGE VIEW, as in the past, endorses Congressman MARTY RUSSO, for a job well done. He is a dedicated congressman, and donates many hours performing for the people. Russo, having offices in three strategic areas, has made them available for the use of everyone needing assistance. We would not want to throw away his six years of experience, with few complaints in those years, for a person unqualified for this important office.

As a service to the community we have condensed the offices, and amendments, to be elected upon in the next general election. You may wish to clip this article and take it with you when voting Tuesday, November 4th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TIMELY SUGGESTION FOR "SHOW ME"

The controversy involving a sex education book in the Oak Lawn Library may well have a decisive impact on the November 4 library referendum. Certainly, parents and other village residents who, through their tax dollars, fund the library have a legitimate interest in what materials are available there. On the other hand, some people feel that the removal of any book from the library would be an unwelcome and unnecessary censorship.

Perhaps a compromise is possible. The library could issue two types of cards to school children. One would permit access to any book in the library. The other would allow the child to borrow any book except for those few determined to be possibly offensive or inappropriate. This determination would be made either by the library board itself or a committee comprised of parents and library board members. Each child's parents would decide which type of card their child would be issued.

I recognize that my proposal is far from ideal. It is, however, workable and would allow for parental control while not limiting the freedom of those who want no restrictions placed on what their children read.

/s/ Michael M. Bates
9323 S 49th Court

Dear Voter:

As you know, there will soon be a national election upon us. I got to thinking about two words that have always been around and I found myself, as so many others have, taking them for granted, or feeling I knew the true definition of these words.

So, I set out with Webster's Dictionary to find the real meaning of these words, "Vote" and "Voter". I found that I have never really realized the magnitude of these words, and I would like to pass them on to you.

"Vote" — A wish; a vow; to speak; a choice; a decision

"Voter" — A person who has the "right" to do any of the above

This means that you and I can make the words of men like Lincoln, Franklin, Washington, and many others become a present day reality. Under our system, the moment we walk in to that booth to vote, we make that four letter word become the most powerful word in the world. It speaks, decides, chooses, and allows you and I to have the same right as the most powerful man in this country; a voice in what I would like to see happen in the future.

I also learned that not all four letter words are negative.

/s/ Lou Novinson

PROPOSED AMEND TO SECTIONS 1, 2 and 3 OF ARTICLE IV

Explanation of Proposed Amendment

The purpose of the Amendment is to reduce the size of the House of Representatives from 177 to 118 members and to provide for the election of one Representative from each of 118 districts.

Vote "YES" or "NO"

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTION 8 OF ARTICLE IX

Explanation of Proposed Amendment

The proposed Amendment deals only with the problem of long-term tax delinquency on commercial, industrial, vacant non-farm, and large multi-unit residential properties. It has no effect on single-family homes, farms, or apartment buildings containing 6 or less units. The proposed Amendment would allow the General Assembly to reduce the 2-year redemption period to no less than 90 days following the scavenger sale.

Vote "YES" or "NO" for the proposed Amendment to Section 9 of Article IX of the Constitution to authorize the General Assembly to reduce the redemption period following certain tax sales which occur after property taxes have not been paid for (5) years.

STRAW POLL

There will be a Straw Poll in the six voter precincts that encompass the unpaved neighborhoods in the northwest and west areas. The residents will be asked if they "approve" or "oppose" splitting a 50-50 cost of an estimated $6.1 million with the village.

Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association held a traditional ribbon cutting ceremony marking the grand opening of its Oak Lawn office, 10350 S Pulaski Road on Thursday, Oct. 2. Justin Mackiewicz, Jr., president and board chairman of Standard Federal Savings, cut the blue ribbon.

Branch Manager Tom Halm greeted local residents and business professionals and invited them to meet his specially trained staff. The platform was then given to Mayor Ernie Kolb who welcomed Standard Federal Savings into the community.

When the doors of the office were officially opened, W. J. Cavanaugh, was designated as the association's first customer.

Standard Federal Savings was founded in 1909 by Justin Mackiewicz, Sr. and a group of men who pooled $1280 to organize a financial institution.

During its 71-year existence, the association has grown to be the tenth largest savings and loan in Illinois with $534 million in assets.

"Coming to Oak Lawn is just like a homecoming," stated Justin Mackiewicz, Jr. "Many of our employees have lived in the area for years."

Nation leads in fire deaths

Everyday in our newspapers you read the tragic headlines such as "Fire Kills Family of Six". Do you know that this great country of ours leads all other nations in fire deaths and dollar loss. In fact, in the United States, we have over 750,000 residential fires that kill over 6000 people every year. That means an average of 2054 fires and 17 deaths per day, not mentioning the thousands of burn victims.

To try to reduce these figures, Fire Departments thruout the country have been making people aware of the protection gained by installing smoke detectors. The fact that household smoke detectors save lives is beyond dispute. The United States Fire Administration reports that when a fire occurs, the risk of dying in a home where detectors are not installed is twice the risk in homes where detectors are installed.

In Oak Lawn, we are aware of at least three incidents where smoke detectors saved lives in a fire emergency. The Fire Department, thru public information programs, has stressed the importance of every residential occupancy installing at least one smoke detector on every level, and it has been our hope that the residents of Oak Lawn were providing their families with this protection. This hope was shattered through data collected during our Home Fire Safety Program this spring and summer. Since the inception of our Home Fire Safety Program, which consists of on-duty fire personnel visiting homes and pointing out possible fire hazards, we have found that at least 60% of the residents surveyed do not have any smoke detection devices.

Howlett plea for passage of Delinquent Tax Sale Amendment

An appeal to both major political parties to help pass the Delinquent Tax Sale Amendment to the Illinois Constitution was issued by the Committee to End Illinois Tax Abuse.

Michael J. Howlett, committee chairman, sent a letter to state and county chairmen of the Democratic and Republican parties and to ward committeemen in Chicago and township committeemen in Cook County.

Gov. Thompson and all four living ex-governors - William G. Stratton, Samuel H. Shapiro, Richard B. Ogilvie and Daniel Walker - all have endorsed the Amendment. The two Republican and two Democratic ex-governors are honorary chairmen of the committee.

"The Amendment will help improve neighborhoods, return delinquent property to tax rolls and stop abuse by tax dodgers," said Howlett. "No argument against the Amendment has yet been discovered."

Howlett said Sen. Dawn Clark Netsch, chairman of the joint committee assigned by the General Assembly to write arguments for and against the Amendment, made a diligent search but couldn't find any opposition to it.

Alan J. Dixon, Howlett's successor as Illinois Secretary of State, has prepared a folder required by law for seven million voters to explain the Amendment and the arguments. The word, "None," appears under the "Arguments Against" heading.

"Although the proposed Amendment is endorsed by virtually everyone who has studied it, it could still lose if confused with the other Blue Ballot Amendment," said Howlett. The other Amendment proposed to eliminate cumulative voting and reduce the size of the Illinois House of Representatives.

To carry, the proposed Amendment must obtain a majority of all votes cast November 4 or 60% of the votes cast on the issue itself.

Ice skaters on the lagoon in Lincoln Park. Lunch under the magnificent tree at Marshall Fields. Michigan Avenue's delightful holiday windows. Carolers and shoppers at State Street's proud new mall.

All these wondrous sights and sounds make Chicago a special place during the Christmas holidays.

Now both visitors and natives can experience all this and more during the Ambassador East Hotel's special "Christmas in Chicago" holiday package, available weekends from

To make holiday shopping effortless and glamorous, the Ambassador East will provide limousine service to transport guests on the special "Christmas in Chicago" week-end down Michigan Avenue to Marshall Fields, State Street, with a stop at Water Tower Place. On Saturdays,

Marionette show at Standard Federal

The National Marionette Company induced wide-eyed expressions and bursts of laughter from spectators during three performances at Standard Federal's new Oak Lawn office, 10350 S Pulaski Road, on Saturday, October 4. The marionette show took place in an enclosed circus tent in the parking lot. Children and adults were taken on a round-the-world fantasy trip to countries including Japan, Ireland, Russia and Italy.

After each show, a drawing was held and furry animal hand puppets were given to children. John McCarthy, Chicago and Jake and Emily Alderden, Oak Lawn, were the lucky winners in the contest.

Rosenbaum appointment

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce announced two appointments in the finance department.

reservations manager at 782-7200.

Opened in 1926 by the famous hotelier, Ernie Byfield, the Ambassador East was purchased in 1977 by Dunfey Hotels, which instigated a $4-million refurbishing effort. The Sertoma Center for Communicative Disorders is offering a course to hearing aid users which is directed at improving their understanding of speech by the teaching of specific techniques. This course will also allow for an interchange of ideas, solutions to problems, and general feelings to be discussed between the group participants and hearing health professionals.

The course will be offered on Wednesday starting November 5. Enrollment for the seven week course (one time a week for 1 1/2 hours) is limited. The cost is $25. All inquiries should be directed to 361-2121, Monday thru Friday from 9:00 - 5:00.

Book 'Show Me' stays in Oak Lawn Library

Over 200 people, along with TV cameras, local cameramen, and reporters filled the Oak Lawn Library to exceed the safety rules set down by the fire department. Both firemen and policemen were on hand for crowd control.

The event leading up to the attendance at the meeting was to settle the controversy over the book "Show Me".

Four persons had written requests to speak on the subject and all were present. Two asked that the book be removed from the shelf and two were against removal. On the agenda were Mary Anne Hardek, Nancy Czerwicz (for removal), Ramona Griffin and Lydia Hurst (against removal).

The talks by those against "Show Me" had many valid reasons for disapproving the book as did those who spoke for retention.

James O'Brien, head librarian, gave a complete report on the sex education material. He added that four court cases had ruled that the book "Show Me" was not obscene. He said that after 30 or more reviews each staff member recommended that the book be retained. O'Brien said that he had read numerous letters. Letters to the Editor, read the court cases and had over 40 phone conversations. His final decision was to retain the book; that it be kept in the office collection; that it only be circulated to parents or adults upon request.

George Morrissey, member of the library board, stilled the audience on his talk before the vote. Sounding as though he was voting with O'Brien to retain the book he said that "Show Me" had passed all the litmus tests as being neither obscene or pornographic.

Norman B. Stivers, Hagendorf, of Coral Gables, Florida, will conduct the last day of the seminar on Saturday, December 6, beginning at 8:45 am.

The seminar will give professional accountants and tax practitioners an opportunity to "rap" with representatives from the Internal Revenue Service, Department of Revenue, Federal and State Wage and Hour Division, Social Security Administration and Division of Unemployment Compensation Departments.

On Friday, December 5, Edward F. McElroy, Director of Special Events for WJJD Radio, will be the toastmaster of the seminar's main luncheon.

Norman B. Stivers, president of the Independent Accountants Assn of Illinois, has announced that the 31st Annual Tax Seminar for Professionals will be held on December 3, 4, 5 and 6 at Pheasant Run, St. Charles, Illinois.

Hilda M. Schultz, of the Fox Valley Chapter 4, Downers Grove, will be chairperson of the speakers committee for the Annual Tax Seminar, which will attract some 1000 accountants from all over the State of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. Mrs. Schultz has appointed Earl Levit, 3601 W. Devon, Chicago; Robert Lohman, 9907 Cicero, Oak Lawn; Joseph Y. Rosenzweig, 6054 W. Touhy, Skokie; Arnold Abrams, 5769 N. Lincoln Avenue, Chicago; David Gilbert, 6740 N. Central Park, Lincolnwood, who is the immediate past president; and Donn Proven, 1545 Waukegan Road, Glenwood, to serve on the Tax Seminar Committee.

Mrs. Schultz has stated that Dr. Neil E. Harl, of Iowa State U., will conduct the seminar on Thursday, December 4 at 9:15 am.

John J. Vassen and Vincent Kloeckner will conduct the seminar on Friday, December 5, at 9:15 am.

Chairperson Schultz also announced that Stanley

Hardek accepts gold watch for years of service

Pete Paulius, Chairman of the Oak Lawn First Committee, presents a gold watch to Oak Lawn's Senior Trustee, John Hardek, in appreciation of his many years of service to the community. Over 500 people recently attended a testimonial dinner dance held in honor of John Hardek at the Martinique Restaurant. Pictured (l to r) are Mary Ann Hardek, John Hardek, Oak Lawn Trustee, Pete Paulius, Oak Lawn First Committee Chairman, and Les Anderson, Oak Lawn Trustee.

He said the board did not have the power to ban the book and this could be done only by the government.

With this Morrissey voted to remove the book from the library at first stunning the audience who was there for removal, then giving him a resounding round of applause. Arlene Knowski was the only other board member who agreed with Morrissey.

Ted Oppenheim, before his vote to retain the book said that the activity of the group putting it on display and having it shown on TV has spread the interest. He said that those who would ban the book have by their action increased the sales and promoted it for the publishers.

Member Harriet Murphy said that the book had been reviewed by professionals and voting with O'Brien, said she would support the freedom of all the people to read what they like.

Kay Siemeck and Leon Stevens voted to retain the book.

Board president Larry Collings in his vote for retention of "Show Me" said that censorship would violate the freedom of the library. He said he would defend the rights of the head librarian in his decision.

People strength can save parks

How much more can Oak Lawn afford to lose? Because of a few people we lost the Sears Shopping Center to Chicago Ridge. We are the largest south suburban village and we lost the United States Post Office to Bridgeview because they had more affordable property.

For years we have housed the 5th District Court, crowding the village quarters to keep them and using the rental fee as part of the estimated income to keep taxes down. Now where are they building the new huge court building — Bridgeview of course!

Is it no wonder the Oak Lawn Park District is worried about losing 240 acres of our parks to Chicago Ridge.

Before the Ridge Park District was even formed the Oak Lawn Park District annexed the acreage in 1965 and 1967. In 1974 the Ridge tried to take the property back but support for a referendum failed.

When the Ridge went to court recently to regain the property they found that a special referendum in November was not possible and the issue cannot be voted upon until April 1981.

The root of all this particular evil is the possible $100,000 in extra property tax revenue that will be created when the Chicago Ridge Mall opens in September 1981. The mall is located in Chicago Ridge but within the boundaries of the Oak Lawn Park District. There are only two buildings, the Ciora Arms and another complex on 94th & Ridgeland, which contain about 100 units. The Chicago Ridge Park District has already stated that the funds would be used to bring down the tax rate for all of the residents. But, would they use it to improve the parks for so few people?

Director Marty Larson believes that these residents are better served by the Oak Lawn Park District because the homes are near Simmons, one of our largest parks and the well furnished Southwest Park. It must be remembered that we also stand to lose whatever income we have at this time should the Ridge get back this piece of property.

Our park district that has grown despite those who would tend to state differently is faced with another problem. The Oak Lawn village fathers have been discussing a move to include the park district as one of the village departments. We believe this would be a sad mistake.

Several years ago those who lived in Oak Lawn can surely remember when politics prevailed in the park district and it was horrendous to say the least. The commissioners in office now, and a few before them who have since retired, took many years to erase the stigma of politics and the operation was a success.

Who now can the commissioners call on for help. Our state representatives preside over Worth Township which includes both the Ridge and Oak Lawn. Our congressman presides over the 3rd District which also includes the Ridge and Oak Lawn. We could call on the honest discretion of the judges but that has also been tried before. The only alternative for the Oak Lawn Park District is to call on the people. The strength of the people is capable of moving mountains. It can be done in this instance when people are mad enough -- let's get and keep that $100,000 for our own parks.

It would seem that squatters rights should prevail here but we all know that it is more than that. . . it is not what you know -- it is who you know. . .

What do you think?

Growing housing shortage facing seniors

"You are the only one who can influence real change in the growing housing shortage facing seniors" was the message recently given by a panel of experts on housing. The message was directed to more than 140 area senior citizens gathered at the Forum on Housing, sponsored by the PLOWS Council on Aging.

The forum served to inform seniors of the present status of housing assistance, and learn what are current housing problems and needs. Featured speakers talked on subsidized housing, retirement housing and condominium conversion. Rev. Edward Goltz, pastor of Pilgrim Faith United Church of Christ in Oak Lawn, and PLOWS board member, acted as moderator for the program.

Highlighted in the testimony was the need for housing assistance from both rental assistance and tax relief; help for families housing seniors; assistance for seniors living in mobile homes; help in maintaining present housing situations; concern about the growing amount of conversion from apartment units to condominiums; instances cited of getting a runaround from housing agencies and long waits for available subsidized housing; and government unresponsiveness to housing problems of seniors. The results of this forum will be forwarded to a White House Conference on Aging, which will be held next year.

Peter Dwars, deputy director of the Illinois Housing Development Authority, explained subsidized housing now available in Illinois. Under government programs, a limited number of seniors who meet certain income requirements can receive rent subsidies for the amount of rent over 25% of their income. Not everyone who qualifies for housing assistance is able to obtain it. "Presently, there are four to five applicants for each subsidized housing unit available," Dwars indicated.

Accenting the problem was Neil L. Gaynes, a consultant on service to the aging. Gaynes, a participant in the 1971 White House Conference on Aging, noted a push for 350,000 subsidized housing units in Illinois alone that was born out of the conference. "To date not even 10% of those units have been built," he said. Gaynes indicated other types of approaches will have to be used. He challenged the audience to make known their needs.

Complicating the housing problem for many seniors is the decreasing amount of available rental housing and displacement resulting from condominium conversion. According to Daniel Lauber, a planning consultant and one of the nation's leading

Haberkorn advises reliable businesses for car repairs

Oak Lawn's Police Chief, John J. Haberkorn, has referred to today's high cost of owning and operating an automobile and observed that engine tune-ups have become of major concern to American motorists -- both in terms of conservation and safety.

"At this time of year," the Chief added, "the best way to winterize your car is to take it to your dealer or a reputable service station with instructions to take care of everything that has anything to do with keeping your car running and moving during adverse weather in the months ahead."

Instead of the usual grease job and oil change, a complete engine check-up -- and an inspection from fan belt to tailpipe, may be in order, according to Chief Haberkorn.

"Yet the sweetest running, most fuel efficient engine in town," he continued, "can't move you far if your wheels are spinning on snow or ice because the tread has disappeared from old tires, or you haven't had the foresight to install snow tires or studded tires (where permitted). And there's no time like now to put a set of tire chains and other emergency equipment in your car trunk."

Other items that should be safety serviced by a mechanic for dependable starts and sure going should include radiator anti-freeze and windshield washer solutions, the electrical system including the battery, brakes and exhaust system. All worn or defective parts in all systems should be replaced.

Chief Haberkorn offered other checks a motorist can make for himself, including experts on the effects of condo conversion.

Lauber believes that since the legislature created the means for condominium type of ownership, it must now create controls to safeguard the displacement of safety and emergency equipment checks recommended by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police:

1. Windshield wiper blades should wipe clear -- meaning live rubber in the blades and adequate arm pressures.

2. The heater-defroster should put out enough warm air to keep the windshield and side and rear windows free of frost and ice.

3. All lights should be checked for proper operation. Cracked or broken lenses should be replaced and kept clear of caked snow or slush from the roadway.

4. Emergency equipment should be stowed in your trunk and ready when the time comes. This should include booster cables, a shovel, tow chain, warning flares or lanterns, traction mats, sand or rock salt and the type of tire chains recommended for your car (some late model cars require the new "limited clearance" chains -- check with your owner's manual).

Oak Lawn's winter safety record is on the line every winter, and that's another reason why Chief Haberkorn urges that a car's winter conditioning program should be complete in every respect.

"We know the safety and economic advantages of checks such as these for all our department and emergency vehicles," the Chief emphasized. "I hope all of the drivers in our area will use them too -- as their best defense against winter's stalling tactics!"

seniors.

Acknowledging seniors as a potentially strong political force in the community, the speakers urged them to talk to local and state officials and learn their stand on senior housing.

Apartment wanted for wheelchair bound adults

An apartment (two bedroom) -- for two wheelchair bound adults -- is desperately needed by United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Chicago for its Independent Living Program.

The purpose of this program is to train normally intelligent, physically disabled individuals in the necessary self-help skills to live in the community. They will take part in day programs as well as evening and weekend recreational activities provided by United Cerebral Palsy.

United Cerebral Palsy has the funds available to rehabilitate an apartment to make it accessible for wheelchairs. The agency will also pay the rent and utilities. The apartment must be located on ground level or in an elevator building with rent not to exceed $350 per month including cost of heating.

Traveling with... World Travel Mart

TERMS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Ever wondered why seasoned travelers and people in the travel industry seem to speak a language all their own? This "language" assists your travel agent in securing the type of accommodations and services you want, wherever in the world you're traveling. It's a good idea to be familiar with a few of the important terms.

When choosing a hotel, be sure to find out if they offer the AMERICAN, MODIFIED AMERICAN, or EUROPEAN PLAN. Under the American Plan, you'll receive a room, plus three meals a day. If you choose the Modified American Plan, you'll be given breakfast, plus one other meal. The European Plan provides lodging only. When traveling in Europe, you'll probably encounter the terms FULL PENSION and HALF PENSION. Full Pension means the same as American Plan, while Half Pension is synonymous with the Modified American Plan.

Many European hotels offer the CONTINENTAL BREAKFAST, consisting of rolls or bread, jam and coffee. When dining, you may encounter the term TABLE D'HOTE, meaning a fixed price menu -- no choice or substitutes.

Securing the proper transportation, lodging, and other services for your trip is our business. We are trained to see that yours is a perfect vacation at the price you can afford.

Christmas feast at Trinity College

The presentation of flaming plum pudding highlights the festive Madrigal Dinners presented annually by Trinity Christian College.

The Dining Hall of 16th century English Trinity Christian College tradition. will again be the setting of In the England of the a Christmas feast in the Renaissance, banqueting and festivities were common thruout the land at Christmastime. Dinner guests in the great hall of a manor house found warmth and fellowship as well as music and pageantry as Madrigal singers and minstrels sang toasts and carols.

Trinity guests will experience these festivities as they anticipate the 1980 Christmas season. Seated at the tables decorated with Christmas greens and candles, the guests watch an impressive procession of Madrigal singers, announced by a trumpet fanfare. Additional fahfares bring forth the bearers of the Wassail Bowl and the traditional Boar's Head as well as steaming platters of hearty dishes for the Madrigal guests. As the meal progresses, minstrels stroll past, singing, and then, the bearers enter carrying the Flaming Plum Pudding.

Singers from the Trinity

Choir, under the direction of David Buursma, are busy with music and costume, and committees from the Trinity Christian College Women's Guild are working with the dining hall staff in preparing the hall and banquet. Plan to attend this festive event, rich in the Christmas spirit, and so strikingly like the English feasts of old.

Dinners will be held Wednesday thru Saturday, December 3 - 6 and 10 - 13. Reservations may be made thru the Development Office. Tickets are $10 each and may be purchased thru the mail or in person. No telephone reservations will be accepted. For more info call the college at 597-3000, ext 43. A brochure is available.

Next time you get your electric bill, take a look at the box marked "fuel adjustment." Just what is the fuel adjustment allowance, and why has it risen in recent years?

The fuel adjustment allowance is a charge (or credit) to all customers applied monthly to each kilowatt-hour in addition to the base rate charges. It reflects the cost of supplying non-nuclear fuels to generating stations and represents the difference between current delivered fossil fuel prices and a base price.

The major fuel costs recovered by this rider include the following:

1) Cost of coal, natural gas and oil, including transportation and certain handling costs.

2) Sales and use taxes on coal, natural gas and oil, as well as revenue taxes on fuel adjustment revenues not otherwise collected by the add-on riders.

3) Certain sulfur removal costs for pollution control, including facility investment amortization, operation and maintenance expenses as well as expenses for research and development associated with sulfur removal.

The costs of nuclear fuel and energy purchased from other electric utilities are not, however, among the costs recovered by the fuel adjustment. Also, costs associated with the installation or operation of electrostatic or mechanical precipitators are not recovered.

If current prices are greater than the base price, a fuel adjustment charge is added to the customer's bill. If the price is less than the base, an adjustment is credited to the customer.

The adjustment applicable in any month is based on the first three of the preceding four months. In other words, the fuel adjustment applied to October bills is based on costs incurred during June, July and August. September is

Oak Lawn woman receives certificate 'Those Who Excel'

Donatta Yates, principal at Dwight D. Eisenhower High School, has been named a certificate winner in the "Those Who Excel" educational awards program sponsored by the Illinois State Board of Education.

Miss Yates, a resident of Oak Lawn, is being recognized for her outstanding individual contributions to public education. An awards banquet will be held on October 17 in Springfield to present awards to all winners in the 1980 educational awards program.

She began her career in education in 1968 as an assistant principal for a high school in Chicago and in 1970 became the Director of Attendance and Student Activities at DDE. In 1976, she was assigned the position as assistant principal at DDE and one year later served as the associate principal at Eisenhower-Old Main High School. She has been the principal at DDE since 1978.

the month used to assemble all the data and calculate the charge for October.

In recent years, the fuel adjustment allowance has increased due to the rapidly rising prices of coal, oil and environmental regulations. Electricity generated by nuclear units helps to keep the fuel adjustment down because fossil fuel production costs are spread across all kilowatt-hours sold. The greater the proportion produced by nuclear units, the smaller the adjustment.

It's simply not true that the fuel adjustment gives utilities a way to increase prices without a rate hearing and limits incentive for purchasing or bargaining for semester hours of credit for tests in American History, Art, English, Math and Physics: Lorie Bergstrom, a senior from Oak Lawn; Linda Christianson, Joel Craig, Walter Gee and Cheryl Jurkacek, all 1980 graduates from Oak Lawn; Ty Gee, a senior from Oak Lawn; Nancy Jakuta, a 1980 graduate from Chicago Ridge; and Julie Haluska, a senior from Oak Lawn.

Observe American Ed Week

The Student Action for Education (SAE) organization at Richards High School has several activities planned in observance of American Education Week November 17-21.

This year's national theme is "Education in the 80's - Preparation for the Future."

Linda Carl, SAE advisor, said the group has planned a luncheon for November 19 honoring the Administration and Board of Education. The next day's activities will include the game "It's Academic" during the students'

Offers scholarship information

The staff at Harold L. Richards High School is working hard to keep students informed of various scholarships available to them.

Bulletins listing available scholarships have been prepared for the students by Robert Guenzler as part of his duties as the Director of Student Activities.

Combining efforts with the HLR Guidance Counseling Department, Guenzler said the staff members are providing the bulletins and other necessary information for the benefit of the students.

The bulletins, which Guenzler hopes to issue on a monthly basis, list various scholarships available, deadline for application and necessary requirement information. Students can then obtain more detailed information and applications from Guenzler and the counseling staff.

In addition, the counseling staff and Guenzler have attended workshops sponsored by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, the American College Testing Services, the College Board and the Department of Education. These workshops are designed to provide information so counselors are up to date on changes, and other areas.

Multimedia joins hands with union

A milestone was marked in cable television in the Chicagoland area when Multimedia Cablevision, Inc. signed contracts with Heritage Electric, Inc., a local union contractor.

Heritage will be responsible for the installation of the entire cable system for all villages and cities in the Chicago area being served by Multimedia. One of the conditions set by Multimedia is that Heritage hire local people that are all union members. In the past, most cable television companies have built their systems with non-union help from out of town. "It's our intention," stated Carroll Wood, regional Vice President for Multimedia Cablevision, "to do our part in helping the unemployment in the communities we serve by hiring local people."

The move by Multimedia is seen by the village officials in Oak Lawn and Oak Forest as a major step in the cable television industry. Oak Lawn and Oak Forest have granted their cable franchises to Multimedia.

According to Ben Sciortino, Vice President of Corporate Development

Carroll Wood, Regional Vice President for Multimedia Cablevision (c), is shown being congratulated by Eugene Schnitz (l), Business Representative, I.B.E.W., Local 9, and Mike Burton (r), Business Representative, I.B.E.W., Local 134, for becoming the first major cable television company in the United States to use a union electrical contractor and local union labor to install their entire cable system in the Chicagoland area. Bill Hurley (far l), President, and Tim Hurley (far r), Supervisor for Heritage Electric, Inc., Hickory Hills, were granted the contract.

for Multimedia Cablevision, they have applications pending in many other south suburban communities. Included are Evergreen Park, Hometown, Chicago Ridge, Alsip, Blue Island, Markham and others. Sciortino believes that the hiring of local union people, the purchase of a major building at 106th and Cicero in Oak Lawn for their regional office, and the fact that they are 45 days ahead of construction requirements set by Oak Lawn, will help many of the communities make up their mind on which company to grant their cable franchise.

Village changes vehicle sticker due date

In an attempt to better serve the residents of the Village of Oak Lawn, the purchase period and purchase deadline for village vehicle stickers is being moved from the cold winter months to the warm summer months of June thru August. To accomplish this transition, the purchase deadline for village vehicle stickers, which was formerly February 15, for 1981 will be June 1. As has been the practice in the past, vehicle stickers will go on public sale December 1, 1980. This sticker will be valid for 18 months (January 1, 1981 - June 30, 1982). There will be no increase in the cost of vehicle stickers, but the fee will be pro-rated to cover the 18 month period. Therefore, the cost of passenger stickers will be $30 ($20 for the 12 month period January 1, 1981 to December 31, 1981, and $10 for the six month period January 1, 1982 to June 30, 1982). Comparable extensions will be made for the rates charged senior citizens and trucks.

The intent of the village in changing the calendar for vehicle stickers is two-fold.

First, it will enable residents to purchase and attach their stickers in the summer months as opposed to the winter months as is the current arrangement. Secondly, it has been mentioned by many residents over the years that the February due date creates a hardship in terms of the holiday expenses everyone faces. Therefore, it has been determined by the village trustees that changing the due date of the village stickers to mid-year is appropriate.

In 1982 and each year thereafter, the village vehicle stickers will go on sale June 1st and must be displayed on your car by August 15. The purchase price will be the current 12 month rate.

To summarize, Village of Oak Lawn vehicle stickers for 1981 will go on sale December 1, 1980. The purchase price will be $30 for passenger cars, and the sticker will be valid for a period of 18 months. The stickers must be displayed on the residents' vehicles by May 31, 1981, and a $2 penalty for failure to display a valid vehicle sticker will be assessed beginning June 1, 1981. Additional penalties will be assessed beginning July 1, 1981; October 1, 1981 and January 1, 1982.

As in the past, village vehicle stickers may be purchased at the Village Hall, 5252 Dumke Drive, and at various banks and savings and loans located throughout the Village of Oak Lawn.

Brother Ryan celebrates 50 years as Christian Brother

On November 28, Brother T. V. Ryan, well known to hundreds of former students of Leo and Brother Rice High Schools, celebrated his Golden Jubilee as a Christian Brother.

Born in Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland on July 12, 1915, he joined the Christian Brothers at an early age and received his higher education at Christian Brothers College in Marino on the outskirts of Dublin. His first teaching assignment was St Patrick Hall in St Johns, Newfoundland from 1935-1947. He was then transferred to Power teaching English for the past ten years.

Brother Ryan is an ardent sports enthusiast. As a young brother in Ireland he participated in games of soccer and hurley. Later, at St John's, nothing delighted him more than a game of hockey on a Sunday evening or a game of soccer on a Saturday afternoon.

The celebration of Brother's Golden Jubilee commenced with a concelebrated Mass of Thanksgiving at Brother Rice High School followed by a reception and banquet in his honor.

There were over 100 entrants in the parade held September 21, so the judges who were representatives from Oak Lawn Service Clubs had some tough decisions to make in choosing not only 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners in each category, but also the three Grand Prize winners out of all the entrants.

This year, 1st Grand Prize was a Disney Fly/Drive Trip for 4 which includes round trip fare, car rental and choice accommodations donated thru the

Honoring Dottie Olsen

Pictured above (c) is Dottie Olsen with her son, John, and daughter Raylene. Dottie is planning an early retirement and move from the community and was honored with an Appreciation Dinner on October 1 at the Oak Lawn Tower Inn. Committee members were Milt Andersen, Fred Dumke, Arlene Anderson and Betty Gallo. Dottie's many accomplishments with the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce and Village of Oak Lawn are well known in the village. Several hundred friends attended the dinner and Dottie received awards from the Village of Oak Lawn, the State House of Representatives, the U.S. Congress, the 5th District Court and the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce.

generosity of First National Bank of Oak Lawn, Heritage Bank of Oak Lawn, Heritage Standard Bank, Oak Lawn Trust and Savings Bank, and World Travel Mart. Second Grand Prize was a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, courtesy of Jack Thompson

Oldsmobile. Third Grand Prize was a $50 Gift courtesy of The House of Mary.

Immediately following the parade, a fun-filled carnival was held in the VFW parking lot (across from Cook School) where Village Trustees, Les Anderson, Jay Bergamini, John Petrozza and Ron Stancik volunteered to sit in the Dunking Booth and urge onlookers to try and dunk them. It was a wet and wild time at the Dunking Booth!

Besides the train and plane rides, there was the Moonwalk Bubble for the kids and many fun games. For the adults, VFW Post 5220 members operated a Beer Garden for the Chamber of Commerce. Thruout all this, the Oak Lawn Camera Shop operated a photo booth where anyone could get his picture taken with one or two python snakes curled around his body - there were some pretty brave young children holding those snakes. Put it all together and you have a fun-packed Sunday afternoon in Oak Lawn.

DEM'S Christmas meeting

Andersen questions seven year delay

A meeting was held between the commissioners of the Oak Lawn Park District and the commissioners of the Chicago Ridge Park District on November 22, in the David Johnston Community Center. The meeting was chaired by John Wilson, director of the Ridge Park District and the ground rules for the debate were laid down.

Joan Davis, president of the Ridge Park District explained that they became a separate body from the village in 1967.

"We are trying now to give these people the right to sign a referendum and vote," she said, "whether you want to stay in the Oak Lawn Park District or the Chicago Ridge Park District."

The meeting was held because of a piece of land that was annexed to the Oak Lawn Park in 1965 and 1967. With the Chicago Ridge Mall going up we are now talking of approximately $100,000 in taxes that will be created from the improvement of 95th and Ridgeland.

The Ridge tried to take it back in 1973 and the referendum failed.

Don Andersen, president of the Oak Lawn Park District, took over then, there were five minutes allowed for each speaker and three minutes for rebuttal. Saying that he hoped it would be more harmonious, he explained what the Oak Lawn Park consists of now. He referred to the attempt in 1973 by the Ridge to get it back and at that time there were no homes in the area.

Andersen questioned why it took five (5) years to try and take it back the first time and seven (7) years the next time.

There are only two apartments on the property now which contain about 100 units. Anderson explained that if he lived in Chicago Ridge he would find no pool, have to go a mile over the railroad to find a park, and he could not take his children to a ice rink. Being in Simmons Park he explained that a pool was planned for this property and a golf course on 88 acres at 103rd and Major, was also planned.

On the rebuttal Joan Davis' reasons for waiting so long to try and regain the property were very shallow. She said that in 1973 they had an inferior legal representative.

"Now," she said "until the mall was underway we didn't want to start a move that would harm the mall in any way."

Andersen commented that three years ago they did not even know the mall was being built.

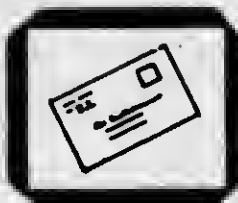

There are only 52 voters that will decide the whole issue and this doesn't seem quite fair. If the majority of the 52 vote that they would like to go to referendum, the referendum would then be voted on by Chicago Ridge. If Oak Lawn gets the least of the voter approval there is no action to be taken as it is only against the referendum.

From information taken from a fact sheet passed out by the Park District to those involved it states:

"If you should be de-annexed from the Oak Lawn Park District, you will have to pay the outstanding bond indebtedness of the Oak Lawn Park District as well as pay for the Chicago Ridge Park District indebtedness.

"Should the Chicago Ridge Park District initiate a building program (they are lacking in facilities), you would again be paying for expansion and yet not have a park north of the Wabash Railroad tracks. Also, by assuming the bond indebtedness of both park districts, this would mean an increase in taxes and, I am sure, landlords would pass this tax increase on to their renters in the form of an increase in rent payments."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR AND PEOPLE OF THE COMMUNITY OF OAK LAWN

I feel I must write and praise two of your local firemen. During 1980, I have been working with the poster child for muscular dystrophy, Miss Tina Carco. This past August, Tina, myself and her family helped with a local fund raising event, the Bed Race.

Since that time these two men, Chief Harker and Mike Champion have been untiring in their efforts to raise funds to help Tina and fight Muscular Dystrophy. Their support for Tina and her family has been appreciated. The people of Oak Lawn can truly be proud and honored for the efforts of these two men.

All of you who have contributed time, effort and dollars are to be thanked for your generosity. We are truly grateful to both Chief Harker and Mike Champion and to the people of Oak Lawn for their efforts.

SLASHING UNNECESSARY SPENDING NO PROBLEM

When he assumes office, Ronald Reagan will undoubtedly face stiff resistance to his efforts to reduce the cost of government. Special interests will argue that even a modest cut in spending will result in the loss of essential services to the poor, disabled and elderly. This simply is not the case.

A recent survey of several dozen federal agencies disclosed that, over an 18 month period, 102,000 different publications were issued. To maintain its position as the world's largest magazine publisher, the federal government produces a wide variety of esoteric periodicals such as "Postal Life", "Plant Disease Reporter", and "Schizophrenia Bulletin". The cost involved is not insignificant. In 1975, for instance, the cost of Defense Department publications was well over $10 million.

President Reagan should have no trouble in slashing unnecessary spending. Indeed, his biggest problem may be in determining where to begin.

WRITER WANTS TO BE COUNTED

Enclosed is a copy of my letter which was only read in part, due to time limitations, at the last meeting of the Oak Lawn Library Board which considered the protest resulting from the display of the book "Show Me".

This is my first letter to the editor in 48 years but it seemed a proper time to stand up and be counted. We should practice the virtue of tolerance and allow a broad area of understanding to others views but at some point we must respond in order that our silence may not be considered agreement and scandal.

The standard demanded of the protesters was to prove that the book was pornographic assuming that removal of any literature is censorship when the standard should have been what material should our library purchase and display

"FOR YOUR INFORMATION"

From time to time my office receives information from various agencies and organizations that I feel might be of interest to you. In fact, I am often asked to help in the dissemination of certain facts and information to the public.

Such requests have come recently from the Federal Communications Commission, the National Park Service and, in our own neighborhood, Ed O'Donnell, Jr., Vet Coordinator at Moraine Valley College.

THE ILLINOIS VETERAN SCHOLARSHIP — This is a scholarship which pays tuition and certain fees at Illinois public supported institutions of higher education. Tuition allowances are limited to in-district charges at Illinois Community Colleges. The scholarship is valid for an equivalent of four years of fulltime enrollment and the scholarship can be used at the same time as VA benefits.

You are eligible to apply if you have served one (1) year or more of continuous active service in the U.S. Armed Forces, or were discharged prior to August 11, 1967 with less than one year of service, or were discharged for medical reasons. You also need a valid discharge and a residency requirement which states:

—any person who was a resident of Illinois at the time of entering the U.S. Armed Forces.

—any person who left the State of Illinois until at least six (6) months prior to entering the U.S. Armed Forces.

—any person who was a student at a state-controlled college, university or community college at the time of entering the U.S. Armed Forces.

In addition, you must have returned to the State of Illinois within six months after leaving the U.S. Armed Forces.

The Veteran Affairs office on campus administers the scholarship. At Moraine, the office is located in the Phase 1A building.

to best represent our cultural beliefs and the character of our community considering the limited taxpayer funds available. The protest was not to deny any citizen the right to buy any book with personal funds.

No one wants our library to portray the image of a religious goods store and likewise no one wants our library to be the source of perversion of our youth.

To assume that nothing is obscene and pornographic until our Illinois Courts have so ruled is like saying that none of us know who assassinated Presidents Lincoln and Kennedy because the defendants were not tried and certainly no Supreme Court affirmed the convictions.

Few, if any, laws have been enacted to assist parents in properly raising their children while numerous laws have been enacted to prevent parents from knowing or interfering with the conduct of their children. Parents are responsible for the medical and other expenses incurred by their children and are even responsible for some malicious and criminal acts which invariably are not the result of parental direction. Some educators and others in a position of influence are able to set time bombs in our youth but the responsibility to pick up the pieces shifts quickly to the parents when the bomb explodes.

This is wrong and for these reasons I am submitting this letter.

HUSKEY SENDS THANKS TO CONSTITUENTS

I would like to thank everyone for their support and encouragement at the polls on November 4th. I will make every effort to do my best in the Illinois House so the trust you placed in me will be satisfied.

Do not hesitate to call on me at 424-5000 on any day or at any time if I can be of assistance.

What are you doing this New Year's Eve?

What are you doing New Year's Eve? Are you going to watch Johnny, Ed and Doc? Are you going to see 1981 come in with the Guy Lombardo band on Times Square? Are you headed for State and Randolph? Are you going to go over and revise your New Year's resolutions? Do you plan to stay home with a cup of hot chocolate and a gingerbread cookie?

If none of the above attract your attention, then plan on spending the last night of 1980 with other SAS members. Come alone. Come as a couple. Form a group of three. Kiss the old year goodbye. Kiss someone new at the stroke of midnight.

They will be celebrating the end of 1980 at Killarney Castle, 8055 W 103rd St. The evening will begin at 8 pm with a meal which includes soup, salad, chicken kiev, sherbert. There will be a cash bar. Dancing will begin at 10 pm, and end sometime next year!

The cost for non-members is $24 and for members, $22. Send all checks for reservations made payable to SAS to: George Social Swing Ltd., 6324 S Mozart, Chicago, IL 60629. The deadline for reservations is December 15.

Oak Lawn Tower Inn presents Destination Chicago

How long have you been wanting to make that Christmas Shopping trip to Downtown Chicago but passed it up for any number of these reasons?

—Heavy unpredictable traffic

—Average $6.00 parking fees (when you can find parking)

—High cost of gasoline

—Frequent transfers in harsh weather on public transportation, especially when burdened with parcels on your trip home

—Physical limitations making it all but impossible to get to the shopping area you desire.

If this is what has been stopping you, then this is your year to have that dream come true. At the Oak Lawn Tower Inn we have not only solved these problems for you but we want to give you that little weekend away that you passed up this summer for many of the same reasons. But that's not all... we want to pamper you a little while you're at it! We want to get you into the Christmas spirit with a weekend you won't forget.

Start your Destination Chicago Weekend by checking into your cozy room anytime after 5 pm Friday. While you are unwinding from your long week, enjoy your fruit and cheese tray, provided in your room with a little nip of Courvoisier to help calm those frayed nerves. Relax until 7:30 pm, then come down for your mid-evening buffet... not too heavy, but guaranteed to satisfy any appetite. After dinner, enjoy a Complimentary cocktail in our Top Of The Tower Lounge while enjoying the view, the company, live entertainment and dancing.

After a relaxing night's rest, join us for a buffet-style breakfast starting at 7 am and continuing until 8 am. At 8 am, step aboard your chartered bus for a trouble free trip to the exquisite Water Tower Place shopping center on North Michigan Avenue. Browse, shop and enjoy the sights until 3 pm at which time your bus will return to bring you and your Christmas treasures back to Oak Lawn Tower Inn where we will have a perfectly chilled bottle of champagne waiting for you.

Sit back, kick off your shoes and relax with your champagne until dinner. Or enjoy a refreshing swim in our indoor heated pool... or a rejuvenating sauna. Dinner will be served in our Cove Dining Room. Take your choice of entrees from our popular menu. After dinner you can again enjoy a Complimentary cocktail in our Top Of The Tower Lounge and ask your mate how he enjoyed the Complimentary hot dogs and beer mentary hot dogs and beer we provided while he watched his favorite football game... since we knew department stores make him nervous!

Plan the rest of your evening from there. Stay and enjoy our live entertainment or choose one of the many attractions within a short distance - Drury Lane Theatre, Night Clubs, Discos or whatever you desire. The night is yours... we will see you at Brunch on Sunday. Brunch will be served from 10 am until 2 pm, so sleep in and savor every minute of your dream weekend. Check out time is not until 3 pm.

At this point you might be saying it sounds great but how can I afford all that, especially just before the Holidays? Well, here is where we make it irresistible. This entire weekend - everything included (even tax and gratuity) - is only $170.00 for two persons or $120.00 single occupancy.

So don't hesitate. Call now and make your reservations for the weekends of:

November 28-30

December 5-7

Just ask for "Lori" in our reservation department and tell her you want our Destination Chicago Weekend!

By adopting an animal at Lincoln Park Zoo, you can give someone his very own snow leopard, zebra dove or even a California sea lion. The animal will remain at the zoo, but you get: a personalized certificate, ADOPT button, bumper sticker, decal and T-shirt iron-on, and an invitation to a special ADOPT celebration at Lincoln Park Zoo to give to your favorite relative or friend. And, in addition, the ADOPT sponsor's name will appear on the ADOPT exhibit at Lincoln Park Zoo.

Hanukkah is a special time of year, and this gift will be special too. Call The Lincoln Park Zoological Society at 935-6700 for a list of adoptable animals, and make someone especially happy on December 3, when Hanukkah begins.

Three Catholic War Veterans initiate 'Hostage Christmas Fund'

This Christmas will be the second consecutive Christmas that the Children of the Hostages being held in Iran will not have their fathers at home -- or be able to hear his voice to wish them a "Merry Christmas!" Nothing anyone can say or do will make their fathers magically appear. But it is possible to let them know that they have not been forgotten -- and it is possible to let them know that the people of America really do care! We can make their Christmas a little brighter by doing so.

For this reason, three Catholic War Veterans have decided to do something in order to demonstrate our concern. Joseph Littleton of Glenwood, Charles Braico of Oak Lawn, and John Opitz, also of Oak Lawn, have initiated a "Hostage Children's Christmas Fund".

All donations are being deposited at the Oak Lawn Trust and Savings Bank, 4900 W 95th Street, Oak Lawn, IL 60453. The proceeds will be forwarded to the State Department in Washington, c/o Mrs. Keough, who will then forward the money to the hostage families. If there are any questions regarding the fund, you may contact John J. Opitz at 422-1393.

The idea came about when Oak Lawn held its "Remember Our Hostages Week" during November 2 thru 8, 1980. Honored guest, Mrs. Lisa Moeller (wife of Marine Staff Sergeant Michael Moeller) attended the event. After a discussion with her, concerning the loneliness of the hostage families during the holidays, it was decided that we, the American people, should try to do something concrete to make this Christmas season as joyous as possible for the Children of the Hostages.

Busch attends ### parent workshop

Marion Busch of Oak Lawn, participated in a three day seminar designed to promote open communications between parents and their children on their growth, development and adolescent sexuality.

The workshop, held in White Plains, New York was co-sponsored by the National PTA and the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. The Parent Seminars provide parents with an understanding of the physical, emotional and social aspects of their adolescents' emerging sexual identities as well as their own values about sexuality.

As a result of the seminar workshop, Marion Busch, Vice President of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers is prepared to train additional PTA and community leaders to conduct Parent Seminars thruout Illinois.

Parent education is the new focus of Parenting: A PTA Priority, a cooperative project of the two organizations. Educating students for responsible parenthood is the goal of the project.

"We believe that something as important as preparation for parenthood should not be left to chance. As the prime educators of their children, parents need the opportunity to share experiences, values and information and to develop skills which will help them support their children during their emerging sexuality," Virginia Sparling, National PTA President said.

For further information contact Mrs. Marion Busch, 636-2744.

Chesterfield announces 'Savings' Poster Contest winners

The three judges of Chesterfield Federal's "Savings" Poster Contest review the 150 entries submitted (l to r) Mrs Mary Olsson, associate director of the Beverly Area Planning Assn; Mrs Joan O'Malley, an elementary school art teacher; and Mr Jan Zajac, executive vice president of Creative Concepts, Inc.

The first place winners and officials of Chesterfield Federal display the top posters in Chesterfield's "Savings" Poster Contest (l to r) Dan Kasper, a 6th grader at St Cajetan School; Peg Lowery, Chesterfield's Community Service Director; Ida Marie Halm, a senior at Marian High School; Emily Schmit, an 8th grader at St John Fisher School; William A. DeHaan, president of Chesterfield Federal; and Maureen Dunn, a 4th grader at St Christina School.

It was no easy decision for the three judges to choose among the 150 entries in Chesterfield Federal's "Savings" Poster Contest. Each poster displayed a unique approach to the "savings" theme.

But the first place winners chosen from each of the four age categories were Maureen Dunn, a 4th grader at St Christina School; Dan Kasper, a 6th grader at St Cajetan School; Emily Schmit, an 8th grader at St John Fisher School; and Ida Marie Halm, a senior at Marian High School.

"These posters show the amazing depth of imagination found in our young people today," said William A. DeHaan, president of Chesterfield Federal. "The rules gave the youngsters no specific direction other than the 'savings' theme. Still, they all made 'savings' a very interesting topic."

Chesterfield's "Savings" Poster Contest was held in cooperation with the Chicago Council of Savings & Loan and the Illinois Savings & Loan League. Parents and art teachers attended the award ceremony which was held to honor the first prize recipients and honorable mention winners in each category. William A. DeHaan, President, presented the cast and other prizes. Now the first place winners will continue on to further competition. The first will be a regional contest where a total of $1250 will be awarded. Winners of the regional competition then become eligible to compete at the state level for prizes totaling $1300.

Commenting on the contest, Peg Lowery, Chesterfield's community service director said, "We are very proud of all the young people who entered our contest. And because of their overwhelming response, we would like to make this poster contest an annual event. In the mean time, we will be rooting for our first place winners as they enter the regional, and hopefully, the state competitions."

Gifts with smoke detector

One of the most combustible Christmas decorations is the natural Christmas tree. If it is used by your family, it should be fire retardant treated. This may be accomplished by spraying or dipping. Even though the tree has been treated, it should still be kept in a reservoir of plain water. Lengthwise cuts in the base will help to absorb this water.

Avoid the use of flammable decorations on or near the tree. Make sure electric light sets are not frayed and are U.L. approved. When a metal tree is used, make sure it is electrically grounded.

Do not leave tree lights burning when no one is in the house. Inspect the tree frequently to see if any of the needles near the lights have turned brown; if some have, move the lights to a different location. Do not use lighted candles on any Christmas tree.

If you decorate your house elaborately, use non-combustible materials. Fire retardant materials can be purchased at many stores.

Christmas wrapping burns like tinder and should be removed as soon as possible. See that all wrappings are placed in a waste container and removed as soon as it is filled.

The Christmas season is meant for joy, not heartache.

A smoke detector makes an excellent gift.

Clearing Bank Christmas card contest

Clearing Bank, 5235 W 63rd Street, will sponsor a Christmas card contest for elementary school children residing between 51st and 67th Streets, from Pulaski to Harlem Avenues.

To enter, each child must design a Christmas card from construction paper, cardboard or similar material 8½ x 11 inches to be folded as desired. The card should be in letter form, follow standard English grammar and can be addressed to anyone — Santa, Mrs Claus, St Nick, the Christ Child, parents or grandparents.

The Christmas cards will be judged on their originality and creativity with a winner in each grade, 1 thru 8. That winner will receive a $10 Savings Account at Clearing Bank. The Grand Prize Winner will be awarded a $25 Savings Account.

All entries must be received at the Clearing Bank no later than 3 pm on December 15. Each entry must include the child's name, address, telephone number, school and grade. Winners will be notified by phone to attend an awards presentation to be held at 5:45 pm Friday, December 19 at Clearing Bank. For more information, contact Corinne Fanelli at 582-6300.

WHAT SHOULD I WEAR?

If you're one of those lucky women who's looking forward to a trip to the Carribean this season, you're probably already wondering what type of clothing you'll need for the warm climate. One thing to remember is that the marvelous Trade Winds make the evenings balmy and pleasant. The days are wonderfully warm and just tailor-made for unwinding on those beautiful Carribean beaches.

Jim Buschbach

For daytime shopping trips, light cottons or synthetics are best. Sleeveless dresses that are belted and unlined are coolest. You won't want to waste a second of that precious vacation time, so be sure your dresses are the drip-dry type that don't need ironing. You'll need a couple of dinner dresses of linen, silk or other dressier material. Scarves to protect your hair from the strong breezes are a good idea too.

Bring a pair of comfortable, well broken in walking shoes, plus a pair of shoes for dress. You'll want a sweater or stole for evening. And of course, don't forget that bathing suit.

Our expert staff is anxious to assist you with all of your travel plans. Stop in and see us soon at 5615 W 95th Street, in Oak Lawn.

Oak Lawn Murray earns varsity letter at Knox

David A. Murray, son of Mr and Mrs John Murray, Oak Lawn, has been awarded a varsity letter for his participation on the 1980 Knox College football team.

A 1978 graduate of Marist High School, Dave was one of 51 to earn a football award. As a junior this was his third season of participation on the team.

Under the direction of fourth year coach Joe Campanelli the Siwash claimed a convincing victory over arch-rival Monmouth College and won their final two games to finish 3-6 overall, 3-5 in Midwest Conference play.

Dave was hampered by injuries early in the season, but came on to play well at his defensive tackle slot. Coach Campanelli describes him as a consistent player and one whom the coaches look forward to seeing next year.

Commander Carl L. Klein issued an invitation to all War Veterans, especially those from the Korean and Viet Nam actions to join, saying: "The Legion posts should be in younger hands to move forward the cause of Americanism and our Country. In issuing this invitation, our post can confidently point to our Service Officer Joseph Ulatoski as being the best informed and most helpful in the Cook County area."

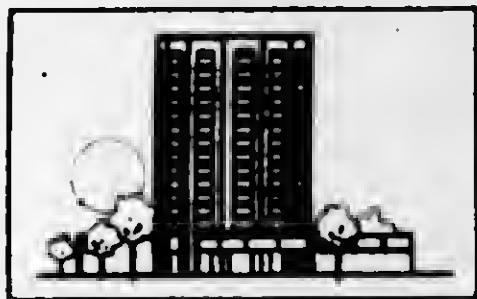

Commander Klein stated that the regular meetings are held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month at 8:15 pm at 9354 S 53rd Avenue, Oak Lawn.

New Year message from Mayor Ernie Kolb

"Conservation of our natural resources is the chief concern facing all levels of government as we move into 1981," said Mayor Ernie Kolb in his State of the Village message for the coming year.

"Our village has undertaken two programs to encourage the conservation of water and oil. In the first category, the last major improvement to the Oak Lawn water system has been completed, for all intents and purposes, during 1980. The village is now in a position to meet all of its water commitments, both to its residents as well as to the outside communities that we serve.

"The year 1980 also noted a signal decision concerning the allocation of the use of Lake Michigan water. An historic agreement was reached and approved by the United States Supreme Court during this year," Kolb said. "On a local level, this means that in addition to maintaining the water allocation already on hand for the Village of Oak Lawn, several neighboring communities in southwest Cook County have also received an allocation, necessary for the introduction of Lake Michigan water to their communities. Although this municipality has taken a leadership position, we were able to anticipate intergovernmental agreements with additional communities in order to provide them with water for their town systems.

"In our attempt to meet mass transportation needs, the Village has filed an application with the appropriate State and Federal authorities in order that we can provide a modern commuter parking center.

Within the past twenty-four months, an additional train has been added for commuter purposes, as well as the establishment of daily, express buses connecting the Village of Oak Lawn with downtown Chicago. As we enter 1981, we anticipate the approval of our application in order that we can take the basic steps to provide for these critical transit needs. This municipality will be doing its share to take the key step of conserving the use of oil products. It is appropriate that local government should take a leadership role in this most sensitive facet of modern urban living.

"As we complete the year," Kolb continued, "information has been received from the Census Bureau that the current population of the village is 60,358 individuals. This does signal the end of the expansive growth this community has known during the decades of the 50's and 60's, and the mild growth in the 1970's.

"It appears we are a stabilized community. We see further evidence of this stable population when four school buildings within the Village School District were closed down for lack of school population during the past year," Kolb explained. "There are those that may misunderstand 'the sign of the times,' actually it tells us that the children of our families are growing up and the parents are keeping their homes in Oak Lawn.

"The Village has taken over the use of one school building for its Human Services functions. Further, via its codes and ordinances, the Village has been a profitable partner with the Board of Education in finding compatible uses for these buildings. While it is the sole responsibility of the Board of Education to work out these matters, the Village Board has offered appropriate assistance in dealing with the marked change in the composition of this municipality.

"To add to the village revenues we have assisted many businesses through Industrial Revenue Bonds.

Mayor Ernie Kolb

This is a vehicle of financing available to the private entrepreneur by the passage of an ordinance which enables the businessman to finance his project at a lower interest rate.

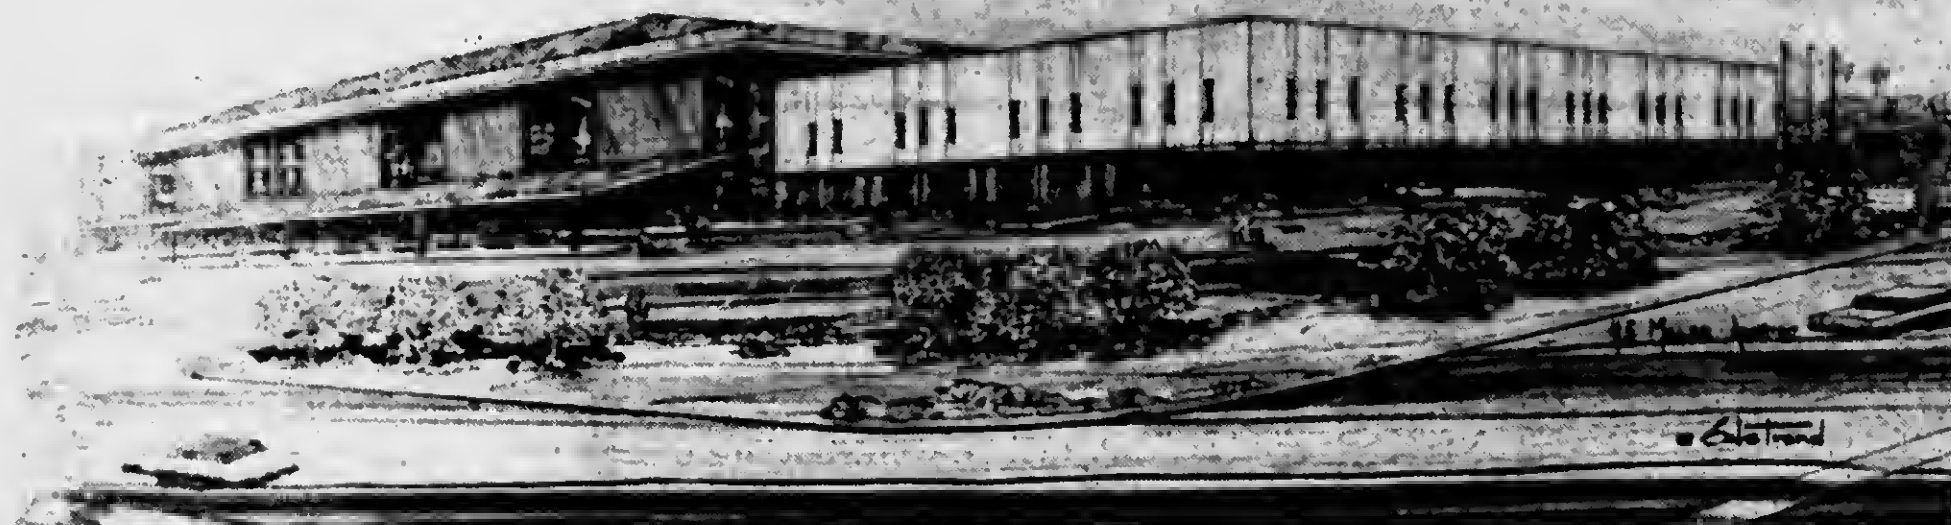

"The very latest," Kolb said, "was to the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn in the amount of $9,990,000 for the huge expansion that will be undertaken starting in the spring. This will not only enhance the employment for Oak Lawn but will provide us with a large banquet hall so the dollars for affairs using a facility this size will stay in the village.

"During this fiscal year, Budget preparations reflecting a tightening of personnel programs, coping with inflation, State mandated costs and the appropriate increases for Village personnel presented no easy task for the elected officials to resolve in order to maintain the appropriate quality and level of service to the residents," Kolb said.

"The New Year will see the inauguration of a new President for all of the people of the United States. We wish President Reagan the greatest success. We promise him the backing of all of the residents of this community, because we recognize that it is only by working together that we can live in peace and harmony.

"On behalf of your elected Village Officials," Kolb concluded, "I want to thank all of our residents for their cooperation this past year. I promise you that we will do all we can to provide you with the best possible service this coming year. Together we can face the New Year with optimism and assuredness.

Holiday Inn Oak Lawn announces $10 million expansion program

The Holiday Inn of Oak Lawn is planning a $10 million expansion program on the present site and the completed building will resemble the one in the photo above. Harold Miller, a local architect, will be responsible for the conversion.

The entrance to the hotel, presently on 95th Street, will be on Keeler Avenue as shown on the left in the photo. The lobby will be open space up thru five stories and a staircase in the lobby will lead you to the pinnacle of architectural supremacy, a banquet room seating 1000 persons.

Shown on the right above, the banquet room lavishly with appointments, will also have dividers where three parties of 350 persons each can be accommodated. On the same level will be additional conference rooms.

A dining room, a 24 hour coffee shop, a beauty parlor and barbershop will be available to both the residents of Oak Lawn and the guests of the hotel.

The rooms to the east of the pool have been beautifully renovated and 75 additional rooms will be added and extend west from the present rooms. This will provide sufficient space to handle those patrons who have had to be turned away.

The pool, which has provided many hours of pleasure during the summer months, will now be enclosed to be enjoyed year round.

The Oak Lawn Board of Trustees voted unanimously to approve a $9,990,000 Industrial Revenue Bond to provide the hotel with the village's lower interest rate for the project.

The structure, when completed, will not only provide more employment for Oak Lawn but will provide the village with additional funds from the hotel-motel tax. Most important is the large banquet room to house the various Oak Lawn functions that have had to go out of the village for larger space. Not only will the funds for these affairs stay in Oak Lawn but the sales tax generated will also add to the village coffers.

According to General Manager/Vice President Joseph English, with groundbreaking hopefully in the spring of '81, the building will take 18 months for completion. English also said that the operation of the Holiday Inn will continue thruout the period of construction.

Worth Township Regular Democrats tentative slate

The Worth Township Regular Democratic party has re-nominated Dr Joseph J. McCarthy of Oak Lawn for supervisor of Worth Township. Also re-nominated was Clerk Joan P. Murphy of Crestwood.

William Connors of Oak Lawn was re-nominated for township assessor and a new face for highway commissioner is Tony Esposito of Alsip.

Named to the trustees post were incumbent Les Grant from Evergreen Park; Joseph Vogrich of Oak Lawn; Helen Malevitas of Alsip and Tom Gavin of Oak Lawn.

Worth Township Committeeman, Harry "Bus" Yourell, along with fourteen members, chaired the nominating committee.

Legislation filed to hold customer cost on utilities expansion Dr Nolan paper presented at

State Representative Herb Huskey has prefiled legislation in the Illinois House prohibiting public utilities from including any costs of unfinished construction in their customer rate structure.

"Two Illinois utilities now have nuclear power plants under construction," Huskey said, "and this type of work requires a tremendous amount of capital."

"However, customers should not be forced to pay these costs in the form of higher bills," he noted.

"These utilities are profit making enterprises, and they should find other avenues for financing construction projects."

"A facility must be providing service to utility customers before its expense can be considered for rate making purposes."

According to Huskey, his proposal, House Bill 13, specifies that costs associated with unfinished construction, ownership, maintenance or financing are not included in the customer rate structure.

"We're already feeling the pressure of inflation in our utility bills," Huskey said, "and there's no reason why anyone should also bear the costs involved with constructing facilities that are years away from being completed and functional."

Additional information about House Bill 13 is available from Huskey at 424-5000.

Lisbon convention

Dr John Nolan

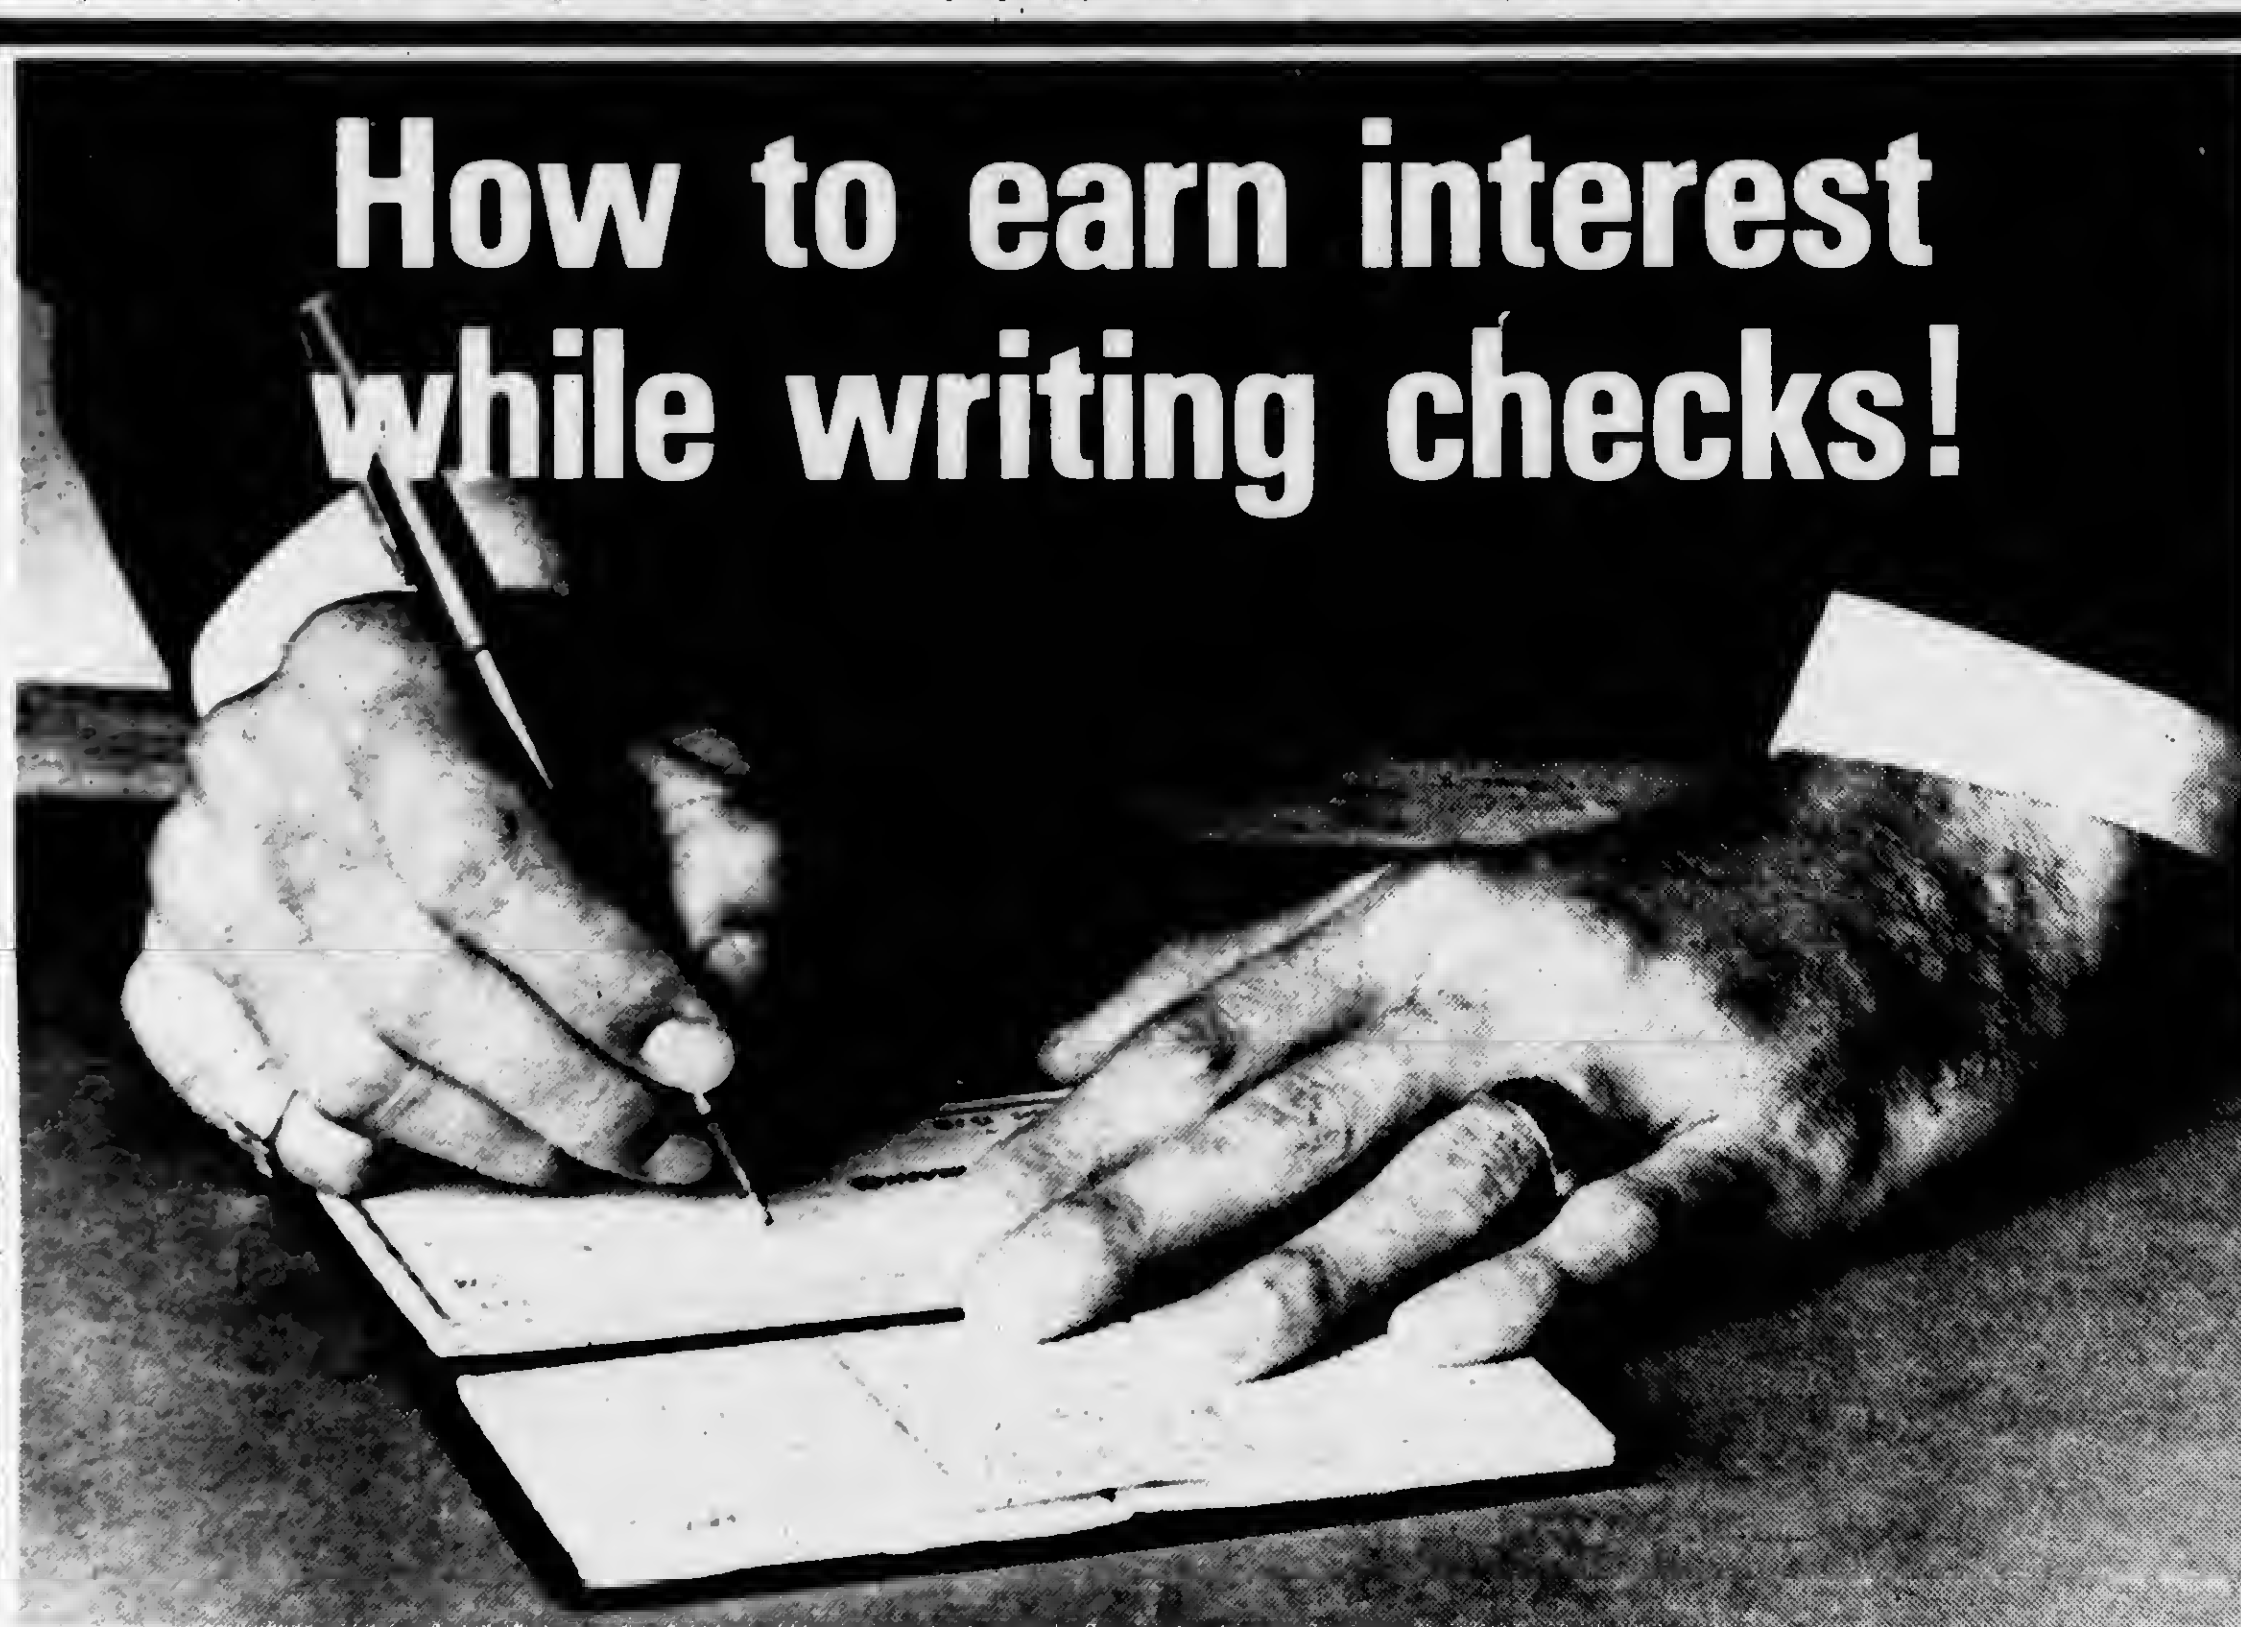

Local Optometrist, Dr. John Nolan, recently returned from Lisbon, Portugal, where he presented a paper before the European Optometric Society's Annual Convention.

Dr Nolan described the use of the Semi-Soft (CAB) lens in his and his father's practice at 114th & Harlem. The principle feature of the semi-soft lens is that it is gas-permeable, a major advantage over regular hard contact lenses that have been fit for so many years. Therefore, with the semi-soft lens, problems associated with hard contact lens wear, namely burning, bloodshot eyes, light sensitivity, limited wearing time, poor night vision, and tissue breakdown, can be greatly alleviated due to more oxygen getting through the lens itself.

Dr Nolan states, Unfortunately, because of the oxygen deprivation problem associated with hard contact lenses, the lenses were usually designed very small to accommodate the oxygen-sensitive cornea. At night, when the pupil dilates, the patient's vision was often disturbed due to the small lens not adequately covering the pupil area, resulting in glare, halos and flare, especially while driving at night. With the gas-permeable semi-soft lens, the lens can be made as large as necessary to cover the pupil in all conditions, and night vision is substantially improved."

The design of the lens, as Dr Nolan described in Europe, is also used in Orthokeratology and early cases of myopia (nearsightedness). After wearing the lenses for a month or two, unaided vision of the patient is most times much improved.

5th District drug prevention program termed successful

"The evaluation has been completed and indicates significant positive changes in student attitudes," stated Judge Anthony S. Montelione regarding a new and innovative substance abuse education program which was piloted in the Fifth Municipal District of the Circuit Court of Cook County in Spring, 1980. At a meeting of the Fifth District Court Drug Information Board held recently at Moraine Valley College, Judge Montelione announced that 585 students among the more than 700 students who participated in the initial program, were administered pre and post tests which provided the data for the evaluation. School districts which participated in the model program included Districts 104, 111 and 135. In addition to measuring test responses of participants, both students and teachers were asked to provide the Drug Board with individual evaluations of the curriculum. The results indicated a high degree of satisfaction with the course materials and presentation.

The Drug Information Board was formed in 1978 by Irving W. Eiserman, Presiding Judge of the Fifth Municipal District of the Circuit Court as an adjunct to the newly-formed Narcotics Court. Judge Eiserman recognized the serious problem of drug addiction, particularly among young people. He felt that more effective attention should be directed towards drug education in order to reduce the number of youth who ultimately appear before Court. Accordingly, he appointed Judge Montelione as Chairman of the Board which consisted of representatives of local schools, social service agencies, police departments, churches, Juvenile Court, and the medical profession. Members determined that the Board's goal would be to develop and institutionalize an effective community-based program for drug abuse prevention. "It became quite obvious to the Board," Judge Montelione said, "that our society will never solve its serious drug abuse problems by waiting to treat people after they have developed a dependency."

Following the formation of the Drug Board, a sub-committee surveyed the participating school districts regarding current drug education courses being provided to students. The sub-committee also reviewed model programs which had been tested in other parts of the country and studied the results of those problems. Available evidence strongly indicated that the most effective drug education programs did not offer simply information on the effects of drug use but blended accurate information with a comprehensive affective education component.

Bernard McColgan, Deputy Chief of the Prevention Branch of the National Institute on Drug Abuse defines affective education as a process "which includes development of decision-making, communication and interpersonal skills and other abilities such as goal setting, values awareness and clarification and personal motivation." In addition, the most effective time to introduce an affective education program is in the pre-adolescent years when the influence of adults still prevails over the pressure which is later exerted by peers.

Upon completion of this research, the Drug Information Board sub-committee designed a 25 session curriculum for delivery to fifth and sixth grade students in the Burbank, Orland Park and Summit school districts. Sub-committee members included Judge Anthony Montelione; Eugene Wroblewski, Illinois Commission on Delinquency Prevention; Mary Feerick, Cook County Sheriff Youth Services Department; Diane Wireman-Heath, former Director of the Orland Township Youth Service Bureau; Officer Ken Wood, Alsip Police Department; Maureen O'Hara, Cook County Sheriff Youth Services; Jane Early, R.N., Crossroads Youth Services; Debra Troc, Illinois Commission on Delinquency Prevention and Randall Weber, Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission. The design was then reviewed and finalized by the full Drug Information Board membership.

In Spring, 1980, 19 teachers in the participating schools received specialized training thru the Robert Crown Health Center of Hinsdale, to conduct the course. The funds for the training program and materials were made available thru a grant received by the Illinois Commission on Delinquency Prevention from the Division of Alcoholism - Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities and, in part, from the Cook County Sheriff Youth Services thru funds made available by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

When the pilot project had been completed and evaluated, a committee of teachers, chaired by Armidor Colavecchi of Summit School District 104, revised and refined the product for further delivery.

Future plans of the Drug Information Board include expanding the successful program format to higher and lower grade levels and soliciting the participation of additional schools. The Board will also seek to identify and encourage the development of constructive

Oak Lawn undercover agents make drug and gun cache bust

Police Chief John Haberkorn and his two undercover men got more than they asked for when a controlled 10 lb. marijuana buy took place last week. The seller, Leslie Ito (26) a male Japanese living at 5266 W 91st Street, was found to have a 45 automatic with one clip loaded in his belt and with the gun cocked.

While preparing to get a search warrant, Ito told them not to waste their time and he gave them permission to search his home.

Another 5 lbs. of marijuana was found wrapped like a Christmas present. Making a total of 15 lbs. or 7 kilos which according to 115th Street. If there are any questions call 371-2900, ext 60.

Haberkorn has a street value of 12 to 15 thousand dollars.

Also found in the home were numerous guns and ammunition, as shown above.

There were 8 of the hand gun type and 11 assorted rifles. There were also 2 twelve gauge shotguns and one 410 gauge shotgun along with 1151 rounds of ammunition for the various guns.

Ito, who said he had a 3rd Degree Black Belt in Karate, told the police that he wasn't in the wood or brick breaking, but in the art of killing people.

Ito also said that someday he would go berserk and go to a high place such as the top of the Tower Inn and start shooting people. Being the highest Ito said it was the best place. He also said that he was in the process of making a silencer for a Springfield rifle and it would be a good weapon to use from the top of the "Tower" as no one could hear the shot.

Haberkorn, who praised his officers for their work said, "When are they going to find out that they just can't do things like this in Oak Lawn and get by with it!"

Seniors protest condo conversions

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees, Jay Bergamini read in part a letter from Mr John Hayes. Hayes has been acting as chairman for a group of senior renters who are concerned with the many conversions to condos in recent years. Copies of the letter were sent to Bergamini; Trustee John Hardek; Mayor Ernie Kolb; the Suburbanite Economist and Village View.

Hayes said that he had been invited to participate in a meeting on Senior Housing Issues, along with Mrs Virginia Wrobel of PLOWS, held in NIPC offices in Chicago. At this all day workshop attended by about 50 representatives from various Cook County Suburban villages, Hayes said, many forms of senior housing problems were discussed including the present practice of wholesale conversion of rental apartments to condominiums without regard to the dangerous situations created for all renters, especially senior citizens on fixed incomes who cannot afford this type of living.

Hayes went on to say that the Village of Oak Lawn is well aware of the conditions being created by refusing to place some kind of restrictions on the rapid condo conversion going on within it's boundaries. Attention has been drawn to the condition several times by Trustee Bergamini, the latest being when he, with the aid of 165 seniors were able to persuade the board to send a resolution to Illinois Governor James R. Thompson, Cook County Assessor Thomas Hynes and all 8th District legislators.

Hayes said, "I feel Senior Citizens, as well as other concerned groups, have to start at the grass roots level to halt or at least slow down this disastrous situation. One of the most effective ways is to have the Village of Oak Lawn declare a six month moratorium on rental apartments to condominium conversions. In this respect St. Catherine's 39'ers (375 members) on December 4, 1980 voted unanimously to write the Oak Lawn Village board over their president's signature, that they favor adoption of a six month moratorium on condo conversions in the village as soon as possible.

"This same group, many of them members, feel that PLOWS should immediately request the Oak Lawn Village board to implement the moratorium idea since no other alternative has been pursued by the board in the last several years, except the resolution to the State Legislature which is years away from accomplishing anything on the State level. Also, if they ever do there won't be enough multi unit rental apartments in Oak Lawn to bother Village View has also received a copy of the letter written by the St. Catherine's 39'ers to the members of the Oak Lawn board. In the last paragraph of their letter, wherein the rest was very similar to that of John Hayes, St. Catherine's 39'ers had this to say: "Since almost a year has elapsed without anything being accomplished on this ever worsening situation, please promptly advise if you intend to keep ignoring this local problem indefinitely while Seniors, especially those on limited, fixed incomes are forced to move out of Oak Lawn.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FULLERTON THANKS VOTERS

I would like to thank the more than 41,000 voters in Worth Township who went to the polls on November 4 to cast their ballots for Ronald Reagan and George Bush.

Indeed, more votes were cast for the next president of the United States here in Worth Township than in any other township in Cook County. The margin of victory which the voters of Worth Township provided to Ronald Reagan, 59% to 34%, is indicative of their urgent desire to restore the pride and confidence of America and all Americans.

I feel certain that the Republican national administration which will take office next January recognizes the serious problems which challenge our country and her citizens today. And I am sure that our new leaders will strive diligently to justify the faith which we have placed in them.

Through your help we can all now look forward to embarking upon a new beginning for America in the decade of the eighties.

It is now incumbent upon those elected individuals to fulfill the responsibilities they now hold. As a political group, the Worth Township Regular Republican Organiza-

"FOR YOUR INFORMATION"

From time to time my office receives information from various agencies and organizations that I feel might be of interest to you. In fact, I am often asked to help in the dissemination of certain facts and information to the public.

Such requests have come recently from the Federal Communications Commission, the National Park Service and, in our own neighborhood, Ed O'Donnell, Jr., Vet Coordinator at Moraine Valley College.

RELIGIOUS BROADCASTING AND THE FCC — The Federal Communications Commission has asked for help in spreading the word that there is no petition before them to ban religious programming.

Was there ever such a petition? A petition was filed with the FCC by Jeremy D. Lansman and Lorenzo W. Milam asking that the FCC "freeze" applications by religious institutions for TV or FM channels that are reserved for educational stations. The FCC routinely assigned it a rule-making number - RM2493. On August 1, 1975, the FCC unanimously denied this petition, declaring that the First Amendment requires government agencies to take a neutral stance toward religious activity.

As the FCC states, "The FCC is not trying to take religious broadcasting off the air. In fact, the FCC is prohibited by law from ruling on the content of broadcast programming - religious or otherwise."

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE SEASONAL JOBS — Available for potential applicants is a seasonal employment package from the National Park Service. It contains the application for seasonal Park Aid/Technician Ranger positions with a booklet of instructions, including a section that indicates the approximate numbers and kinds of vacancies each park expects to fill.

Persons seeking seasonal employment May 13 thru September 30, 1981, in Park Aid/Technician/Ranger positions should contact a National Park Service Regional Office or a park area to receive one of the packages. For our district, write to: National Park Service, 1709 Jackson Street, Omaha, NB 68102.

The filing period is thru January 15, 1981. Deadline for receiving the applications in all Regions in January 15.

tion will be monitoring the forthcoming governmental activities to assure that effective and efficient government is provided for the citizenry.

Visiting Nurse Association offers professional help for ailing homebound

The Visiting Nurse Assn of Oak Lawn is a non-profit organization. The agency began servicing patients in 1977. Since that time, they have been privileged to provide care to over 900 patients and their families. The registered nurses, therapists and home health aides visit patients in their own homes, in the southwest suburbs and on the southwest side of Chicago. Persons receiving the service must require skilled care, must be basically homebound and be under the care of a physician.

The service is covered by Medicare, Medicaid and most private insurance companies.

For those people who are interested in receiving care at home, or who know of someone who is in need of care, please contact Judy Boyle at 598-2711 for additional information.
